Howe Gets Ribbed

OTTAWA, June 9. (CP).—Trade Minister Howe's noted disenchantment with the smaller numerals came in for a ribbing in the Commons Tuesday night.

A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West) told the House of the United States' fabulous "betcha million" gates, the market operator who would bet a literal million at the drop of a hat.

"I've often wondered what would have happened," mused Mr. Smith, "if betcha million gates had ever met up with what's-a-million Howe."

Defeat Russ Plan

LAKE SUCCESS, June 9. (CP).—The United Nations Commission of Human Rights defeated Tuesday, 13 to 4, a Russian proposal to endorse state aid to newspapers. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman, and twelve others voted against it. Russia, White Russia, the Soviet Ukraine and Yugoslavia voted for it.

Firemen Chase Blazing Box-Car

DECATUR, Ill., June 9. (AP).—Firemen spent ten minutes chasing a fire before they put it out Tuesday night. They made it on the fourth try.

The fire was in an empty freight car on an Illinois Central train. By the time the fire engine got to an intersection where the train had been, it had moved on.

The firemen backtracked a block, sped two blocks parallel to the tracks, and dashed down another side street to the railroad intersection.

By the time they got there the burning car had passed that point. They made two more similar trips before they caught up with the fire.

The train's crew, meanwhile, knew of the blaze, but didn't know the fire engine was chasing the train. They had kept the train moving, looking for a side street with a fire hydrant.

The freight car's sides were burned up. The firemen were a little hot, too.

Fined in North

TIMMINS, June 9. (CP).—For entering a restricted bush area without an Ontario Lands Department travel permit, Milton Sullivan of Timmins Tuesday was fined $50 and costs. He pleaded guilty. The travel restrictions were imposed several days ago in an effort to curb spread of north country forest fires.

Quebec Fire Said 'Menacing'

ROUYN, Que., June 9. (CP).—Promise of scattered showers in northwestern Quebec today improved the forest fire picture in this district where widespread fires are raging out of control in four townships.

But a blaze 15 miles south of Rouyn is still described as "menacing."

However, no towns were in im-

Young Love Gets Subsidy From Romantic Irish Gov't

DUBLIN, June 9 — (CP) — Government — granted marriage dowries — "so that love's young dream may blossom and come to the full flower of maturity"—are envisaged by Eire's Welfare Minister Norton.

He spoke of that possibility while outlining to the Irish Women Workers Union the terms of a social security plan to be introduced in the Dail this year.

He said the proposed legislation would provide funds, financed by employers, workers and the state, to alleviate want during unemployment, sickness, old-age, widowhood, and disability through accident.

Old-age pensions will be increased and the means test "considerably modified." Orphans' allowances will be boosted. Every widow over 45 will qualify for a pension.

Marriage dowries, increased maternity benefits and still larger old-age pensions all were planned for the future.

Ready for Tourists
Eire's tourist season now is in full swing. Along Grafton Street,

Dublin's most fashionable thoroughfare, English and Scottish accents are heard almost as often as the native brogue. A few Canadians and Americans are here too.

Post-war austerity is on the increase in Eire and money coming into the country — especially dollars — is doubly welcomed by shopkeepers and hotel-owners.

But some authorities are worried lest high prices and shoddy services may scare the tourists away again.

Queried the Irish Times in an editorial: "Are steps being taken to ensure that, if and when the shadows of 'austerity' are lifted from England, and the removal of currency restrictions permits Englishmen to visit the Continent once again, our country will keep its attraction for them?"

A permanent memorial to the late Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins, and Kevin O'Higgins — heroes of Ireland's struggle for independence a quarter of a century ago — is to be built on the site of the former cenotaph on Leinster Green here.

"This was to me one of the most satisfying hands I ever played," reports M. G. Murray, who was partnered with W. C. White, Vice-president of the St. Petersburg Bridge League, in the individual championship of that sunny Florida city. "Small slam at No Trumps is of course easy by just giving up the queen of hearts at once. But the spade Q lead made my heart contract tough."

The decisive play was the diamond 10 finesse; if it held, hope East had three clubs with his three hearts, or even West.

After winning the lead with the spade K, the heart A and club A were scored and the heart Q given up to the K. East returned the spade 9 to the A. Now came the diamond 10. If East covered, the 9 would have been set up for a precious dummy re-entry. East played low and the 10 won. Then the club K and Q brought discards of the diamond J and Q. The club 8 was led, South being prepared to over-ruff if necessary, but East discarded a diamond and the heart 8 ruffed it. The heart J, 10 and 6 then were scored, followed by the diamond A.

Does the hand thrill you, or is it ordinary? asks M. G. "You probably see so many." The answers are all yes. We do see so many, it is ordinary and it does thrill us, as a fine example of how to do the important ordinary things soundly.

SEEK TO MAKE RAIN OVER BUSH FIRES

200 Fighters Block Fire, Save Village

Forest Rangers In Quebec Take Gloomy View

ROUYN, Que., June 10 (CP)—With no sign of rain, veteran firefighters today dug in, determined to halt the march of hundreds of forest fires burning in many areas of northern Quebec.

From the Maniwaki region to the Lake St. John district, the wall of fire was making steady progress.

Near Rouyn, one veteran bush pilot reported that he estimated fires covered an area of more than 100 square miles.

At Belletre, 200 firefighters were successful Wednesday in checking the flames and putting the gold-mining village out of danger.

In the townships of Guillet, Devlin, Brodeur and Blonquau, 50 miles south of Rouyn, forest travel has been banned although the situation was considered "improved." Spruce, birch and other hardwoods were being destroyed hourly in the four townships.

One hundred miles north of Maniwaki, at Forbes Depot, a strong breeze fanned several large fires and kept them out of control.

In the Val d'Or area, more than 100 fires are still burning, some small and local, others fairly large, spreading through undergrowth.

At Tremblay river, 50 miles west of Roberval on the western shore of Lake St. John, a fire was causing some uneasiness for forest rangers.

A Rouyn bush pilot described one fire: "It was flying north of Amos and noticed a small fire on a farm. When I passed by there a few hours later it had spread across the settler's land but by dusk it was still under control."

"However, by noon today, when I flew over the same clearing, the fire had spread for about a mile. It was still spreading."

Troops Are Told To Cease Fire

CAIRO, June 10 (AP)—Cease-fire orders are going out today to Arab and Jewish troops in the field.

Premier Tewfik Abu Alhuda announced in Amman, Trans-Jordan, Wednesday night that Trans-Jordan forces in Palestine already have been ordered to cease fire at the appointed deadline—2 a.m. EDT Friday.

Foreign correspondents accredited to the Arab Legion were requested to sign a pledge not to enter Jewish-occupied territory during the four-week truce.

In Tel Aviv, Israel's Foreign Minister, Moshe Shertok, said in announcing his government's acceptance of the United Nations-engineered truce, that Israel was ready to issue a cease-fire order to Jewish troops.

Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden, UN mediator, told both the Arabs and Jews Wednesday night he hoped they would notify every commander on the Palestine battlefield of its date and hour in order to avoid misunderstandings.

Schuman Has Troubles

Tries To Keep French Coalition Afloat

PARIS, June 10 (AP)—Premier Robert Schuman struggled today to keep his coalition government afloat in a stormy sea of domestic and foreign issues.

Covered by Wednesday's favorable 22 to 21 vote of the National Assembly's foreign affairs committee on the unpopular six-power London accord for the future of western Germany, Schuman negotiated with parliamentary leaders to assure his government a solid vote when the agreement comes before the full assembly for approval tomorrow.

But he also wrestled through the night on a domestic issue which may prove even thornier—the question of state subsidies to private Roman Catholic schools in regions where there are no public schools.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING—Billy Coleman, 12 today, of Lakefield Park, toppled into the Trent Canal today at the foot of Smith St., Lakefield. After more than five minutes in the water, he was rescued by D'Arcy Hill, Lakefield, after the third dive, and was revived by Dr. H. O. Castle. Top photo shows Billy at home after his near tragedy, and in the lower picture, Chief Constable G. Sams and onlooker stand over the spot on the wharf where Billy went in.

Rain Postpones Trooping Color Children Cry

LONDON, June 10—(CP)—Thousands of children with tears in their eyes tried to make mounted police horses and Trafalgar Square pigeons compensate today for the brilliant military display they did not see.

Tens of thousands had gathered to witness the trooping of the color to mark the official celebration of the king's 32nd birthday. Children of all ages were prominent in the close-packed crowd which had waited for hours, for this was a special occasion.

After nine years of austerity khaki dress, the Guards were to parade in all their glory of tall black bearskins, red tunics and blue trousers with bright red stripes. The cavalry were to have glittering breastplates and nodding plumes.

In suburban London, thunderstorms darkened the morning but umbrella-carrying crowds surged towards the Horse Guards parade ground hours before the ceremony was due to start. The sun began to peek through.

Then an unobtrusive police car circled the parade ground, its

Ship Dry Ice; Experiment Near Sudbury

Cloud Formations Must Be Right To Ensure Success

By The Canadian Press
Forestry officials will co-operate with meteorological experts in an attempt to produce rain over the forest fire areas of northern and northwestern Ontario, it was announced today.

The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests said today it will co-operate with the Dominion Meteorological Service in experiments with dry ice which it is hoped will produce rain to quench raging fires in the Chapleau, Missisquoi, and Northern Ontario districts.

The experimental work depended on "the existence of correct cloudy formations," the department said. A careful study was being made today of cloud formations over the fire areas.

Dry ice was flown today to Sudbury from Toronto, but a heavy smoke pall lying over the city and Lake Ramsay postponed the experiment. The smoke had closed in on the lake like a fog, grounding planes.

600 Lbs. Stored
Six hundred pounds of dry ice has been stored at a frozen food locker in Sudbury until the air clears.

Forestry officials have said a three-day rain is "the only thing that can bring the big fires under control."

Meteorological officials in Toronto said success of the experiments would depend on a high degree of water content in clouds over the burning areas. If the clouds contained mainly ice crystals rain would not likely be precipitated.

Weathermen could not actually make rain. But where atmospheric conditions were likely to produce rain, showers could be "hurried" along.

A 100-mile-wide band of showers had moved during the night from Fort William northwest of Nakina and southeast to Sault Ste. Marie. The showers were "fairly frequent" and deposited about two inches of rain over the area. The rain belt was expected to have passed over the Chapleau-Missisquoi fire area by noon today. The outlook for Thursday

Fire-Long Distance

BREMERTON, Wash., June 10 (AP)—A Bremerton fire alarm was turned in Wednesday from Long Beach, Calif. It was just over a 1,500-mile alarm—the firemen reached the scene in time. It happened this way:

Mrs. Marjorie Hall of Bremerton was talking to her mother, Mrs. Besse Wright, in Long Beach when she saw a fire starting in her davenport. She excitedly told her mother. The mother, also excited, hung up, then called the Bremerton fire department long distance. The department was a bit puzzled by the call but sent out a truck anyway. It did a quick wipe-up job on the fire.

Fear Minor War As Seamen Throng Cornwall

CORNWALL, Ont., June 10—(CP)—A second man has been charged with having an offensive weapon following Wednesday night's seamen's riot here.

Armand Larose of Montreal was arrested by police today in a gasoline storage shed just west of here. Police said Larose, a member of the independent Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, was carrying a blackjack.

Jacques Drapeau, 28-year-old Montreal seaman, was fished from the canal Wednesday night and charged with illegal possession of a firearm. Police said Drapeau had brandished a revolver. Montreal police said Drapeau was a CLSU member signed to the crew of the Canadian Steamship Lines vessel Arcadian.

Two truckloads of 150 CLSU men left there today for Cardinal Canal, 40 miles west, where 30 of them manned the CSL freighter Hastings.

The lockmaster at Cardinal Canal said the remaining seamen left in the direction of Cornwall. He added he had learned the CLSU intended to man all strike-bound ships between Morrisburg and Aultsville.

At other points along Lake Ontario the six-days-old strike was comparatively quiet. The Canadian Seamen's Union (TLU) struck to force five shipping firms to hire CSU crews. The firms—Canada Steamships, Transit Tankers, North West, Sarnia Steamships and Colonial Steamships—have charged the CSU with Communist domination and have hired crews from the CLSU.

Trouble at Cornwall apparently started when J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, head of the CLSU, "carried through a threat to send 200 men to Cornwall to move CSL and Sarnia vessels."

In Toronto, T. G. McManus, secretary of the CSU, said Wednesday a general Lake Seamen's strike of CSU members might develop "if the RCMP do not protect our pickets at Cornwall from further violence from Sullivan's goons." The strike would affect nearly 28 shipping companies.

In Cornwall a combined force of RCMP, Provincial and city police said they felt confident they could handle the situation.

Amorous Widow Gets Run Around

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., June 10 (AP)—The courtship ties between Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor and Danny Wicker were taut today.

So far Danny, Daytona Beach tavern operator, has not produced $10,000, and Mrs. Lawlor expressed doubts as to his ability to do so.

Her doubts became so substantial that she announced she was still open for bids.

"Who is this character, anyway?" she asked reporters who found her spending Wednesday afternoon by herself in her hotel suite. "I don't even know where he is. Isn't this some way for a celebrity to spend an afternoon?"

Beyond the one-way plane ticket which he had sent her, and the hotel suite he had rented for her, Mrs. Lawlor said Danny had not produced the slightest evidence of possessing the $10,000 which she has laid down as a condition of marriage.

Columbia Up Foot A Day Revelstoke Menaced Levees Said Weakening

14-Foot Tide Increases The Danger; 15 Miles CPR Track Torn Out; River 23 Ft. Above Normal At Creston

VANCOUVER, June 10—(CP)—The relentless battering of weakened water-logged levees along British Columbia's mighty waterways continued today as increased tidal power of the Pacific Ocean intensified the critical flood situation. Dikes, guarding 20,000 acres of fertile Lulu Island farmland, withstood the assault of a 14.2-foot spring tide which late Wednesday night passed Sand Head Point at the mouth of the Fraser, and Queensborough.

With a 14.4-foot tide, highest of the year, expected tonight flood officials said only a "miracle" would hold back the raging waters of "Old Muddy."

The Canadian Pacific Railway's Kettle Valley Line from Calgary to Hope, B.C. was broken by a bridge washout at Balfour, 350 miles east of here. Nearly 15 miles of track between Balfour and Procter, on the south end of the lake's west arm, were torn up.

A flood-formed lake, 15 miles long and 2½ miles wide, covered the Kootenay Valley below Creston. With the river level at 23 feet above normal and now out of control, workers battled to save the unflooded portion of land. Patrol crews were posted on the last remaining dike to watch for danger spots, particularly on the southwest tip which was bearing the brunt of wind-whipped waves.

A break-through Wednesday of a secondary dike at Trail sent the Columbia River almost up to sidewalk level on Bay avenue, the main thoroughfare.

Flood waters covered the basement and lobby of a downtown theatre and rose to five feet in the Crown Point Hotel.

All beer parlors, licensed clubs, liquor stores and pool rooms were closed by order of P. Coates, flood relief director in an effort to increase the numbers of volunteering for dike work.

The Columbia River rose three inches at Trail and Dominion government engineers expected a further rise of three feet before the crest is reached.

The cubic foot per second flow of the Columbia was given as 379,000, compared with Tuesday's flow of 366,000.

Main danger point on the upper Columbia was Revelstoke, 250 miles northeast of Vancouver, where the river level rose at rate of a foot per day. Crack-up of Revelstoke's flood defence would unleash a devastating torrent downstream toward Trail.

Record June temperatures continued to melt snow and hasten the run-off from B.C. mountain ranges. The temperature rose to 80 degrees at Vancouver Airport Wednesday. "Highest so far this year. Hope registered the highest reading in the province with 91 degrees."

An Odd Request
HUDSON BAY, Sask., June 10 (CP)—Town council Wednesday received a letter from Mr. Henry Cohen, of London, Eng., wondering if council could tell him where composers Victor Herbert and Frederick Chopin were buried.

Council couldn't, although the town foreman suggested Herbert was buried in the United States.

Hudson Bay, a community of less than 800 people, is 200 miles northeast of Saskatoon.

Say New Coal Strike Near Hartley Says Lewis "Without Compassion"

WASHINGTON, June 10—(AP)—Representative Fred Hartley (Rep. N.J.) said today it is "obvious that John L. Lewis is getting ready for another soft coal strike in the United States next month. He appealed to the Republican leadership to keep Congress in session to deal with any such emergency."

"That Lewis not bargaining in good faith is equally obvious," said Hartley, chairman of the House of Representatives Labor committee and co-author of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

He referred to the negotiations between Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers (Ind.), and the soft coal operators which began Monday. Lewis Wednesday offered to keep the miners at work after their contract expires July 1, if the employers would agree to put his pension plan into effect "forthwith."

The operators, in turn, made a full-fledged contract offer to the miners which Lewis took "under advisement." The mine owners proposed no wage increase but agreed to continue the present 10-cent-a-ton royalty to finance pensions and other health and welfare benefits.

Hartley plainly indicated he expected a rejection from each side.

"It would be a grievous error for the 80th Congress to adjourn and leave the country at the mercy of the United Mine Workers," he told reporters. "For in Lewis there is no compassion."

Presbyterians Name Group Study Marriage

TORONTO, June 10—(CP)—A study of marriage, divorce and re-marriage in Canada will be conducted by a committee of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The church's 74th general assembly was scheduled to end today. A full-scale debate on two articles of faith—predestination and divine election—was expected during final stages of the eight-day session.

A national committee on marriage, divorce and re-marriage was suggested Wednesday night in a report from Montreal presbytery. The report urged the committee to recommend provisions for civil marriage in every province.

Rev. Louis H. Fowler of Port Hope, said there was increasing agitation for civil marriage in Ontario by divorced persons. He said provincial law permits ministers to marry divorced persons with a civil, non-religious ceremony but Presbyterian Church law provides that ministers may marry only the "innocent party" of a divorce.

This placed the responsibility of determining the "innocent party" on the minister. Mr. Fowler explained a responsibility many ministers wish to avoid by having civil marriages instituted.

"Is the church to say 'I believe in the forgiveness of sins' and you and I, as ministers, add to ourselves 'except adulterers?'" he asked.

Earlier, assembly members voted 84-43 against a proposal to send ministers-in-training to the divinity faculty at McGill University.

The assembly approved 1948-49 budget estimates of $600,000. Actual allotments for church work in Canada and abroad totalled approximately $400,000.

CCF, Liberals To Battle In Saskatchewan

REGINA, June 10 — (CP) — The C.C.F. and the Liberals seemed slated today to account for the majority of the candidates in the June 24 Saskatchewan general election with Social Credit next in line.

With nominations due to close at 2 p.m. MST today, it was expected that close to 150 candidates would file papers for the election. Fifty seats will be contested on the June date while the two remaining seats will be decided July 22.

Only the C.C.F. has indicated it would contest the full 50 seats up for decision on June 24. The Liberals had picked 41 candidates and Social Credit 38. The Progressive Conservatives had declared their intention of running eight candidates.

Voting in two of the 52 ridings — the far-northern constituencies of Athabasca and Cumberland — had to be postponed because late spring thaws made early election organization impossible.

In an attempt to end the domination of the legislature by the C.C.F., which holds 47 seats — the Liberals and Progressive Con-loud-speaker going, warning the crowd that further rain was in prospect and that the display had been cancelled.

Protesting in the strengthening sunlight, children were led from the parade ground by their parents, who tried to explain the reasons for the postponement.

Every police horse was surrounded by parents and children and tears vanished as the docile beasts were patted. Under the Nelson Monument in Trafalgar Square the crowd was so thick that even the axes among the pigeons found it hard to make a landing and gorge on the sudden affluence of crumbs.

To a barrage of questions, Buckingham Palace officials responded: "Let us not start rumors."

Gossip spreading among the crowd inevitably centred on the possibility of a royal illness, but this received no encouragement from official quarters, who insisted that the weather alone was responsible for the cancellation.

Equally without confirmation were crowd rumors that Scotland Yard had received reports of a bomb attempt being planned.

The fire situation forced suspension of operation of pulpwood camps and sawmills in northeastern Ontario. It was estimated more than 4,000 bushworkers were thrown out of work temporarily.

As fire crews strove to cope with spreading outbreaks, the Canadian forestry association reported that fires so far this year in Ontario and Quebec had destroyed an estimated $4,000,000 of forest wealth.

The Chapleau fire had spread over 330 square miles of mixed timber, including white pine, jackpine, spruce, birch and poplar, and compelled bulldozer-equipped firefighters to retreat near Seabrooke Lake, 30 miles south of Chapleau.

A high wind caused further spreading of the Mississippi fire. For nearly two weeks it has burned through cutover and standing timber, mostly white pine, devastating 250 square miles.

Russian Offer Given Cool Reception

LAKE SUCCESS, June 10 — (CP) — The United Nations Security Council meets this afternoon to hear formally of the acceptance of their requested four-week cease-fire in Palestine.

But along with the "good news," they face a request by Russia that the Soviet be permitted to send military observers to the cease-fire commission staff. What Russia's reaction will be to the announcement Wednesday night by Trygve Lie, UN Secretary-General, that the commission members had been appointed, remained a point of great speculation here today.

Along with the appointment of military mission members, Lie disclosed that arrangements were being made to send six coastal patrol vessels to Palestine. In accordance with the interpretation made by mediator Count Folke Bernadotte of the Security Council's true proposal, Lie said military mission members and the ships will come from the United States, France, and Belgium.

Russia's announcement earlier this week that she was prepared to send 21 officers to co-operate as military observers met with a cool reception in the council. The issue was postponed until today's meeting.

One of the unspoken worries since the council attempted to solve the Arab-Jewish problem has been a way to enforce peace in Palestine—if force were needed—without the use of Russian troops.

Lie said three United States ships, two French vessels and one Belgian would be sent to Palestine to help keep check on the rules of the cease-fire. He added that each of the three powers was sending 21 military men in accordance with Bernadotte's request.

33 Missing In Oregon Flood

PORTLAND, Ore., June 10 — Flash floods and high tide heaped new threats on the water-weary Pacific northwest today as the swollen Columbia and Fraser rivers built their three-week flood siege toward new heights.

Three cloudbursts and a five-hour downpour sent tons of water hurtling into the raging Columbia and more farmland was added to some 650 square miles already under water. The weather forecast was for more showers and thunderstorms.

High tides rolled in from the Pacific, threatening anew more than 11,000 harassed defenders of almost swamped dikes. Leakage along the levees increased steadily.

The death toll for 22 days of flood was 32, increased by the drowning Wednesday of a 10-year-old boy and a railroad division engineer.

The Red Cross in Portland said 335 still were unaccounted for in the Memorial Day flooding of Vanport, Ore., war housing city of 18,700 and it issued a "critical list" of 121 names.

"The fact that the charges does not allege wilful damage," argued defence counsel George Bagwell, "means there is no offence under the law and the charge should be quashed."

Said Judge Fuller: "There is no doubt in my mind that an essential part of this offence is wilful damage. The accused would not be properly convicted unless the evidence was that the damage was done wilfully. I think the word wilfully should appear in the indictment."

The crown requested the judge amend the indictment but Judge Fuller said he would be usurping the functions of the grand jury if he did this—"The crown has the right to prefer a new indictment."

Ford To Discuss Union Demands

WINDSOR, June 10 — (CP) — The Ford Motor Company of Canada and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) will begin negotiations Monday on the union's 1948-1949 wage demands, it was announced here today.

Roy England president of Local 200, said George Burt, the union's Canadian director, would accompany his six-man bargaining committee to the sessions.

A cost-of-living increase "to compensate for the loss in wages caused by rising prices" since May, 1947 (date of the opening of last year's negotiations) was the chief demand. The union did not specify how much this raise should be, but it said 15 cents an hour in its recent submission to General Motors Corporation.

It is expected that negotiations also will be opened at the Canadian Chrysler Company this month.

The Ford 200 negotiations will ask for five cents an hour to go to a special social security fund to provide workers with company-paid-for hospitalization, life insurance and sick benefits.

Four more paid holidays—Victoria Day, Good Friday, Civic Holiday and Thanksgiving Day—will be asked, for.

Warm Dispute Over Road Work In Committee Of United Counties

COBBOURG, June 10 (ENS). — Reeve Arthur Wartman of Percy township told the road and bridge committee of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council Wednesday afternoon that he would resign because the committee by its action in turning down a recommendation of the road commission indicated a lack of confidence in the road commission. The meeting of the committee, held to deal with the road commission report developed into a warm argument after Warden Alex Stephens explained why he would not sign the road commission report.

The road commission recommended in its report that 4½ miles of construction on No. 61 from Burnley west be done if the assumption of the road into the county road system is approved by the Department of Highways and also subject to departmental approval of No. 62 in Percy township also being taken into the county road system. At this juncture, Warden Stephens explained that he did not sign the report for the reason that the provision in regard to Percy township road was not fair to No. 61 in Haldimand township.

"We approved the requests to have these roads taken into the counties road system if certain things were done. The matter was then referred to the Department. It takes some time for the department to deal with such matters. Road No. 61 has been approved by the counties but if we wait six months for the Percy township road to be approved we'll not get it done this year. Why penalize me? I object to the rider in that recommendation as most unfair. I hope you will consider my views on the matter and I ask you if you think it is fair," Warden Stephens said.

"If the Department approves of our road, all right," he continued, "but if it does not, then that is our hard luck. We are justified in having some county road added in view of our present mileage and assessment."

"I am not going to get in an argument over it," commented Reeve Wartman. "I signed the report as a member of the road commission."

Reeve C. B. Jandrew, chairman of the road and bridge committee, pointed out that the commission had made a decision which they felt was fair under the circumstances.

Not Justified

"There are two county roads, No. 61 in Haldimand and No. 62 in Percy and they do not join. We are not justified spending $14,000, even if the department approves of the road being taken into the system, unless we know that they are going to be connected. I expect that Haldimand will be approved but why leave Percy out? The department may not approve of both roads unless they are connected so why we spend money on one of them if the other is not approved?" Reeve Jandrew said.

"We asked to have it taken into the counties road system. If it receives approval, all right, if not, then we will have to put up with it. I am not trying to obstruct Percy township," interjected the Warden.

"It is a case of the old story, one township road goes one way and the other the opposite?" Reeve W. Wight of Seymour township asked.

"You are right," agreed Reeve Jandrew. Reeve Wight then moved that a five man committee, made up of members who are not on the road commission, go into the matter at the present session and report back. Their decision should be final, he suggested.

"It looks to me as if there is friction on the road commission, if so, let us get a new road commission," declared Reeve E. B. Seeds of Brighton township.

"If we haven't the backbone to take a stand on something which we think is right, then it is time we quit," replied Reeve Jandrew.

"There are two dead ends. Percy township spent money getting this road into shape so that it would be taken over. If we spend $14,000 on the road in Haldimand township and Percy township is not approved, it will not be fair."

"There is not argument over the two roads. It is whether they are connected that is the point," observed Reeve Wartman. Reeve Jandrew expressed doubt that a special committee would get anywhere. The vote on the motion was taken and the resolution was defeated.

Move To Do Work

Warden Stephens then moved an amendment to the report that the 4½ miles be done in Haldimand, subject to the approval of the department. The motion carried.

"It is the first time in my experience that a road commission brought in a recommendation and had their judgment questioned. I am going to resign from the road commission," said Reeve Wartman.

"This is a democracy," declared Warden Stephens. "This is simply a recommendation of the road commission to the road and bridge committee that was not adopted. Nobody is being autocratic."

As the situation now stands, the report still has to be approved by the counties council as a whole and it is felt that regardless of how the council deals with it, there is a strong possibility that the department will withhold approval from either road until the two are connected.

Council had a very short session

Wednesday and will resume on Friday morning. Today the members attend the horse and stock show at Millbrook.

The Mayor's Broadcast

On Tuesday at 7.30 p.m. Mayor Owens made the first of a series of broadcasts from the local radio station; in future he will report to the people of Peterborough every week on the work of their municipal government. For some years it has been customary for the mayors of large cities to make broadcasts of this kind, but we think that such a project is uncommon in a city of this size, and we congratulate the Mayor on his enterprise in initiating it, and CHEX for giving the time and facilities for the broadcast.

A municipal government should keep as closely in touch with the people as it can. Now it may seem easy, in a city of 35,000, to know what is going on and what public opinion is on any matter of importance. But such an appearance of ease is deceptive. There are in this city some thousands of people who live quietly, who rarely appear on George Street, whose names are never mentioned in connection with public affairs, but who are nevertheless keenly interested in everything that concerns the city's welfare. In undertaking to speak to them every week about the city's business, we feel that the Mayor is making himself known to people who have no chance to meet him personally, and is drawing the strings of city feeling and city loyalty a little tighter than they have been for some years.

For the education of our children, and for a great many adults as well, we should like to see this custom of municipal broadcasting extended in scope. From time to time aldermen who are the heads of committees might report on their work, and we should like to hear such permanent officials as the City Engineer, the Surveyor, the Medical Health Officer and the Sanitary Inspector explaining their jobs to the people. Such broadcasts could be of the greatest value in drawing attention to local government—the foundation upon which our governmental system was built and upon which it rests today.

The Character Of Premier Drew

Nothing is easier than to make sweeping and unsupported statements about political parties and their leaders; nothing is so simple as to find fault with the character of a man who is much in the public eye. Since Monday some political wisecracks have attributed the losses sustained by the Progressive Conservatives in Ontario to the conduct of Premier Drew during the past three years. To blame the Premier for everything is foolish. Nevertheless, there are grains of truth in the assertion that he has alienated some of his supporters.

He has done this, we think, by faults in his public character which are, all things considered, trivial. The Premier has all the virtues of a first-rate leader: he is an excellent administrator, he is honest, he has the education and experience of the world which are so necessary in a statesman of the first order, he is a good speaker and he is a good party disciplinarian. But he possesses also an unfortunate testiness of character, an inability to brook opposition, and a humourlessness which have undoubtedly done him harm. His virtues show in the Legislature and in his office; his faults show most glaringly on the platform. During the recent campaign there were several incidents at public meetings in which the Premier showed himself at a disadvantage. He was a little too ready to think that anyone who wanted to ask him a question, or dispute a point, was an agent of Moscow. Many a great statesman—Lloyd George's name springs instantly to mind—won fame and affection by clever handling of hecklers. And many a statesman, too, has lost friends by behaving harshly toward an obviously weak opponent.

As politicians go, the Premier is still a young man; he is very far from being such an old dog that he cannot learn any new tricks. It may be that before another election comes around he will have found out the truth of the saying that more flies can be caught with honey than with vinegar, and that the only way in which a politician can really lose his dignity is by losing his temper.

International Horse Trading

Last autumn Russia said that she would vote for Italian admission to U.N. if certain of her Balkan satellites were admitted too. This kind of "horse trading" in nations offended some member nations of U.N. and at Australia's insistence, the Assembly voted to refer this kind of open barter to the International Court of Justice. The Court has now made its decision. By a vote of nine to six the justices of the court ruled that Russia's refusal of rights to Italy by its barter policy was a contravention of the U.N. Charter.

The six justices who voted against the decision were from Canada, France, Russia, Britain, Poland and Yugoslavia. As the Ottawa Journal points out, Canadian Justice opposed the off Ottawa policy. He sits on the Court not as an official representative of Canada and its external policies, but as a jurist from Canada.

The Journal makes this comment on the decision: "It is said that those who voted with Russia did not necessarily approve her tactics but 'opined' that the Charter's stated qualifications for membership were not necessarily the only qualifications. They may be right, but the majority didn't think so—and that is that. Or at least it would be if the court's decision were legally binding, which it isn't. Gromyko has already said it makes no difference, and U.N. legal experts are inclined to agree. Still, the court's decision may carry a certain moral weight and we can think of much to be said for even this harmless venture into international authority. World peace and world co-operation will only come from habit, from an accumulation of small habits such as these."

The Isolation Of B.C.

Many eastern Canadians' knowledge of the interior of B.C. is limited to what they see from train windows between Calgary or Edmonton and Vancouver. They can best appreciate the havoc caused by the floods when they realize that for days Vancouver has been cut off from Canadian surface contact with Alberta. There were no through roads, no through trains.

Unofficial estimates made by the President of the C.P.R. are that a million dollars' worth of repair work will have to be made on its lines. We have seen no estimate of the cost to the C.N.R. The C.P.R. is still having to re-route passengers. Local agents indicate that transportation by bus over the several C.P.R. wash-outs is now possible, though we presume that much re-routing has been done by air. The C.N.R. announced yesterday that complete routing by rail is now possible. The Great Northern line has been useful.

It is interesting that in these modern times floods, as antique as Noah, can disrupt the communications one of our great cities has with the rest of the country. One wonders what would result if floods caused naturally or by judicious bombing of dykes occurred in the midst of a west coast military campaign.

Forecaster In Tweed

We feel impelled—did Mr. S. Curry, publisher of the Tweed News divine that we would?—to admire Mr. Curry for his courage in prophesying the results of the elections four days before election time. We compliment him on his perspicacity. He named 59 of the 90 successful candidates correctly. His estimate of party standings was good—he was only one short of the 54 Conservative seats gained, foretold 19 C.C.F. wins (there were 22), and 15 for the Liberals (there were 12). Guesswork—but informed guesswork based, he said, on reading 50 or more newspapers every week and on personal contacts. Such diligent reading of newspapers deserves the success his prophecies had. We shyly mention the matter to prove—if proof were needed—how faithfully newspapers record and mirror the trends of the times. A close reader like Mr. Curry need be no Cassandra or Old Moore to know the news before it happens. What wonderful things newspapers really are—and publishers like Mr. Curry.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Commons has begun morning sittings, but the end of the session will not be in sight until the Speaker is seen slipping a lunch-box under his chair.

J. B. Priestley, observing the international situation, says that "we are now in the middle of Allies through the Looking-Glass". A cracked glass at that.

A statistician says that it costs more to be born now than ever before. It is extremely difficult to explain this fact to a baby, however, when the notion takes it.

Miss A. And Gorgeous George

By MARY LOWREY ROSS
In Saturday Night

SHE had never been so outraged by anything, Miss A. declared as by the Liberal campaign poster, "Give George the Gate in Forty-Eight." "I've written to all the papers in protest," she said. "Here, I've got the letter here in my handbag."

I stared at Miss A.'s handbag. The clasp was broken and one strap had been torn loose. "Why, whatever happened to your good handbag?" I asked.

"Oh that," Miss A. said flushing, "oh nothing, just an accident." She tucked the handbag quickly behind her on the chair. "As I was saying, it was the most completely offensive exhibition I have ever seen," she said. "I trust you are writing to the papers too."

I shook my head. "I'm in favor of practically anything that will help to live up to this campaign," I said. "It's probably the dumbest campaign in political history. No charges, no ringing denials, no epithets, nobody calling anybody else an unmitigated liar, everything so still you could hear an opinion drop if anybody thought it worth while to drop an opinion."

"That's the way it ought to be," Miss A. said warmly, "it's civilized and self-respecting. It makes its appeal to the reason and experience of the electorate without recourse to violence."

"THE electorate doesn't even care," I said. "They used to care in the old days. They used to line up when a voter went up to the hustings and then go to work on him with empty beer bottles if they didn't like his opinions. Can you imagine that happening in this election? Can you imagine a gang of masked men riding up silently by dead of night to the lonely home of some voter who had let it be known that he was in favor of the sixty-cycle frequency standardization changeover?"

Miss A. sniffed. "If you think that sort of behaviour is a credit to democracy—" she said.

"Well, at least it shows a lively interest in the issue," I said. "Do you realize that back in the 1830's six men crawled through thirty-two miles of brush and muskeg just to kill each other's vote in Goderich?"

MISS A. wiped her fork fastidiously on her paper table napkin. "I suppose you'd think it showed a commendable interest in the issue if they just stayed home and killed each other," she said. "Personally I am glad to see that our leaders are appealing to the enlightened intelligence of the public forum instead of to the emotions of the wrestling arena."

"Then they're making a big mistake," I said, "the vote of a wrestling-match ticket-holder in Maple Leaf Gardens is as exactly as good as the vote of a symphony-orchestra box-holder in Massey Hall."

"AND what's more," I added, picking up the catsup bottle, "the wrestling match operators really try to give the public the worth of its money. The candidates make faces and roar with pain and tear each other's hair and their own, and the result is that people turn out to watch them. They don't stay home and let someone else register opinions for them. They register their own at the tops of their voices."

"Civilized people don't," Miss A. said coldly, "and civilized people don't drown their fried eggs in catsup either."

I set the catsup bottle down. "Even Premier Drew," I said. "Half the interest in public life is in watching Mr. Drew exhibit pain and outrage when Whipper Billy King tries to twist his arm. Only he isn't doing it in this campaign. Has there been a single sign of pain and outrage since it started? Wouldn't you expect at least one demonstration of pain and outrage over the timing of the King Health Bill?"

"Premier Drew is a gentleman," Miss A. said. "On a real issue he refuses to appeal to the brutal instinct of the crowd."

"What do you mean brutal?" I said indignantly. "The crowd understands perfectly that nobody is really being hurt and that the face-making and hair-pulling are just to keep up the interest."

"You disgust me," Miss A. said.

"PLEASE don't misunderstand me," I said quickly. "I don't expect our Leaders to go in for permanent waves and gold bobby pins and I realize it would be very bad tactics if they had a valet going ahead of them and spraying the political scene with an atomizer. I'm even willing to admit that Premier Drew would look rather silly turning up at a meeting in a pink silk robe with marabout trimming. Just the same it would hurt none of the present candidates to go a little out of their way to court attention. They expect people to turn out, don't they, and record their opinions on election day?"

"It wasn't pink silk with marabout trimming," Miss A. said, "it was dusty rose trimmed with ermine. And a more disgusting spectacle I never saw in my life."

I laid down my knife and fork. "Do you mean to tell me you went down to Maple Leaf Gardens to watch Gorgeous George fight Larry Moquin?" I asked.

"CERTAINLY I went," Miss A. said, "as a normally intelligent person I was interested in investigating a mass phenomenon."

"Then you saw for yourself what happened?" I said.

"Everything," Miss A. said, "the bleached permanent, the bobby pins, the dusty rose robe, the silly valet and the perfectly revolting exhibition that followed."

"No, but I mean you saw the crowd it pulled out!" I said. "Nine thousand people in a single evening, the excitement, the enthusiasm, everybody taking sides, women recording their opinions by hitting Gorgeous George over the head with their handbags—"

I stopped suddenly, staring at Miss A. "Let me see that handbag of yours!" I demanded.

Miss A. clutched her handbag behind her. "I'll do nothing of the sort," she said.

"So you were the one!" I said excitedly. "You were the woman who yielded to the

CEMENTED PEACE ROAD

Smuts' Defeat

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

THE South African elections have gone as badly as they could. Smuts and the United party are out; Malan and the Nationalists are in. The overweighting of the rural constituencies has tilted the scales. The United party has more votes than all the other parties put together (not reckoning the independents); it carried big urban divisions but lost small rustic ones. It has been suggested that, without a majority of the total vote, Dr. Malan may not regard himself as mandated to carry out his election programme. But the Nationalists alone have no clear majority in the House of Assembly; they will depend on the support of Mr. Havenga's Afrikaner party, who are still more reactionary than they are themselves and who are obscurely but intimately linked with the Ossewa Brandwag, an extra-Parliamentary body with marked leanings towards Fascism. Two lamentable consequences are likely to follow. First, it may become distinctly harder for the British Government to secure South African co-operation in economic matters. As a great producer of gold South Africa occupies a key position in the sterling system. Field Marshal Smuts could be counted on for an independent but understanding and sympathetic attitude to Britain's problems. The loan to his country last autumn of £30,000,000 in gold and the accompanying agreement for the control of movements of capital from Britain to South Africa are recent instances. Dr. Malan has hauled down the republican flag which he used to fly, and there is no immediate question of his leading the Union out of the Commonwealth. But it would be idle to expect of him the co-operative attitude of the Smuts Administration.

THE second respect in which the Nationalists' victory is to be regretted is, of course, their attitude towards the Bantu. Dr. Malan may not find it practicable, once in office, to carry out fully the sweeping measures of segregation and political retrogression which he promised in his election programme. But he will not be able to satisfy his supporters unless he goes some way along this road, and that means restrictions and repression, embitterment and estrangement. Hopes of the gradual adjustment of the Bantu to the conditions of Western civilization—on the one hand through the development of the Native Representation Council, on the other through a moderate trade union movement—are put off for an indefinite period, and may well be harder to take up again if relations between European and African races have worsened. The position of the Indians in Natal may not be much affected; the Nationalists are weak in Natal, and little involved in the Indian problem. But the echoes of the Malan policy towards the Bantu will be heard all over Africa. Everywhere from Sierra Leone to Swaziland and Kenya the evolution of relations between black and white is the greatest

SHE brought her handbag round and put it in her lap. It was in even worse condition than I had realized.

"And I don't mind admitting," she said, "that the only thing that has given me more satisfaction was having Whipper Billy Watson pin Gorgeous George to the mat on Thursday evening in eleven minutes and nine seconds flat."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it. And many people shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. (Isa. 2: 2, 3.)

That which we have seen and heard declare unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ. (1 John 1, 3.)

In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.

Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. (1 John 4: 9, 11.)

problem of this century. The spectacle of a clumsy and ill-considered attempt here to thrust the black peoples out from the advance of white civilization will make it harder everywhere else for those whites who seek to win and to deserve the confidence of the native races. Perhaps one may hope, in the long run, that the segregation policy will be the rope that hangs the Nationalists, or brings them to their senses; that its failure—it cannot be conceived that, in the form put forward in the election campaign, it could succeed—will convince the South African electorate that the policy of Smuts and Hofmeyr is the realistic and practical course. But it may be a costly way of learning.

THE defeated leader has declared that he is not leaving the political field. That is like his courage. At seventy-eight he can hardly hope to return to power as an active party leader. But he may yet have an "elder statesman's" part of play, may be able to intervene decisively at a moment of crisis with the wisdom and authority of fifty years in public life. Even Winston Churchill has hardly a longer record of public service. He played a brilliant and daring part in the Boer War, a noble and daring one in the making of the Peace of Vereeniging and in its acceptance by his countrymen. His twelve-year partnership with Botha gave the new State a firm foundation to build on, and he filled a succession of civilian offices with distinction; his East African campaign of 1916-17 showed that his military skill had not deserted him. For the last thirty years he has taken high rank among the statesmen of the world, and that by his own personal force and not by the weight of the small country from which (rather than for which) he spoke. It is tragic that his last years in politics should be darkened by this eclipse. But the shadow of fear and jealousy and small-mindedness will pass, and South Africa will see him again as the greatest of her sons and the wisest of her leaders.

Faces Trial For Murder 15 Years Ago

YORKTON, Sask., June 10 — (CP). — In the second nearly-forgotten murder trial to be heard here in two days, Mrs. Nettie Thomas today faces a charge of murder in the 15-year-old death of her husband.

A King's Bench court jury Tuesday ruled the woman — confined to a mental hospital for 15 years after being judged unfit for trial in 1934 — was capable of standing trial for the shooting of Charles E. Thomas in 1933.

Mrs. Thomas was brought into the court room Wednesday immediately after 75-year-old Mrs. Nettie Ordinal stepped out — a free woman, after 25 years.

Mrs. Ordinal was found innocent of the 1923 shooting of her husband, Peter. Like Mrs. Thomas, she was found unfit for trial, following the slaying, but the case was revived following her discharge from hospital.

Thomas was killed in his farm home at Sturgis, Sask., by bullets from a .22 calibre rifle. His wife was arrested two weeks later. The jury acquitted Mrs. Ordinal after 30-minute deliberation. A parade of witnesses told of a series of brutal beatings, given her by her husband. He was shot by his son, Peter, then 14, after Mrs. Ordinal had thrown boiling water over him, intending to blind him. The son who spent two years in reform school for his part in the shooting, said he would take his mother to his home in Winnipeg.

13 Parties Seek Minerals For Government

TORONTO, June 10. — (CP). — The geological branch of the Ontario Department of Mines will have 13 parties in the field during the 1948 season.

Their work will include reconnaissance and detailed geological mapping in actual and potential mineral-bearing areas, examination of various mineral deposits, especially those containing iron, radioactive materials and industrial minerals, and investigation of ground water resources.

Leaders of the parties and the areas in which they will be working are: J. Satterly, Harker township, district of Cochrane; J. E. Thomson, Kirkland Lake; E. M. Abraham, McElroy township, district of Timiskaming; D. F. Hewitt, Skead township, district of Timiskaming; R. Thomson, Cobalt; V. K. Prest, Joburke area in the north half of Keith township, Sudbury district, Capreol and Milnet; H. C. Horwood, Errington township, Little Long Lac area, district of Thunder Bay; W. W. In addition, J. T. Wilson will direct the compilation of data relating to structural deformation and glaciation, as revealed in aerial photographs of a large part of north-eastern Ontario.

USED RINGS AS MONEY

Before the invention of coins, ring money was used by early societies, especially in Egypt. The rings had an opening so they could be made into chains and not be lost.

Londoners Gasp Cancel Parade

LONDON, June 10 (Reuters). — Thousands of Londoners, packed tightly together to see the Trooping of the Color on the King's official birthday, gaped in astonishment to-day when loudspeaker vans suddenly appeared to announce that because of the weather the King had cancelled what is one of the most colorful Royal pageants of the year.

The sun was shining brilliantly. Sixty-seven officers and 1,753 other ranks waiting in their barracks for the parade were told to take off the high boots they had been polishing since early morning and strip themselves of the brilliant scarlet, white and black uniforms which they were wearing for the first time since the war. For months they had been rehearsing.

Reason for the cancellation, announced only an hour before the parade, was that meteorological experts had forecast rain and thunderstorms. Lightning had struck in London a few hours earlier.

A War Office official said the risk of rain had to be taken into account because of the effect a downpour has on scarlet uniforms, valuable and hard to replace in Britain's age of austerity. The King was to have ridden as Colonel-in-Chief of the famous British Guards Regiments from Buckingham Palace to the parade ground with a retinue of mounted officers.

Norwood Requests Larger School Area

NORWOOD, June 10 (ENS). — Motion was made at the June meeting of Norwood village council that a formal request be made to the county council and the Department of Education to dissolve the present High School district in order to prepare this district for a larger high school area.

Permission was granted the Navy League for a tag day in Norwood, on June 12.

The council will make a formal request to the Provincial Police commission to re-open and enlarge the Provincial Police post in Havelock.

The constable was appointed building inspector for the balance of 1948. The clerk was instructed to advertise for an assessor. Accounts passed were: R. A. Dean, salary, $70; Wm. B. Parsons, salary, $100; Ivan Begg, grader, $17; Wm. Louis, cutting grass, $34.20; James W. Baskin, rink account, $66.91; Wm. Western Kids Bigger

REGINA — (CP). — Children not over 54 inches in height and between 5 and 14 years of age now can ride for 5 cents cash or purchase 3 tickets for 25 cents. Some municipal tram lines designate a "child" as under 50 inches. Regina citizens believe that western children are bigger.

WASHINGTON, June 10 — (AP). — Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach died today. He had been ill several weeks. He was 53 years old and had been United States Labor Department Chief since June 30, 1945. The White House said death resulted from "cardiac failure which complicated his recent illness." President Truman, now on the west coast, has been notified of his death.

It was a close final, but Louise came through to win at the last hole.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Official opposition to the party in power—ich, tch, still talking like a politician—here Friday p.m. in Miller Bowl is Oshawa lacrosse. The Petes presently being OLA senior "B" champs and the '48 schedule opening in Peterborough on the morrow. Locals are strong again this season, but so is Oshawa. Some of last year's stars are: Goale Chambers, Lu and Bill Vipond, Grice, Robson, Janzen, Sutherland, Sanders, Bastien and Cook. Newcomers include DePippio, Bush, Christie, Hansy, McAdam and a few more from Mimico and other gutted-stick centres. It looks like a strong five-club circuit and these scheduled fixtures should draw well.

Whitby Juniors and the local Bees have a Lakeshore Loop ball game at three in Riverside this Saturday aft. and the evening attraction there that day is the intermediate till betwixt Port Hope and the Petes at 6.30. Both are league fixtures and ought to provide good diamond entertainment for the fans. No Junior "A" game in Oshawa on Saturday as the CGE works that day. Senior Petes play Batawa in Belleville this weekend. A Juvenile Joust tomorrow at 6.30 p.m. in Riverside between the north and the west teams. The weekend Jousts start at 6.30 tonight at Prince of Wales. Another juvenile go on Monday over east featuring the East City crew and westenders.

Toronto Levy's have a men's softball exhibition with the Knights at eight Saturday p.m. in the Bowl. Such name players on Levy's lineup as: Jeffers, Norm Bagnell, Stone, Pitchocki, Higgins, Krycia, Berry, Chenaluk, Furlong, Mustard, Hodges, Travers, Hussey, Ginger Hall, Romano, Heys, Bert Haigh and Babe Pratt. A first-sacker six-foot-seven, a Dominion sprint champ, couple of Negro aces, one of the three-best Toronto twirlers, and other top-flight talent. Knights will be at full strength—and they'll need to be!

City Softball League fixtures in the Bowl tonight beginning at seven on the dot: Combines vs. Legionnaires, and Knights vs. Comstock's. Give a look at the standing again and see what a dogfight each twin bill means. Legion and the R-E crowd are tied on the upper rung with four wins and three losses each. Snapping at their heels are Knights and Comstock's, who are tied up with three wins and four losses each. One of the latter will have to lose tonight and drop to the cellar, while either Legion or Combines will lose and drop into a second-place tie. So, don't think the four clubs won't be in there clawing at each other tonight, barring rain.

Ashby's blanked Lakeland 10-0 as Westclox took the Woolens 25-6 last night in belies' softball scraps at the Bowl. The first fray was closer than the score sounds, and it was only toward the end of the other tussle that the count really mounted. In one inning of the Westclox-Woolens' go, just nine balls were thrown, four on one side and five on the other. But there were too many miscues the last part. The standing is in elsewhere and shows the leading teams pretty well jammed up and the next couple close enough, while the bottom bracket is winless. Friday frays: CGE vs. Westclox and Ashby's vs. Lock Co. with Lindsay at Lakeland.

Oshawa scribe writes on lacrosse: "The locals whipped Scarborough 14-8 and three of the imports shared eight of the Oshawa goals. Red McAdam getting three, DePippio three and Haney a couple. The new players looked good, especially McAdam and DePippio. The latter is small but very tricky. McAdam is just the opposite, being a hefty solidly-built six-footer who moves methodically but with deadly precision, and his passes and shots on goal are of the Biscley variety. The hold-overs from last year are all improved, too. The Oshawa team will be tough to beat this year and, unless Orillia or Peterborough are much stronger than last season, the locals may be able to take it all in the senior 'B' race. You think so, huh?"

It's not our fault if they change their minds. They said it would be the last pro grapple card of the season, but last eve — and more than 2,000 fans—decided the promoters to stage one more windup mat show there next week. At that it was a terrific show before the biggest crowd yet, and a return team bout betwixt the Whip and Earl against the Mask and the Goon should be a honey. With no time limit and a different ref. As they claimed Dunlop practically handed the second fall to the bigger and rougher pair. They really staged a whale of a show with everything going. Popular Mike Sharpe was okay, too, in his semi-final win over Wee Willie (a mere 270 pounds), as Peterborough's Nick Vicchiarrell got a well-earned prelin win over Lopez. Nick wants another bout.

DESE, DEM AND DOSE: Petes have a soccer match tonight in King Edward Park with Legion... CGE, with two new players, turned back O'Halloran's last p.m. 7-1... Zale-Grasiano fight was postponed until tonight... Juvenile lacrosse twin bill tonight in Miller Bowl starts at 7.30 (not 6.30) with Legion playing Comstock's and Queen's in against Scouts... Midget lacrosse, we're told, drill there at seven this e'en under John Cooper; some talk of the Petes practicing, also — what a traffic jam!... Grafton's beat the Police 10-3 in a Civic Softball League tussle... Two industrial Jousts tonight and one on the morrow according to the schedule... Southend peewees defeated East City 11-7 in a good ball game last gloaming... The people of post-war Japan are reported to be baseball crazy with oodles of diamonds in continuous use... Fans who molest angry matmen en route to their dressing-rooms are liable to get hurt, no fooling... And vacation is still six weeks off.

Ashby's Hand A Defeat To Lakefield

Ashby's defeated Lakefield 10-0 at the Bowl last night to improve their standing in the Girls Softball League. The game, run off in an hour and 10 minutes, was closer than the score indicates, as the losers show improvement every time out. Errors made quite a difference, but the Ashby lasses looked superior as they out-hit and out-fielded the visitors as well as having better hurling. E. Boyce and D. Nicholls collided in the sixth and the former suffered a two-stitch cut. It was Ashby's second win in four starts and the third loss for Lakefield.

The umpires kept the game moving and both sides hustled to give the crowd good entertainment. E. Simmonds and J. Dunk looked good defensively for Ashby's, as I. Bullock and R. Maloney stood out for the other side. F. Killen had a homer and two singles, as E. McFadden got a triple, double and single for Ashby's, and B. Reid a homer. D. Nicholls, V. Clements and R. Maloney had two hits each for Lakefield. B. Reid fanned seven, in seven heats as four Ashby batters fanned.

Police Defeated 10-3 By Grafton's

Grafton's are now in top position in Group No. 2 after beating Police 10-3 in the Civic Softball League, although Babe's Place have several rain-out games to play and all teams are close.

Police were minus a few of their star players last night. Trying to catch up on their schedule, Police played three nights in a row. When back at full strength again, they will be the team to watch.

Ritches plied steady ball for Grafton's, and Fife handled the mound for the Police. Roy Jamison at shortstop for Grafton's pulled down a hard drive in the fifth inning that was the feature of the game.

Jerry McGillis, noted as quite a sprinter at local track meets, make his speed count on the base lines. Richardson, McGillis and Weaver played well for the Police, while Jamison, Livingston and Conroy were best for the Grafton team.

Whip and Earl Go To Draw With Marvel and The Goon

The biggest crowd of the season saw a terrific team wrestling match at the Brock Arena last night, one ending in a draw in the one-hour time limit. Whipper Bill Watson, 229, and the 239-pound Earl McCready teamed up against the Masked Marvel, scaling 257, and Goon Henry, 272 villainous pounds, in a roaring scrap as Referee Bun Dunlop tried vainly to keep up with the action. Mike Sharpe won the semi-final and Nick Vicchiarrell of this city took the prelin. One more show will be held this season.

McCready won the first fall for his side in 22 minutes over the Mask with his rolling cradle splits. The Whip had helped soften up the hooded one as they changed places quickly with the kill in sight. It was a furious wide-open tangle in and out of the ring with all four gladiators in there at times. Earl and Whipper went great against bigger and rougher opponents, and it was highly dangerous at all times to get too close to the other side's corner. Henry broke the timer's chair—but Fred Scates escaped in time—and the Mask and Goon got confused and tangled after the bell.

Sore At Ref

The crowd roared disapproval at the referee when the Marvel got the equalizing fall in 10 minutes over McCready, aided directly by Henry, who planted a knee for a back-breaker hold. The referee at the time was looking at Watson outside the ring when the two villains ganged up on Earl and gave him the works. Dunlop turned around in time to see the Mask flattening McCready and he counted the later out. For his pains he was kicked in the groin by a woman on his way to the dressing-room. It was another hot bout with everything going.

They battled it out to a time-limit draw as the fans swarmed around the ring for the final 10 minutes of blazing activity. It looked like Whip and Earl all the way, with Watson especially going great and having the Mask about out at the end. They used the "rowing hold" once as all four tangled hard but the referee wouldn't allow it. The rope trick was tried and nearly everything else in and out of the book, and after the gong went Earl and Watson cracked their opponents' heads together and pinned them. The Whip and the Earl also tangled briefly after the bell as the fans nearly raised the roof. Both Goon and the Marvel were kicked by fans as police escorted them through a hostile crowd. Watson and McCready asked for a return bout with no time limit and a different referee.

Mike Winner

Popular Mike Sharpe, weighing 240 pounds, won the semi-final in 26 minutes over Wee Willie Davis, at 270, in a lively fray as the fans applauded. He used a

E. Wall's Four Captures Stratton Cup

By HERB MARTIN

To Ernie Wall's regular schedule rink goes the honor of winning the first open tournament of the 1948 season and also the Stratton trophy, probably the oldest and best known trophy in lawn bowling circles in eastern Ontario.

The veteran Archie Meyers, of Campbellford, came second, J. Henley, Cobourg, third, and a newcomer, in the person of W. E. Connor, Madoc, fourth.

With representation from many of the clubs of district No. 14 and 15, President W. Jeffries in a brief speech welcomed all. R. Gamble, tournament chairman, outlined the rules for the day, announced the draw and the boys were sent on their way shortly after two o'clock.

Three 15-end games were played, two before the supper hour and one after.

It was a lovely day for bowling and the greens were in good condition. The tournament was all over shortly after 10 o'clock, so the boys were all home in good time.

Tomorrow night's program calls for men's doubles. Choose your own partner, but it must be a skip and a lead or a second and a vice, $1.00 per pair.

English, Aussies Tangle For Legendary Ashes

LONDON, June 10 — (CP). — There will be a tangle of battle in the early summer as when the English and Australian test cricket teams face each other for the legendary "ashes" at Trentbridge, Nottingham, today.

Despite the Australian display of formidable batting and baffling bowling since their arrival in Britain April 16—they remain unbeaten against county sides to date—there is a feeling of optimism in the hearts of cricket-following Britons.

For a week sports columns have debated the chances of England's side, which though strong in both batting and bowling does not look as impressive as the Australians on paper.

The invaders are determined to retain the ashes which they have held since 1930 and under the shrewd leadership of the peerless run-getting machine, Don Bradman—still the world's best batsman at 39 years of age—they are firm favorites to do it.

But already there has been indication that the Diggers, and "The Invincible Don" in particular, may not be so invincible after all.

Malcolm, 19-year-old Lancashire left-arm spin bowler, though yet too young and inexperienced to make England's side, put Bradman out twice in the Aussies' match at Lancashire recently for 11 and 43.

His effort made near-hysterical front-page news for Britain and overnight he became almost a national hero besieged for autographs.

Phils Move Up 19-Year-Old Hurler Pays Off

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Apparently all that was troubling young Curt Simmons was a case of big-leagueitters.

Off to a poor start, the 19-year-old high school graduate who received a record bonus of $60,000 from Philadelphia Phillies last summer is beginning to pay back dividends.

The solidly-built southpaw gave the most impressive performance of his brief career last night when he outpitched the great Ewell Blackwell as the Phillies defeated the Reds 3-2 in Cincinnati.

The victory, which advanced the fifth-place Phils to only 2½ games behind the first-place New York Giants in one of the closest races in National League history, was Simmons' third in succession. He now has a record of four victories and four defeats.

The Cardinals missed a glorious opportunity to take over first place when they suffered an 11-5 setback at the hands of Boston Braves in a night game in St. Louis. A victory over the Braves would have put the Cards half a game on top.

After presenting the Cubs with five unearned runs to drop an 8-7 decision in the opener, the Giants came back to win the nightcap 5-1. Sophomore Clint Hartung spun a neat five-hitter to register his third victory.

Knocking Howie Poller out of the box with a six-run assault in the second inning, the Braves went on to gain an easy victory for southpaw Warren Spahn. The triumph left the third-place Braves only a game and a half behind the Giants.

Ralph Kiner's three-run homer highlighted a five-run first inning and gave Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-4 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers. The Pirates, also only a game and a half out of first place, trail the Braves by three percentage points.

In the American League, Detroit Tigers defeated the skidding Athletics 7-4. Philadelphia now is in third place four games behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians. Early Wynn registered his sixth victory as the fast-traveling Washington Senators whipped St. Louis Browns 5-2.

Newark Pitcher Finally Beaten

By The Associated Press
Bob Porterfield finally has been beaten.

The sensational Newark Bears righthander saw his nine-game winning streak end last night when the lowly Toronto Maple Leafs nipped him 3-2 in the first game of a doubleheader. The International League-leading Bears came back to gain a split by winning the second game 8-2.

Porterfield and the veteran Oscar Judd waged an even duel until the last half of the sixth inning when first baseman Hank Blassati of the Leafs straightened out one of Bob's pitches for a home run.

Syracuse remained in third place, 2½ games behind the Bears, when they divided a doubleheader 1-3 and 5-1 with Buffalo.

Baltimore snapped Rochester's six-game winning streak, scoring two runs in the ninth to win 4-3.

Queen's, Scouts Capture Lacrosse Frays

Queen's defeated Legion 10-3 and Scouts nosed out Comstock's 4-3 in juvenile lacrosse game in Miller Bowl last night. The grounds were muddy and rain threatened but some good play was seen. The next games are there tomorrow night, starting at 8.30, with Legion playing Comstock's and Queen's meeting the Scouts.

In the first game last evening, B. Robinson sparked the victory with six counters. They did some nice passing, while the Legion defence was shaky. Hickson went good in goal despite the score. The teams:

Queen's—O'Donoghue, Whinnell, Beavis, Crowder, McMaster, Searle, G. Robinson, B. Robinson, Reynolds, Payne and Foster.

Legion—Hickson, Crowley, O'Donnell, Fontaine, Mullin, Caravaggio, Fitzgerald, Leveseur, Reynolds, O'Reilly, H. Burns, and B. Burns.

Second Game

In the other contest, Scouts had to go overtime to pull out the close verdict against Comstock's, Curtis scoring the big goal. They were well matched and the checking was close and rugged. H. Russell had to retire for repairs. Farley turned in a brilliant effort in goal, but all the players on both sides went good. Teams:

Scouts—Farley, Webb, Sadler, Rogers, Buchanan, Willshaw, Moorby, Curtis, Floyd, B. Rogers, Casey.

Comstock's—Beebe, H. Russell, C. Russell, Dewar, Eason, Vincent, Powers, Lagana, Carveth, VanAllen, Stanger, O'Donnell, Basciano, Barker, Richardson, Connelly.

Referee—W. Murphy and M. Crowley.

MY LOVE WINS—Race-goers from all over England flocked to Epsom Downs to see the year's "Blue Ribbon" racing event, the Derby. There were 33 runners in this year's Derby—the second biggest field since the race came into being in the year 1780. The winner was HH the Aga Khan's My Love, ridden by W. R. Johnston, with M. L. Volterra's Royal Drake, J. Doyasbère up, second, and HH the Aga Khan's Noor, with Jockey T. Weston up, third. Pictured is the Derby finish with My Love romping home to win the 1948 Derby.

Olympic Sports Amateur But Expense of Show High

LONDON, June 10 — (CP) — A stalwart champion of true-blue amateurism and a big-shot sports promoter, the men behind Britain's biggest-ever sports enterprise, the July 29-August 14 Olympic Games, are facing a new reality. The 64-year-old sportsman who has been connected with amateur athletics since the turn of the century, is directing organization of the show and portly Sir Arthur Elvin, the managing director of Wembley Stadium, has supplied "working expenses"—£100,000 ($400,000). When the starting pistol cracks at Wembley, Sir Arthur will uncork a bottle of champagne and listen to the full-throated roar of nearly 100,000 persons in his stands.

An insight into the workings of the setup was given by Holt in an interview in his Mayfair offices. Under his direction, Olympic planners have worked nearly two years in a three-storey home converted into offices.

Total cost to run the Games will be between £400,000 and £450,000 ($1,600,000-$1,800,000) with a full-time staff of about 75 persons, he said. "This total will swell to about 4,000 during the show."

CGE Slips Loss In Soccer To O'Halloran's

The seven goal count registered by C.G.E. over O'Halloran's in a 7-1 soccer league match on Wednesday evening, is no criterion of the tussle at King Edward Park for the losers put up a brilliant game. Electricians introduced two new players, F. Attard and F. Eri from Malta, with the former a brilliant opportunist, and snail-dribbler with perfect control of the ball. This is the first time that he had ever played on a grass field.

Perfect combination was evident right from the kick-off with C.G.E. on the alert to take advantage of openings. After five minutes of play, McPhate centered from the wing to permit Attard to connect with a short drive to beat Chamberlain. At the other end, O'Halloran made the C.G.E. goalie stretch himself to divert the ball over the bar. Electricians replied with a steady barrage on O'Halloran's citadel to find Chamberlain giving a brilliant display in goal. Then a series of goals by Attard and Strong were of opportunist character. A McPhate and Cotton combination resulted in Attard gaining another counter. O'Halloran's came into the picture then with a series of raids and foul kicks that ruffled twice in succession in below the cross-bar with C.G.E. custodian tipping the ball over the bar. A break away by Strong terminated in the ball landing in the rigging out of the reach of the goalie.

A rearranged O'Halloran team on resuming, forced the C.G.E. to go on the defensive with O'Halloran's half back line intercepting, blocking and placing the attack in positional plays and Smart got their lone counter. Exchanges continued until another burst of speed, inaugurated by C.G.E. resulted in Strong placing a deadly ball into centre where McPhate connected with a beautiful header to make it 6-1. Just before the finish, Attard registered his fourth goal of the tussle.

C.G.E.—A Greenhorn, goal; S. McGann and S. Murrill, full backs; H. Steel, W. Wilson and D. Craig, half backs; R. Strong, A. Welland, F. Attard, E. Cotton and T. McPhate, forwards; Subs—A. McArthur, F. Eri.

O'Halloran's—J. Chamberlain, goal; A. B. Smart and T. Scott, full backs; D. Gray, H. Pyle and W. Cribbs, half backs; A. Boone, N. Downer, A. O'Halloran, A. Featherstone and D. Duncan, forwards.

Referee—Asa Downer; linesmen B. Grant and G. Downer.

Southenders Take Peewee Victory

The Southenders took an 11-7 peewee City Baseball League win over East City last evening in Riverside Park. It was a neat number with a four-run outburst in the last inning making the difference. The winners had scored twice each in the first, third and fifth frames, with one in the second. East City counted singles in the second, third and sixth, with four in the fourth. Corbett hit a homer. The teams: East City: Wyllie, ss; O'Toole, cf; McGrath, p; Purtelle, lf; Bap-tie, 1b; Stewart, cf; Cusimano, cf; Garvey, 2b; Towns, 2b; Guerin, c; F. Ash, 3b; Starr, 3b; G. Ash, p, cf. Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The New York Herald Tribune Wednesday quoted two minor league baseball officials as saying the Quebec Provincial League has been raiding various minor league clubs for players.

Al Baralieri, player-manager of the Portchester (N.Y.) Clippers of the Colonial League, was quoted as saying the Provincial League has "been 'waiving big money' in the faces of a number of men. 'They've already got a number of former big leaguers up there,' Baralieri was quoted. 'Bobby Estalella, Roland Gladu and Adrian Zabala, to name a few.' 'Last week I was offered $1,000 a month and later was told that I might get $500 more if I jumped.'

The Herald Tribune said that Jean Pierre Roy, former Brooklyn Dodger, is 'at the helm' for the Provincial League, in which he is managing the St. Johns, Que., club.

Willie Maney, secretary of the International League, was quoted as saying "the Provincial League is making a lot of trouble." Maney added that Paul Calvert, pitcher recently sold to Atlanta by the Toronto Maple Leafs of

Graziano-Zale All Set To Go

NEWARK, N.J., June 10 (AP).—Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale kept an anxious eye on the sky today as they sweated out the hours for their 15-round middle-weight title bout in Ruppert Stadium tonight.

On edge after months of training and for this third and rubber fight, the battlers were keenly disappointed when intermittent rainstorms yesterday set back the fray a day.

Today's forecast for "partly cloudy" weather was enough to keep them on the hot seat. They weighed in yesterday, champion Graziano at 158½ and Zale at 158½, and don't have to repeat the ceremony today.

But should nasty squalls force another 24-hour delay, the gladiators will have to make the 160-pound division limit again Friday noon.

While Zale and Graziano were disturbed over the postponement, the promoting Tournament of Champions Inc., counted on it to bring another harvest of dollars. The "seven angels" as the backers are called, already have a ticket sale of more than $277,000 and $70,000 for radio and movie rights. Whatever comes in today is pure gravy. Graziano will get $120,000 and Zale $80,000. Betting odds on the tight remained stable with the rough, rugged New York title-holder favored at 5 to 11.

"I'LL GIVE YOU NINE REASONS why you shouldn't!"

THEY were discussing who would make the most dependable Executors of their estates. Frank was emphatic. "I'll give you nine reasons why you shouldn't appoint even your most trusted friend as Executor."

And these were the nine reasons...

1. TOO BUSY — A private Executor may be too busy to manage your estate properly.
2. INEXPERIENCED — Although successful in his own affairs he may be entirely inexperienced in estate management.
3. ABSENT — A private Executor may be absent when most urgently needed.
4. ILL — A long illness could completely tie matters up.

5. DEATH — If he should die a total stranger may take his place.
6. NOT RESPONSIBLE — He may become financially irresponsible and cause serious losses.
7. PARTIALITY — He may "play favorites" among beneficiaries and cause dissension.
8. EXPENSE — He will probably have to employ various experts, at added cost to the estate.
9. OLD AGE may prove a handicap.

Ontario Jr. Football Gets New Deal

LONDON, Ont., June 10 (CP).—Junior football in Ontario got new deal here Wednesday night as delegates from 10 Western Ontario cities met here and formed the Junior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

At least eight entries were assured at the initial meeting and junior football clubs from all over the province will be invited to fall in line with the new movement. The league will be a self-governing unit and will affiliate with the ORFU.

Dr. H. G. MacDonnell, Kitchener, pioneer of the idea, was named president of the organization. He will be aided by three-man executive and each club entering the group will appoint one man to the board. Other officers elected at the meeting were:

Vice-president, Alex Colvin, of London; secretary, George Smith, Kitchener; treasurer, Douglas Wilson, Chatham.

Entries will be accepted until July 15 and all junior football clubs in Ontario are being asked to join the new organization. Teams represented at the initial meeting were: Windsor AKO, Chatham, Woodstock, Brantford, Kitchener, Galt, Hamilton, Sarnia, Petrolia and London. St. Thomas was also considered a possible entry.

An entry fee of $10 was approved and it was decided that the new grouping would meet shortly to approve a set of by-laws. The meeting expressed the hope that the Niagara District and Eastern Ontario would contact the secretary with a view to joining up.

Seeks To Ban Crime Comics Across Canada

OTTAWA, June 10.—(CP).—Canada will need a fleet of fast, modern merchant ships if she is to compete with other countries on the high seas, Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday in the Commons.

Merchant ships built for the Government during the war and later sold to private Canadian firms now are becoming obsolete, he said.

The minister made the statement in replying to criticism of the Canadian Maritime Commission by some Liberal and Opposition members.

Mr. Chevrier said the question of representation from the Maritime times is receiving consideration. The Board was established only a year ago and it was difficult to give all regions immediate representation.

He said the Commission has very definite and valuable functions to perform. For one thing, the Commission is trying to interest Canadian merchant shipping companies to invest in new ships.

The Commission now administers ships sold by the Government to private companies which could not pay full cost of the vessels immediately. The companies now are being allowed to sell the ships to foreign countries if the revenue from the sale is used to build new ships in Canadian shipyards.

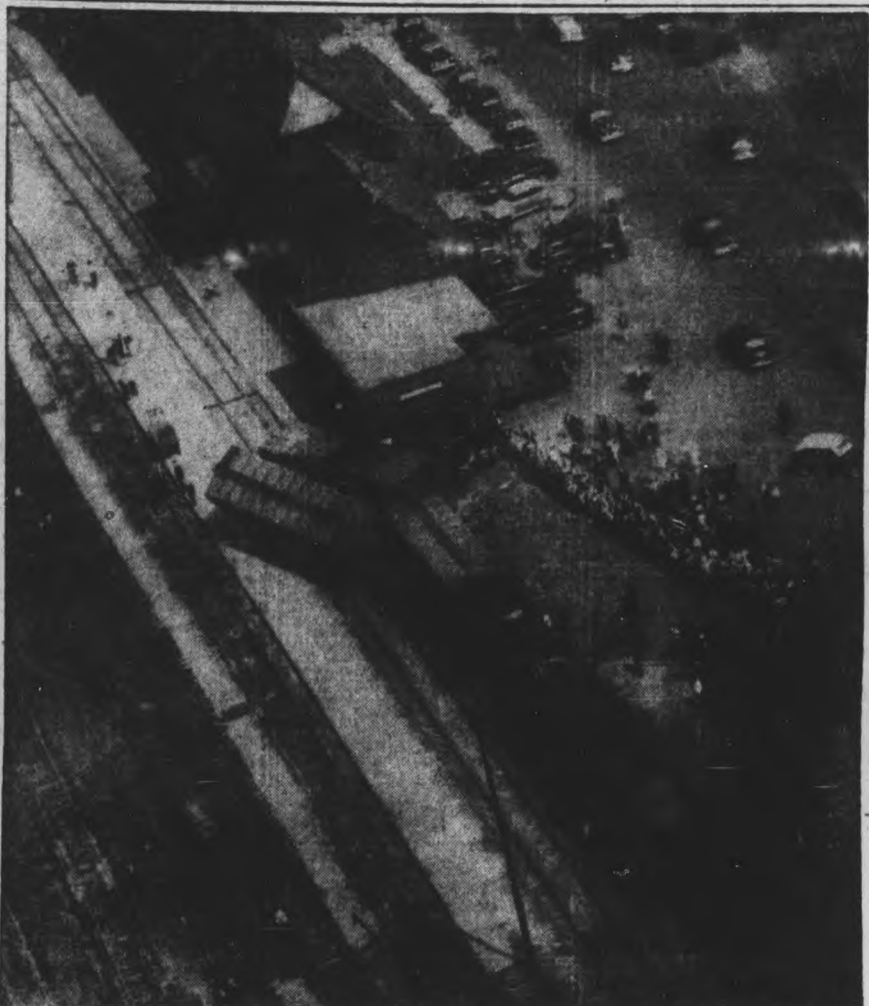

This policy, said the minister, would offer employment for Canadian shipyard workers and would be developed gradually.

Gordon Innes (L-Halifax) initiated criticism for lack of Maritime representation on the Commission. J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Muskoka-Ontario) expressed his party's criticism of the Commission.

TWO TRAINS COLLIDE — Cars of Toronto-Buffalo CNR passenger train were quickly uncoupled when workmen at Niagara Falls began clearing the tracks of three boxcars into which passenger train plowed yesterday after running through an open switch.

Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) and several other members called for prison reforms.

Justice Minister Isley said that some progress is being made in the matter of reforms. Segregation of prisoners has been started; a training school for penitentiary officers has been opened; salaries for guards have been increased and full-time vocational training for prisoners has been started in two penitentiaries.

He said lack of accommodation is delaying segregation of prisoners.

Mr. Isley also told the Chamber that he will ask the Cabinet to approve a criminal code amendment which will ban the publication of crime comic books in Canada.

All City Events To Be Kept In Book Record

It was decided at the monthly executive meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening to keep a date book at its offices recording all events in the city, including service club, civic and church activities. All organizations are being approached to co-operate in the keeping of this book, which will help to prevent two important events taking place in the city on the same day and at the same time.

It was also decided to contact the Hon. Harold Scott regarding the completion of the Buckhorn Road to Gooderham.

In future, quarterly dinner meetings are to be held for the general members of the Chamber of Commerce. The first of such meetings will be held early in September.

Plans are under way for a reception on June 24 at the South Beach Hotel for the American weekly publishers, who are touring Canada.

Wilson Gemmell presided at the meeting.

Bidault Defends 6-Power Plan

PARIS, June 10.—(AP).—Foreign Minister Bidault went before the Assembly foreign affairs committee Wednesday to defend a six-power agreement to set up a separate Western German state. Bidault left a session of the cabinet which is still discussing the accord. A spokesman said on Tuesday the cabinet had approved it.

Bidault denied reports that the French government had sent a note to Washington outlining the difficulty of getting Assembly approval for the accord, announced Monday by the United States, France, Britain, and the Benelux countries—Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The statement implied Bidault might make some revelations before the Assembly that might put the French in a better mood about the accord.

The Assembly takes up the accord Friday and is expected to deliberate two days. The newspaper Parisien Libre, which has opposed the accord, denied an official statement that Tuesday's cabinet approval was unanimous. It said some Ministers balked on the question of setting up a seven-power control authority for the Ruhr.

The French traditionally fear a strong Germany and object to any concessions which might lead to such an event.

EISENHOWER AT COLUMBIA — Just four years and one day after the Allied invasion of Europe, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower became Columbia University's 13th President recently. No ceremony marked the event as formal installation will take place next fall. Here he is shown waving from the steps of Low Memorial Library, New York, on his way to his office for his first session as president of the university. After assuming office he said he hoped the job will be "a lot of fun."

Who Hit Me?

ROSCOE, Calif., June 10.—(AP).—Night after night Jack Foster, 38, sits astride his parked motorcycle at an intersection here holding a sign which reads: "Who hit me?" Foster was involved in a collision with a truck at the same intersection last May 10. He was in hospital for many days and still has an injured right leg. He says that in order to become eligible for compensation because of the accident he must identify the truck in the accident and find a witness.

Mission Ship Sails

VANCOUVER — (CP).—Completely overhauled and repaired, Columbia Coast Mission's hospital ship Columbia sailed recently for northern waters. The vessel had been out of service since March 4 when it grounded on a reef in Warner Bay.

Learn-To-Swim Classes Planned

The Peterborough Outdoor Swimming Committee is sponsoring a "Learn to Swim Week" June 7 to 12. An intensive campaign to register children and adults is being carried out this week in the city.

Films on Learning to Swim and Water Safety will be shown at all city schools starting Tuesday, June 8, with screenings at May's and Grove Schools in the morning and Confederation and St. John's in the afternoon.

All school principals and teachers are co-operating in this plan to make the children of Peterborough swim conscious. Registration forms are being distributed throughout the class rooms with posters and display boards being set up in each school urging the children to register and boys particularly to offer their services and join the beach patrol. Registration cards and posters are also available at the Public Library and the Recreation Office.

Lessons Are Free
Children, as well as adults, may register any time before July 1, but those wishing to receive swimming lessons are asked to register this week so that the instructors will have time to set up their classes before the program actually gets under way. Printed registration cards have been sent to all schools, the Library, and the Recreation Office for the convenience of those wishing to register. Beginner classes will be held as well as lessons in advanced swimming, life-saving, speed swimming, water safety, and diving. There is no charge for registration or for the swimming lessons themselves. It is intended that two swimming areas be operated, one at Lions Riverside Park and one at Kinsmen Inverleap. All phases of the swimming program will be conducted in each of these parks.

Hastings Expects Early Haying

TORONTO, June 10 (CP).—The weekly crop report of the Ontario agriculture department released Wednesday night said potato planting was well advanced in Dufferin, Grey and Halton. Rain was needed to help pasture and hay crops in some Western Ontario sections.

Tobacco planting kept farmers busy in Norfolk and Oxford. Ninety per cent of the corn crop was sown in Welland. Later apples were in full bloom in the Niagara Peninsula while growers completed spraying of pears, plums and cherries.

Hastings looked for an earlier-than-average haying season with a bumper crop. Northumberland reported a week of "wonderful growth" in the hundreds of acres planted in tomatoes, corn, potatoes and grain.

Careton, Dundas and Glenora reported crops in good condition. Sales of cattle for export continued active in Frontenac. Pastures showed improvement in Grenville, Lanark and Leeds.

In the north, planting was almost completed. Most districts reported the need for rain to help pastures.

Col. E. Grinstead To Visit City

Colonel Edgar Grinstead, international youth secretary of the Salvation Army, will lecture on "International Youth Affairs" on Sunday at the Salvation Army Temple.

Colonel Grinstead is the son of early-day Salvation Army officers, joining the Salvation Army as a boy at St. Albans, on the outskirts of London, England. During the First World War, he joined the Royal Naval Air Service and became a Flight Sub-lieutenant. When the Naval Air Service and Royal Flying Corps were amalgamated, he was transferred to the new Royal Air Force as a flying instructor.

Upon demobilization in 1919, he became a Salvation Army officer and worked in various parts of Great Britain. In 1930, he was appointed to organize Salvation Army relief work in the London air raid shelters and tube stations and later his responsibilities were extended to Salvation Army work among members of the armed services. In 1945, Colonel Grinstead became youth organizer for the whole of the Salvation Army's youth work in Great Britain.

Following the election of General Albert Osborn in 1946, it was decided that Salvation Army youth work should be developed through an international youth and Colonel Grinstead was appointed in charge, becoming the organization's first international youth secretary.

VISITS PETERBOROUGH — Col. Edgar Grinstead, international youth secretary of the Salvation Army, will be speaking here on Sunday.

"Imagine! even six-week-olds can digest Libby's without upsets"

Yes, clinical tests prove that even a six-week-old baby can digest Libby's Baby Foods easily, without upsets.

The reason—because in preparing foods for your baby's inexperienced little stomach, Libby's takes an important extra step. After straining, Libby's Baby Foods are Homogenized—rough fibres are pulverized, tough food cells are exploded open, the nourishment is released for immediate digestion. Libby's Baby Foods are actually ten times finer in texture than foods which are only strained.

Think what this means at the critical time when you start feeding fruits and vegetables! What a continued safeguard it is! No other baby food offers the added advantages of homogenization.

British Know Arab Leader As Worthy Antagonist

By MOHAMED WAGDI

CAIRO. — (AP). — Fawzi Bay Al Kaukji, field commander of the Arab "People's Army to Save Palestine," has spent most of his adult life fighting the French and the British.

The veteran Arab warrior, son of a Turkish officer of Lebanese origin, was born in Tripoli, Syria, in 1896. He graduated from Istanbul military college in 1917 and served as a commissioned officer in the Turkish army until the armistice in 1918 ended the First World War.

Kaukji then joined the Arab Army under King Feisal and served under the French mandatory power in Syria and Lebanon as a captain at Hama, but soon left the French army and joined the national organizations working for the independence of Syria and the Lebanon.

With French weapons and equipment which he took with him, Kaukji joined the Arab revolt of 1925 under the Druze leader Sultan Pasha El Attrash and fought many guerrilla battles against the French in northern Syria before the revolt ended in 1928.

With a number of companions, he was pursued by the French but escaped from Syria. He managed to reach Cairo and from there went to Saudi Arabia, where he served as military advisor and helped to organize the Saudi Arabian army. In 1935 he went to Iraq, where he accepted the post of cavalry trainer at Iraq's military school.

"Triangle Man" When the Arab revolt flared in Palestine in 1936, Kaukji joined the Arabs at the head of 500 volunteers from Syria and Iraq and for three years fought the British in the Holy Land. This time, it is reported, he did not use guerrilla tactics, but regular army methods. The British used to call him the "triangle man" for his practice of lining up his troops in triangles when they entered a battle.

In 1939 the Arab rulers asked the Palestine rebels to stop fighting and the British white paper was issued stopping legal Jewish immigration to Palestine.

Kaukji then left Palestine with his companions and their equipment, returning to Iraq, where he joined again in fighting the British in the Iraq rebellion of 1940. This rebellion was led by Rashid Ali Kilani, a senior army officer, now in Saudi Arabia, where he was given refuge by King Ibn Saud.

Many Wounded

Rashid Ali's movement was intended to drive the British out of Iraq. Kaukji led a band of Bedouin volunteers and suffered numerous bullet wounds. After the failure of this rebellion, he left Iraq and eventually reached Germany with Haj Amin El Husseini, the exiled mufti of Jerusalem.

When the Second World War ended, Kaukji was released by the Russian occupation authorities after mediation by the Lebanese government. For the last few months Kaukji, with the help of former officers of the Iraq and Trans-Jordan armies, has been training volunteers in Syria and the Lebanon for the "People's Army" for which he has now established headquarters in northern Palestine.

One of the best known and reputedly one of the ablest Arab soldiers, many Arabs swear by his name, saying: "By the head of Fawzi, I will do this and so."

British Beer-Drinkers Get Small Increase of Supply

By JAMES MCCOOK

LONDON, June 10 — (CP). — Thanks to 25,000 tons of barley, Edith Summerskill, who holds the Ministry Parliamentary Secretary, may be the "Pin-up Girl of the West Midlands."

Good-looking, red-haired Dr. Edith Summerskill, who holds the Food Ministry portfolios against innumerable Commons questions, heard the protests of Midlands members of Parliament about the beer shortages in their area.

Capt. John Baird, Labor member for Wolverhampton East and a dentist, said Midlands breweries produced "temperny" beer which now sold for 1s (20 cents) a glass. Some people called it

"Strachey" after Food Minister Strachey and others called it "Wallop."

F. G. Bowles, Labor, Nuneaton, said beer shortages and quality had caused "a suppressed feeling of disappointment, if not of anger and fury."

"If the honorable lady can do away with 'temperny' and keep the pubs open she will be the Pin-up Girl of the West Midlands," said H. D. Hughes, Labor, Wolverhampton West.

Dr. Summerskill gently chided the members for suggesting the beer-drinkers of the Midlands suffered any more than others in the United Kingdom. After listening to the appeals of the members she felt that as an occasional drinker of "Shandy" (a mixture of beer and ginger beer) she was "an amateur in the presence of professionals."

Then came the good news. The Food Ministry proposed to allocate 25,000 additional tons of barley annually for beer-making. This would work out at an increase of 3½ per cent in beer supplies in industrial areas.

"The day has gone when you had the 'tough' publican who was there only to throw the drunks out. Some of our best public-houses in these days are conducted by women who rely on their knowledge of handling men and not on their capacity to throw them out," she said. "As we banish poverty and insecurity our public-houses will become places where good fellowship rather than strong drink is the main attraction."

Nursing Schools Grants To Be Discussed Here

Neither Civic Hospital nor St. Joseph's has officially endorsed a resolution by the Board of St. Catharines General Hospital urging provincial grants for hospitals which have a training school for nurses. However it is almost certain that this resolution will be discussed when the two Boards hold their respective meetings next week.

Sister Priscilla, Mother Superior of St. Joseph's said: "I certainly would approve of it. I think it is a very good idea. Any school at present in operation would approve of it. It would be particularly valuable now that the cost of everything is so high."

She said that the matter will likely be brought up at the next Board meeting.

John Horal, superintendent of Civic Hospital, said he had a copy of the St. Catharines resolution but preferred to reserve comment until after the Board meeting on June 17.

According to a Canadian Press dispatch the Board of Governors of Brantford General Hospital on Tuesday endorsed the resolution. If the Ontario government allowed the grant it would be for education only and would not be available to hospitals where there are no schools of nursing.

Razing Old Building Once Pump Factory

Canadian Department Stores Ltd. are tearing down the old roughcast building immediately south of their premises.

"There is no significance," said J. H. Jamison, CDS manager, "except that the building was unsightly, had outlived its usefulness, and was a shabby looking spot near the centre of the city."

This building stands between CDS and the Grand Hotel. It is believed that a pump factory was once located there. Payton's Pumps were made somewhere in that vicinity with frontage on George St. in the old plastered building that is now being demolished.

St. John Ambulance Hold Annual Inspection, Win Child Welfare Awards

First certificates for the St. John Ambulance Brigade course in child welfare to be awarded in Ontario were presented Wednesday evening to 10 members of the Nursing Division at the annual inspection of the local Men's and Nursing Division at the Salvation Army Temple. Inspecting officers were Dr. W. J. Bell, provincial commissioner; Mrs. E. H. Anderson, provincial nursing officer, and Mrs. Harold J. Kirby, lady district officer.

After inspection, both divisions were examined in first aid work. Stracher drill was carried out by both the men's and ladies' divisions, and the latter was also given tests in nursing work.

The SJAB is an entirely voluntary organization supported by public contributions and receives no government grant. The Brigade offers its services free at all public meetings to give first aid when required. The Nursing Division is ready at all times to do public service in the way of nursing and first aid work.

Both Dr. Bell and Mrs. Anderson said that the local divisions had made good progress in the last year. Dr. Bell said that their work in injuries to the spine was excellent. P. O'Toole is superintendent of the Peterborough Division and Miss Florence Vickers is in charge of the Nursing Division.

The certificates for the course in child welfare were presented to Miss Mary Trotter, Mrs. Eliza Cushman, Mrs. W. D. Hill Dives Into Canal In Daring Rescue; Boy's 12th Birthday Today

By JESSIE DOUBT

LAKEFIELD, June 10 — Billy Coleman, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Coleman of Lakefield Park, was rescued from drowning in the Trent Canal today at 8.40 a.m. by D'Arcy Hill, 46, father of six children. Hill, a night worker at the CGE, had just returned home and heard screams of Coleman's pals on the canal front. He ran to the scene, dove in to where a stream of bubbles were rising from the deep water and found it was the boy's bicycle. He went down twice before locating the boy on the bottom; it was estimated that the lad had been in the water for over five minutes.

Dr. H. G. Gaste, who lived two blocks away, ran to the canal and applied artificial respiration for five minutes before there were any signs of life. Young Coleman finally rallied, was taken to the doctor's office and later to his home. It is Billy's 12th birthday today.

The accident happened when Billy in company with his pal Tommy Douglas, 10, was wheeling to school and using the cement covered retaining wall of the canal at the foot of Smith St., as a right-of-way. He waved to another friend, Ted Whitney, the wheel swerved and toppled over the edge. Billy, who came from Amherst, N.S., with his parents last summer was not a strong swimmer and the smooth four-foot wharf walls were too high for his companions to reach him to keep him afloat.

Ted Whitney raced for Dr. Castle's office two blocks away and met Mrs. Clare Chittick en route, who gave the general alarm to Chief Constable G. Samis. It was while this hurried organization was going on that Mr. Hill heard the boys frantic screams and raced to the spot and dove in; had he not been a strong swimmer and diver, he would not have been able to affect such a quick rescue as the water is very deep with a strong undertow, just to the west and above the dam. It will be a stern warning to school-children to ignore the pleas of village fathers to stop riding on the wharf-edged canal.

Chief Samis credited the rescue to the fast work of both Mr. Hill and Dr. Castle. Both men, he said, ran a considerable distance to reach the scene in time to be effective in the rescue.

Big Locomotives Now Built In Canadian Factories

TORONTO, June 10 — (CP) — Canada is shipping hundreds of steam locomotives to Asia, Africa and Europe, and at the same time is getting started on a large diesel-electric locomotive industry.

Latest order is 100 steam jobs for India, worth about $12,500,000, which follows a previous Indian order for 150 on which work is just under way.

These orders are being filled by Montreal Locomotive Works, Ltd., and Canadian Locomotive Co., Ltd., of Kingston.

Spokesman for the Montreal Company at the Canadian International Trade Fair here states that in addition to the Indian orders, the following orders have been received since the war:

Belgium 100, France 100, Egypt 20, Nigeria 16, Rhodesia 14, Newfoundland 5, Portuguese East Africa 8.

On display at the Fair is a 1,000 horse-power diesel-electric switching locomotive made in Montreal, the largest and most powerful ever built in Canada, the first of an order of 40 for Canadian railways, with further Canadian and foreign orders in the offing. It weighs 115 tons, is 45 feet long and 14½ feet high. Preparations are being made to produce 1,500 horse-power diesel-electric road switchers in 1949.

Other Canadian railway equipment is going abroad. Canadian Car and Foundry Co., Ltd., is showing at the Fair the latest in day coaches and baggage and express cars; also work train equipment, including ballast cars designed for South Africa.

The rail equipment companies don't expect to make many, if any, sales at the Fair, but their show of "big stuff" draws lots of attention from world visitors, perhaps because most men have a small-boy hankering to get at the throttle of a locomotive, and they get some of the "feel" even in the immobilized diesel-electric. But it is mostly a male crowd.

County Home Sold

BELLEVILLE, June 10 — (CP) — The County Council has accepted the offer of $300,000 for the county home from the city of Belleville. This will include the home and 75 acres of land which adjoins and which was annexed to the city some time ago. It is proposed by the city council to divide the land into building lots and these will be sold to home builders.

Excavating the Civic Arena is being temporarily postponed until work begins on the concrete foundations in about ten days' time. This is to enable children, who are playing on the present disused lot, to continue to play on it, and to prevent any accidents through children falling in to the excavations.

A cheque for $100 has been received from the Canadian Sealright Company. Payroll deductions in the factory averaged $5 per donor. Another cheque for $100 was received from Harry Toudin of the Centre Theatre. The 20-Plus Club has sent a cheque for $25 and a cheque for $20 has been received from the Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society.

Now Offence To Keep Over $10 US Currency

No longer can people advertise as did W. H. Wrighton in one of the Peterborough papers of 1887: "American Money Bought and Sold: Reasonable Terms."

Today the Foreign Exchange Control Board is clamping down. Penalties are provided for people who hold more than $10 in U.S. Currency. The penalty is not definite, said a city bank official, but is assessed according to the offence.

Retailers, hotel and tourist resort keepers, may retain $250 in American money to make change for tourists who request it. People who attempt to export U.S. funds in any way, even by carrying it across the border on their persons, may be fined, and the money they hold confiscated.

The government has urged that accumulations of American dollars be turned in. Those little hoards of more than $10 can help ease the U.S. dollar shortage in Canada.

BELFAST—(CP).—Northern Ireland's textile industry has reached almost 95 per cent of its export target, Maj. Maxwell, secretary of the commerce ministry, announced recently.

Overseas Vets Demand Job Preference

OTTAWA, June 10—(CP).—A contention that attempts to bypass preference in Civil Service employment for overseas veterans are "becoming too prevalent" was aired today before the Commons Committee on Veterans Affairs.

It came from C. H. Hope, vice-president of the Dominion Civil Servants War Veterans Association. He said 8,000 of the 40,000 veterans in the Civil Service are members of the body.

The brief also asked that:

- 1—Time in the services be counted towards Civil Service seniority and statutory increases.
- 2—Forces' experience be applied against Civil Service exams.
- 3—Temporary Civil Servants who are veterans be allowed, by right, to apply in any promotional exam, instead of at the discretion of the Department.

WHEW! WHAT A RELIEF! — No wonder window washer John Monoz of Chicago (inset) slumped into a chair... minutes earlier, he had been dangling (top) in midair, six stories above the street after one of his safety belt straps snapped. He was working in Chicago's Loop district at the time and as though by some miracle, the remaining strap held him as he slid out into space there to count the seconds he expected would elapse before the other thin strand gave way. Luckily however, firemen were soon on the job with a ladder, boosted John back through the window and into a chair, as thousands watched below.

Reeve Lauds City Board

In the cause of intermunicipal co-operation and the promotion of goodwill, Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan says the city has done a good job of cleaning up the ditches along the two roads leading to the township property used as a city dump.

"If we can just get people to keep things that way, it will be a big improvement," Mr. Johnston said in an appreciation of the tidying-up done by the board of works. The dump is south of the C.P.R. from the Patterson gravel pit. One road leads westerly from the foot of Monaghan Road at Crawford's Grove, and the other moves south and west from the No. 7 highway cut off, at the foot of the long hill easterly from its junction with No. 28 highway near the Kawartha Golf Club.

Use of tarpaulins will keep rubbish of one kind and another from blowing off trucks on their way to the dump, and it is expected that there will be no more unloading of refuse into the ditches on both these roads. Presumably Roy Thompson of the sanitation department, which comes under the chairmanship of Ald. H. Dods, was in charge of removing the offending litter which had been tossed on to the roadside within sight of the dump.

At any rate Reeve Johnston said he wished to give credit where it was due, and he appreciated the promptness with which the city had tackled this unsightly job.

R. A. Robertson Widely Mourned

The funeral of Robert Alexander Robertson who died at his home in Cavanville on Sunday was held from the Comstock Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon with interment in Little Lake cemetery.

Descendant of a pioneer family of North Cavan Mr. Robertson was born on the family homestead, one mile west of Springville, 77 years ago and there resided until about 20 years ago when he took up residence in Cavanville. Mr. Robertson was a prominent farmer, a good citizen, and churchman as both his father and grandfather were in the Springville community and for years was on the Board of Managers of the Springville church and treasurer of the congregation.

In declining health for the past year Mr. Robertson had been out in his garden working on Saturday and was around on Sunday when he was stricken. He leaves his wife, formerly May Armstrong, one son Oran of Montreal, two brothers Kenneth of Edmonton and George of Toronto and one sister, Miss Florence Robertson of Winnipeg.

The funeral service which was largely attended was conducted by the Rev. C. G. R. McQuade of the Cavan United Church and the Rev. A. H. McConnachie of Peterborough, a former minister of Mr. Robertson's. The pallbearers were Ivan Gray, Bruce Elliott, Fred Elliott, Charles Gardiner, Harold Rowan and Joseph Sanderson.

Eugene O'Neill Play Gets Chilly Reception

DUBLIN, June 10—(AP)—Eugene O'Neill's play, "The Iceman Cometh," drew a chilly reception from Irish critics today. The play opened Monday night at the Gate theatre for its first performance with a cast made up mostly of amateurs.

The Irish Independent said the audience had "to look at and listen to a crowd of degenerate drunks in the back room of an old pub."

"O'Neill would certainly have shown himself a better dramatist if he had shortened the play by relying less on the artificial stimulants of objectionable words," it said.

The Irish press, noting that the production was "rather handicapped by lack of more experienced actors," said the play had "little appeal to the intellect."

450,000 Acres Hit By Fire Already In '48

MONTREAL, June 10.—(CP).—The Canadian Forestry Association said Wednesday that forest fires so far this year in Ontario and Quebec have destroyed 24,000,000 in "forest wealth." A spokesman said this included lost lumbermen's wages as well as merchantable timber.

Total destruction in Ontario was estimated at 450,000 acres, 40 per cent of which was said to have been land covered by merchantable timber. Of the estimated 89,000 acres destroyed in Quebec only about 10 per cent was said to have commercial value.

Losses in 1947 for the whole of Canada were set at 615,000 acres. The C.F.A. blamed 90 per cent of the Ontario fires on "human agencies" and said human carelessness was responsible for all Quebec fires.

John Fisher To Speak To Underwriters

John Fisher, well-known for his "John Fisher Reports" series on the CBC, will be guest speaker at a public relations banquet sponsored by the Life Underwriters' Association of Peterborough to be held Friday, June 11.

Born in Sackville, New Brunswick, John Fisher has been in radio for the past five years, before which he spent some years as a lawyer and later as a newspaperman.

He was chosen as CBC's commentator for the two historic Quebec conferences, as well as the UNRRA conference. In 1945, 46 John Fisher was awarded the

Uranium Most Sought After Discovery Made In Saskatchewan

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10.—Reports from Washington indicate that picked teams of the nation's leading doctors and scientists are undergoing intensive indoctrination in the treatment of civilian populations subject to sudden atomic bombings.

This was disclosed recently by the U.S. Army medical center, which reported that no less than 700 physicians and scientists have been trained to date in the fundamental of atomic medicine.

Lafayette Trophy for the most outstanding contribution to Canadian radio made by a commentator. Again in 1947, he won the same award.

It goes without saying, also, that the public has become increasingly aware of the enormous significance which the discovery of atomic warfare and energy must inevitably have in the general world economy—not leastwise for Canada where the main source of atomic energy—Uranium—has been discovered and is now playing the chief role in the development of nuclear energy.

Recently, the Atomic Energy Control Board ruled that they would permit a freer flow of information about analyses of Uranium, thereby allowing prospectors and others to be informed and to communicate to other persons, the results of analyses of ore samples. It now also becomes possible for prospectors and others receiving such information to give "any person" information about location and probable extent of deposits containing Uranium or Thorium, which is a uranium substitute.

While the general public is only aware of nuclear energy as it pertains to atomic warfare, actually it is the intention of scientists to develop the basic principles of this energy, Uranium, to be used as a source of power—to run huge steam and power plants, for heating and other energy purposes.

It was not without great interest that an independent Geiger survey by W. H. Fairbairn and Colin A. Campbell, Consulting Engineer, revealed that uranium-bearing materials were found some while ago on property controlled by Murmac Lake Athabaska Mines, whose original intention was to mine Gold! While gold-bearing ore has been found, a series of uranium-bearing zones was indicated by the Geiger survey and these were treasured and sampled in preparation for diamond drilling.

Meanwhile, the Dominion Bureau of Mines in Ottawa has received many inquiries as to the possibilities of developing atomic energy. Uranium, responsible for the Atom, is a metal and occurs in minerals and ores in the same way as copper, iron, lead, zinc, or any of the other metals commonly used in industry. Because the mode of occurrence, and means of distinguishing Uranium minerals is of especial interest to miners and prospectors, the Bureau of Mines has released a special prospectors' guide which may be secured on request.

Civil Service Relaxes Age Limits

OTTAWA, June 10.—(CP).—In line with a policy of finding employment for older persons, the Civil Service Commission on Wednesday announced a relaxation in the entrance age limits for a number of classes in the public service.

Age limit for customs excise clerks and customs excise examiners was raised from 35 to 45 years, while immigration inspectors received a five-year concession from 35 to 40. The new limit for immigration guards is 50, an increase of 10 years.

Greatest relaxation was made in the case of customs guards, messengers, elevator operators, watchmen, packers and helpers, and cleaners and helpers, who now may enter up to the age of 50. The previous limit was 45.

There is no change in the customary 35-year limit for clerks, stenographers, typists and office appliance operators in the Grades 1 and 2.

Order Union Member Deported

TORONTO, June 10.—(CP).—Rudy Hanson, United States-born representative of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO-CCL) was ordered deported to the United States by an Immigration Board on Wednesday.

Hanson was the third member of the same union deported recently in a move by the Federal Government to rid the country of aliens with alleged Communist sympathies. The others were Reid Robinson, Eastern vice-president of the union, and George Knott, union official.

Hanson, arrested in Sudbury on Tuesday night, was given until July 12 to clear up his family affairs in Canada. He was released on $500 cash bail and said he would not appeal the decision.

The board hearing the case of the official who had been assisting the Sudbury union local in negotiations on an employer's medical and hospital plan, comprised of Andrew Adamson, chief immigration inspector; C. W. Desormeaux, assistant inspector, and F. A. Smith, Ottawa immigration official.

Silk And Nylon Prices Studied

OTTAWA, June 10.—(CP).—The Prices committee Wednesday began its investigation into artificial silk and nylon prices with a 24-page charted account, anti report on the industry.

The report, prepared by G. S. Knight, showed that earnings of the 22 main companies in the industry have averaged 16 per cent of their total sales during the last 12 years. It covered the four largest producers in detail and grouped the other 18. The companies treated individually were Canadian Industries Ltd., Nyon Division, Courtaulds (Canada) Ltd., Canadian Celanese Ltd. and Bruck Mills Ltd.

Courtaulds total sales were given as $83,46,000 and their operating income as $10,471,000. Mr. Knight defined operating income as profits before income tax and financial charges were deducted. In the case of Courtaulds it worked out to 12.6 per cent of their sales.

C.I.L.'s total sales since their nylon division was established in 1942 were $26,902,000 with an operating income of $3,056,000—18.6 per cent.

Mr. Knight gave Canadian Celanese sales during the 12-year period as $133,116,000 and their operating income as 29.8 per cent—$39,728,000. The figures for Bruck Mills were $54,133,000 for sales and $5,069,000 for operating income. The percentage was 32.9. The report also included average earnings on capital worked out as a percentage. These figures ranged from the 4.5 per cent shown by Courtaulds to 11.1 in the case of Canadian Celanese. The highest earnings were those of C.I.L. in 1946-47 which were 17.2 and 16.1 per cent, respectively.

Tourist Traffic Up 12 Per Cent

OTTAWA, June 10.—(CP). — Highway traffic at the Canada-United States boundary in April was 12 per cent higher than the same month last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. Increased American traffic was mainly responsible.

U.S. traffic entering Canada was 25 per cent greater than in April, 1947, while Canadian traffic returning from the U.S. was 15 per cent less. Aggregate number of border crossings was 538,700, including 396,700 foreign entries and 142,000 returning Canadian vehicles.

Of the foreign inflow, 69,900 cars entered on traveller's vehicle permits, 310,500 were non-profit or local entries and 16,300 were commercial vehicles. Canadian traffic returning comprised 9,500 units remaining abroad more than 24 hours, 120,000 staying for shorter periods and 12,500 commercial vehicles.

Quebec Election Set For July 28; Two Big Issues

QUEBEC, June 10.—(CP). — Quebec faces a general election in seven weeks with the Union Nationale Government and Liberal Opposition well into their preparations for voting July 28.

Date of the election, awaited since April 1 when the Provincial Legislature rose after a turbulent three-month session, was announced Wednesday by Premier Duplessis.

The Union Nationale Government, elected in August, 1944, chose a Wednesday for the voting as promised earlier by the Premier, who reserves the day, dedicated to St. Joseph, for his important moves.

The Premier told a Three Rivers audience last Sunday that provincial autonomy and anti-Communism are the "predominant" problems of the day.

The Liberals, led by Adélard Godbout, Quebec Premier during most of the war, are expected to contest the Union Nationale's bid for re-election with a platform calling for co-operation with the Federal authorities and for social reform.

L'Union des Electeurs, Quebec branch of the Social Credit Association of Canada, plans to contest all seats as a third party. At the moment of dissolution, party standings in the Quebec House were as follows: Union Nationale 52, Liberals 33, Bloc Populaire 1, Nationalist 1, Independents 3, vacant (Montreal-St. Louis) 1; total 91.

Premier Duplessis' government elected 48 members August 8, 1944, and increased its strength by four with by-election victories in which it won one Bloc Populaire and three Liberal seats. Another Liberal seat was vacated.

Total number of votes cast in 1944 was 1,329,927, a heavy increase from 533,207 in 1939, because women voted in provincial general elections for the first time.

Cold Plate Is A Must Real Break for Cook

By MARY MOORE

Abruptly our whole routine changed. Both of my teen-agers were "recommended" (thanks be!), so Marianne became official housekeeper overnight, and Pete has a job—that is he plays at working, for he is a caddy, and came home with a whole dollar and a huge appetite last night, but plaintively hoped dinner was not "hot".

Fortunately, I had been working so long in the garden I was wilted too so I was glad I had some cold cooked asparagus to

Here's a Summer Beauty Tip that's so "just right" for June's warm days, I'd like to put this in headline type! Spray SNO-MIST, that magical new powder deodorant from head-to-toe for all-day-long summertime loveliness! Or spray it in spots... on the face around the midriff and under armpits! Women who've discovered SNO-MIST make it as much of a summer beauty habit as eat-de-cologne and crisp, clean cotton! And it's so safe and easy to use... spray it on even after you've dressed, for it's not harmful to clothing! Ask your drugist to-morrow for SNO-MIST Powder Spray Deodorant—and remember, it's the one and only antiperspirant deodorant with an atomizer top!

Tied Up in Knots because there are so many "little" things slowing you down about the house? So many things to do and time-slaying much too swiftly! Then here's a time-saving tip to save you more minutes than you'd think possible... it's a trick that really works! Simply make a weekly habit of speeding up slow "lazy" drains with GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER! I've found that just two tablespoons a week in my drains do the trick... keep drains clear and free from clogging sediment... keep them fast-running so sinks and basins are easy to clean up and there's no time at all wasted waiting for water to run out. Gillet's Drain Cleaner works like magic to clean even the worst-clogged drain... but don't wait 'til a drain is a real nuisance—or the plumber has to be called in. A Reader Writes: "Do tell me more ways to use that wonderful BENSON'S CORN STARCH! I've tried several of your Benson recipes and can hardly wait for more!" Well, did you know that Benson's makes fluffier, more delicious meringues... makes gravies to melt in your mouth? And as for recipes... here are three I recommend for their extra-deliciousness... Apple Pie—Custard Sauce—Vanilla Blanc Manger... all from Benson's Recipe Sheet B.C. For your Free Copy, simply write to me, Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

What Makes a Good Summer Meal? My vote goes to salads... always so cool, crisp and fairly brimming over with appetite when the thermometer soars. And salads are particularly good, I find, when they're skillfully flavoured with Heinz Vinegar! Try Heinz White Vinegar for light salads and for smoother boiled dressings. Use the Cider or Malt Vinegar for heartier salads. You'll find they make all the difference between a salad that's just "adequate" and one that has real flavour excitement. So when you buy the best vegetables for your salads—be sure to buy HEINZ VINEGARS... they're "salad insurance"!

Summer Mealtime for Canadian families promises to be happier than for many a month! This year—praise be!—there's lots of JELLO to help make warm-weather meals more appealing. You know what cool-looking Jello-O can do for heat-weary appetites. So sparkling and colorful—so fresh flavored. Team up your choice of these seven famous "Jello-O" flavors with each fruit as it comes along. Top with a fluff of whipped cream when you like. Use Jello-O as the beginning of a hundred-and-one refreshing jellied salads. Jello-O keeps the cook cool, helps the family feel cool—and it's so kind to the budget!

When You Consider the Skill, time and elaborate care that's put into checking and re-checking the results of potter surveys... I'm sure you'll agree that this is pretty significant. Carefully trained researchers have discovered—from folks like you and me—that 80 out of every hundred home-makers prefer KELLOGG'S to any other brand of corn flakes! That means that 4 out of every 5 of us are convinced that Kellogg's Corn Flakes take top honours! And, speaking of Kellogg's... have you seen that exciting contest they're running just now? If you haven't, be sure to look for it as it closes June 12... and there are prizes galore—including ONE GRAND PRIZE of $1,000.00!

Sliced Ham-Luncheon Meat Salad of Sliced Rastishes, Shredded Carrots, Lettuce, Chives Rhubarb Crumb Milk Iced Coffee Everyone of you who reads this can produce something just as good or better, but it was the appearance of it on my big platter that made me decide to describe it to you.

The chilled sliced canned meat (I keep one can in the refrigerator for just such emergencies) was in the centre, bordered with the "devilish" eggs (up to this moment these eggs have been peculiar to the Moores I think); I piled the salad on some of the leaves from my 30-cent head of lettuce, and divided these with piles of cold asparagus. I piped stiff mayonnaise in the crevices and garnished it all with strips of pimiento and wedges of lemon.

"Devilish" Eggs This was Marianne's name for Devilish Eggs when she was very young—she still thinks it sounds a little less daring.

Put eggs on to cook in cold water to cover, and when it reaches boiling point turn off heat and let stand 5 minutes. Chill in cold water. Peel, and cut eggs in halves lengthwise and remove yolks. To the yolks of 6 eggs add ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon finely chopped chives or ½ teaspoon grated onion or juice, about 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Mix well, refill whites with yolk mixture, sprinkle top with paprika and garnish with sprig of parsley.

Rhubarb Crumb Wash an orange, cut it into quarters, remove seeds, then put it through the food grinder, following it with 2 stalks of rhubarb to clear the knives. Add to this 6 cups washed, chopped, but not peeled rhubarb. Mix it with ½ cup sugar and pack into buttered deep baking dish. Cover with mixture of 1 ½ cups brown sugar, 1 cup flour, ½ cup butter worked together until well crumbled. Pack top down tightly. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 1 ½ to 2 hours. Serve with heavy cream.

ANSWER:

Emem's Potato Salad

Five cups diced cooked potatoes (preferably new potatoes and slightly undercooked), cup either celery or cucumber, 1 very finely cut green onion, or 10 blades chives, ½ cup minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper, ¼ cup oil mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon lemon juice—following ingredients are optional: 1 or 2 sliced hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup cooked peas, fresh, frozen or canned, ½ cup thinly sliced radishes. A little extra French dressing may be added for additional moistness if desired. Mix all ingredients just before serving time. Pile lightly in wooden bowl and garnish lavishly with radish roses, tomato slices, hard-cooked egg slices.

Low-Calorie Dinner Poached Eggs on Spinach (1 egg and ¾ cup spinach 90 cal.) Sliced Broiled Back Bacon (1½ slices 100 cal.) Barb's Beet Salad (see note) 2-3 cup 75 cal.) Baked Spy Apples (with homogenized milk—No cream 100 cal.) Clear Coffee (0 cal.) High-Calorie Low-Cost Dinner Creamed Asparagus and Poached Egg Casseroles (see note) Shredded Stigmata Carrots with Parsley Butter Rhubarb and Orange Double-Crust Pie Coffee One-Burner Dinner Chicken Pilaf (see notes) Heed Lettuce Salad with Roquefort or Cheese Dressing Lemon Mallow Parfait (see notes) Coffee

Directions I have printed Barb's Beet Salad before but since we had it on a picnic last Sunday I am enthused about it all over again:

Barb's drains very well, I can diced beets (8 or 9 Cents in some stores) and to this adds an equal quantity of cabbage (or if celery were available she would use it), ½ cup peas, canned or fresh or frozen, juice of ½ lemon, 1 slice hard-cooked egg, 10 blades of chives, (a little chopped cucumber or radish is optional) about ½ to 2-3 cup oil mayonnaise, salt to taste. Mix in order given, chill if you have time. This salad may be made ahead of mealtime without deteriorating.

Once each year I make a Casserole of Creamed Asparagus with Poached Eggs and tonight is the night! Boil 2 bundles asparagus cut in 1-inch pieces until about ¾ tender. Drain, reserving the liquid—of which there should not be more than ¼ cup. To this add QUESTION: We had rolled tea biscuits with cheese in them at a "tea" the other day. Our hostess served them hot with orange marmalade and tea and they were delicious, and we thought so much nicer than sandwiches. Would you have that recipe?—Mrs. A. M.

ANSWER:

Rolls Cheese Biscuits Sift together 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 tablespoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt; cut into these 4 tablespoons butter or good quality shortening until it is the consistency of coarse meal. Moisten with 2-3 cup milk, stirring until flour is just dampened, then just enough to mix into a soft dough. Turn out at once, on floured board, and knead for 30 seconds. Roll out ¼ inch thick. Spread grated old cheese over entire surface, using 1 cup. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Roll out like jelly roll. With very sharp knife cut into slices about ¾-inch wide. Place on greased baking sheet and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 15 minutes. Serve as soon as possible. These do not require buttering.

QUESTION: Would you mind repeating your recipe for Potato Salad Supreme? I am going to have some guests from the States early in July and would like to have a cold buffet supper and would serve potato salad if I knew how to make it exactly ¾ cup rich cream or evaporated milk. Melt 4 tablespoons butter and stir into it 2 tablespoons flour, and stir the hot liquid and cream into it, until thick. Add the pre-cooked asparagus, 1 teaspoon salt, shake of white pepper, and pour into small deep casserole. Make indentations (4) and in each slip a raw egg. Sprinkle top with buttered crumbs (or mixed crumbs and grated cheese) and paprika and bake in oven of 400 deg. Fahr. until whites of egg are "set".

The Chicken Pilaf is a favourite of mine and calls for 1 7-oz. tin chicken; make a sauce on same principles as above recipe, using water (and some cream if you like) in place of vegetable liquid and evaporated milk. Parboil rice by adding raw rice to 4 tablespoons butter in hot frying pan and stirring until rice absorbs butter, then add 1 very finely sliced onion and saute a few minutes. Add the chicken and sauce, reduce heat and simmer until blended and rice soft. Nice additions are a little canned tomato or shredded pimiento or green pepper. Serve very hot and pass curry powder at table if desired.

The Lemon Mallow Parfait is easy since we can buy marshmallows fairly easily now: Soak ¾ tablespoon gelatin in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes. Add to it 1-3 cup granulated sugar, shake of salt, and 1 ½ cups boiling water; stir until sugar and gelatin are dissolved then add 12 marshmallows cut into about eighths and stir until they are almost dissolved. Add ¼ cup lemon juice. Mix. Pour into parfait glasses and chill. Serve topped with a maraschino cherry.

PETERBOROUGH CUB LEADER PEGGY HOUGHTON CHATS WITH QUEEN ELIZABETH

City Girl Visits England, Chats With Royal Family

Many Canadians visit England each year, perhaps spend some time there, but few return with an account of meeting the King and Queen and their stylishly dressed daughter, Princess Margaret Rose. All the thrill that goes with such an occasion belongs to Miss Peggy Houghton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Houghton, 343 Murray St. This member of the Peterborough Scouts has an adventurous spirit which took her across the seas for a year's stay in England, during which time the King's Scouts were called to a review at Windsor Castle. Akela Soughton was invited to attend as the only Canadian representative, an honor that she was quick to accept.

The King and Queen chatted with Miss Houghton in a friendly manner as any persons who have become acquainted would do. She says of the King "He was very jolly." The Queen asked questions about her work with the children in a Barnardo Home and inquired what parts of England she had seen. Both mentioned their visit to Canada and upon learning that her home was not far from Toronto they recalled incidents of their official visit there. The King especially mentioned how much he enjoyed the trip through this country she says.

Princess Margaret Rose is very interested in Guiding and she talked quite a bit about it with the Canadian Scout. She also wanted to know about Canada and when Miss Houghton expected to return, explaining that she and her sister had been very sorry not to come with their parents.

After the King had taken the salute and reviewed the Scout troops, he and the Queen visited with the crippled Scouts who sat in wheel chairs close to the castle walls.

Miss Houghton describes the Royal Family as "wonderful." "The Queen is very pretty still," she says. "There is something about her eyes that you notice first, they are so blue, and she was wearing a hat which she had designed herself of pink fabric with flowers trimming the brim and a veil which tied under her chin. Her beige coat showed a light line where the hem had been 'let down' to the 1948 length. Miss Houghton thought she looked very stylish and very pretty and noted that London papers devoted much of the space in their story to a description of the Princess' appearance. "They are watching her closely since she expressed a desire to be the best-dressed woman in England."

At the review Miss Houghton made the acquaintance of two Scouts from Australia with whom she now corresponds. She returned to Canada several weeks ago, but says she may go back again some time. She found the climate cold and damp but the greatest hardship she encountered was the harsh soap that ruined her clothes. Almost invariably when girls from other countries would meet the first question was "How do you get your clothes clean?" Most of her clothing coupons went for hose, when available, since her wardrobe was quite adequate on arrival. Nylons were not even considered as they were so expensive. The food was very plain but there was always enough, especially since they ate at least four times a day, and Miss Houghton found herself gaining weight. Back in Peterborough where almost anything that might catch her fancy could be brought to the table she finds herself unable to eat finer foods in any quantity.

One complaint she makes since her return is regarding the train. In England they are small but travel fast. On the Peterborough-Toronto run Miss Houghton felt impatient with the trainmen for not getting started.

After a short holiday with her parents, Akela Houghton has taken a position with the Toronto Infants' Home until the wanderlust takes her off to distant places again.

TEACHERS' SUMMER COURSE

The Department of Education has announced a course in home and school relations to be on the curriculum of summer courses for teachers. The subject will have the same status as other subjects studied. The instructor will be Mrs. M. D. McLellan of Brantford, a member of the board of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations.

Purpose of the course is to acquaint teachers, many of whom have no background of home and school work, with the ways in which a closer relationship of parents and teachers may be effected. The aim of home and school is to interest all people in all children and to improve community conditions for the development of better Canadian citizens. This objective can be reached more easily when teachers-in-service and teachers-in-training understand the philosophy of the home and school movement.

Bunville-Sage Bridal Pair Live in Toronto

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of the wedding on Saturday of Olive Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sage of Buckhorn, to Gordon Joseph Bunville, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bunville of Toronto. The Rev. P. P. Butler performed the marriage ceremony. Mrs. Robert Aman played the wedding music and Mrs. E. Collis sang "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Victor Sage.

White slipper satin and lace fashioned the bridal gown and train. Her full length veil was caught to a halo headdress and she carried red roses with white carnations. Miss Monadel Gordon was her bridesmaid wearing a frock of pink net over taffeta with matching headdress and carrying pink roses. Joyce Downes, niece of the bride and Rosalie Bunville, sister of the groom, were flower girls. They wore dresses of white taffeta with sashes of blue ribbon and shoulder veils and each carried yellow roses.

The groom was attended by Remy Lebrun. Ushers were Nelson Sage and Tom Gordon. A reception was held in Hooper's Palm Rooms after the ceremony. For the occasion the bride's mother chose a royal blue ensemble, and the groom's mother was attired in navy, each wearing pink roses at the shoulder.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride and groom will live at 563 Gladstone Ave., Toronto. For travelling the bride wore a powder blue dress under a black shortie coat and accessories in black.

The bride is the former Dorothy Jean Bestard, daughter of Mrs. Eva M. Bestard, Peterborough, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lamb of Lindsay.

Dorothy Jean Bestard Weds Frank R. Lamb of Lindsay

The marriage took place in Trinity United Church, Wednesday afternoon, of Dorothy Jean, daughter of Mrs. Eva M. Bestard of Peterborough, and Frank Ross Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Lamb of Lindsay.

For the wedding the altar and chancel were decorated with pink snapdragons, larkspur, peonies and iris.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon. Wedding music was played by Miss Mabel Clarry and Miss Alma Blanchard was the soloist. Before the ceremony she sang "Till We Meet Again" and during the signing of the register, "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. George Hall. She wore a charming gown of white figured moire taffeta with bouffant skirt caught up at the hemline with bows of bluish satin to reveal a ruffled petticoat of matching satin. The long torso bodice was fitted and had long sleeves with lily points over the hands. Her embroidered veil of net fell in a halo from her head-dress of calla lilies and orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses.

Miss Betty Castle was her bridesmaid and Miss Carol Lamb was junior bridesmaid. Miss Castle was groomed in lime green crepe with lavender halo hat and mittens. Miss Lamb wore a frock of pink point d'esprit over a taffeta petticoat with ruffled border, and a matching halo hat and mittens. They carried Colonial bouquets of sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Mr. Cleveland Ballance. Mr. Edward Bestard and Mr. Robert Lamb, brothers of the bride and groom, ushered.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the YWCA. Mrs. Bestard was receiving, gowning in dove grey crepe with hat of black mohair and wearing pink carnations with mauve sweet peas at her shoulder. Mrs. Lamb was assisting, and she wore Windsor rose flowered crepe with matching hat, navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon motoring through northern Ontario. For travelling the bride chose a gabardine suit in cherry red, navy picture hat and accessories and brown squirrel neckpiece. On return they will live on the groom's farm at RR 3, Lindsay.

Movie Star Attends Classes To Learn How to Dress

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, June 10 — (AP).—Even a movie star sometimes needs a few pointers on how to dress to look her best.

Pretty Jeanne Cagney, currently appeared in "The Time of Your Life," enrolled in designer Edith Head's night classes at the University of California, Los Angeles, recently to find out what was wrong with the way she dressed. She says:

"I found I was doing practically everything wrong. I always liked girly-girly things, and was likely to put on too many frills. Now I've found that I look best in simple tailored things, and I'm going to stick to my type if it kills me."

Jeanne, who has been a top student ever since her school days, when she was graduated from New York's Hunter College, took to the UCLA night classes as a small boy to a baseball bat. Says Jeanne:

"It was simply wonderful. I never understood before how careful a woman must be in selecting the right clothes for her type. I used to be inclined to go shopping helter skelter, buy a dress here and a hat there and never stop to think how well they would go together."

Planning The Ensemble
"But Edith taught me the importance of planning an outfit as a whole, concentrating on excellent fabric and line for the basic supplied piano accompaniment for the song led by Mr. Dane. On behalf of the employees, Mr. J. H. Jamison, manager, presented a smoker to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Windem who were married recently, and a table lamp to Miss Irene Covey, bride-elect.

A floor show was the highlight of the evening, followed by a "mock wedding." Mr. and Mrs. T. McKenna, Mr. and Mrs. E. Welbourn, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Stewart, participated in a stunt, with the former couple winning the prize. Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hayes, and Mr. and Mrs. J. McCulloch took part in a blind-folded ice cream eating contest with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson the winners.

At the close of the evening, Mr. Jamison expressed thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor, for the dinner, to Mr. Johnston for supplying music, gift in appreciation of his assistance to Mr. Dane who received a dance.

Shirley Heslip Marries Gordon Harrison

Murray Street Baptist Church was the setting on Saturday for the ceremony at which Shirley Heslip, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Heslip of Peterborough and the late William Heslip, became the bride of Gordon Stewart

Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harrison of Brantford. The Rev. Marshall Heslip, uncle of the bride officiated, assisted by the Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Church. Garden flowers and ferns formed a decorative background. The bride was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Marshall Heslip, and was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor Heslip. Henry Harrison was groomsmen for his brother and ushers were Hugh Heslip and Bob Allen.

A gracefully trailing gown of ivory satin fashioned with moulded bodice, long tight sleeves, choir boy collar and appliqued medallions of guipure lace forming panels from shoulderline to slim waist was the bride's choice for her wedding. Women Do Well to Plan For Unhappy Middle-Age

We glorify girlhood and are filled with compassion for old women, but in between youth and age there is a stretch of years that is a sort of No Woman's Land in which middle-aged women wander about like lost souls without plan nor purpose, not knowing what to do with the time that hangs so heavily on their hands.

They have been busy rearing their family and making a home for their husbands. Every child has been a new and exciting interest to them. There has never been a dull moment in their lives, for while they were never bored. The baby was cutting a new tooth, or Mamie was stepping out with her first boy friend, or Sally was going to be married, and while Mother's life may have been hard and strenuous, it was full of thrills.

And then the rushing, riotous, noisy family life came to an end. The baby grew up, the boys went into business, the girls got married and set up their own homes, and there was nobody left in the big house except Father and Mother, who didn't have much to say to each other when they didn't have the children to spark the conversation.

Father, of course, had his business, but with the children gone, Mother's hands were empty. Her avocation had been taken away from her and she had nothing to do. It didn't seem worth while to get up an elaborate meal when there were no hungry kids to eat it, and it appeared a waste of energy to clean up rooms where nobody even moved a chair.

Unhappy Fate

So the average middle-aged woman comes face to face with a fate that she never expected to befall her and for which she had not prepared herself. She is lonesome. She has no occupation with which to fill in the long days. She had been too busy entertaining her children to keep her own friendships in repair, so she is really as forlorn as if she was stranded on a desert isle.

this. They shut their eyes to the fact that, just as when they married they ended one phase of their lives, they end another phase when their last child leaves home, and that it behooves them to get ready for those forty years so that they may be filled with usefulness and good cheer, in stead of wailing.

Many women try to solve the middle age problem by going to live with their children, though well they know that a mother-in-law in the house is a first aid to divorce and that every family want to be, and should be, permitted to live alone, without Mother sticking her fingers in their pies.

Furthermore, the woman who prepares herself to meet middle-age practically and philosophically takes out the best possible insurance against disease and death. Most of the stout ladies, who enable doctors to ride in limousines, never had an ache nor pain until their children got married and they had nothing to do.

So I would urge all middle-aged women to get busy, and keep busy, so that their last years may be their best ones. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Estelle Collins Bride of J. V. Shaughnessy

At Sacred Heart Church the marriage was solemnized on Saturday of Estelle Marguerite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Collins of Kilmount, and Justin Victor Shaughnessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaughnessy of Peterborough. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien said the nuptial mass. Mrs. Wm. Pringle sang "Ave Maria" during the ceremony and "On this day" while the register was being signed. Mr. J. Armstrong was the organist.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin with full skirt forming a train. The fitted bodice was buttoned at the back and had an inset of fine net at the neckline and long sleeves with lily points over her hands. She wore a full-length veil of fine net caught to a crown of seed pearls and carried red roses. Mr. Collins gave his daughter in marriage.

The maid of honor was Miss Betty Collins and the bridesmaid Miss Joan Collins, sisters of the bride. They wore similar gowns of pink and blue fashioned with fitted bodices of broadcaded silk, with sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves, and full skirts with bustle effect made of nylon marquisette. Each had mittens and a floral headress to match and they carried bouquets of roses with mixed sweet peas.

Mr. Reginald Shaughnessy was groomsmen for his brother and the ushers were Theo Collins and Harry Shaughnessy.

A reception was held at Club Aragon where the bride's mother received with the bridal party, assisted by the groom's father. The former was gownned in mauve with white accessories and wore a corsage of white gardenias. The latter wore a black and white ensemble and her corsage was of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Shaughnessy left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wearing a dress of nilé green with black accessories and corsage of red roses. They will make their home in Peterborough.

Sincere, honest, well-organized methods, sustained by clever strategies or hidden factors, should be the means of placing the affairs on a firm and enduring basis. In all plans, efforts and objectives, aim to work at basic security for the present and also the future. There may be secret agreements or commitments from those impressed by expansive and worthy effort, but marshal all essentials toward enduring and practical ends by careful and faithful attack even on static or lagging situations.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for an excellent and enduring return for work well done, even though there may be sub-

But an earnest, concentrated and sustained grasp of the most obdurate conditions is bound to attract substantial rewards or practical aids for progressive and long-range benefits or stable possessions. All Yours
TO WORRY ABOUT
Unless you shift the burden

When a relative or friend names you in his Will as executor of his estate, the time will come, (if you survive him), when everything that is business, investments, debts and family problems—will be all yours—to worry about.

If you are a busy man or are not experienced in estate administration, you would find that arranging for Probate, valuing Assets, establishing Debts, paying Succession Duties, dealing with investments, setting up Trusts, making Distributions, and attending generally to the many details of Administration, would be more than you could handle, with justice to either the estate, the heirs, or your own affairs.

Should this happen to you, the thing to do is appoint The Royal Trust Company your Agent, to administer the estate, which would relieve you of all but superficial functions as executor.

Conversely, and in consideration for the friend you might yourself appoint, be sure to name The Royal Trust Company in your own Will as executor and trustee of your estate, to act alone, or with a relative or friend as co-executor or adviser.

It often pays in many ways to have the job well done.

Western Oils, Gold Show Steadiness

TORONTO, June 10.—(CP).—
Industrials were down in dull trading here today. Base metals weakened slightly and western oils and golds were steady.

The exchange's noon index showed industrials down .90, golds up .06, base metals down
.34, western oils down .01.

Leading industrial stocks edged down in narrow ranges for fractional losses. Papers and utilities weakened and steels held firm. International Paper was down 1/2 and Consolidated Paper edged 1/4.

Base metals were weak during the morning but began to strengthen in the third hour. Waite Amulet traded about 5,000 shares for a gain of 45 cents and also established a new high at $4.50.

International Uranium, Falcon-bridge, New Calumet and Steep Rock were firm.

Golds were quiet and steady as juniors moved into narrow range, mixing gains and losses. Sigma and La Luz in the seniors were down. Donalds, Cochenour, Louvicourt, Macassa and Negus were weak juniors. Beaulieu, East Malartic, Wright-Hargreaves and Keno Hill strengthened.

Home Oil, Anglo-Canadian and Consolidated Homestead rose from 1 to 10 cents in the western oils.

Pearson Urges Stronger Democracies

LOS ANGELES, June 10 — (CP).—Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, Tuesday, called for "a wider and more powerful association" of western European and Atlantic democracies.

Speaking before the convention of Kiwanis International here on "the United States and Canada in the post-war world,"
Mr. Pearson noted that Article 51 of the United Nations recognizes the right of collective self-defense within the U.N.

The Rio Inter-American Pact and the Brussels Five-Power Pact already marked one such association, "but a wider and more powerful association than these is required to stop the aggressor."

"The resources of the new world must be added to the defensive determination of the old.
But this should be done not merely by supplying arms and by giving guarantees.

"What is required is an association of western European and Atlantic democracies under Article 51 of the charter, every member of which will take on equal and reciprocal obligations for collective defence and mutual aid in war, and work together for freedom and prosperity in peace."

The Canadian government has already stated through its prime minister and its secretary of state for external affairs its acceptance of this doctrine and given assurances of its will to co-operate with the United States in its translation into action.

Smuts Says Beware
Fifth Column

CAMBRIDGE, England, June 10
— (AP). — Field Marshal Jan
Christiaan Smuts declared today that the "fifth column technique" is the greatest menace to the western world.

Smuts, who recently was defeated as prime minister of South Africa, said the technique was the modern substitute for war and served the aggressor as well as war itself.

The white-bearded statesman spoke at ceremonies at which he was proclaimed chancellor of Cambridge, an honorary academica post.

Smuts contended that, while the fifth column menace western civilization, preparedness for war was insurance against it.

"It is a fair inference that if we are reasonably prepared our house from the defence point of view is in good order, we have nothing to fear," he said.

The correct counter-measure was firmness.

"For those who treasure the western heritage, the hour has struck to call a halt to this fifth column and its advance to the west, and to say to the great power behind it in clear terms:
thus far and no further. The hand of friendship is offered in all sincerity, but only on that irrevocable condition."

Fifth column aggression did not envisage a shooting war and its makers would not lightly risk one.

victions on that score. He was sentenced to three months in jail.

drunken driving and was sentenced to seven days in jail. He was fined $15 and $2.50 costs when he sion of liquor.

guilty to being drunk in public and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

found guilty of causing damage to police station property, and was ordered to pay $7 and $2.50 costs plus $8 damage.

partment of W. D. Lower Vocational School and a schoolteacher

48 years, died here Wednesday at his residence after a long illness.
Mr. Srigley lived in Windsor 47 years, coming here from Peterborough. He retired in 1937. Born

Trick Steeds, Famous Percherons To Appear

Baldy and Pesty, the two beautiful horses to appear at the Peterborough Kinsmen Horse Show on Friday and Saturday, are trained by two Toronto residents, Murray Goulin and Bob Empring-ham. The horses perform 25 individual stunts in perfect timing to band music. A few of their amazing performances are Waltz, Spanish Trot, Arabian Fox Trot, Balding, Bowing, Cake Walk and Rhumba. They answer questions as well as count up to and above their respective ages. The remarkable steeds display an intelligence and obedience far beyond the best circus performers.

Also featured will be four prize percherons. They will appear at the show on Friday.
The famous Percheron stallions are maintained by a breeding company in the interest of farming and for the advancement of breeding. They have established an enviable reputation through their contribution to the improvement of the standard of draught horses in the province.
All summer the horses will take part in various fairs throughout the provinces of Quebec and Ontario.

Breaking, Entering Charge Is Laid

A charge of breaking and entering, and two charges of receiving stolen goods were laid against Kenneth Mitchell, 453 Bellevue St., today. He is alleged to have broken into Gilder's service station.

A number of garage tools, owned by Cecil Forsythe, 270 Parkhill Rd., and a can of brake fluid, belonging to Gilder's service station, were found on Mitchell's property

by Provincial Constable J. Hanson.
Mitchell reserved his plea until he can be advised by counsel. Bail was set at $2,000, and the case adjournd to June 18.

Doomed to extinction?

A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our waterfowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservation practices are neglected.

JUST BECAUSE your pair is equipped with the Blackwood convention—that is no reason why you have to use it always when you are probing for a possible slam, either small or grand. There are cases in which your failure to use it gives your partner much clearer information than if it were not in your equipment at all. If you cue-bid a couple of suits in addition to the one previously agreed upon as the trump, you are of course showing a blank in the other, the ace of those two, and are asking him to go all the way if he has the kings in both of them.

The two had just exchanged bidding views, deciding to employ the Blackwood convention. So, when South cue-bid his diamonds instead of bidding 4-No Trumps, Mr. Inglis felt sure South had a void suit. After he showed his own ace with 5-Hearts, his partner's 6-Clubs told him the whole story. He knew a fine player like Mr. Colvin would not do that except with a very logical purpose, especially since the Blackwood had been laid on the shelf.

"That bidding positively shows a heart blank, the ace of both minors and plenty of top honor strength in spades," he reflected. "He is therefore asking me if I have the kings of both diamonds and clubs. If I had held them both, I would have bid 7-Spades. Having neither, I bid only the small slam." He made it after the spade lead, and could have against any lead the opponents could have chosen, even a diamond.

If the grand slam had been in the cards, however, this pair would have had the best chance to reach it, in view of the methods used by South, Harold Colvin, since he had a keen partner in the North who could read his purpose—sixth hand.

Bevin Believes Russia To Sign Four-Power Pact

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin told the House of Commons today Britain still hopes to bring Russia into the four-power agreement on the future of Germany.

Bevin said Britain has approved recommendations for a federal government in Western Germany, Western power occupation for an indefinite period, and international control of the industrial Ruhr Valley.

The recommendations were put forward by a conference among the United States, Britain, France and the Benelux countries: Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The recommendations were made public Monday.

A Moscow radio commentator charged today that the recommendations meant the West is converting Western Germany into "a permanent Anglo-American military base." In Berlin Russians and Communists urged the Germans to resist the plan, saying "they're taking away the Ruhr."

Earlier, official British sources said they expected a three-power agreement soon opening the way for the United States, Britain and France to resume allocating war reparations to Russia from Western Germany.

No allocations to Russia of dismantled war plants, of which she gets 25 per cent, under the Potsdam agreement, have been made from the three western zones since mid-1946.

France and Britain have continued deliveries under allocations made before that time, but the United States has made none since last December, when the Big Four Foreign Ministers' London conference on Germany and Austria collapsed.

Keene United Church Anniversary Planned

KEENE, June 10 — (ENS) — The 115th anniversary services of Keene United church will be held on June 20 when the guest minister will be the Rev. Harold B. Neal of Cambridge St. United church, Lindsay. Mr. Neal was recently president of Bay of Quinte Conference and is a member of its executive. The music in the morning will be given by the local choir and soloist Mrs. S. Mitchell. In the evening Knox U.C. choir of Peterborough will provide the music, with a trio taking part. W. R. Potter will be the organist in the evening. Many former adherents are expected to attend the anniversary service.

Claims Strap Does Good If Used Right

EDMONTON, June 10 — (CP) Welfare Superintendent Charles B. Hill believes that the strap "may do good if applied to that part of the anatomy provided for the purpose."

Strappings, distinct from floggings, were an accepted practice in child raising.

The dissertation on discipline was part of a protracted cross-examination of Mr. Hill by E. D. Arnold, counsel for the Calgary Herald, during a hearing Tuesday by the provincially-appointed Royal Commission of three judges inquiring into Alberta's child welfare conditions.

Hearings, held more or less regularly since last November, resumed Tuesday after a 10-day adjournment through illness of the chairman, Chief Justice W. R. Howson, of Alberta.

The commission was set up to investigate allegations of malpractice by Mr. Hill's department — statements in a report published last July by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire after a survey by welfare authority Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa.

Mr. Hill had been asked for his views on corporal punishment. There had been stories published about boys being flogged in Edmonton's south-side detention home.

"Talk about children being beaten — 'was news' to him, Mr. Hill said, but strappings were administered if ordered by court authorities.

Mr. Arnold asked what Mr. Hill felt would be the effect on a boy 10 to 12 years of age if locked in a cage.

The superintendent answered that only in extreme cases had boys been placed in such cells. He would not give an opinion to the effect it would have on a lad. The theory had been to show a child what he was in for in later life unless he changed his ways.

Anyway, "substantial changes" had been made in the Edmonton institution since the Royal Commission's hearings had begun.

The boys had been placed on an honor system and a new attendant was appointed, Mr. Hill said.

"We now shall see whether we were right or wrong," he added. "The merits of the new system are a question mark. We shall have to see how it works out."

Safety Group Meets

MARMORA, June 10 — (ENS) — The Marmora Safety Committee met Tuesday afternoon with J. H. Hemphill, vice-chairman, presiding. For the suggestions committee, G. Brooks reported the receipt of eight suggestions. In the competitive committee's report which followed, W. M. Regan mentioned that four of these suggestions had been allotted an award and that the star went to the General Division. W. Dickson gave the report of the inspection committee. J. Ethier was appointed floating member for the current month. M. J. Corrigan discussed routine work of the publicity committee and T. Cousins for the health and investigation committee mentioned the monthly prone method practice which was well attended. The secretary, H. A. Menally, gave the monthly statement of the trustee relief funds. Editor M. J. Corrigan reported for the plant bulletin.

"Glad To Tell Others How Much Syntona Helped Me"

Happy over Relief From Stomach Disorders, Backache, nervousness and Run-down Feeling. "Haven't Felt So Well in Years," She Says.

Mrs. Maud England, 235 James Street North, Hamilton, Ontario, is glad to pass her experience along to other people because she knows what it means to get relief from stomach disorders and other health troubles that dulled appetite, robbed her of sound sleep and for a long time kept her feeling sick and miserable from day to day.

"I am very glad to tell for the benefit of other sufferers how Syntona Herbal Compound has relieved me of health disorders about which I was greatly worried," said Mrs. England. "I was very run-down and many days felt so weak and tired I could hardly summon up enough energy to do my housework. I suffered constantly with indigestion, gas, bloating and heartburn. Dizzy feelings, backache and sick headaches all combined to make me feel more and more concerned about my health. I became very nervous and couldn't get to sleep after going to bed at night."

"It was a friend who first told me about Syntona and although many other things failed to benefit me, this medicine has relieved all of the troubles from which I suffered. I cannot tell you how pleased I am to be free of stomach disorders and those awful aches and pains. Now that my nerves are calmed down I am able to do my work better and to get sound sleep. I don't tire as I did before and actually feel better than I did for years."

"You will find Syntona pleasant to take. It is mild-acting and contains no harmful drugs. Many people, like Mrs. England, say it is the best medicine they have ever used."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—Adv.

FLOODS IN THE CHILLIWACK AREA— Army engineers of the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineers of Chilliwack, B.C., have assisted in the evacuation of farm lands in the flooded Chilliwack area. In particular they have been able to take out nearly all the livestock in the area besides lending a hand in reinforcing the dykes.

Army equipment (top) is used to assist evacuation crews in removing cattle from a barn which is feet deep in water and already unsteady on undermined foundations. Civilian members of the rescue crew tow a bull (lower) behind their boat. The animal is swimming in flood-water which is more than fifteen feet deep in most places.

60 Men Isolated On Tiny Island Near Creston

VANCOUVER, June 11—(CP).—By the dim light of oil lanterns and mist-clouded electric bulbs, 4,000 Sumas Prairie residents early today left their fertile Fraser Valley acres and struck out for higher ground and safety. Sponge-soft dikes on the Vedder Canal, 60 miles east of Vancouver, were in imminent danger of collapse, and flood control authorities ordered the mass evacuation. Turned out into the dank

Airport, Four Golf Clubs Doomed In Oregon Flood

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11—(AP).—The flooding Columbia River broke through another dike on Portland's outskirts today and raced over a rich lowland area extending 10 miles to the east.

Doomed were the Portland airport, four golf clubs, a Lakeside resort and homes for several thousand persons.

United States army engineers pulled out all troops and dike workers.

The sheriff's office said the warnings would have given anyone in the area time to escape ahead of the flood.

The break, as in many previous breaches, came in a side dike, not on the river front.

Army engineers said they would attempt to hold an intermediary dike, 10 miles to the east, protecting the $45,000,000 Reynolds Company aluminum plant.

Meanwhile, the highest waters of the flood rolled toward the Portland area.

In the hard-pressed lower Columbia Valley, United States army engineers ordered evacuation of Diking District 13 near Kelso, Wash., 40 miles downstream from Portland. It adjoins the South Kelso district, from which 5,000 previously fled.

Refugees from these areas joined some 60,000 persons already driven from their homes by three weeks of floods that have taken 33 known victims and run damage into untold figures beyond $100,000,000.

The Red Cross said it still has not found a trace of 59 persons since the Memorial Day flooding of Vancouver, Ore., war housing city of 18,700 near Portland. The number on this critical list was 121 yesterday but the others checked in, one family from as far away as New Jersey. Vancouver's known death toll remained four.

Arabs Won't Sit With Jews

Peace Conference Likely To Fail

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, June 11—(AP).—Trans-Jordan's premier predicted today the Arabs may refuse to sit at the same conference table with the Jews at peace talks on the island of Rhodes.

That he said, has been the "traditional" policy of the Arabs.

Premier Tewfik Abu Alhuda told reporters the Arab states still are unwilling to accept partition of the Holy Land. He declared that "certainly no results" can be expected from the peace discussions if the Jews persist in their demands for a Jewish state.

Tewfik said the Arabs agreed to the peace because Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, "repeatedly said" he would not be bound by previous decisions concerning Palestine and had suggested the Rhodes discussion might lead to a solution which the Arabs could accept as "fair to both sides."

He denied there had been any British pressure. He termed Foreign Secretary Bevin's request a "sincere effort to help the UN in achieving peace in Palestine."

The premier remarked that any decisions reached at Rhodes, "naturally" would have to be approved by the UN before becoming effective.

The Arabs still were ready to accept Jews of Palestinian nationality into a unified state in which future immigration would be controlled by legislation.

Tea Room Raided, Cleaned By Thieves

Another episode in the recent vandalism roundup was revealed the first week of June by Miss Mary Gilley of Toronto who visited her tea room, the Green Parrot on Paudash Lake, in preparation of opening the business for the summer. The resort was stripped bare of linen, cutlery, dishes, blankets and practically everything that was moveable. Provincial Constable Stanley Palmateer, Bancroft detachment is investigating and advises that no clues have been found as yet to assist him in tracing the thieves.

Use Dry Ice 2nd Time To Make Rain

Gogama Area Drenched Ten Minutes After Plane Sprinkles Cloud

By The Canadian Press.

Use of dry ice to create rain over the raging forest fire area of Northern Ontario will be employed again today, an official of the Provincial Department of Lands and Forests announced.

T. E. Mackey, Chief of Forest Protection of the Department, said Thursday's experiment with dry ice (solidified carbon dioxide) was successful in that it produced rain over the Gogama area north-west of Sudbury, and aided firefighters in checking that blaze.

"If the right cloud formations appear the experiment will be tried again to-day," he said. "There were no clouds suitable early this morning."

Following a conversation with K. G. Pettit, Dominion meteorologist, Mr. Mackey said that the rain fell Thursday at Gogama 10 minutes after the dry ice had been dropped from an aircraft. Until early Thursday night, the smoke from the fires kept all planes in the district grounded. A similar situation was forecast for to-day.

300 Men Fighting

"We will co-operate with the Dominion Government and keep supplies of dry ice moving northward as long as the experiments continue," Mr. Mackey said.

Dry ice forms nuclei around which droplets in clouds gather. The droplets freeze into snow and fall from the cloud, melting as they fall.

Every available man is being rushed to the Chapleau area in the Sault Ste. Marie district, additions coming to the region daily.

A light northerly wind, which is not expected to cause "too much" trouble, is blowing in the Chapleau district. More than 900 men are fighting the three major blazes there.

Meanwhile the general fire situation in Northern Ontario was reported to little better although the Mississauga and Chapleau blazes still advanced. Smoke from the fires was seen as far south as Buffalo, N.Y.

As the Chapleau blaze, in mixed timber, edged closer to the main transcontinental line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, firefighters were forced to retreat over a wide area.

A bush fire four miles wide and nine miles long raged three miles from the Canadian National Railway town of Hornepayne. Townsfolk rallied to assist the fire crews.

Fear UN Can't Succeed Unless World Police Used

LAKE SUCCESS, June 11.—(AP).—Trygve Lie's call Thursday for volunteer international police is an official admission that the United Nations cannot succeed without force.

The secretary-general's proposal, made in a speech at Harvard University, spotlights the weakest cog in the 59-country peace machine—the absence of armed strength to back up decisions.

The U.N. charter provides for international big-power contingents to do such a job. When the U.N. was founded this provision was singled out as the factor which would make the U.N. work where the League of Nations failed.

But after 2½ years of bickering, military experts of the United States, Britain, Russia, China and France have been unable to agree even on basic principles for establishing the force. With this deadlock confronting the U.N., and no break in sight, Lie told his audience Thursday that a small stop-gap force should be created to bolster the U.N.

A Rough Visitor

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., June 11—(AP).—Dr. J. R. Bennett, 59-year-old dentist, was charged with assault and battery Thursday after Mrs. Margaret Agnew, 33, reported he pulled 12 of her teeth at her home without her permission. She told police the dentist and her husband both drank from a bottle of whisky. Then the dentist set to work, charged, and took a drink of the whisky after each extraction. She stated the ordeal lasted four hours.

Hint Export Ban To Be Lifted; Ottawa Says No

TORONTO, June 11 (CP).—The Toronto Telegram said today that reports have reached Toronto butchers that the Federal government will lift the ban on exports of beef cattle to the United States this Sunday and that an immediate jump of between 20 cents and 25 cents a pound in choice beef cuts will take place.

Retail butchers, acting on the report, began to break down their prices which will go into effect next Monday if the restrictions are lifted, the story said.

Official confirmation of the reports of ban lifting are lacking but a high official of one of the major packing companies is reported as saying he would not be "too surprised" if the Ottawa edict comes on Sunday.

Under the scale, sirloin cuts will cost the consumer around 95 cents a pound instead of today's 75 cents a pound. Round steak would cost about 90 cents a pound in place of the current price of 72 cents a pound.

It was predicted that under the new price range the live weight of beef would pump between 7 cents and 9 cents a pound.

Thursday the retail merchants of Canada sent telegrams to every party leader, every member of parliament and the prime minister's investigating committee at Ottawa, protesting the ban lifting.

At Ottawa, an agriculture department official said the export ban would not be lifted for some considerable time.

"It won't come Sunday or even in the next two or three weeks," he said. Many things had to be considered before the step is taken.

It is known the department is giving additional study to livestock prices in Buffalo and other border markets, doubtless in preparation of material on which the decision on the date for lifting the ban will be reached.

A prominent Toronto Liberal member from the Prairies said he expected the ban would be lifted after the big movement of beef cattle to the markets starts. Ways toward the movement starts around July 15 and in the west around Sept. 1.

Car Plant Disputes Hit 230,000

Ford, General Motors Negotiating; Increase Car Prices

DETROIT, June 11—(AP).—Assembly line workers in Ford Motor plants across the United States are in a one-day shutdown today, while a large group of General Motors workers face a week's layoff starting Monday.

About 230,000 production employees are affected by the curtailments, 200,000 of them at G.M. and 30,000 at Ford.

Another development on the widespread American auto-labor front saw the 13-cent hourly wage increase pattern extended to 10,000 hourly-rated employees of the Packard Motor Car Company. At the same time, the company added from $75 to $200 to the list prices of all its cars, beginning June 14.

The United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), gave up all other demands on Packard in accepting the 13-cent boost in an agreement extending through Aug. 1, 1950, it was disclosed. The raise becomes effective June 1 if the pact is ratified by members of U.A.W. Local 180.

General Motors spokesmen said the layoffs next week could be blamed on steel shortages resulting from the last strike. A lack of production parts was responsible for today's Ford shutdown, company officials said.

Work interruptions continued to plague the Briggs Manufacturing Company while company and union negotiators attempted to reach a wage and contract agreement with pay boosts based on the 13-cent pattern.

During a two-hour negotiating session Thursday, the first in three days, UAW leaders promised to halt the series of strikes that has cut down Briggs production all week.

A strike of production employees threatened the Bendix Corporation after negotiations on the UAW's demand for 30 cents more an hour broke down. The union accused Bendix of breaking off bargaining, and threatened to call out 15,000 members from five Bendix plants if no new contract is completed before the old one expires June 26.

One Company Signs Contract

TORONTO, June 11—(CP).—With police standing by to keep order at Lower Great Lakes ports, the strike by the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) to obtain a contract from five shipping companies today entered its sixth day.

Four men identified as CSU members and two said to belong to the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union (Ind) have been arrested since the CSU called its strike against Canada Steamship Lines, Sarnia Steamships, Colonial Steamships, Northwest Steamships and Transit Tankers.

The companies claimed the CSU was Communist led and refused to deal with it after their previous contracts expired last fall. They named most of their 80 ships this spring with CSU men.

About 40 CSU men Thursday night sailed from Cardinal, on the St. Lawrence between Morrisburg and Brockville, in two vessels owned by Trinidad Leasehold Ltd. The moving of the tankers, the Joan Virginia and the Bruce Hudson, followed signing of a contract between the company and the CSU.

For the third day the CSL passenger ships Kingston and Rapids Prince exchanged passengers in mid-stream in the St. Lawrence near Prescott instead of docking at Prescott. It was believed the exchange was a precaution arising from the strike.

RESIGNS CABINET POST—

The Hon. J. A. Glen, 71, has resigned as Resources Minister due to protracted ill-health, Premier King announced today. He said he felt his absence might delay urgent business. He has been succeeded by the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, formerly Minister of Fisheries. Mr. King also announced several other Cabinet changes.

OTTAWA, June 11—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today announced the resignation of Hon. J. A. Glen as Resources Minister and a shuffle in the Cabinet.

Mr. King, who also announced several changes in the line-up of parliamentary assistants, said that Hon. James A. MacKinnon had resigned as Minister of Fisheries and will succeed Mr. Glen as Resources Minister.

It. W. Mayne, Liberal member for Victoria, B.C., and parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, succeeds Mr. MacKinnon in the Fisheries Department.

Korean Boats Bombed 14 Fishermen Killed

SEOUL, Korea, June 11—(Reuters).—At least 14 persons were killed when an unidentified plane bombed and sank several Korean fishing boats just south of the 38th parallel, dividing the Russian and United States zones, Tuesday, according to delayed police reports reaching here today.

The director of Korean police said investigations were being made in an attempt to establish the identity of the aircraft. The Korean Press News Service in a dispatch from the scene said the plane was American, adding that United States planes had been using the area for bombing practice.

Some newspaper reported the plane to be Russian.

United States army authorities in Korea said they did not know of any Korea-based United States planes being in the area where the bombing was reported.

Tell of 'Forgotten Murder' Faces 15-Year-Old Charge Of Killing Husband

YORKTON, Sask., June 11—(CP).—The Crown concluded its case Thursday in the second of the so-called "forgotten murders." Mrs. Nettie Thomas, 36, is facing trial on a 15-year-old charge of murdering her husband.

Earlier this week Mrs. Hattie Ordinal, 75, was freed by a King's Bench Court. She was tried for the 1923 shooting of her husband. Both women were brought to trial following their release from mental hospitals to which they were committed when found mentally unfit to stand trial at the time of the slayings.

261 Crew, Passengers Rescued; Tragedy In Kattegat

AALBORG, Denmark, June 11—(AP).—About 150 Danes drowned today when the passenger vessel Kjøbenhavn struck a Second World War mine and blew up in the Kattegat.

The vessel, carrying 400 passengers, went down 10 minutes after the dawn explosion ripped her apart. Scores of sleeping passengers were drowned in their berths. Many saved their lives by diving from the deck of the sinking vessel.

The 1,688-ton steamship, owned by the United Steamship Co. (DFDS) was en route from Copenhagen to Aalborg, Jutland.

The company published the names of 621 survivors, some of them crew members. Spokesmen expressed fear that the rest all were doomed.

Divers went to work quickly, but long after they began their search, there were no reports that any new survivors had been picked up.

Rescue crews said nine corpses were picked up by patrolling craft at sea.

One official said about 300 of the passengers probably were asleep in their berths when the explosion occurred. The rest travelled steerage and most of them spent the night in deck chairs.

When news of the disaster spread in Copenhagen flags were lowered half-mast on all ships in the harbor. Aalborg city is also in mourning.

CCF To Contest All Sask. Seats

REGINA, June 11—(CP).—Premier Douglas' CCF party, in power in Saskatchewan for the last four years, nominated candidates for every seat Thursday when nominations closed for 50 seats to be decided in the Saskatchewan elections June 24. Another two seats will elect members July 22.

The Liberals entered 40 candidates, Social Credit 36 and Progressive Conservatives nine. The Progressive Conservatives have not had a representative in the legislature since 1934. One Labor-Progressive candidate if entered, the over-all total being 143 candidates.

Premier Douglas is opposed by two candidates in Weyburn, F. C. Eaglesham on a joint Liberal-Progressive Conservative ticket, and Mrs. Isabel Paxman as Social Credit.

Liberal leader Walter Tait on Thursday, faces opposition from George Beilhart, a Social Credit nominee, and Wilbert S. Henschell of the CCF.

Social Credit Chief J. N. Halde-man also is involved in a three-way fight. His opponents in Yorkton are A. P. Swallow of the CCF and Andrew M. Kindred, Liberal.

The father, Charles E. Thomas, was killed by a 22-calibre bullet in his farm home at Sturgins, 175 miles east of Saskatoon.

Clifford Thomas, at the time of his father's death, told the court he was awakened by the noise of a gun on the morning of the shooting.

"I tried to call my father. I started to get out of bed and noticed my mother in the doorway. She was holding a rifle."

Millbrook Livestock Show Produces Unusual Number Of Entries In All Classes

Attendance Also Sets New Record Lions Club Sponsors
Cattle Judging Competition For Juniors

By HARRY THEOBALD

MILLBROOK, June 11.—The big crowd at the livestock show of the Millbrook Agricultural Society Thursday may have wondered where all the horses came from in this advanced and accustomed day of the tractor and motor car. Hardly a fall fair or exhibition in the whole district could boast of the number and quality of the entries that paraded before the judges all afternoon and into the evening. The spring stallion show of a few years ago has come a long way in its expansion, and the Millbrook directors were amply rewarded yesterday for the perseverance of effort which they expended in somewhat leaner years of upbuilding.

For example, toward the end of the afternoon four entries appeared in the four-horse hitch for heavy draughts. Judging in the ring was under way when the fourth hitch appeared from the harnessing area. First award went to Kelly and Bamforth of Peterborough; second to Harry McIntyre and Hugh McFee of Otonabee; third to Willmott Shea of Sunderland and Harold Robinson of Fraserville; and fourth to Ivan Cochrane of Nestleton and T. J. Cory of Oakwood.

Another interesting class in the heavies was the Clydesdale team special won by: 1. Hugh McFee; 2. Kelly and Bamforth; 3. Thos. Cory and 4. H. McIntyre.

A feature of the draught display was the four black Dawes Percherons that are coming on to Peterborough today and Saturday. Eddie O'Toole, at the microphone for the show, said the Dawes people have 16 of these Percherons showing here and there in Canada. One of the striking quartette was four times grand champion of Canada, Mr. O'Toole told the crowd; another was grand champion Percheron in Canada last year; a third is the Quebec champion; and the fourth, a three-year-old, was 1st in his class at the 1947 Royal.

The attendance was the largest Millbrook has seen since the best days of its fall fairs. Durham and especially Cavan township have long been noted as horse country, and from all appearances there are still a lot of horses throughout this district.

In the background were beef and dairy cattle, Yorkshire hogs, displays of machinery and other attractions, including a merry-go-round for the children, and with agreeably cool weather the show was a complete success.

Arabs Charge Jews Broke Ceasefire Order

CAIRO, June 11.—(CP).—

An uneasy four-week truce in a four-week old war began in Palestine today but hardly an hour had elapsed before the Arabs had accused the Jews of violating it.

The legion said the Jews continued shooting in Jerusalem and killed an Arab soldier an hour after the armistice began at 2 a.m. E.T.—8 a.m. in Arab countries and 10 a.m. in Israel, which is on double daylight saving time.

Tel Aviv, the Israel capital, had an air-raid warning an hour and a half after the deadline but no actual raid followed. Reports from both sides showed most other fronts generally quiet.

A dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent said random shooting went on in the Holy City for six minutes after the truce deadline, and then stopped.

It was after this that the Arab charge was made.

The Jews announced their air force bombed Damascus Thursday night, spending 15 minutes over the Syrian capital. A report from Damascus said a Jewish plane dropped nine bombs there, mostly incendiaries.

Elsewhere on the eve of the armistice, the Egyptian defence ministry said Egyptian forces killed at least 300 Jews and took 10 survivors prisoner in raising a brief Israeli siege of Nisanim, three miles southwest of Isdud.

The Danish state radio cancelled its regular program to send out news bulletins of the disaster.

The first vessel to reach shore from the scene of the disaster was the Danish tanker Danfugl Lube, which carried 13 severely wounded. She touched at the small Hals harbor at 9 a.m. Ambulances were waiting and the survivors were hurried to the local hospital, where doctors had been standing by since early morning.

Going To Aalborg

The Kjoebenhavn was travelling between Copenhagen and Aalborg when she hit the mine. Aalborg is northwest of Copenhagen across the Kattegat.

The company said the ship went down in 10 minutes, four miles south of the Aalborg Bay lightship in the northern part of the Kattegat. Early reports to the company, it said, indicated only two lifeboats were lowered before the vessel sank.

The master of the mined ship, a Capt. Kill, said when the mine was struck many passengers were hurled into the sea.

"It was a terrible experience," he said, "but there was no panic among the passengers, they behaved with admirable calm."

"The explosion occurred aft, and the ship settled in the shallow water almost perpendicular. We managed to lower two lifeboats before help came."

"The steamship Fregga took off 220 passengers."

The British destroyer Onslaught and the submarine Truncheon, visiting North Denmark, stood by to help if needed.

Three of the first five bodies picked out of the sea were those of women.

Divers were working in the wreck trying to bring to the surface bodies of passengers believed to be trapped.

King Frederick telegraphed the steamship company:

"The Queen and I express our deepest sympathy on the occasion of the loss of the Kjoebenhavn."

minister), parliamentary assistant to the Prime Minister, succeeded Mr. Winters as assistant to Dr. McCann. Mr. King said he thought it inadvisable for the Minister of Fisheries and his parliamentary assistant to both come from British Columbia.

J. Watson McNaught (L—Prince) succeeds Mr. Reid as parliamentary assistant in the fishing department.

Leslie Mutch (L—Winnipeg South) has been appointed parliamentary assistant to Veterans Affairs Minister Gregg. He succeeds Walter Tucker (L—Rosethorn) who resigned recently to lead the Liberal party in Saskatchewan.

Mr. King said that Mr. Glen, 71, has been in ill health for some time. He telegraphed his resignation recently from Winnipeg.

Mr. Glen is the second cabinet minister to resign in recent weeks. Justice Minister Isley recently tendered his resignation, effective from the end of this month. He plans to enter the Montreal law firm of the late Col. J. L. Ralston, former minister of national defence.

Mr. Glen has served in the cabinet since 1945. He was speaker of the Commons from 1940 to 1945. A native of Scotland, he came to Canada in 1911 and was elected to the Commons in 1928 as member for Marquette, Man.

He suffered a heart attack at the last session of parliament and was away from his office for several months. He returned to his seat in the Commons at the start of the current session apparently in good health. However, he was taken to hospital about two months ago after what was described then as an attack of indigestion. He has not returned to the Commons since.

Exhibitors From Far Points

Months of work have gone into the preparations, especially in rounding up exhibitors from the Toronto-Oakville area and the western section of the province. One of the first arrivals was Roy Inch of Elgin county whose light horses made a fine impression at Millbrook.

The exhibition of jumping by the Canadian Army team is programmed for 8.15 tonight. Incidentally the Kinsmen have a public address system of announcement with cunning explanatory information that will keep every body fully posted on the entries, winners and general progress of the show. Those who will help at the "mike" include Sam S. Staples, Eddie O'Toole, Dr. Harold Wort and George Bouck.

The Army horses and team arrived at 1 p.m. with Col. Bates in charge. The judge of the light horse classes is Mr. J. P. Westcott of Orleans, Vermont, senior judge at all the big show south of the border, and for the heavy horses, Prof. J. A. Henderson of the Ontario Veterinary College, who is staying over until Monday to be guest speaker at the Rotary Club dinner.

Top lining the heavy draft system are a six-horse hitch of Clydesdales that arrived this morning and a four-horse team of Percherons that has an attraction at Millbrook.

Murray Goulin of Toronto, who is remembered as trained of the Palamino "Golden Flame" is here with his trick horse "Baldy."

Incidentally the program has several running races on the Saturday night card. Kinsmen Club members predict that this should be one of the finest assemblies of horses that has been seen in eastern Ontario.

Large Line-up, Top-Notchers For Horse Show

Peterborough Kinsmen Club

Horse Show at Morrow Park tonight and Saturday afternoon and evening has all the signs and assurances of the biggest event of its kind in Ontario this summer. It opens at 7 p.m. with a parade of the entries which will excel in number, quality and variety all the displays of horses this district has ever seen.

This show is headlined by the famous Canadian Army Team of jumpers, a starting attraction at the Royal Winter Fair, and string of six other jumpers owned by 'Ecig-General Churchill C. Mann, Ottawa, vice-president of the General Staff, National Defence Headquarters.

The Millbrook show Thursday demonstrated once more that everybody likes horses, and if the Kinsmen attract proportionally larger crowds their enterprise should be a huge success. This is their second annual show. The results a year ago encouraged the proposal to establish it as a local undertaking in promoting interest in horses and their breeding. They have the immediate district to draw from as an expected foundation of the show, and it is expected that breeders will do their part by responding with entries in all the main classes.

A Valuable Experiment Lost

We are sorry that the Government of Great Britain has so far weakened its amendments to the Criminal Justice Bill that a valuable sociological experiment must be lost. It was the original intention of the drafters of the amendments to abolish the death sentence for a period of five years, in order to see whether it would be possible to abolish it altogether. But the Government forces were not united on this matter, and the House of Lords has rejected it. The present decision is to keep the death penalty for what are called "exceptional cases".

The British experiment would have been of great value to the civilized world. There are many countries where there is no death sentence, but in Britain's case it would have been possible to discover whether the suspension of that penalty really brought about an increase in murder. The commonest excuse offered for the death penalty is that it acts as a deterrent upon possible murderers. The British experiment would have given an opportunity to check that unproven assertion.

We recognize, of course, the seriousness of the step which Britain considered, and has decided not to take. Experienced judges and criminologists have warned that there are crimes so dreadful—so repellent in their lack of reason and in their brutality—that death is the only fitting penalty for them. It is true also that the announcement that Britain meant to suspend the death penalty was followed by an uncommon number of violent crimes. This might have been coincidence, but on the other hand it might not. And it is true that in present-day Britain, where black marketeers and crooks of all kinds are exploiting shortages and economic disturbance, crimes of violence are on the increase and gangsterism is commoner than before the war. Perhaps this is not the time to relax the severity of any penalty.

Nevertheless, we are sorry that the British experiment will not be tried. Its intention was humane, and anything which lets light into the darkness of our legal and penological system is deserving of careful consideration. We hope that in better times, Britain will consider this matter again.

Peterborough Relics In Toronto

By our relics in Toronto we do not mean Peterborough folk who have emigrated to Toronto there to grow old and crusty. Our reference is to interesting or valuable historical pieces which came from this district and are now deposited in the Royal Ontario Museum.

Now on exhibition in the Museum is the Paul Kane portrait of William S. Conger, first mayor of Peterborough. (We have a street named after him.) The recent discovery of this portrait by Mr. E. C. Guillet was reported in this paper several months ago. Apparently it is an authentic Paul Kane—for the Museum has borrowed it from our Library to place on exhibit with two other oils by Paul Kane for a special showing in the Californian Indian Gallery. It was exactly a century ago that Kane returned from long wanderings over prairie and coastal regions of the Canadian west to settle in Toronto and illustrate his book Wanderings of an Artist with exciting if not artistically great drawings of Indians as they lived and looked a hundred years ago.

Another souvenir of Peterborough in the Museum is the wooden mechanism of the old clock that used to be in the belfry of St. John's Church. It was presented by the Vicar and Wardens of the church. The museum is a good repository for it—there it is well cared for and on view to thousands.

Perhaps the most interesting exhibit from this district is a collection of Indian silver dug up from Rice Lake. The making of silver ornaments—even beads—was not native to our Indians. The Indians were enamoured of the jewellery and trinkets of the European settlers and from them acquired the craft. The silver bangles and bric-a-brac on display are fascinating examples of Indian adaptations of European techniques and art.

Should Peterborough have a museum of its own instead of allowing its historic pieces to go to Toronto? A small local museum can have little interest and value unless there is some distinctive collection or notable local archeological finds on which to centre it. The Denne set of early prints may provide a core for a good Peterborough collection. If it does, there seems to be little enterprise or enthusiasm for even a small Peterborough museum.

"Oklahoma!"

The musical show Oklahoma!, which burst upon a delighted audience at the St. James Theatre, New York, on April 1, 1943, has at last left that home and has gone to Boston. It had run for 2,202 performances in New York, and that record will not soon be beaten. During the past five years the music of this delightful piece has become familiar everywhere on this continent, and the people of Peterborough know "Oh, what a beautiful mornin'" and "People will say we're in love", and "The Surrey with the fringe on top" just as well as people in New York—or San Francisco, for that matter.

Two songs in Oklahoma! particularly took our fancy, and although we are probably violating some sort of copyright by doing so, we should like to quote a few lines here. The first was this one:

*Ev'rythin's up to date in Kansas City.
They've gone about as fur as they c'n go!
They went and built a skyscraper seven stories high—
About as high as a buildin' orta grow.
Ev'rythin's like a dream in Kansas City.
It's better than a magic lantern show!
Y'e'n turn the radiator on whenever you want some heat.
With ev'ry kind o' comfort ev'ry house is all complete.
You c'n walk to privies in the rain an'
never wet yer feet!
They've gone about as fur as they c'n go!*

And the other song which pleased us greatly was:

*Many a new face will please my eye,
Many a new love will find me.
Never've I once looked back to sigh
Over the romance behind me.
Many a new day will dawn before I do!
These words, set to a delightful little tune, and accompanied by as good a musical comedy dance as we have ever seen, make up one of the best things in a first rate entertainment.*

Whenever we think of Oklahoma! we wonder how long it will be before we have a musical comedy about Canada which will set the world dancing and whistling. There are plenty of Canadian stories which are just as good as the settlement of the state of Oklahoma, and we put forward the settlement of this district by the Irish settlers of the Peter Robinson migration as one of them. The only musical comedy about Canada which ever met with great success was Rose Marie, and it was not written by Canadians. A state of the American union, with a population of a little over two millions, has inspired a first-rate musical play. We hope to see the day when our country will do the same.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Western writer advises tourists that "Canada's roads are not paved with gold". We can bear this, but we are a little depressed by those places where they are not even paved with pavement.

In England a man of 88, who deserted from the Army 60 years ago, has given himself up. The reason for his rash act, we understand, is that a sergeant complained about the way he carried his bow and arrows.

Premier Drew has a rather fine speaking voice and is so convincing over the radio that if he were to tell us that half the married people in the world are men we should be inclined to believe him.

In Colombia employers are compelled by law to give their workers a pair of shoes every six months. That would make a good point for some future election platform here.

The Bishop of Winchester is reported by the London Daily Worker to have suggested that there would be fewer murders if private enterprise were not diverted from its legitimate channels. We would not be prepared to go as far as to say that, though of course, a really striking example of private enterprise is murder, and it is always illegitimate.

The German Problem Today

(The Rockefeller Foundation Review)

IN 1947 Robert J. Havighurst of the faculty of the University of Chicago made an extensive study for The Rockefeller Foundation of the present situation in Germany in relation to universities, primary and secondary schools, libraries, youth problems and policies, teacher training, contacts with the outside world and so on. With the cordial co-operation of the Department of State and the American Army authorities he was able to carry on his survey in the American, British and French zones, and he made one trip to Leipzig in the Russian zone.

It is impossible to do more than summarize very briefly the observations and recommendations of his voluminous report. The first vivid and startling impression which a visitor receives is the extent of the poverty of Germany. An American has great difficulty in understanding a German today, for he lives at one end of the scale of plenty, while the German lives at the other end: To the German, hunger is a constant companion. Not until his standard of living is raised again to a decent level can the German possibly contribute to the creation of a peaceful, democratic society.

EQUALLY difficult for an American to grasp is the sense of utter isolation which affects many men of good will in Germany—men who suffered but survived in Nazi concentration camps, and others who were passively resistant to fascism. These people now are taking the lead in the attempt to bring Germany back into the family of nations. Since 1933, however, they have been so completely divorced not only from the rest of the world but also from their fellow men in Germany, that they have come to wonder whether there is any reality outside of the terror and the ruin they have known in their own country. Another kind of isolation affects the young people who have grown up under Hitler and know no other kind of life or thinking.

YET the basic foundations for a peaceful and productive democratic society are present in Germany today. These foundations can be listed as follows: (a) leaders who have an anti-fascist record and who want to co-operate with other governments in a strong international organization, (b) a developing realization on the part of the German people of the evils of the Nazi regime, (c) the influence of the churches and the labour unions in holding people together and in disciplining them for orderliness and stability, (d) a working population with a high degree of skill and technological training.

ON the assumption that Germany is allowed to regain a considerable measure of productivity, there would seem to be at least two prerequisites essential to the development of a democratic society. The first is the restoration of communication between the Germans and the people of other countries. The wall of isolation which has tended to make Germany one vast prison must be thrown down, and ways must be opened for the free flow of ideas, through books and journals, films, radio and works of art, and through the interchange of personnel in various types of activities. The second prerequisite is the development of younger leaders who know the world outside of Germany. Young men and women from the universities, labour unions, youth organizations, newspapers, churches and industries must breathe the air of other countries and learn how people in those countries live and think.

THESE steps are no less needed in Austria and Italy, as well as in all the countries whose people have been cut off from free and natural intercourse with the people of other nations.

In addition to its regular European program, of which mention has already been made, the Foundation in 1947 set aside $500,000 for work in the field of what might be called European reconstruction. Illustrating the type of activity contemplated by this grant, three or four appropriations may be cited. The sum of $120,000, to be spent over a two and a half year period, was given to the University of Chicago to set up an American faculty at the University of Frankfurt. From six to ten university professors from Chicago will be constantly in residence at Frankfurt, each professor serving for at least six months. They are being selected primarily from the fields of the social sciences and the humanities, specifically in American culture and history, English language and literature, sociology, political science, psychology, American public law, international law and philosophy. Their primary concern will be to work with young Germans who intend to follow academic careers, but they will also give general courses and will be available for lectures at other German universities. Each professor will be released from his university duties at Chicago for two quarters in order that he may adequately prepare himself prior to going to Germany for the task before him.

ANOTHER grant, in the amount of $90,000, to be spent over three years, was given to the Germanistic Society of America for subscriptions to scholarly journals and periodicals for fifteen German and three Austrian university libraries. In addition, $9,000 was appropriated for medical literature in the same institutions. These periodicals and books are now being delivered.

Further grants were made to enable Professor Eduard Heimann, an economist on the staff of the New School for Social Research, to give courses at Gottingen and Hamburg; and Karl Brandt, an agricultural economist from Stanford University, will go to Heidelberg. The sum of $25,000 was appropriated to Columbia University to bring to Great Britain, the United States and Canada leading German personnel attached to German radio stations. It is believed that the establishment of German radio as a public service, free from political control, will be facilitated immeasurably by acquaintance with the rights and responsibilities of British, American and Canadian radio in their educational, informational and entertainment functions. Plans are also under way to provide this

Letters To The Editor

A RAINBOW DESTROYED

Sir: I was sorry to read that item in the news from Washington, intimating that "A 36-country agreement for stabilizing world wheat markets and prices may be one of the major casualties in the pre-adjournment congressional scramble..."

Apart entirely from the virtue (or otherwise) of the above accord, the very fact of "agreement" by so many countries and along such a vital front as the major cereal, was something like a rainbow across the international sky—a sign of hope and brotherhood where, since VE-Day, the thunder of clashing ideologies and the clouds of suspicion and non-co-operation have been the rule?

Of course from the Canadian viewpoint, if one is to be guided by purely selfish considerations, the wheat position may be described as appropriately "hedged" and safely anchored to windward, by the British Wheat Agreement, which, as you know, has still a couple of years to operate? Frankly, in this matter, I am not thinking of Canadian interests exclusively but, rather, of the 33 important countries, whose governments had signed the agreement—an international gesture in the direction of a gradual return to stability and normal, peaceful days.

At the moment, not even the experts dare look too far into three dry, hot weeks between today and the harvest can easily de-

THE ancient Greeks had a curious law on their statute books. It dealt with monuments celebrating the victories of war. Such monuments were permitted, and the defeated enemy was forbidden to tear them down; but the victor was not allowed to repair them. Moreover, the monuments had to be built not of stone but of wood. In commenting on this legislation Plutarch remarks: "It would be invidious and malignant that we men should ourselves repair and renew the monuments of hatred towards our enemies when time is making them dim."

COMPLAINS OF POLLING FACILITIES

Sir: You were quite right saying what you did about the polling booths and Deputy Returning Officers, only you didn't say enough.

Let me tell you about the place where I voted. It was a room in a house. Outside were two lady scrutineers. They were all right—they checked my name off and didn't say much except to say "Oh, I know who you are. You're the man who used to live so-and-so and your wife has had a baby." That was just friendly. Inside the house were five women (maybe four—they were doing so much cackling I was upset). They were sitting around a dining-room table having a cup of tea. A woman voter had just gone out. A man followed her. One of the women (she turned out to be the D.R.O.) said: "Well, no use you voting. Your wife killed your vote." The man was embarrassed. He mumbled "No she didn't." The woman said, "Well, I did then, tee-hee." She took his marked ballot, played with it and said, "Why do you men always fold your ballot so that it makes it hard for us to tear off the piece I tear off?" She thought she was being funny. All the other women laughed as if it was a big joke. The woman gave me my ballot. By this time all the chatter and gossip and phoney joking had made me dizzy. I went to a low table which had a curtain at one side. Anybody at one end of the dining-room table could have seen which space I put my X. I hardly knew which space I did put it in myself, with all the clatter around. I gave one of the women the ballot. She continued to talk and finger it. She probably wasn't waiting until I went out to put it in the box, but I had to wait

Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?...

And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin; and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?

Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek: for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.)

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. (Matt. 6: 25, 26, 28-33.)

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine. (Matt. 7: 28.)

BY FORCE

A party of clergymen were attending a Presbyterian conference in Scotland. Several set off to explore the district. Presently they came to a river, spanned by a temporary bridge.

Not observing a notice that the bridge was unsafe, they started to cross it. The bridge-keeper ran after them in protest.

"It's all right," declared the spokesman, not understanding the reason for the old man's haste, "we're Presbyterians from the conference."

"I'm no caring boot," was the reply, "but if ye don't get off ine bridge ye'll all be Baptists!"

around for what seemed five minutes listening to the talk before she did.

A friend of mine told me about the polling booth where he voted. The D.R.O. was an old woman aged about 80.

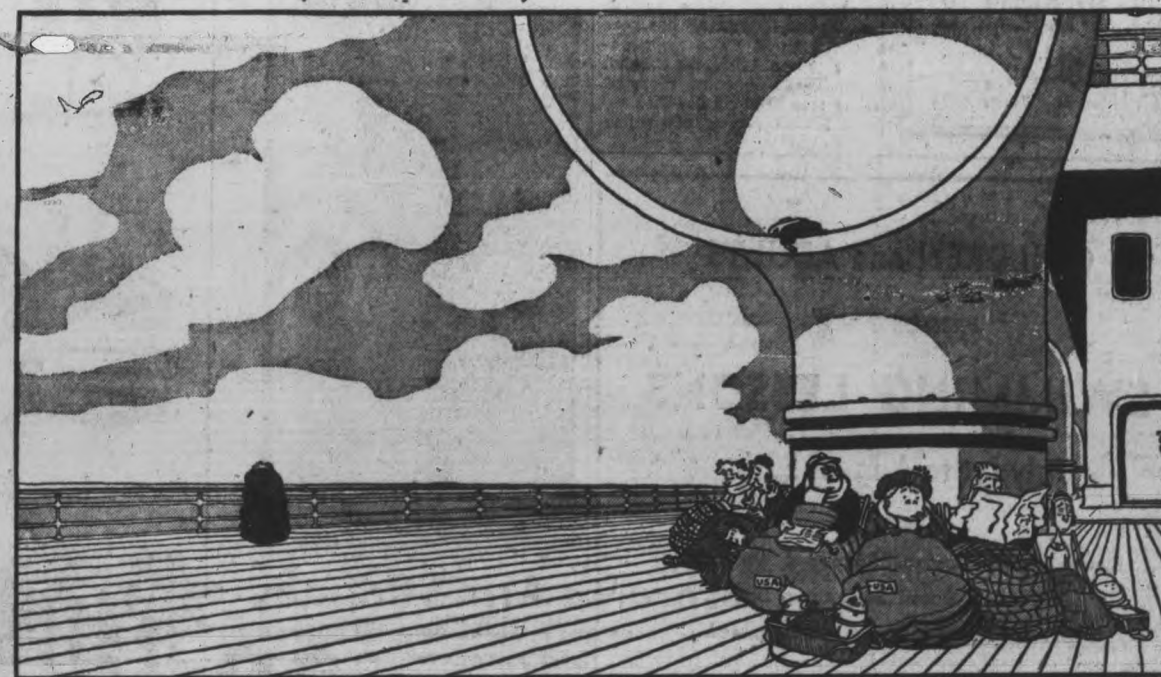

Why don't they get proper D.R.O.'s and clerks? Why can't they be told what their job is and how to do it? I know they get printed books of instruction, but apparently too many of them are too old, too dumb or too busy gossiping to be able to read. Why can't they have polling booths that don't smell of fried onions, that aren't draped with dusty sheets; that are private and quiet.

Voting is a serious business. I like to be able to do it privately, quietly and without having to undergo a barrage of silly comment, title-tattle and prying eyes.

Yours for better polling booths and better D.R.O.'s.

Trace Vitamins To Find Effect On Human Body

AMES, Iowa, June 11—(AP)—Scientists are beginning to lift the curtain of secrecy on exactly what happens to the vitamins you eat and what they do.

The new knowledge is important to health and may aid in understanding such diseases as rheumatic fever and high blood pressure. It shows that some diseases and even changes in food habits can increase your need for certain vitamins.

The facts are hard to get because human chemistry is so involved. But clues and discoveries from many laboratories are helping to map the vitamin trails through this jungle of human chemistry.

One important clue, said Dr. Robert R. Sealock, Iowa State College biochemist, came from Europe in studies of Addison's disease. This is a chronic weakening disease, usually fatal, and in it the skin turns a coppery brown color. The European investigators found that doses of vitamin C cleared up this discoloration. It didn't improve the other symptoms of the disease.

The copper color was due to melanin, a skin pigment which when present in smaller quantities is the sun tan pigment. The disease victims had too much melanin.

Dr. Sealock, then at the University of Rochester, and co-workers found the reason why. The melanin was formed because one important chemical wasn't being used properly. This chemical was an amino acid, tyrosine. It's one of the more than 20 amino acids from which all proteins are made.

Lack of Vitamin C, they showed, broke the chain of steps in the body's proper use of the tyrosine. One of the broken links formed a substance that produced the melanin.

Scurvy Symptoms

A practical use for this finding was discovered by Dr. S. Z. Levine of Cornell University medical center. Premature babies fed on cow's milk, developed symptoms of scurvy. The cow's milk has more of the tyrosine than mother's milk. The larger amounts of the tyrosine meant more vitamin C was needed than the babies received in their diet. Dr. Levine gave the premature babies more vitamin C, and they could take the cow's milk without the threat of scurvy.

Other discoveries followed quickly. At New York University, Miss Ella Fishburg found that in a certain, fairly rare disease, something is in the blood which decreases the normal oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood. This something proved to be one of the broken links again from insufficiently-used tyrosine. When victims of the disease received more vitamin C, the condition was remedied.

Some children with rheumatic fever were also found to excrete this same substance from tyrosine because of a lack of vitamin C. The disease may increase the need for vitamin C, Dr. Sealock said. The discovery may supply a clue to one of the factors in rheumatic fever.

The tyrosine-vitamin C relationship also is suspected of some possible influence in high blood pressure.

If you change suddenly from a diet with low protein to one of high protein, your body again needs more vitamin C for good health, he added. The vitamin researchers now are trying to determine just how much vitamin C is needed with different protein intakes due to different kinds of food habits, and in various diseases. Other vitamins are being studied in the same connection.

Chinese Medicines Sold In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 11—(CP)—Tiger balm or dried snake for those rheumatic pains and dried seahorse to keep down the blood pressure are on the market again.

K. H. Lee, pre-war owner of a large Chinese drugstore in Shanghai and his partner, Ko Sing, have returned from a buying trip to China to set up shop here.

Herbal and animal remedies used for thousands of years in the Orient are being dispersed. Deer-horn tonic for the blood, a herb called "ma huang," juice-of-action wafers and dried turtles are in stock.

"Chinese medicines are mostly herbs," said Mr. Lee. "Many date from the time of Emperor Hsuan Nung 5,000 years before the birth of Christ."

Most are sold in bulk, and are leaves, bark or dried stems sliced crosswise. Animal preparations are neatly tied in papers.

Mr. Lee attributes China's freedom from the influenza epidemic in 1918 to these medicines, and points with pride to the long lives of his relatives who have been in the business for three generations.

His mother is 81, his uncles 80 and 85, and two of his grandparents lived to be 93 and 94.

Hogan - Worsham Pace-Setters

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—(AP)—Tournament favorite Ben Hogan and defending title-holder Lew Worsham were equal pace-setters today as the field teed off in the second round of the United States open golf championship.

Their opening-day 67's chopped four shots off par for the long and exacting Riviera course, but the sterling links performances told only half the story. The other half was the exclusive property of Worsham, the Oakmont, Pa., pro who crossed up the experts for the time being.

Worsham won the crown a year ago at St. Louis and won it the hard way. He beat out Sam Snead in the playoff after the two had tied with a near-record

Comstock's Get Close One From Knights

Comstock's pulled out a 6-5 nod over Knights at the Bowl last night to climb into a second-place tie with Legion and drop K. of C. to the cellar in a ruff men's softball scrap before a good crowd. They won it with a three-run drive in the eighth but Knights came back with two in the ninth for a close finish. It was tied at 3-3 in the sixth and a dogfight all the way. Walks in the wrong spots probably made the difference in the tight tussle as Crowley was a bit wild, though Eakins also walked a number. The winners had fewer hits and more errors than the losers.

Griffin and Anderson led the victors at bat with two for three each, and Jaquith's triple was the only extra-base blow of the snappy struggle. Wade had a perfect night at the plate for Knights with two for two as he walked twice and had a sacrifice. Coughlin came up with two in four tries, and Kumpf got two in five. Catches by Wade and Griffin, plus a pickup by Willshaw who replaced O'Heron when he hurt his hand—were fielding features.

72-hole total of 282. In spite of that fine showing, Worsham's stock had fallen when the first round firing began here Wednesday.

Hogan, practically the unanimous choice, came through with a fine 31-36 for his 67. Worsham, picked to finish anywhere from 10th to 20th in the famed links derby, posted a 33-34.

Trailing the co-leaders into the second round were Snead, the mighty slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Ken Rogers of Oklahoma City, each with 69.

Only three others of the starting field of 171 showed par figures for the 7,020-yard layout in the initial round. They were Bobby Locke, the high money winner from Johannesburg, South Africa, veteran Tony Penna from Cincinnati, and Ted Rhodes, star negro player of Los Angeles.

Locke, whose many followers like him to outstand all the rest in the remaining "grind" played soundly for an opening 35-35. Penna turned in 37-33 and Rhodes a 36-34.

OLA senior "B" schedule opens here tonight at nine in Miller Bowl with Oshawa lacrossers playing the Petes. Both clubs started off the season with victories Tuesday, Oshawa winning at home against Scarborough Grads while the Petes hiked to Huntsville and took a close one. Most of the former Motor City stars—including the Vipers—will be here along with half a dozen classy imports. But the Petes bolstered, too, this spring and look better than last fall when they won the provincial crown. It ought to be a swell scrap between two good squads, which don't mind mixing it in the least, and no doubt will draw a dandy crowd. If the weather is right.

Ball fans, don't forget the two tilts tomorrow in Riverside. Lakeshore Junior Leaguers go at three in the 'aft, Whitby vs. the local Bees; and an Intermediate Lakeshore Loop game at 6:30 p.m. between the Port Hoppers and Petes. Both should be right interesting contests and rate goodly galleries, if the weather is right. A 6:30 p.m. juvenile bout there today between northenders and the westend bunch. East and west juves play there Monday and the east and west midjets Tuesday, same night as westend peewees play Crawford's Grove at the Ex. Also down south Wednesday, north bantams mix with the southenders. Next night sees west and south midjets in Riverside where east and north juves clash Friday—west and Hawks having a bantam go in the Ex. Couple of peewee games Saturday morn.

Cost Of Umps' Attire

Re the Intercounty League ump's strike for more dough, we note this in the St. Kitts sheet: "To choke off new applicants for the old jobs of the strikers, the chief umpire tells his Falls readers how much it costs to outfit an umpire and how far that $8 a game will go. Chest pads $35-$45, caps $2.50-$4.00, shinguards $5.00, shoes $10, indicator $1.50, blue suit $50-75. He forgot to include a short whisk at two bits. Nevertheless, Secretary Bill Marshall reports he has a flock of applicants for umpiring candidates, so there must be some fellows who can use that stipend."

Two girls' games at the Bowl tonight, weather permitting, while Lindsay lasses travel to Lakefield. Games here starting at seven, are: Electrics vs. Westclox, and Ashby's vs. Lock Co. While both may be tidy tussles, we like especially the looks of that first one. As the Clockers have four wins and no losses, while CGE have four wins and one reverse so far this season. These two, with Marines, head the race right now. Monday meelees are: Lakefield vs. Marines, and Woolleens vs. Lindsay. Second section of the schedule should be drawn up next week.

Keen Close Contests

Two nifty numbers reeled off in men's softball at ye olde Bowls last eve. Combines nudged out Legion 7-5 in the ninth and Comstock's rallied in the eighth for a 6-5 squeak o'er Knights. So now the R-E boys are atop the loop by a game with Legion and Comstock's tied in second place, and Knights are last by one game. Couldn't be much closer, eh? Only two games difference betwixt the top and bottom clubs. Yeah, they're staging some swell softball scraps over there and getting good crowds for this time of year. Comes playoff time and they'll have to annex a few more lots on Burnham St. to handle the customers. Prexy Pat Calladine, his executive and the umps and clubs are co-operating to start on time and make 'em snappy. They were fine fast frays last p.m.

Legion errors hurt their cause in the dying minutes after they took an early lead, but you can't count the experienced Combines out till the final out. Les Burton returned to the wars and had two timely blows. Blewett led 'em at bat as Lewis topped Legion. Pitching about even with Ron having a little edge on Howie this time. Losers had more extra-base blows, but also more miscues. In the other tight tilt, Comstock's clicked in the eighth for three, and Knights' two in the ninth weren't quite enough. Jake Wade hit and fielded well again, with Coughlin and Kumpf getting two hits each for K. of C. While Griffin and Anderson had two for three apiece for the winners. A good game.

And A Nod To Ashby's

Cobourg columnist deals thusly with a recent exhibition tussle there: "Peterborough's fast young ladies' team, Ashby's, were a surprise package when they handed the Pavilion club a 13-10 defeat in a good contest. Playing as an entrant in the intermediate loop in Peterborough, Ashby's are all young enough to play junior and will likely go into the lower classification when playoff time rolls around. One of the smartest clubs to come here in some seasons, the youngsters showed good heady ball and acted as if they knew what it was all about." Yeah, the Ashby-sponsored kids, coached by Bud Goodson, are getting to know all the diamond answers.

GRAB-BAG: Soccer here at 3:30 tomorrow: Lindsay vs. O'Halloran's with W. Harris referee; Petes beat Legion 4-0 yesterday.... LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Next Wednesday, June 16, the ladies' club is holding the first open tournament for rinks. The main prize will be the Duffus trophy.

The games are set for 1:30 o'clock and the entry fee is $4.00 per rink. In the past this tournament has been one of the outstanding events on the ladies' program and the committee is hoping this year it will be just as successful. Already many local rinks have entered.

The men's Tip-Tip Tailor competition gets under way next Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Rinks entered must be no stronger than schedule strength. There will be three contests, the primary, consolation and hard luck. It's straight elimination and the fee is $2.00 per rink. Give your entry to C. Mowry.

Tonight's doubles, 7:30 o'clock. Be on time with your partner.

R-E Combines Win 7-5 In Ninth Against Legion

The R-E Combines took over sole possession of top spot in the City Softball League at the Bowl last night when they edged out Legion 7-5 with a three-run splurge in the ninth. They trailed all the way but finished strong with timely bingles and cashed in on loose Legion fielding at short. It was a fine fray with a lot of good ball dished up, a nice one to fairly even, but miscues made the difference and the good-sized crowd enjoyed the joust.

Joe Blewett led the winners at bat with four for five, as Hawkes, Burton and Borland each got two safeties. Bill Lewis topped Legion with the willow, smacking out two doubles and a single in four. White hit a homer and single in four and Harrison—shaky afield

Zale Batters Graziano To Regain Title

NEWARK, N.J., June 11 (AP).—Tony Zale, the champion who came back, charted a fighting future today over the prostrate form of Rocky Graziano.

Zale, the underdog, regained the world's middleweight boxing title by knocking out Graziano, just as he predicted he would, in the third round of their third encounter.

Although 34, Zale immediately proclaimed he would not retire, offered to fight all comers, and declared:

"I feel like I'm going the other way again—back to youth."

Marcel Cerdan of France was the boxer mentioned as Zale's probable next opponent, providing Cerdan takes back the European title from Cyrille Delannoy of Belgium July 10.

Both of the previous fights between the poised, silent Zale and the rough-and-rugged 26-year-old Graziano went six rounds, but Zale needed only half that last night. He floored Graziano after less than a minute of the first round, then lost the second when Rocky came surging back.

But in the third, Zale was absolute master. He downed Graziano for the count of seven, twice had him hanging on the ropes, and ended matters with a tremendous left to the head after 1:08 minutes. In between all this punishment Graziano kept on swinging.

The crowd numbered 21,497 in Ruppert Stadium, paid a gross of $335,645 which was brought to $405,646 by $45,000 for radio and $25,000 for movie rights. Television was banned.

Pennant Hopes Of Braves Rising Again

By RALPH BODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn once again are being called the Mr. Right and Mr. Left of the Boston Braves' pitching staff. They each won 21 games for the Braves in 1947 and the National League pennant hopes of the Braves hinge on their duplicating that feat this year.

Sain, the righthander, pitched the Braves into second place Thursday night by beating St. Louis Cardinals 10-2 in a night game at St. Louis for this third consecutive win.

It was the Braves' fifth straight victory and second in a row over the Cardinals. Spahn, the lefthander, stopped the Red Birds 11-5 Wednesday night for his fifth victory.

Bob Elliott led the Braves' 17-hit attack against five Cardinals pitchers with a homer, double and two singles.

The Giants were beaten by the last-place Cubs in a day game at Chicago, while the Pittsburgh Pirates turned back Brooklyn Dodgers 4-1 in a night contest at Pittsburgh.

Russ Meyer went the route against the Giants, allowing only six hits.

Brilliant two-hit pitching by Ernie Bonham featured the Pirates' victory over Brooklyn. The Pirates scored their first run in the second inning when umpire Al Barlick ruled that pitcher Harry Taylor balked with the bases loaded. Dodger manager Leo Durocher protested the ruling so vigorously he was banished.

The American League's leading Cleveland Indians took a 15-7 pounding from the Red Sox in a day game at Boston. The loss ended a five-game Cleveland winning streak and cut their margin to three games over New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics.

Bobby Feller started for Cleveland and was routed in the third inning when the Red Sox jammed eight runs home.

The Athletics also enjoyed a big inning in trouncing Detroit Tigers 10-4, but the generosity of Tiger pitchers contributed to the scoring.

Philadelphia pushed seven runners home in the fourth inning with the aid of only two hits and seven walks.

Philadelphia now trails the second place Yankees by four percentage points. The Yankees scheduled game with Chicago White Sox in New York was postponed because of rain.

Bases on balls also figured prominently in Washington Senators' 5-4 triumph over St. Louis Browns.

The Senators won the game in the bottom half of the ninth when reliever Frank Biscan walked Mark Christman with the bases loaded and one out.

Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia were idle.

Dugout Dictaphone

(Collier's)

Them Senators play ball like they're all under civil service... And I say you can't fake a splitter by wiping sweat off your forehead... you gotta use slipper elm for a splitter and your fingers got to be so slick you can't feel the ball come off... sweatballs don't break more'n a inch... real spitters jerk halfway across the plate...

Ought to get time and a half for batting against Detroit pitchers—Newhouse and Houtteman and Hutchinson—best in the league... That four-eyed Trout ain't bad either—like Dizzy says nobody hits a man who wear glasses... Not that blonde... the one at the cigar counter... If Williams could hit to left against the shift he'd hit to left... nobody'd be dumb enough to pass up a five-hundred batting average... not even Williams... So Trout arrives in spring training when Cochrane's managing the Tigers, and the first time Mickey sees Dizzy, Dizzy's riding around the outfield on a beat-up motorcycle.

There's only one job tougher than outfieldin' for the Browne pitchers and that's caddyin' at a drivin' range... Finally Dizzy roars past Mickey and yells how'm I doin' and Mickey yells back fine... keep right on goin' and pitch the opener at Toledo... and Old Dizzy doesn't get another chance in the big leagues for four years.

Another reason Newhouse's better is he's quit that crybaby stuff—when somebody boots one he just pitches harder instead of feeling sorry for himself.

Maybe York is pretty bad but I still say Zeke Bonura was the worst-fielding first baseman this league ever saw... You think the prices are up high here... listen... down at Milwaukee last year they give us four bucks a day for eatin'... I have doughnuts for breakfast and a hamburger for lunch and at supper I ask for the best three-dollar dinner in the house and the waiter asks how do I want it... on rye or whole wheat... But that Zeke never lost his pepper... I remember the time he kicked three in a row... didn't bother Zeke... he just banged that big glove and yelled come on, gang, let's settle down out here... Okay, you ask her... I'll ask the redhead from the coffee shop.

Sunday Baseball Gets Two Teams In Legal Turmoil

By The Associated Press

Batting—Bob Elliott, Braves—collected a home run, double and two singles in four times at bat and drove in three runs as Boston swamped St. Louis 10-2.

Pitching—Ernie Bonham, Pirates—Allowed only two hits, one a home run, in setting down Brooklyn 4-1, for his first victory of the season.

He checked them off — Ralph Caballero at third, Gran Hamner at short, Richie Ashburn in center field, Johnny Blatnik in left, and Al Lakeman catching.

THE dilemma, as recounted by Emil (Sault Star) Rajnovich, arose when two local softball clubs decided to play a Sabbath game. They got permission from President Merrett Miller of the Sault Softball Association, and Bay View Athletics duly trounced the Falcons 20-5.

Then came trouble. The SSA executive overruled Miller, pointed out that Sunday sport was illegal and ordered the game replayed.

Why, Raj asked, since the game was played and nobody complained, should the association throw out the game.

Opponents of Sunday sport could answer that one. But the executive's next decision left both sides speechless.

They okayed a replay of the Falcons - Athletics game on the following Sunday across the river in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where Sunday ball is legal.

Hardy Oldsters
When a 75-year-old harness-racing driver got tossed out of his sulky during a race and picks himself up without injury, it is a minor bit of news.

When he climbs back into his seat and finishes fifth in a field of 12, it adds a nice touch.

That was what happened to Alex Williams last Saturday, says Ivan (Hamilton Spectator) Miller, but the story does not end there.

The driver from nearby Beamsville went on to drive Mildred Richards to victory in the next two heats of the 2:28 at Picton, and won the event.

The Leafs, a Toronto baseball fan commented, are not doing too badly in the National League.

"You know," he told Bunny (Toronto Telegram) Morgan, "The team Philadelphia Phillies were going to send to Toronto way back last September, then suddenly the boys grew up."

Johnson Wins For Red Wings; Newark On Top

By The Associated Press

Manager Cedric Durst's confidence in the pitching ability of young Ken Johnson is beginning to pay off for the hustling Rochester Red Wings.

Johnson is regarded by the parent St. Louis Cardinals as one of their best mound prospects. They shipped the 23-year-old resident of Lawrence, Kansas, to Wings on the condition that he be used as a starting pitcher.

The lanky lefthander made his first start on May 24 and lasted less than two innings as he walked eight batters and allowed a hit.

He won a game in a relief role but was belted out in his next two starts but Durst stuck with him and now he's coming through.

Johnson, who pitched a one hit shutout for the Cards against the Chicago Cubs late last season, has won his last two starts.

He best Buffalo, 5-4 Sunday and Wednesday night he hurled the Wings to a 4-0 three-hit victory over the Baltimore Orioles in the second half of a double header.

Johnson was a trifle wild, walking eight but he offset this by striking out ten. He didn't allow a hit after the first inning until Warren Robinson, a former Wing singled in the ninth.

The Wings also won the opener, 5-4 when pinch-hitter Russ Derry cracked a two-run homer with two out in the ninth.

The twin triumphs enabled the Wings to pull to within one percentage point of the fourth place Jersey City Giants who dropped a 10-4 decision to the second place Montreal Royals.

By winning, the Royals moved to within six percentage points of the front-running Newark Bears who along with the Toronto Maple Leafs were idle.

The third place Syracuse Chiefs divided a twin-bille with the Buffalo Bisons, winning the second game, 4-1 after losing the opener, 3-2.

Laughton On Film Actors Says 'Most Humble People'

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 11 (AP). —Are actors egotists? British-born Charles Laughton rises Captain Bligh-like and utters a hearty "No."

Here is what the man says: "Film actors are the most humble people on earth."

"A bank clerk can afford to think that he looks like Clark Gable and be wrong, but a movie star must be objective. He has to know his face and personality so he can capitalize on them."

"The bubble of an actor's ego is punctured the day he sees his image on the screen. His most horrible moments are while watching himself give a bad performance."

Publicity Misleading
Laughton feels that false publicity has led the public to believe that actors are conceited. People confuse a star's screen personality with his actual self, declared Charles.

"I have seen scientists, doctors, politicians—many types act like pompous fools in public and they never guessed what asses they were."

"Stage actors have the same disadvantage. A film player knows his good and bad characteristics because he has studied them on the screen." That does not permit much conceit. Our discourse closed with what should be one of the most arresting statements of the year. Said Laughton, and I quote: "I've never known an actor who was a heel."

Unquote.

Leonard Peto, Montreal sports promoter, filed Thursday in Philadelphia a $287,517 counterclaim contending the Washington Lions' hockey management had no grounds for its $53,847 suit because it violated the terms of the contract.

M. J. Uline Company of Washington, owners of the Lions' American Hockey League franchise, sued Peto May 1 in United States district court. The company claimed an alleged deficit in operation of the Washington club in 1947 as a "farm" club for Philadelphia Maroons which holds an inactive franchise in the National Hockey League.

Peto said operation by the Washington club as a "farm" for his Maroons was a "flop" because the Lions' management failed properly to publicize its home games. This resulted in a loss of more than $92,000 in paid admissions, Peto said.

One part of Peto's counterclaim is for $50,268 in damages and another is for $132,000 representing the waiver price of $3,000 upon each of the 44 players who comprised the Washington team.

Lloyd Percival, director of Toronto's sports college, said Thursday that prospects of Canada's Olympic track team in London this summer are not good, but the experience should aid the Dominion's young stars in making a better showing in 1952. He said few lads in the Dominion can match times set by Canada's 12th place team in the 1936 Olympics. But Percival warned against too much gloom, pointing to past Olympics when star athletes fared poorly.

Legion Loses In Soccer Go

The local soccer Petes put up a smart exhibition of the code against the Canadian Legion on Thursday evening to win 4-0 in a league match at King Edward Park. Losers were without the services of some of their regular players through injuries. Jim Buchanan turned out for the Veterans.

Legion started with eight players against the Petes' full quota. Twice in succession did C. Murdoff test Hennessey in goal. Thereafter the triangle plays by E. Downer, Payne and Byers raised havoc in the Legion territory to keep the custodian busy saving shots from all angles. A foul kick taken outside the penalty area was converted for the Petes by E. Downer. Legion relied on individual efforts in an endeavor to get the equalizer but the Petes' defensive tactics were close and timely to prevent any inroad inside the goal area with the Petes leading at the interval by one goal.

Keen combination by the forwards, on resuming, resulted in the forwards travelling from end to end at a rapid pace without anything resulting, but Foster, in goal, had to retire with an injured hand when stopping a hard shot from a Petes' player. While he was off (Whitnall registered on a pass by Byers. Fifteen minutes later the same performance was enacted with the same result to get the third counter. Legion retaliated with a desperate assault that was productive of clever goal-tending by Hennessey, Petes' goalie, while Grant, G. Downer and H. Foster smashed hard drives for the rigging. Towards the end Whitnall travelled into the Legion goal to get the fourth counter when he caught the rebound off the goalie.

Legion—T. Foster, Sr., goal; T. Foster and A. Bromley, full-backs; A. B. Smith, J. Craig and A. Murdoff, half-backs; H. Foster, C. Murdoff, B. Grant, J. Buchanan and G. Downer forwards. Petes—J. Hennessey, goal; K. Downer and Dalton Downer, full-backs; E. Downer, F. McMaster and Don Downer half-backs; J. Byers, H. Payne, J. Whitnall, L. Payne and E. Lane, forwards. Sub, W. Post.

Referee—Asa Downer. Linesmen—Art Downer and Newt Downer.

Student Vets Need More Money

OTTAWA, June 11 — (CP) — Student veterans contended today that living costs have "forced many to the wall" under the State allowances they receive to continue college educations.

Douglas McVie of Bishop's College, president of the National Council of Student Veterans, asked the veterans' committee of the Commons to recommend increases beyond the present monthly rates of $60 for single and $90 for married men.

"All these facts and figures show the need of an increase for all veterans and for more than the additional $10 recently granted married men," he said. Normal boarding rates, even in small towns, had risen until they are up the whole $60.

He quoted from a survey made among veterans attending Queen's University, which showed that 70 per cent. have completed less than half their courses, that 68 per cent. have depleted half their personal savings, that 26 per cent. have run out of savings, that 15 per cent. will have to quit for financial reasons and that 21 per cent. may have to follow suit.

U.N. Is Nervously Wondering About South Africa's Direction

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS.—United Nations officials are more worried about their future relations with the Union of South Africa than they will admit.

That Dominion has told the trusteeship council that it does not recognize that body's jurisdiction over the territory of Southwest Africa, a mandate granted by the League of Nations. It must be emphasized that the communication received at Lake Success last week was dated May 31 and was produced by the outgoing government of Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts.

This polite defiance, then, was not uttered by Smuts' successor, Dr. Daniel Francois Malan. On the other hand, Malan is an unreconstructed Boer Nationalist, whose views on the color bar and on the question of Southwest Africa's annexation are much more rigid than those of Smuts, a warrior, philosopher and a world-renowned liberal.

It was Smuts who drafted the magnificent preamble to the United Nations Charter: "We the peoples of the United Nations."

"Determined to save future generations from the scourge of war... To reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small..."

Views Almost Radical

Since the United Nations has been operating more and more people have come to scoff at Marshal Smuts' "liberalism" but those who know him best have argued that he is a real liberal, but that he has been forced to work with hard, stubborn material — his own, race-conscious countrymen. They pointed out that Smuts' racial policies might not be as liberal by the standards of New York or London but measured by the yardstick of his opponents' views they were almost radical.

Smuts came to the second half of the United Nations General Assembly held here in 1946 with a certain hope. He left before the end of the session, a discouraged, embittered man, his ears burning from vilification.

Before the opening at Flushing Meadows, Smuts was in Ottawa, visiting with that other elder statesman of the Commonwealth, Mr. Mackenzie King. At that time Smuts wanted the United Nations to confirm his application to incorporate Southwest Africa in the Union of South Africa. It is an open secret that he asked the Canadian Prime Minister to support this move.

Smuts is alleged to have pleaded at that time that unless he could annex South Africa with UN approval, he would lose the next general election. He pointed out that it would be a blow to the British Commonwealth if his opposition took over—as they now have done. Besides Dutch Nationalists like Malan, this opposition group includes persons like Oswald Pirow, of purest German stock, a blood-and-soil fanatic who used to delight in having his picture taken with Hermann and Emmy Goering.

The Drive Against Him

Smuts did not get U.N. permission to annex South Africa. The dark-skinned people, well represented at the United Nations, launched a drive against Smuts. This drive was spearheaded by India and aided by the gleeful Soviet bloc.

Canada and the other Commonwealth countries were in a tight spot. Without absolutely going against Smuts, they were reluctant to go out on a limb for him. The evidence of racial discrimination in his country was pretty damning. Besides they had India to consider and India was up in arms over the treatment of Indian Nationalists in South Africa and determined to make an example of Smuts. Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Pandit Nehru's sister, led the campaign. In May he was true that her public bitterness was mitigated by messages of personal regard which she conveyed from her brother to the field marshal, but in open meeting she was scathing.

It was at this time that Smuts is said to have strode angrily through a New York hotel lobby against Smuts, they were reluctant to go out on a limb for him. The evidence of racial discrimination in his country was pretty damning. Besides they had India to consider and India was up in arms over the treatment of Indian Nationalists in South Africa and determined to make an example of Smuts. Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Pandit Nehru's sister, led the campaign. In May he was true that her public bitterness was mitigated by messages of personal regard which she conveyed from her brother to the field marshal, but in open meeting she was scathing.

Instead of getting his request from the United Nations, Smuts received a double slap in the form of a United Nations resolution calling South Africa to account for her treatment of Indian Nationalists. All that Canada and the United Kingdom could do was to sponsor an alternative proposal to refer the case to the world court, to decide whether it was a matter of domestic jurisdiction or an international cause. The proposal failed. South Africa ignored the U.N. resolution.

Angriness and Loneliness

Smuts left New York by plane an angry and a lonely man only a Secret Plane Flies Faster Than Sound

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP) — Air Secretary Stuart Symington said today the United States air force research plane X-51 several times has flown "much faster than the speed of sound."

Symington told a press conference that so far as he knows no other plane has achieved supersonic speed, that is, faster than sound travels.

The first and only pilot to fly the X-51 beyond the so-called sonic wall is Capt. E. Yeager, 25, a fighter pilot who destroyed 13 German planes while serving with the air force.

Yeager is a test pilot assigned to the air material command at Wright Field, Ohio.

Hitler Listed 11 Million Jews For The Gas Chamber

NUERNBERG, June 11—(AP)—Hitler accomplished only half of his goal in his plan to destroy the Jews. Documents in war crimes trials here disclosed there was a master plan to gas 11,000,000.

A cold, impersonal discussion of the "final solution of the Jewish question" took place at a conference Jan. 20, 1942 in Berlin.

A record of the conference was introduced in the trial of the Nazi ministers. Prosecutor Robert Kempner claimed the document put full blame for the Jewish annihilation on the ministers, including the foreign office.

Attending the conference were Stuckart of the Interior Ministry; Freisler, of Justice; Luther of the Foreign Office, Meyer and Leirandt of the Occupied East and Neumann of the "four-year plan."

A chart was laid down listing 11,000,000 Jews, even including those in the British Isles.

Minutes of the meeting said: "Under proper direction the Jews should now be brought to the east in a suitable way for use as labor. In big labor gangs, those capable of work are to be employed in road building in which task undoubtedly a great part will fall out through natural diminution."

"The remnant that finally is able to survive all this must be given treatment accordingly."

The plan succeeded in the extermination of upwards of 6,000,000.

Even half-Jews were included in the extermination program. Quarter-Jews were to be given the choice of sterilization or death. The minutes of the meeting recorded this "voluntary" phase of the plan.

You Never Know

GLOUCESTER, N.J., June 11—(AP)—Carefully, Mrs. Mary Herbert locked the doors of her home Wednesday. Three-year-old Madeline was romping on the floor and Mrs. Herbert didn't want the child to wander. A little later Mrs. Herbert returned. From around the side of the house strolled Madeline. Her dress and face were dirty but she was smiling.

"Hello, mommy," she said. "I fell out the window." The child was hurried to the hospital. Doctors found no injuries.

Sheep Losses Heavy Again

MILLBROOK, June 11 (ENS)—Cavan council, with Reeve Harold Cathcart presiding, at its June meeting on Wednesday instructed the clerk to place the insurance on the township bullgrader to cover collision, upset, theft, strikes, riots, vandalism and fire, at a premium of $41.84.

Warren Groskurth addressed Council regarding culverts and advised that the multi-plate arch ordered last year was being held. Council is to advise Mr. Groskurth at once if it can be used this year, and order any other culverts needed.

The Department of Highways confirmed road expenditures by letter, and also approval of purchase of the bullgrader.

A grant of $150 was made to the Agricultural Society. Reeve Cathcart reported on bond recommendations, and on motion the Reeve and Clerk were authorized to purchase a $200 bond to apply on the Bapiste Scholarship Trust.

The Weed Inspector informed Council that he would have the County Spraying Truck in Durham this summer. It was decided that one mile both sides, or two miles one side should be sprayed in each division.

The Acting Superintendent and the clerk were authorized to order six culverts.

The Reeve was authorized to sign cheques for the following orders:

Docon Telephone Ltd., rental, $3.83; A. V. Thorne, collector, postage, notices, $2.80; Aubrey Bland, shooting dog, $10; Provincial Treasurer, insulin, $65; Robert Wells, relief, $8; Millbrook Agricultural Society, grant, $150; L. W. Smith, Valuator, $8; Harry Jameison, valuator, $4; P. I. Bentley, salary and expenses, $53.50; Council fees, and committee, $38; H. Cathcart, road inspection and mileage, $19.70; R. Armstrong, road inspection and mileage, $16.20; D. Olan, road inspection and mileage, $16.20; R. Earle, road inspection and mileage, $19.70; L. Hootan, road inspection and mileage, $19.70; William Nill, valuating sheep, $4; Emery Smith, shooting two dogs, $20.00; R. Brackenridge, shooting dog, $10; John Smith, 4 sheep killed, and 2 injured, $130; M. Morrison, one sheep killed and one lamb killed, $20; treasurer's road account, P.R. and bills, $1,526.15.

On motion of Deputy-Reeve Armstrong, and Councillor Earle, it was decided, following complaints received last year of neglected cemetery at Springville, that notice will be given stating Council will make application to have the cemetery closed, and remains that can be found moved to some other place. This is one of the pioneer cemeteries in the township.

Grand Old Man of Marmora Tom Warren Now 80 Years

MARMORA, June 11—(ENS)—Oldest native son of Marmora, with a long record of years in the painting trade, Royal Thomas Warren, better known as Tom Warren, quietly celebrated his 80th birthday on Monday.

On Sunday, about 40 relatives and close friends, some from Madoc, Peterborough and Toronto joined those from the vicinity of Marmora to call at his home on Forsyth Street. They extended congratulations with Miss Grace Warren, daughter of Mr. Warren, acting as hostess for the occasion.

He is the son of a marriage which united two pioneer families of the district. His parents were Thomas Warren and Annie Jones. Of tall and sturdy build, he belies his age. Not only are his faculties remarkably keen, but his memory of Marmora's past history as he has known it, is outstanding.

He is a member of Marmora United Church and Marmora AF & AM 222 and the Canadian Order of Oddfellows with a long term of membership in each. Included in public offices which he has held in past years is that of councillor. His wife died several years ago.

He was born on the property north of where his home stands.

NEW YORK, June 11 (Special)—Out of an estate of $101,323.55 left by Margaret Cowan MacBain, a resident of Hillhead, Glasgow, Scotland, who died on Jan. 21, 1947, under her will, Mary Russell Wood of 387 Edison Ave., Peterborough, receives $8,060, it was reported here today in the Surrogate's Court through the filing of an inheritance tax appraisal of the descendant's property.

The National City Bank here are executors of the estate, much of which came to her from the estate left by her brother, Robert C. MacBain, who died on July 13, 1946.

According to the appraisal, Miss MacBain was a chartered physiotherapist, who was born on July 24, 1890, at Dunbarton, Scotland. Her brother left a net estate of $140,449.90, and out of this she received $62,417.87, $19,452.94 of which was situated in England.

Six-Horse Hitch

George Atkinson, who used to drive the six-horse team for Sawyer-Stoll Lumber of Kalar, did a fine job with a hitch of six Clydes that had never been in harness together before, at Millbrook horse show Thursday. Kelly and Bamforth stable of Peterborough was represented by four animals and Hugh McFee, Otonabee, by two. Mr. Atkinson appears to be an expert reinsman. This feature was included in the heavy harness horse section, just as a matter of course, as if those Millbrook directors expected anything up to half a dozen of those six-horse teams. The improvised six was smoothly handled, as if they had long been pulling together.

CGE-Union Spat In Arbitration

An Arbitration Board, with Judge J. A. Cochrane, Brampton, as chairman, will commence hearings here on Monday into a dispute between workers in the Induction Motors Department, CGE, and management. Union officials (UE-CIO) claim that the contentious issue is a reduction in piece-work rates for girls in the department.

Company representative on the Arbitration Board is Mr. Lott, Steel Company of Canada, and the union appointee is Drummond Wren, Toronto, director of the Workers' Educational Association.

The union quotes management as justifying this cut because of "several changes in method and design" during the period 1943-47. And they say that according to the company's own figures a worker may work harder than previously and still get less than she would have done at the old rate.

Tourist Booth Opens June 15

Peterborough Jaycees are busy getting their tourist bureau premises into shape for the scheduled June 15 opening. The one-room bureau situated on the east side of Highway 28, near the junction with Highway 7A has been on the site since May 29.

This evening about a dozen Jaycees are donning old clothes prepared to do a "good night's work leveling off the property. Already about 26 loads of fill have been used to dump into a large gully near the roadway, and work has been helped along by the use of a bulldozer.

The next stage is a gravel top so that motorists driving in to make inquiries can ride on a good surface. It is not yet known how many tons will be required to complete the job.

An eye-catching sign made of split logs has been made with a long arrow at the roadside pointing the way into the bureau. Spruce trees will be planted along the edge of the driveway to lend an attractive touch to the location.

Horse Will Be King As Kinsmen Show Starts With Grandstand Parade Tonight

Nearly one hundred tons of horseflesh will prance before the grandstand in Exhibition Park tonight as the second annual Kinsmen Horse Show gets underway. A record crowd of visitors is expected to the two-day affair, which is attracting attention of exhibitors and horse fanciers all over the province.

One of the features of the parade before the official opening, will be little Miss Mary May, five-year-old equestrian of Otonabee, who captured the hearts of the thousands at the Royal Winter Fair. She will be riding her Shetland Pony with all the skill of her young years.

The parade will include the first public showing of all the noted animals in the show—the famed Percherons, the Canadian Army Jumping team, other jump entries, fine examples of all classes of horses. The parade is scheduled to get underway at 7 p.m. More than 75 members of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club are actively engaged in directing dif-

LANDS LARGE PICKEREL

One of the chief delights of George Tranter, Paudash Lake, is to fish from his own dock. And to show that he has good reason for enjoying this hobby he recently hooked an 8½-pound pickerel.

THAT'S DANGEROUS

Some Peterborough drivers take short cuts whenever they can. Last night, during the rush hour, one cut across a garage driveway to miss the red light at the corner of Aymer and Charlotte streets. In doing so, he narrowly missed a pedestrian walking west on the sidewalk.

FIRE DAMAGES CAR

Shortly before 8 p.m. on Thursday firemen were summoned to a fire at Charlotte and George Sts. The car belonging to P. Collins, 467 Rutledge St., had a short circuit and smoke began to billow from the engine. The fire was speedily extinguished. Slight damage was caused to the motor.

FISH AT HOME!

Practically at the back door of his home here, George Lucy dropped a 17½-inch pickerel which caught a fish for supper. He got a strike at once on the hook baited with a June bug and a worm and within minutes landed a 17½-inch pickerel which weighed five pounds three ounces.

AFFECTS TEMPERATURES

Smoke from the northern forest fires is playing a part in keeping day temperatures down in Toronto and night temperatures up, an official of the weather bureau said today. Smoke, which has piled up near the 10,000-foot level in sections of the fires, acts as an insulating blanket, similar to a cloud curtain.

GOOD RESPONSE

Inspector K. S. Wightman, Board of Education, reports that there has been an excellent response to the request for parents to have their pre-school children medically examined. "Sometimes there have been so many mothers that it has been impossible to get through the line-up before lunch, and they have had to come back later."

K. S. Wightman In Charge School System

Keith S. Wightman, B.Paed., Inspector of Public Schools in Peterborough since 1937, was Thursday night appointed Superintendent of Schools in Peterborough by the Board of Education. Marking one of the most radical changes in Peterborough's educational system Mr. Wightman will be responsible to the Board for the operation of both the elementary and secondary schools, the maintenance department, medical, dental and caretaking services and the trust officer.

The appointment of Mr. Wightman has received the complete approval of the Department of Education and Vocational Committee, W. B. Gordon chairman of the committee on appointments told the Board in introducing the report recommending Mr. Wightman for the post.

Chairman's Statement

"The Peterborough school system has been growing of late years and will in all likelihood become still larger," D. V. Canning, chairman of the Board, said. "We feel therefore, that the time has arrived to make one official responsible for the operation of our schools. Thus all but one branch of our system will be brought under one responsible head. These branches include in addition to the educational system itself, our maintenance department, caretaking, medical and dental services and trust officer. For all these activities the superintendent will be directly responsible to the Board of Education. The exception to this will be the Secretary-Treasurer's office, which will, as formerly report directly to the board."

"We believe this to be the logical development of a growing system. It will bring primary and secondary education into closer correlation and will promote greater efficiency in the handling of all our activities as well as in the most important one—the education of the students."

"Mr. Wightman, who has been appointed Superintendent, has shown by long and successful experience as Inspector of Public Schools that he is quite capable of assuming these much broader responsibilities."

"The Board expects the active cooperation of all its employees with our Superintendent under the new organization," Mr. Canning concluded.

Years of Good Work

Mr. Wightman's appointment comes as a most fitting climax to years of working to better the education system in Peterborough. Many of the changes which he has introduced in the schools here have later been followed by other schools in the province. Born at Point Edward, near Sarnia, Mr. Wightman attended the Sarnia Collegiate Institute and the London Normal School. He

Amalgamating Services Under City Health Board Delayed For More Study

Whether the Board of Education will amalgamate its health services with those of the local Board of Health is still a matter of conjecture after Thursday night's meeting of the Board of Education. While the Board had previously agreed in principle to this move it was apparently playing cautious before it committed itself any further.

On May 10, E. A. Outram, secretary of the Board of Health, wrote a letter to the School Board urging that they "take the necessary steps to complete the agreement on the terms agreed upon for amalgamating its health services with those of this Board." Mr. Outram asked for a speedy decision, pointing out that "the end of this school term is quickly approaching, and this Board will be very disappointed if the amalgamation is not completed so that the amalgamated services may be in operation at least by September of this year."

In a guarded resolution by Board of Education members G. W. Crow and W. B. Gordon it was stated that Mr. Outram should be informed by letter that "as the agreement has not been studied or approved by other municipal bodies we do not feel able at the present time to sign it."

It was also part of the resolution that copies of the present agreement be forwarded to the City Council and the Board of Health. And at the same time it was suggested that it be ascertained what progress had been made in negotiating with the Separate Schools Board. The resolution passed without dissent.

Payment of accounts amounting to $10,954.57 and $49,658.18 were approved after their submission by the Finance Committee. To cover the cost of running Groves School, January 1 to April 30 the itemized account of $4,221.71 was passed. This was to reimburse North Monaghan Township for the upkeep of Area School No. 1 after it had been annexed by the City.

then taught for four years after which he returned to school and the College of Education. Further teaching experience in Sarnia and Windsor brought him the principalship of the Cookstown Continuation School. In 1917 he came to Peterborough as principal of the old South Central School being one of the last principals to be appointed to the Peterborough staff from other than the ranks of local teachers.

In 1921 the Prince of Wales School was opened. Mr. Wightman went there as the first principal where he remained for two years. On the appointment of Mr. R. F. Downey as county inspector he succeeded him as principal of Central School which was then a Normal training school. In 1921 Mr. Wightman secured his B.A. from Queen's University and in 1927 his B.Paed. degree from the University of Toronto and a year later his inspector's certificate.

On the retirement of Mr. Alexander Mowat as city public school inspector in 1937, Mr. Wightman succeeded him. Mr. Wightman in accepting the appointment thanked the Board for its confidence and intimated that action speaks louder than words and he preferred to leave it to action to do the talking.

Boy Injured When Bike Struck By Car

A 16-year-old boy was injured when his bicycle and a car driven by Gerald Courneya, 63 Olive Ave. met in collision at the intersection of Water and McDonnell streets. Robert Gilmour, 475 Park St., was taken to hospital following the accident with a cut on his right arm.

Gilmour was going north on Water street, and making a left turn into McDonnell when Courneya, travelling south on Water, met in collision with him.

The bicycle was a total wreck, but only the right headlight lens of the car was broken. Police Constable C. J. McGillen investigated.

Branch Being Formed

A Peterborough branch of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews will be set up in September it was decided on Wednesday night at a meeting of civic leaders and interested persons.

Richard Jones, national secretary of the Council, addressed the dinner gathering. All present pledge support to the work of promoting justice, amity, co-operation and general understanding among Protestant, Catholic and Jewish sections of the community.

The next meeting was called for early in September when a Peterborough committee will be formed.

Chairman of the meeting was Edward G. Pridham, Kiwanis president.

Past Elections In Saskatchewan Have Generally Been Decisive

REGINA, June 11 — (CP) — When Saskatchewan voters make up their minds, they usually think pretty much alike.

A survey of past elections shows the winning party has been given a more-than-substantial majority in every provincial election but one. And frequently the Opposition party has won less than 15 per cent. of the seats in the Assembly.

The June 24 provincial election will decide the ninth administration to govern since Saskatchewan became a province in 1905. Liberals have formed six of them.

The first Liberal defeat came on a no-confidence vote in 1929 which led to the resignation of Premier James G. Gardiner, now Federal Minister of Agriculture. He was succeeded by the late Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, who headed a coalition of Conservatives, Progressives and Independents.

But in the 1934 provincial election the Anderson government failed to return a single candidate. There have been no Conservative members of the Legislature since then.

The second Liberal defeat was in 1944 when the present CCF government captured 47 of the 52 seats.

Mr. Gardiner's Liberals were the largest single group—28—in the Legislature in 1929. But the 24 Conservatives, five Progressives and six Independents defeated the government at the opening of the next session.

CCF First Bid
The CCF made its first bid for power in the 1934 election which saw Mr. Gardiner returned with 50 seats. The Farmer-Labor group—later to become the CCF—won five.

This was increased to 11 CCF seats in the 1938 election when the Liberals won 37 and again formed the government.

Mr. Gardiner was appointed to the Federal Cabinet in 1935 and was succeeded in the premiership by his Provincial Treasurer, W. J. Patterson, who was premier until his defeat in 1944. Mr. Patterson gave up the party leadership in 1946 but has continued as Liberal House leader.

Social Credit first appeared in Saskatchewan in the 1938 election when the party polled more than 60,000 votes and elected two members. But the sole Social Credit candidate in 1944 trailed badly in Moose Jaw.

The province's administrations and premiers:

Walter Scott, Liberal, Sept. 5, 1905, to Oct. 19, 1919; W. M. Martin, Liberal, Oct. 20, 1919, to April 5, 1922; C. A. Dunning, Liberal, April 5, 1922, to Feb. 26, 1926; James G. Gardiner, Liberal, Feb. 26, 1926, to Sept. 9, 1929; J. T. M. Anderson, Co-operative, Sept. 9, 1929, to July 19, 1934; J. G. Gardiner, Liberal, July 19, 1934, to Nov. 1, 1935; W. J. Patterson, Liberal, Nov. 1, 1935, to July 10, 1944; T. C. Douglas, CCF, July 10, 1944, to present.

Selwyn Ladies Plan Festival

SELWYN, June 11—(ENS)—The W.A. of the United church held their meeting for the first time in what will soon be the church hall, but for now is used as a kitchen adjoined to the church. Plans are underway for the change over as soon as the former Baptist church is in readiness for use.

The topic was read by Mrs. Elton Miles and the scripture by Mrs. Wilfrid Nichols. Mrs. Neil Blewett thanked the ladies for the flowers sent to her while in hospital, and a letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Evans Blewett for the expressions of sympathy she received at the time of her brother's death.

The business consisted mostly of plans for the coming strawberry festival. The ladies also planned to meet at the Baptist church for a day of cleaning before the decorators start their work. They also planned to buy more dishes for the new hall. The September meeting will be held in the hall.

Young's Point Win

Bethany School Wins Honors At Field Day

BETHANY, June 11—(ENS)—At the township school field day held in Janetville Friday, the Bethany school pupils and their teachers, Lawrence Millson and Miss Bernice White made a commendable showing. They won two silver cups, one for physical training awarded by the school board and also retaining the Cam-Sher Trophy, which they won last year, for the highest marks in the group events which included the ball games, tug of war, relay races and pass and squat races.

The Cam-Sher trophy is the award of Grant Campbell, Janetville and the late Peter M. Sherston, former principal of Bethany Continuation School, who died as the result of a tragic drowning accident on the last day of school, one year ago.

In the group events for which they received the award, Bethany girls played two softball games against the teams of Pontypool and Janetville and won both events. The boys' team was also successful in their two games with Pontypool and Janetville.

In the tug of war, the Bethany boys won against the teams from the two schools. The girls' team won the relay race and also the pass and squat ball.

The third silver cup for the most individual points according to entries was won by Bethel School, whose teacher is Mrs. Walter Rowan.

Elderly English People A Healthy Group—Survey

WOLVERHAMPTON, Staffordshire, England, June 11—(CP)—Britain's old folk are a lively lot—if those of Wolverhampton are any criterion. A recent survey was conducted by the Nuffield Foundation, a charitable trust. The inquiry reported birth-rate statistics indicate "every prospect of a progressive increase of numbers in the older age groups" thus entailing an "increasing burden" on care for old age.

The subjects of the report were 552 old-agers selected at random from Wolverhampton's 150,000 population. Each was asked to complete a questionnaire on health; movement ability; susceptibility to loneliness; extent of general dependence on others; difficulties in climbing stairs, queueing and moving amongst traffic in the dark.

Here are some conclusions: Only three per cent were under-nourished, mostly because of domestic difficulties.

In physique 6.3 per cent were "distinctly spare," 19.8 per cent were either plump or obese, while the rest were not remarkable in any way. Of the 92 classified as obese, women outnumbered men by 84 to 8. Obesity is no bar to long life, the report said, for 25 per cent of the women above 85 were undeniably fat.

Few Restricted

Three-quarters of the old folk under 75 and more than half of those between 75 and 85 are capable of unlimited movement outside their homes. Two and a half per cent of the total were confined to bed, 8.5 per cent restricted to the house, and 22.5 per cent had limited outside movement.

Deafness, affecting more men than women, is prevalent. Figures for women more than 80 reached the "staggeringly high level" of more than 60 per cent. Vertigo seems to be connected with a deterioration in hearing, "a coincidence worthy of further research."

Most people living at home are in full possession of their mental faculties. More than 80 per cent were fully normal. A further 11 per cent had only slight impairment and about 3 per cent were "eccentric."

Only 3.8 per cent showed signs of mental breakdown.

Police Seize 72 Beaver Pelts

NORTH BAY, June 11—(CP)—Seventy-two beaver pelts, part of a shipment of furs valued at close to $70,000 have been seized by fish and wildlife officials in North Bay. The beaver, apparently trapped illegally and without the official government seal, were confiscated by H. C. Haskins, acting fish and wildlife specialist, and overseer Leonard Cote, when they checked the huge fur shipment as it passed through North Bay.

Authorities said today that the shipment was made by S. O. Ticknor, Cochrane fur dealer, who was sending them to the Canadian Fur Auction Sales. He faces a minimum fine of $3,600 for handling the 72 illegal beaver pelts.

The fur seizure was the largest in the North Bay district this year.

Popular Youth Leaves To Join RCMP

He has been accepted on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police force and leaves Omemee Tuesday for Regina, Sask., where he will take a preparatory course.

He was active in Young People's work, sang in the choir, was pianist of the Sunday School, and also taught a boys class. Rev. V. E. R. Zuehl, on behalf of those present, voiced his appreciation of Harold's services and extended good wishes for success. A black leather suitcase was presented by Russel Weir.

Liberal Forces Majority At Lowest Ebb

OTTAWA, June 11—(CP)—Recent CCF by-election victories have cut the government's Commons majority to its lowest point since the 1945 general election.

Liberal forces now command 124 votes, compared to a combined Opposition total of 120. One of the 245 Commons seats was made vacant Tuesday by the resignation of Walter Tucker (L-Rosthern) Liberal Leader in Saskatchewan.

Party standings, with general election totals in brackets:

Liberal 124 (127); Progressive Conservative 66 (67); CCF 31 (28); Social Credit 13 (13); others 10 (10); vacant 1 (0).

The three CCF gains came in by-elections during the last 10 days. The Commons' third-ranking party grabbed Yale constituency from the Progressive Conservatives in a by-election May 31 and Ontario riding and Vancouver Centre from the Liberals Tuesday.

Two—possibly three—more by-elections are in the offing, raising the possibility of new Opposition advances which would chop the government majority to two.

One will be in Rosthern and one in Laval-Two Mountains, where Ligouri Lacombe, Independent, has accepted an appointment as magistrate. Mr. Lacombe's resignation takes effect July 15.

Justice Minister Ilsley, who represents Digby—Annapolis-Kings, will retire from the Cabinet at the end of June. He then will confer with Liberal Party officials in Nova Scotia to decide whether he will resign his seat.

Liberals Hold "Beef" Session

OTTAWA, June 11.—(CP).—Quebec Liberal members of the Commons held a party caucus Thursday and corridor reports on the meeting indicate that government policies came in for much criticism.

A Quebec Liberal said that a "certain number" of cabinet ministers and their "bureaucratic" advisers were held "directly responsible" for the loss of the three recent federal by-elections and for the "poor showing" of the Liberal party in the Ontario elections.

He said that ministers attending the caucus were told that the government's fiscal policies were to blame for the setbacks. They were urged to give assurances that those policies will be changed.

The member said that the "beef" session was called to discuss federal participation in the Quebec provincial election July 26. The cabinet ministers were told that the party can make little headway in that province if the federal government does not give assurances that the tax burden will be lightened.

The member said demands made at the caucus may have some effect on the government, because the party cannot afford dissatisfaction in the Commons where it has a majority of only four.

Judge Gets Poetic

CINCINNATI, June 11.—(AP).—A strip-tease artist swaying through her take-off routine isn't obscene—she's one of God's children, says Judge Stanley Struble. In a long and almost poetic ruling, he declared unconstitutional Thursday an Ohio statute dealing with obscene literature and acquitted Oscar Lerner, news dealer, who was charged with possessing and selling obscene literature. Of a strip-tease series in a magazine, he commented:

"These front views, as well as the other views, are of God's own children as He made them in His own image. There can be no obscenity in God's own handiwork...."

"Sure, normal sex ideas are all right. All mankind have sex ideas. Nature is aflame with sex ideas—the hoot of the owl, the coo of the dove, the blossoms of the flowers, plants and trees, the spawning of fish."

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—(AP).—When an errant motorist bowled over four motorcycle policemen who had stopped to give truck driver Jack Levine a ticket for speeding, Levine knew what to do.

He gave the officers a quick lift and overtook the other driver. Eugene E. Dunlap, 46, was booked on a felony hit-run charge.

The officer, none seriously hurt, picked up their mangled bicycles and thanked Levine for his assistance.

But they didn't tear up his ticket.

Gromyko Talks 90 Minutes Without Avail

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 11.—(CP).—The United Nations Security Council Thursday coolly and silently passed over a Russian offer to send military observers into Palestine.

Though Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet representative on the 11-member Council, took up most of the 90-minute meeting with speeches reiterating the Soviet request of last week, the Council adjourned without taking action until next Tuesday.

At that time, however, Gromyko indicated he will make a formal proposal and force the Council to vote on the question.

Certain quarters felt that members of the Truce Commission military staff, now on their way, will all be in Palestine by early next week and the Russian proposal will be defeated on the stand that Count Folke Bernadotte's staff will be adequate at that time.

Under a Council resolution which led to the Friday ceasefire for Palestine, Bernadotte, U.N. mediator, and the Truce Commission comprising the United States, France and Belgium, asked for 63 military observers and six patrol vessels to watch over conditions of the armistice. The countries asked were the members of the Commission.

Gromyko, supported by Vassily Tarasenko of the Ukraine, said Tuesday that the Truce Commission had no authority to limit the military observers to the three countries.

The assertion was disputed by Canada and the United States. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada said there could be no question of the right of any country to participate in the work of the Truce Commission. This right had been questioned by Tarasenko.

"It follows logically that the members of the Truce Commission are under obligation to provide the assistance and the facilities which are needed for this task," Gen. McNaughton said.

He added that the resolution of May 29 outlining the truce proposal had been "properly, correctly and wisely interpreted by the mediator."

Hearst Gets Paper From Great Britain

LONDON, June 11.—(CP).—The London Daily Graphic says today that Bowater's, a British paper-manufacturing company, has entered into a contract with Hearst newspapers to manufacture 20,000 tons of newsprint in Britain for export from pulpwood and sulphite bought from Canada and Newfoundland.

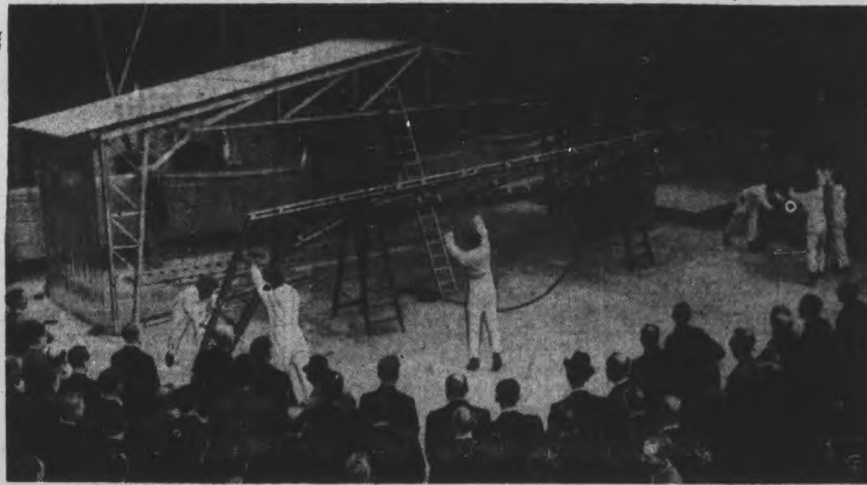

The paper says the deal was made possible by "Hearst buying pulpwood from Newfoundland and sulphite from Canada and shipping it to England to be converted into newsprint."

It adds that the total cost is being paid by the Hearst newspapers and means the British government will benefit to the extent of £2,500,000 in badly needed United States funds.

Tuition Fees Up

KINGSTON, June 11.—(CP).—Dr. R. C. Wallace, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, has announced tuition fees in all university faculties will be increased in September.

He contended present fees were low and the move put them "on a more comparable basis to those charged elsewhere." He said provision would be made where possible to assist deserving students to complete their education.

Average Wage 1.05 Cts. An Hour Witness Reports

OTTAWA, June 11.—(CP).—The Prices committee's report to Parliament will be among subjects considered at a closed executive session this week-end, committee members indicated Thursday night.

The closed session was called at the conclusion of Thursday's public hearings but chairman Paul Martin said it had not been decided whether the meeting would take place today or on Monday.

Sources close to Mr. Martin have indicated that he does not consider that its work is finished and would be pleased to see its life extended beyond the present session of Parliament, scheduled to prorogue about June 30.

Thursday an industrial witness, President Shirley Dixon of Courtaulds (Canada) Ltd., said that an increase in the price of artificial silk products was likely but admitted that he would like to see the committee conclude its hearings before the increase was imposed.

Mr. Martin had drawn attention to the firm's 1947 net profit of $1,404,000, the largest in the last 12 years, and told Mr. Dixon he thought he would have to consider carefully before increasing prices further.

He explained, in connection with the price increase he predicted, that the firm is faced with a request for a straight 20-cent-an-hour wage increase.

The firm's average wage of $1.05 an hour is the highest in Civil Servants Given Screening

OTTAWA, June 11.—(CP).—State Secretary Gibson Thursday night told the Commons a questionnaire delving into the background of certain civil servants did not originate with the Civil Service Commission.

The questionnaire which Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) said had angered the civil servants, was circulated only among employees of the External Affairs and Defence Departments, Mr. Gibson said.

Mr. Knowles said the serious part of the questionnaire was that it required civil servants to list the clubs or associations of which they were or had been members. He asked if disciplinary action would be taken against employees who failed to fill in the forms.

"I cannot say," said Mr. Gibson.

When asked if it was possible that the departments concerned could dispense with the services of an employee for failure to fill in the questionnaire, Mr. Gibson said the commission would probably re-assign the civil servant to some other department.

the industry, Mr. Dixon said.

He explained that expenses through obsolescence is not deductible from income tax. The firm, he continued, needs to spend $10,000,000 on new equipment but is not in a position to do it.

Mr. Martin pointed out that the firm has earned 10 per cent on its capital in only one year since 1936.

"And we haven't kept modern," Mr. Dixon said.

Reports Presented At Annual Cobourg Presbyterian Meet

ROSENEATH, June 11—(ENS)—The annual meeting of the western section of Cobourg Presbyterian was held on Tuesday in Garden Hill United Church with morning and afternoon sessions.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. S. J. Gray of Garden Hill and responded to by Mrs. J. G. Findlay of Wicklow.

Mrs. E. Morton of Cobourg, vice-president, presided. Highlight of the meeting was a report by Mrs. R. C. White of Roseneath Presbyterian secretary of Christian stewardship and finance. It showed that during the first quarter the givings for the whole Presbyterian were $2,070, an increase of $570 over the same period, that financial success is not the most important factor of stewardship.

"We need to take stock of ourselves occasionally to discover whether or not we have lost our sense of values. Christian stewards are people who pass on the contagion of all these qualities of life which Jesus loved, love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self control," the report said.

Committees appointed included: Press, Mrs. A. Nill; courtesy, Mrs. F. Earle and Mrs. Osborne.

Mrs. F. Lewis, Roseneath, Presbyterian mission circle secretary, reported two circles, Cobourg and Brighton in the Presbyterian with a membership of 41 and givings of $97.50.

Mrs. Bennet of Canton, mission band secretary for the Presbyterian in her report stressed the great need for leaders.

Guest speaker was Miss Elizabeth McLeod, Central India. Miss McLeod gave her audience an insight into her work of evangelism and social service and referred to the late Mohandas Gandhi with respect and admiration. She showed many curios from India, including costumes, jewelry, velvet embroidered shoes, and a sling shot, saying of the latter it was supposed to be the same type as used by David to kill Goliath.

Congress Cuts In Marshall Plan Arouse Resentment Of Statesmen

By CLYDE BLACKBURN.

WASHINGTON, June 11 (CP)—A terrific, non-partisan blast of criticism hit the House of Representatives when that body adopted its Appropriations Committee recommendation to cut the foreign aid plan designed to save Europe from Communism.

Senators with broad vision and international minds, such as Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, cried out in hurt resentment at this evidence of national disunity.

One obvious reason for this action is that many Congressmen fear economic breakdown at home more than they fear the spread of Communism abroad.

Another factor was the parade of conflicting reports laid before the committee on the need and sources of supply, and on reports of waste and futility in previous expenditures on foreign aid.

Representative H. Carl Anderson (Rep.-Mich.) successfully moved to have the item for farm machinery cut from $81,500,000 to $50,000,000. He said he had just obtained a farm tractor after five years' trying. There are 6,000,000 farms in the United States and tractors available for only one in 10.

Representative George C. Sandowski (Dem.-Mich.) said last winter Michigan industries lost $150,000,000 because of shut-downs caused by fuel oil and gas shortages. This winter they face a coal shortage. The European aid plan called for shipping US coal to Europe at a cost of $21 a ton, while it could be mined in Europe for $10 a ton.

Then there was bitter resentment against the United Kingdom—one of the most important beneficiaries of the plan—because of her Palestine policy.

Representative Emanuel Celler (Dem.-N.Y.) moved unsuccessfully to have the United Kingdom allotment wiped out because of alleged British aid to the Arabs in their fight against the Jews.

Defence of Britain came from an unexpected source—Representative John Rankin (Dem.-Miss.) who, naming Celler and several others who spoke as he did of British Palestine policy, said:

"Great Britain was the only country in which your people (Jewish) could lay their heads in peace for hundreds of years."

NB Ballotting System Weird Multi-Choice Method

FREDERICTON, June 11 (CP)—The system of ballotting to be used in the June 28 New Brunswick general election is believed unique in Canada.

Each party prints ballots containing only the names of its own candidates; or a voter can use a blank piece of paper supplied by the returning officer.

When a voter enters the polling place he is handed one party-printed ballot by each party contesting the seat. He is also given an initialed envelope by the returning officer.

The voter enters the booth, marks the ballot of the party he wishes to support by placing the usual "X" after each of the party's candidates in the riding, and places it in the envelope. He does not seal the envelope.

The returning officer examines the envelope to make sure it is the one furnished by him. Then, in the presence of the voter, he drops it into the ballot box.

Platinum Mink And Bing Sights at Belmont

NEW YORK—Right next to the lady in the platinum mink coat—that fellow there in the apricot skirt with the red and blue tie, looking at the horse—that's Bing Crosby.

The mink coat next to him, on Mrs. Elizabeth Altemus Whitney, was probably the fanciest one in the Turf and Field Club boxes as the Belmont race track opened its season. She didn't gild it. It did not even rate a hat, and the dress underneath was simple, black crepe.

Suits with fur or fur jackets, ruffled and jacketed dresses were the order of the gray day. Hats were small and simple. A baker's dozen of military models stood out, like frosting on the cake, in wide-brimmed, flower-decked garden party hats.

Elizabeth Arden, waiting for her own triple entry in the sixth, wore a snugly buttoned, flared-skirted black coat over an accordion-pleated skirt. The coat's matching scarf was lined in royal blue. Her hat was an untrimmed, off-the-face pancake in navy blue straw.

Foulard printed silks and small navy and white prints and polka dots vied with femininely tailored suits in black, gray and navy for fashion prominence. Simple, dark straw hats were frequently trimmed with prints to match the dress or suit. One perky little daisy in blue and white polka dotted silk accented a plain navy wool suit.

Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt wore a royal on black foulard silk print tunic, snug to the waist and full below, over a slim black skirt.

Mrs. Allen Lehman looked sister to the Duchess of Windsor in a softly rounded beige wool suit with a lingerie ruffle at the throat and a bonnet-curved plateau hat in honey straw faced with creamy chiffon and spiked with cream colored wings.

Mrs. Warren Pershing Jr., wore one of the many redingotes. Hers was a fully opened black coat over a pencil striped black and white dress. Her hat was an open crown with straw circle edged in black velvet and sprinkled with white lilac.

Milliner Sally Victor wore a red coat and a simple, gray hat to match her suit.

Mrs. Edward P. Hutton's hat was one of the tiniest—an almost doll-sized roller on the top of her head in bluish pink straw.

France Restores Buildings Damaged During War

PARIS, June 11 (Reuters).—Tourists visiting France will find 775 ancient churches, chateaux and other historical buildings restored after suffering heavy damage.

Work is still going on some 1,000 other old buildings that were damaged. In some cases, it is likely to continue for many years.

France's historical monuments suffered many casualties during the war. When hostilities ended, the department of the Ministry of national education whose duty it is to see to the preservation and upkeep of these relics of the past found itself with 992 monuments severely damaged and 897 lesser casualties, all needing immediate attention.

Many Destroyed

No fewer than 342 historical monuments were destroyed beyond hope of restoration. In all, 1,775 repair yards were set up in the neighborhood of the damaged buildings. Today, 616 have been closed, their work ended, and another 159 will be closed in a few months. But another 1,000 have to carry on for a long time. The cathedrals of Rouen, Nevers, Nantes, and Strasbourg will keep restorers busy for a long time, as will ancient houses at St. Malo and churches at Caen and Abberville.

At Rouen, damage was particularly heavy and it will be possible to restore only the facade of the ancient Palais de Justice. After the preliminary first aid in the shape of shoring up by means of beams, often at great danger, more than a year was required to get together the specialist foremen and workers to begin actual repair and restoration work. To day, lack of specialized labor is still causing delay.

Hidden Steel, Cement

Where the repairs are out of sight, cement and steel are used. Thus, at the castle of Chateaudun, Eure-et-Loire department, in west central France, the old wooden rafters have been hollowed out and steel rods inserted to strengthen them.

When restoration of visible parts is made, the original stones found among the ruins are used, carved ornaments often put back into place and where original material is insufficient, search is made in ancient documents or other evidence collected to discover which quarries were used by the first builders.

BLACK MAGIC—Light as a breeze, this one-piece bathing suit of black nylon taffeta, will be a favorite on Canadian beaches this summer.

to match the gloves she wore with her gray suit.

St. James' WMS Hears Reports

Miss M. Bowers, Walkerfield Avenue, was hostess to members and several visitors of St. James' United Church Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. E. Johnston presided.

Mrs. George Rowe acted as secretary for the meeting.

The offering was taken and dedicated by Mrs. R. B. English. The Bible Society canvass being conducted by this Auxiliary is almost completed, it was reported.

Reports show that the secretaries of departments have been keeping up with their duties. Mrs. George Rowe reported for community friendship and said 10 calls had been made in homes, and 10 calls upon members ill in hospital.

Notes on the current temperance situation were presented by Mrs. W. K. Sloane. Mrs. F. W. Craik stressed systematic giving as the only ideal way of carrying on the missionary work of the WMS.

Study program on the work of student missionaries was presented by Mrs. Johnston, who emphasized the great need for leadership in student fields and vacation schools. "Importance of youth work and the need for such schools should be chief points of consideration for everyone having this responsibility at heart," she said.

Mrs. E. M. Davis led the worship service, in which Miss M. Morton read Scripture, and Mrs. Craik offered prayer. Mrs. E. Kent led the meditation.

Mrs. Wesley Rose closed the meeting with prayer.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Miss Bowers, to whom a vote of thanks was tendered by Mrs. Peet.

A new member, Mrs. Wm. Atkinson, was welcomed by the society. Mrs. N. F. Doig, pianist, led the singing.

DOROTHY DIX

Middle-Aged Benedict Told To Not Foresake Good Wife

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a married man and have a good wife who loves me and does everything in her power to please me. I have worked hard and saved my money so that we might be happy in our old age. But six months ago I met and fell desperately in love with a young and beautiful girl and I am miserable and discontented.

Although this girl is thirty years younger than I am, she Dorothy Dix returns my love and wants me to break up my home and go away with her. Please advise me as to what I should do. I long to be happy, but I am perfectly wretched.

A MIDDLE-AGED MAN

ANSWER: It is your conscience that is troubling you, Mister. That is what is the matter with you.

1,000 Kisses

and not a single trace. That is the achievement of GUITARE Super-Indelible Lipstick 1948. Of an entirely new conception, it stays on for hours without retouching, without drying the lips. You can eat, drink, smoke, even kiss without leaving tell-tale traces. Created in Paris in 8 radiant, luminous, transparent shades, including one to make your lips soft, smooth and irresistibly seductive. Millions sold daily in France, England and 64 other countries. Sold in Canada for the first time. Try it now. $1.50. Maltby Bros. Ltd., 8, Bloor Ave., Toronto.

You know you are doing wrong in having this illicit love affair, and you go back to your duty and your good, faithful wife.

I have seen a lot of middle-aged men whose middle-aged wives ceased to thrill them, and who got bored and tired with domesticity, and who thought that it would make them young and gay and give them a new zest in life to swap off their faithful old wives and have a romantic adventure with some girl young enough to be their daughter.

Dull Future

I have seen plenty of these men divorce their wives, but I have never seen one of them get any happiness out of it. It didn't take them long to find out that no girl marries an old man for anything except his money.

It didn't take them long to find out that they had nothing on earth in common with these young wives who belonged to another generation, and looked at everything in life from a different angle than they did. It didn't take them long to get tired of running around and want to settle down, and then to find out that the young wife had no idea of being a fireside companion and that she proposed to step out and amuse herself. She didn't marry to be in old man's nurse.

And it didn't take long for them to find out that they had lost the respect of all of their friends and acquaintances, and that everybody was snickering at them behind their backs.

You can't be happy when you are doing wrong. You have to be at peace with your own soul. The one person whose approbation you must have is your own. So if you want to be happy, square yourself with your own conscience.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man 23 years old and we love each other dearly. But once before he was engaged to a girl and the engagement was broken off, and I find myself jealous of this girl, though my fiancé tells me that all of that is past and done with. Do you think that I should let things that happened before we met bother me?

MARGARET T.

ANSWER: For Heaven's sake, no. You certainly are a trouble hound if you lie awake at night worrying over a puppy love affair of your sweetheart's. Why, every man in the world has had one or two or a hundred of them, and if you expect to be any man's first love you will have to pick out a boy in rompers.

Don't worry about your fiancé's previous loves. The only thing that concerns you is being his last. As for a man's ability to forget an old love, that is the easiest thing he does.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: If you have loved and lost one who extremely dear to you, is it possible ever to love someone else in the same way?

WONDERING

ANSWER: I don't think we ever love any two people in exactly the same way, because we love one person for one quality and another person for another quality.

You may love one man because he is gentle and tender, and another because he is bold and domineering. You may love one man because you have to mother him and look out for him, and another because he protects you and takes care of you. And you can love one as much as the other.

Actress Avoids Women But Not Singly

VICTORIA, June 11 — (CP) — Cornelia Otis Skinner, actress, monologist and author, likes women—but not in large organized groups.

She disclosed in an interview here that she has inserted in her contract for the tour as a monologist a provision that she is not to be entertained by women's clubs.

"I'm not against women," she said, "but just their organizations. I find it difficult to meet them in large, organized groups and shake hands with hundreds of them at a time."

"It's awful. These organizations want to own you body and soul." She thinks women's clubs unhealthy and considers it bad not to have men present for social gatherings.

Miss Skinner is quite happy with one or two women friends but thinks they get aggressive in large groups. "They lose their femininity. What's the use of being a woman if you can't gain the benefits of being one?"

Nevertheless, she thinks it quite possible for a woman to have a career and still remain feminine. "Women should not

WHY NOT FOURTH-BEST?
WHENEVER your partner leads a card which is clearly his lowest, it will pay you to stop and reckon whether you consider it to be his fourth-best. If you decide it is lower than that, and that he had five or more in the suit, it is up to you to figure out, if you can, why he picked the fifth or sixth card of the suit. Isn't it pretty likely that he means to be talking about some other suit and is giving you a suit-preference signal saying he wants you to lead the lower of a couple of other suits when you get the chance, instead of the higher-ranking?

South took the opening with the heart K so he could at once begin to set up clubs. He put the Q through to the K, and East now made the one fine play of the hand: He returned the diamond 3. South put on the 10 and the A won it. Right there is where West played first and thought afterward. He led back the heart 10, to remove the dummy's A before trumps were cleared, a futile plan in any event, and South breezed home. After that he merely led spades until the A was used, so lost only three tricks.

After his haste with the heart return, it occurred to West that the diamond 3 led by his partner was the lowest East held, since West had the 2. Also that the 3 could not be the fourth-best, as East would not have overcalled with that suit in his ordinary hand while vulnerable. The low 3 therefore was a suit-preference, asking for a club return. If West had done that thinking soon enough, his club lead would have furnished the ruff that would have defeated the contract.

South could have made that contract by double-dummy play against any defense if, after winning the heart Q lead, he had offered trumps until they were clear and tried for the unlikely drop of a singleton club K. In fact, if either defender led a diamond at any time, he would lose only one trick; that suit and one in spades. As it developed, however, human beings were in all four positions at the table and they displayed natural human foibles.

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the factor that should resolve South's decision as to whether or not he should open the bidding on this deal?

Arrest Girl For Murder; Seek Another

Mentally Deranged Husband Wounds Wife

TORONTO, June 12 — (CP). — Yvonne Brouillette, 34, was arrested on a charge of murder early today, shortly after police found the body of John Frederick Farrell, 32, in his room in an east-central boarding house. He had been slain by axe blows about the head.

Police said the slaying followed an evening of drinking and came after Farrell allegedly beat the woman several times.

Detectives gave this version of the killing:

As the couple entered the boarding house, Farrell told his landlady, Nicholas Tennyson, that he was going to beat up Miss Brouillette. He carried out his threat until about 1:30 a.m., when Tennyson called police. When the officers appeared on the scene, however, all had quieted down and Farrell told police they had had an argument but it was all patched up.

After police left Farrell allegedly began to beat the woman again, accusing her of drinking up all his money. The woman left the room for a few minutes and returned carrying a small axe. She told police that Farrell tripped her and began swinging at her as she lay on the floor. Then detectives said, Miss Brouillette attacked Farrell with the axe, striking him about the head many times.

Police said Farrell was lying on

Force 2 Crews Off Lake Boats

CORNWALL, June 12 — (CP). — Trouble flared anew at the port today when 30 striking members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) boarded two vessels at Lock 20, three miles east of here and removed the crews.

The raids came early on the strike's eighth day and one crew member of the Sarnia Steamships Ltd. John A. France was forced to leave the vessel in his underwear. The other ship boarded was the Canada Steamship Lines Acadia.

Other companies involved in the strike caused when they refused to deal with the CSU on grounds it was Communist led are Colonial Steamships Ltd., North-West Steamships and Transit Tankers. Seamen from the two boarded vessels were taken to Cornwall by trucks engaged by the CSU.

Both vessels were anchored in the canal area but there were no police in the vicinity when the strikers boarded the John A. France. On hearing of the incident police rushed from Cornwall and while they escorted the ship through the canal, the strikers boarded the Acadia.

Plan To Scrap Atom Bombs Likely To Get Russian Veto

LAKE SUCCESS, June 12. (CP). — Russia's 26th veto in the 30-month history of the United Nations is expected next Wednesday when the Security Council meets again to discuss the problems of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Friday, the anticipated Russian attack on the United States proposal that atomic weapons be scrapped only after effective controls are developed for atom research and work, failed to materialize. Andrei Gromyko said his delegation was not prepared to debate the issue at the moment. But he gave warning that he will have plenty to say on Wednesday.

If Gromyko then does exercise his veto, the council majority has indicated it plans on introducing a substitute proposal.

Russia has battled against the American proposal which was first introduced by Bernard Baruch in 1946. But they were unable to take veto action on it since such action is not part of com-

Weary Flood Crews Need Help

Trail Flooded As Battle Enters 21st Day

VANCOUVER, June 12 — (CP). — Appeals for hundreds of men and thousands of sandbags today launched British Columbia into its 21st day of floods. In the flood-beset Fraser Valley bleary-eyed dike battalions continued to bolster ramparts, digging under relentless river pressure. The situation was somewhat static but the battle was unceasing. Trail, the industrial city in the Kootenays, loomed as the focal point of flood ravages. Dispatches said the fury of the flood-mad Columbia River intensified today as dikes crumbled in a new flood hysteria.

Don't Neglect Rotation Christie Warns Farmers

"Burnt out soil" can be the wages of greater farm production, Dr. George I. Christie, former president of Ontario Agricultural College, told Holstein breeders of four counties, at a lawn picnic Friday at the home of Bruce McNevin, near Reabrook.

With the greater power of the tractor, a farmer in Elgin county can plant in corn 80 acres of a 120-acre farm as compared with the 40 acres in the days of the horse-drawn implements. The tendency was to make that fuller use of the new machinery, and thereby upset the old and sound policy of rotation. The result and the evidence of "burning out" the soil was a crop reduction and loss of 20 bushels to the acre. Power alone, said Dr. Christie, was not the answer to the farmer's problem.

World scarcity of food continues, and with a large volume of Canadian export of dairy products, bacon, beef and poultry which should be recognized in terms of expending millions of pounds of soil fertility. With that grain on the land, farmers are faced with the necessity of taking greater pains in its maintenance. "They have got to buy com-

Floods Threaten $43,000,000 Plant

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12. — (AP). — The raging Columbia River rose up today in renewed threat to three industrial areas in the Pacific northwest.

President Truman viewed the devastated American flood zone of Oregon and Washington Friday.

water from the Columbia lapped at a secondary dike protecting a $43,000,000 aluminum plant east of Portland in Oregon. Soggy levees remained critical along the 100-mile industrial and farming belt from Portland to the Pacific in Oregon and Washington.

United States Army engineers said Columbia dikes were in critical condition at Richland, near the huge Hanford atomic energy works in Washington. The plant itself was not in danger.

Reds Agree To Pass Rail Traffic

Allied Officials Surprised At Latest Move

BERLIN, June 12 — (AP). — Russian and British authorities have reached an agreement for the resumption of freight traffic between western Germany and Berlin, an official British source said today.

The Russians gave no reason for their unprecedented action, the Allied officials said.

The trains were stopped at the Helmsdorf - Marienborn control point on the border of the British and Russian occupation zones.

The Allied authorities said the Russians have refused since 7 p.m. Friday night (7 p.m. EDT) to accept any more Berlin-bound traffic for transit through their zone.

This embargo shuts off all food and coal shipments from the western zones for the 2,000,000 inhabitants of Berlin's western occupation sectors. It also cuts off Ruhr coal pooled for city-wide distribution.

Earlier, United States army officials said they have posted guards on American-operated railroad switch engines in Berlin to keep the Russians from taking them.

This week has witnessed an increasing controversy over travel between the Russian and British-American occupation zones.

The Russians today continued to turn back hundreds of German trucks traveling for their zone from western Germany on the grounds that new inter-zonal travel documents were required.

United States authorities said the American zone might be "stuck with" thousands of Germans who had come in illegally from the Russian zone.

The Russian-controlled German news agency claimed Friday night the directors of the railroad system complained they needed locomotives and United States control of them was intolerable.

Willard denied the allegation. He said only three switch engines were involved and only about 10 soldiers were used to guard them after they had an "intimation" the locomotives were to be taken.

BULLETIN

PARIS — Premier Robert Schuman's government today may ask for a formal note of confidence in its foreign policy, criticized by both Communists and De Gaulists. Informed sources so indicated as the national assembly prepared to resume debate this afternoon on whether to approve a six-power agreement on western Germany.

Telephone Cable Cut

A TRUCK owned by the Hobbs Glass Co. crushed a power pole at 10:20 this morning at the northwest corner of the Armstrong storage building on Hunter street. The pole which is immediately east of the Examiner's parking lot carries all the telephone lines to the Examiner and also the line which connects the sprinkler system to the fire hall. The telephone cable was cut in two, putting radio station CHEX off the air. It also summoned the fire department to the Examiner, and completely disconnected all telephone service to this newspaper office.

The driver of the truck claimed he swerved south to miss a child on a bicycle, as he drove south on the lane to the company's warehouse.

Fear Reprisal Bombings Against Arabs

CAIRO, June 12 — (AP). — Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator for Palestine, left today en route to his new headquarters on the Greek island of Rhodes while Jews and Arabs traded charges of truce violations in the Holy Land.

He said charges were being investigated a high Jewish officer held out a veiled threat of reprisal bombings against Arab capitals as he accused the Arabs of breaking the truce.

He told reporters Swedish and American military observers had arrived in the Holy Land and gone to the scenes of reported truce infractions.

The truce, to last four weeks, began Friday morning. It was arranged to give Bernadotte a chance to negotiate for permanent peace in the Holy Land.

With Bernadotte on his flight was a group of UN men. Among them were Ralph Bunche, personal representative of Secretary-General Trygve Lie, and William Stoneman, on Lie's staff.

The chief of operations of the Jewish high command said in Tel Aviv Friday night Arabs had violated the truce on the northern, central and southern fronts. He warned that the Israeli army might strike back to regain any ground the Arabs took.

A similar threat was implied by the unified Arab high command Friday. An order sent out from Amman, Trans-Jordan, to Arab forces told them to cease fire "unless attacked."

Bernadotte leaves Cairo today en route to the island of Rhodes to transfer his headquarters there. On the way he is to visit Amman and Jerusalem.

(U.N. headquarters in Lake Success, N.Y., said Friday night he had cabled that the transfer would be made today.)

Tariff Battle Gets Underway

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP).

Senate Republicans and Democrats squared off today for a showdown fight on the tariff issue. At issue was the reciprocal trade program which is due to expire at midnight.

Democratic strategists privately conceded defeat in their efforts to meet the Truman administration's request for a three-year extension of the law "as is."

A Democratic leader who declined to be quoted by name said his side "lacks a few votes" needed to substitute a no-change amendment for a Republican-endorsed one year extension.

As the senate finance committee re-drafted the House of Representatives' approved bill, the President would have to notify Congress whenever he went beyond tariff commission recommendations in cutting import duties. He also would have to explain why.

This compromise, worked out by Senators Arthur Vandenberg (Rep. Mich.) and Eugene Millikin (Rep. Colo.), would replace a House provision by which Congress could veto any tariff changes in which the President did not follow the commission's recommendations.

Rain Forecast For Week-End In Some Areas

By The Canadian Press

Northern Ontario fire crews today prepared to spend another week-end on the fire lines, their third since the sun-dried bush in the Mississagi and Chapleau areas erupted in flames May 25. In those sections and in parts of Northwestern Ontario and Northern Quebec the fire-fighters still awaited rain to help them tame the runaway outbreaks. But little more than showers were in sight to check the roaring infernos which already have caused damage estimated at upwards of $34,000,000.

One bush fire-fighter was lost when a punt overturned in the Sankey area.

Great concern over the fate of Byron Rhude, formerly of Sudbury, is felt by officials of the Department of Lands and Forests, who announced Friday that he has been missing since last Sunday. Rhude was fighting a fire in Sandy township, 25 miles northwest of Chapleau, when he disappeared.

Don't Join U.S. Jaycees Advised

OWEN SOUND, June 12 — (CP). — Speaking to the Junior Chamber of Commerce here on Friday evening, Thomas Crawford Hill, Toledo newspaperman, warned Canadians against joining the United States.

"I think union is an excellent idea," he said. "But I am afraid the Canadian would get the worst of the deal. Canada is a country with a soul; the United States, I think, has lost its soul."

He likes to come to Canada, said Mr. Hill, because it reminds him of the America he found when he came from Ireland in 1907.

Then he found friendliness, kindness and little evidence of poverty in the United States. Canada is like that today, he said.

Retail Beef Prices Lag Behind Live Cattle Prices

MONTREAL, June 12. — (CP). — Increases in retail prices of first grade beef to consumers in the Montreal area have lagged far behind increases in live cattle prices, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

The greatest upswing in both came during the last two weeks because of seasonal shortages of livestock markets jumped from 53 cents a pound to 66 cents for best, boneless beef, an increase of five per cent.

These figures do not take into account the wholesale price of carcass beef which is generally about double that of live cattle price.

A peculiarity of the comparative prices showed that during May live cattle prices rose 12.5 per cent., while retail best-beef prices decreased more than five per cent.

Beef Prices Up 10 Cents Across Alberta

EDMONTON, June 12 — (CP). — Beef prices — up as much as 10 cents a pound in the last month — are slated to rise twice that during the next month. Alberta butchers predicted today.

Two reasons — seasonal shortages and reports that ranchers are holding stock back, hoping that the export embargo to the United States will be lifted — are given for the price increases.

Calgary has reported a 10-cent rise in the last two months with prospects of a 10 to 15-cent increase in the next month.

Edmonton's picture is the same. Retail prices have jumped from 10 to 12 cents in two months and butchers look for another 25-cent boost during June and July.

An indication of the producer returns was given on the Edmonton Livestock Exchange Wednesday when on-the-hoof beef sold for $22.50 a hundredweight, $2.00 more than the previous mark, set less than a month ago.

A Toronto newspaper said a survey of Toronto merchants revealed prices ranged between 74 and 85 cents a pound, 10 to 15 cents higher than two weeks ago.

The Evening Telegram said retail butchers were increasing prices on the strength of rumors that the federal government might end on Sunday the ban on exports of beef cattle to the United States.

Hamburg steak sold Friday at about 40 cents a pound; filet mignon at $1.40 — "when we have it."

A store which charged 37 cents a pound for short rib roast April 29, quoted 47 cents today; brisket for stewing had jumped from 29 to 37 cents; sirloin or wing steak, from 49 to 67 cents; round steak from 49 cents to between 63 and 72 cents.

FIRES UNDER CONTROL

BOURN, Que. — All but one of the forest fires burning in this northwestern Quebec mining district were reported out Friday night, but foresters said new outbreaks threatened because of lack of rain.

In the last week of March live cattle, best quality, brought $16 a hundredweight on the Montreal markets. There followed two increases of $1 each until a $5 jump within the last two weeks.

Following table shows comparative prices for live cattle and retail prices, both for best quality with percentages of increases over the starting date bracketed:

Welfare Worker Denies Whitton Charges

EDMONTON, June 11 (CP).—Allegations that gloves, overcoats, hats and scarves were considered "luxuries" for Alberta Child Welfare Commission wards were discussed before a Royal Commission Thursday.

Hazel Mary Armstrong, provincial welfare inspector, said complaints the Welfare Department failed to provide adequate clothing for its charges "came as a complete surprise" to her. She was testifying during cross-examination by Crown Counsel Horace Johnson who had quoted excerpts from the Whitton report.

The Whitton report, published last July by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, made sweeping allegations of malpractices by the Welfare Department. Miss Armstrong told the Commission that during the war some articles were unavailable. She stated that her policy now was to take the wards on individual shopping trips, allowing them to select their own clothes.

She denied claims that the Welfare Department had a four-point policy of—give up the child, do not see it, do not nurse it, and surrender it by indenture.

She said the Department did not "high-pressure" unmarried men into giving up their babies as a condition to financial assistance. She said that a mother could keep her baby if she wished without jeopardizing her chance of financial assistance.

Harry J. Wilson, Alberta's Deputy Attorney-General, described the operation of Borsal institutions and said he considered them impractical for Alberta. They coped with approximately 60 boys a year while Alberta had only 15 boys yearly of the type handled by the Borsals. He added that he did not like "problem boy" institutions.

Jet Plane Crash Kills Pilot

OTTAWA, June 12 (CP).—The first Vampire aircraft crash here Friday brought death to a veteran pilot.

He was P.O. R. A. Hodgins of Ottawa, a 25-year-old member of the famed 443 Hornet Squadron. A hot man with a gun, the fighter pilot had knocked down three enemy aircraft and put out of action 16 enemy vehicles in the Second World War.

Some of his buddies on the ground watched the $75,000 Vampire tear through the fields and slide into a ditch, a mass of wreckage and flame.

Previous to its crash, the whirling flasher craft had circled the field twice. The pilot was putting it through its paces in preparation for air force day today.

In the first crash of its kind in Canada, the Vampire was just shaking its shoulders for a high-speed roll when it slipped into a spin and whined its way to the ground.

200 Lost On Ship

AALBORG, Denmark.—Some 200 persons are believed to have drowned in the sinking of the passenger steamer Kjobenhavn.

The 1,668-ton vessel hit a war mine and went down in 10 minutes early Friday in the Kattegat near the end of a trip from Copenhagen to this port 140 miles to the northwest.

Some of his buddies on the ground watched the $75,000 Vampire tear through the fields and slide into a ditch, a mass of wreckage and flame.

Previous to its crash, the whirling flasher craft had circled the field twice. The pilot was putting it through its paces in preparation for air force day today.

In the first crash of its kind in Canada, the Vampire was just shaking its shoulders for a high-speed roll when it slipped into a spin and whined its way to the ground.

The Lord hath rejected thee from being king over Israel.

As Samuel turned to go away, Saul grasped hold of his robe and it tore, and Samuel said, "The Lord hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it to a neighbor of thine, that is better than thou."

After that the kingdom of Israel was split and Saul reigned over only one part.

"And Samuel came no more to see Saul until the day of his death, nevertheless Samuel mourned for Saul."

Bike Collapses 2 Badly Hurt

BONARLAW, June 12 (ENS).—Edward (Ted) Colden, 16, of Rawdon Township is in Belleville Hospital with two broken arms and his sister Joyce, 9, with a fractured skull as the result of a fall from a bicycle while riding to school on Thursday morning.

Joyce was riding on the handle bars and her brother was pedalling the bicycle to take both of them to the school situated on the 8th concession of Rawdon. They started down a steep hill, which lies in front of the farm of Mowat Fine when the front forks broke, and they were thrown onto the road.

Dr. A. Carlton of Stirling was called and he gave them medical attention. Later they were both taken to the Belleville hospital, where the extent of their injuries became known. Edward suffered a double fracture of both arms, and after an X-ray on Friday it was learned that Joyce had a fractured skull.

They are son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Colden of Harold. Both are described as excellent pupils by their teacher, Miss June Walker of Marmora. As the two were well up in their school standing now are now unable to write their examinations it is believed they will be given credits on the basis of their year's work.

Quints Visit Ottawa Convent

OTTAWA, June 12 (CP).—Bubbling with enthusiasm, the Dionne quintuplets and 15 of their classmates arrived here early today by special train from Corbeil for a week-end visit.

Olivia Dionne, father of the Quints, and their sister Rose, 20, also accompanied the party which arrived at Union station in high good humor and was bustled off to the Jeanne D'Arc Convent in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district by Father Gustave Sauve of Ottawa University, an old friend of the family.

On their week-end program was a visit later today to the French embassy and a visit Monday to the apostolic delegate, Most Rev. Ildebrando Antonutti, and the parliament buildings. Sunday night they are scheduled to take part in a program of French and English songs at a local theatre in aid of needy children of Europe.

The Quints return to their home at Corbeil Monday night.

Old Veterans' Home Fund Not Supported

It was reported at a meeting of the Old Veterans' Home committee on Thursday evening at the Canadian Legion that a total of $700 has been received so far from the tag day in aid of the home. Returns from Millbrook, Lakefield and Havelock have still to be received.

The purpose of the home is to provide care for the many old veterans, who are now struggling to live on pensions of $30 a month, and less.

L. Morrow, chairman of the committee, said, "The public do not realize that there are veterans trying to exist on such small pensions. The present talk about increases in pensions has led people to believe that all men are now being given sufficient to live on. This is not true."

Mr. Morrow also pointed out that the Anson House and other homes throughout Ontario are full and have no accommodation for many of these veterans.

The main purpose of the meeting was to arrange for subscriptions to be free of income tax. Various programs for raising funds were also arranged.

Nancy Jean can't tell her friends about it, though. She hasn't learned to talk.

WHERE THREE ZONES MEET IN BERLIN—This is the strange scene in Potsdamer Square, Berlin, where all three zones, Russian, British and U.S., meet each other. A plebiscite for the unity of Germany has been under way since May 23rd and is about to end. Each sector carries a post concerning it. The Russian zone poster above says: "You are entering the Russian sector! Here exists democratic right of self-government. Here you can stand up for Germany's unity. Here you are not hindered in signing the lists of the plebiscite." The U.S. zone poster, not shown, says: "You are entering the U.S. sector! Here exists American democracy. One wants to forbid the plebiscite, however no power can hinder you from signing. Don't forget your democratic rights. Sign the lists." The British zone poster says: "You are entering the British sector. Here you are allowed to sign for the plebiscite. Decide as a German! Germany's unity is Germany's future, for it guarantees bread and peace for our people. Therefore sign the lists of the plebiscite for Germany's unity."

Annual Lilac Tea Held At Hastings

HASTINGS, June 12—(ENS).—The Lilac Tea sponsored by the W. A. of St. George's Church, now one of the annual events of the district, was held on Saturday.

The tea, convened by Mrs. C. Baker, was held in the Parish Hall, beautifully decorated with a profusion of lilac blossoms.

The table at which Mrs. C. R. Spencer and Mrs. C. Baker poured tea from silver services was gracefully decorated with a lace tablecloth and lilacs.

Doris Clark, Margaret Baker, Betty Dainard, Marian Grieves, Norma Stanley and Gertrude Ash, members of the Junior auxiliary, wearing dainty aprons of yellow and mauve crepe paper acted as waitresses.

Other attractions were the white elephant table in charge of Mrs. J. Dainard; a table of home cooking convened by Miss D. Plant and Mrs. Wm. McGrayne, and a table of junior cooking in charge of Edith Warrington, Clev. Dainard and Dorothy Fisher.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC

Saturday, June 19th, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Make a date to be at the main gatehouse on Park Street anytime on Saturday, June 19th, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. That's the starting point for the tour of Peterborough Works.

There are so many interesting things to see that we'll be surprised if you don't vote it one of the best ways of spending a couple of hours. You'll see a cross-section of the work that is helping to bring the benefits of "electrical living" to more and more of our fellow Canadians. You will learn at first hand why we are so proud of the plant, the products it makes, and the men and women who make them.

See the huge generators being built to produce electricity in hydro-electric stations. See the shops where all types of wire and cable are manufactured. Make a special point of seeing the 40-foot boring mill — one of the largest machine tools on the continent — an example of the big machine tools that are necessary to make big electrical equipment.

Mother, especially, will be interested in seeing how the famous G-E refrigerator is assembled.

All-in-all, we think we can promise you an interesting sight-seeing tour.

We hope as many as possible will come. You are all welcome.

Challenge And Response

Ours is an unquiet, fearful age of change. The future looks dangerous, though as Professor Whitehead has remarked, all centuries are dangerous and it is the business of the future to be dangerous. Today's instability and tomorrow's danger are our challenge.
What is our response?

Two wars, the new technology, the changing face of the globe—not merely change in political boundaries and social practice, but even physical change, for large dams and atomic explosions alter the very features of the earth—have confused and frightened us. The first reaction of frightened people anywhere at any time is to rely on physical force.
So we have today international power politics and armament races. Even many of the senior diplomatic positions are being filled by generals. That is a low level of response to the challenge of our time. History is replete with the records of the destruction of nations and empires which relied in times of crisis on force alone.

We have another type of response on this continent—what has been called the American philosophy of consumption. An automobile for every family, a chicken for every pot. We trust that somehow out of material prosperity will come happiness, peace on earth and goodwill among men.

In a penetrating essay which bears the title of this editorial and prefaces the report of the Rockefeller Foundation for 1947, Raymond B. Fosdick, the President of the Foundation, writes about the uncritical identification of consumption with social value:

Although our religion and ethics have long tried to enlighten us, many of us are still only dimly aware that purchasing power is not the measure of a great society, and that wisdom and cultural values are not the inevitable consequences of an increased capacity to consume.

It is, of course, obvious that a solid material foundation is an essential basis for a high civilization; but it is a basis, not a superstructure. Our tendency is to confuse one with the other, to mistake the foundations for the towers and turrets of the new city.

Allied with our materialism is a response based on a special form of it, on the doctrine that civilization can be bred to greatness and splendour by science. So not only because we are fearful but because science has become a faith, we devote millions to atomic research and reduce universities to schools of technology. Mr. Fosdick's wise, lucid comment is:

We cannot escape the obligation, in this scientific age, to comprehend science; but in the supreme question which faces our generation, physics and chemistry and engineering have no answers for us. They are ethically neutral. They are preoccupled with physical matter. They can give us more horsepower; only the naive, however, will claim that horsepower can develop within itself the means by which our runaway technologies can be brought under control.

A European delegate to the U.N. Assembly remarked: "God knows we need food and coal to survive, but unless America can take the lead in providing a vital faith, in giving us a song that mankind can sing, all her exports will merely postpone the day of reckoning, and the world will die anyway". The adequate response to the challenge of our time is not a scientific or material one—it is ethical and social. Peace and successful government depend on social and moral wisdom; individual happiness on one's relationship with humanity and divinity. It is enlightened humanism, not dazzling science which will be the world's salvation.

It is not our courage to meet the challenge of our great times which is most in question; it is the way we meet it. According to Toynbee's analysis of history, it is the character of our response which determines the chances of survival.

What Is A "Sexual Psychopath"?

Amendments have been proposed to the Canadian Criminal Code which will provide a minimum sentence of two years for persons convicted of specific sexual crimes whether heterosexual or homosexual. It is proposed also that judges in such cases may call in evidence at least two psychiatrists, and if these expert witnesses testify that the person charged is "a sexual psychopath" an indeterminate sentence may be added, to last until the convicted person is considered fit to mix in society without being a danger to it. It is an excellent thing that the law is taking steps to remedy a weakness in its present machinery for dealing with sex criminals, but we feel that the expression
"a sexual psychopath" needs clearer definition than it has yet received.

A superficial definition is easy enough.
A sexual psychopath is a person whose sexual drive is abnormal and sufficiently strong to impel him to commit violent acts to gratify it. But a definition of this kind is not good enough for a psychiatrist, nor would it hold water in court. In the realm of psychology—and particularly in abnormal psychology —hard and fast definitions are exceedingly hard to make; the man who is abnormal enough to commit a sexual assault upon a child may not reveal enough abnormality under psychiatric examination to warrant his definition as a sexual psychopath, or indeed as a psychopath of any sort. But the fact exists—he committed the assault. The gradations between acceptable conduct and abnormality are so many and so minute that psychiatric certainty in such matters is extremely difficult to attain.

We hope that the amendments to the Criminal Code will receive the serious attention which they deserve. "Canada has, during the past decade, lost much of the prudence which once made the enlightened treatment of sex criminals impossible. Only by recognizing evils, examining them closely, and by seeking the best possible solution, can we bring about any sort of social advancement.

A Duel In Ottawa?

We read with fascinated interest that a duel was very nearly fought in Ottawa by the Consul General of the Dominican Republic and the Argentine Ambassador. Apparently these gentlemen fell out about dogs. Now we have heard about these diplomatic dogs for some weeks, in vague terms; apparently some dogs are kept at the Argentine Embassy (or it may be the Dominican Con-sulate) which howl, or gnash their teeth, or give the impression that they are underfed, or in some other way cause annoyance to the neighbours. Feeling runs so high that it is unwise to mention these dogs, except to trusted friends. But apparently the Argentine Ambassador mentioned the dogs to the Dominican Consul General (or it may have been that the Dominican Consul General unwisely mentioned the dogs to the Ambassador) and before you could say "William Lyon Mackenzie King" the Consul had challenged the Ambassador to a duel. To our disappointment this duel will not be fought. The duellists have thought better of it.

What a pity this is! Ottawa is a dull capital, with none of the long history of crime and romance which makes the capitals of older countries delightful.
Nobody has ever bricked anybody up in a wall in Ottawa, or poisoned a rival, or ridden through the streets clothed only in his hair. (Indeed, in these degenerate days the only a few Senators could attempt this latter action, common enough in the days of the great hirsute politicians.) When we think of Ottawa, we share the feelings of Young Albert—

No shipwrecks, and nobody drowned,
Not nothing to laugh at at all!

Peterborough county farmers are organized—genuine cloak-and-dagger stuff.
Ottawa has failed in its manifest duty.
Canada mourns.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A New York man beat up his dentist.
We hope he had the courtesy to say,
"Now this may hurt, just for a second".

Roger Babson predicts that men will fly like birds when a substance has been perfected which will defy gravity. It won't be long after that until they are getting themselves electrocuted by roosting on the power lines.

A medical columnist suggests that dry wine is helpful in warding off seasick-ness. Not nearly so good as dry land, of course.

The Toronto Star says that the C.C.F. is "the natural ally" of the Liberal Party.
We are not a great believer in these natural alliances. They always remind us of the occasion when the lion and the lamb lay down together, but only the lion got up.

Trivia

By

A COUPLE of weeks ago in this column I was talking about streets. Last week I was on the finest street in Canada—Sherbrooke Street, Montreal, between Atwater, and University Avenue. That part of Sherbrooke is fine at any season and any time of the day or night, but in the late afternoon in spring it is not only dignified and gracious, but lovely. I have long admired Sherbrooke Street, but when one returns to it fresh from Princess Street, Kingston, George Street, Peterborough, or Yonge Street, Toronto, it seems a hundred times more gracious by comparison with them.

I happened to be on Sherbrooke Street because I was going to visit the Botanical Gardens at the end of the Sherbrooke Street East bus route. These gardens are less ornamental than some other large city gardens, and of course are quite outclassed by gardens like the Jardins Exotiques of Monte Carlo. Nevertheless, they are not unpretentious with their stone walls and terraces, and have this virtue:
they are experimental gardens. The horticulturists are finding out what flowers and shrubs will flourish in our eastern Canadian climate. A gardener planning a new plot could profit from a day's inspection of the Montreal Botanical Gardens. Our gardens could find there the variety so many now lack.

ACROSS the street from the Gardens and looking toward the harbour is the multi-million dollar civic sports centre. This was a post-depression project. Some of the stone ramparts and terraces were built by the time the war broke out. Then no more work was done. The project is now derelict and hay and weeds have almost obliterated the thousands of dollars' worth of building already begun.

MAYOR Houde was at the Botanical Gardens that afternoon to attend a children's Fete des Fleurs. I was close enough to him to be able to make a detailed examination of his famous nose and official affability. Mayor Houde is not notable for his discretion. When the city of Montreal was entertaining the King and Queen at dinner in 1939, Mayor Houde sat beside the King. The Mayor, a vivacious talker, would brightly begin a conversation in his Gallic English, then suddenly stop short. This happened two or three times.
Each time Mayor Houde would say: "No, I must not say that". Finally the King said he wanted to hear the rest of the remarks, and asked why he "must not say that". Thereupon Houde pulled a long sheet of paper from his pocket and said: "See, here are all the things 'they' told me I was not to mention this evening". For the rest of the dinner Mayor Houde kept the King entertained with his pungent remarks on all the topics on which cautious diplomatic officials had warned him he was not to speak. Apparently the King enjoyed Houde's indiscretion, for he laughed frequently at Houde's sallies and sorties. It was only a few months later that Mayor Houde was consigned to a Canadian detention camp "for the duration" because of his indiscreet remarks against recruiting for active service.

THE forthcoming wedding at our house is giving the place a festive air, and headaches beyond the wildest Christmas nightmares. The neighbours have entered into the spirit of the thing and everybody on both sides of the street has painted his house or at least verandah. The denizens of our house are so busy making cakes, answering the door to receive the latest bunch of gifts, and turning people out of beds to make way for guests who are already arriving in alarming numbers from points like Maple Creek, Manitoba, and 42nd Street, New York, that ours is the only house remaining without a drop of fresh paint. That is called "letting the side down"—our side of the street. Two days ago the neighbours, the young friends of the bride, the old friends of the family, and anybody else who out of benevolence contributed to the bride's loot, came to tea. Hundreds of them—all women. It was a shocking affair, at least shocking to male nerves.

Men, of course, should get out of the way.
A wedding and its antecedent functions are not for them. A wedding is one of the prime Female Mysteries which men should not expect to penetrate. A groom is of as much use at a wedding as a father is at child-birth, though in each circumstance the man is considered socially essential.

THE elections are quietly over. The biggest surprise was not Gorgeous George's defeat in his own riding—said to have been because of a squabble about licensing a cocktail bar in High Park district. Liquor has been the downfall of many good men. The surprise was the election of a 21-year-old youth, Reld Scott, the C.C.F. candidate in Toronto Beaches. Oh, well, William Pitt the Younger became Leader of the House of Commons at the age of 23. The ladies loved it. A young M.P. can have, like a young minister of religion, special attractive qualities of brawn if not brain.

Men in politics, like men in holy orders do not have an enviable life. They are the butts of constant criticism and importunities and no matter what they do can never please all the people even some of the time. Sir Alan Herbert (A.P.) who knows a few things about politics has this to say about a politician's life:

"If he gives all his time to politics he is called a 'professional' politician, which, for some reason, is a disgraceful thing to be. If, however, he has other interests and occupations, he is a mere dabbler, who does not take the thing seriously; and that is worse."

"If he spends all his time at Westminster the people say 'You should come to the country and hear what we think'. But if he spends much time in the country he is told that he is an absentee and ought to be in his place at Westminster."

"If the Members make solemn speeches they are dull; if they make amusing speeches they are frivolous."

"If there are long debates the people say
'Why don't you do something?' But when the Members do something and produce an Act of Parliament there is nearly always a national outcry."

JOHNNY ON THE SPOT

Letters To The Editor

THE SPIRIT OF REFORM IS ABROAD

Sir: Yesterday I was in Toronto and had lunch with twelve wise men who were objectively giving their opinions upon the political situation. All were Toronto Liberals or supposed to be. Naturally I was rather curious to know their opinions which they gave with a great deal of certainty and in a confident way.

After lunch I went to a large lending institution where I saw some officials and I think practically all of them were Conservatives.

I inquired of them what had hit the Tory party in Toronto and these gentlemen did the same as the twelve wise men; they freely gave me their opinions although none had ever been a political candidate or had given study to matters of a social or economic character.

One of them complained that the young people had not been taking any interest in public affairs but I explained that the returns subdivision where I had studied the returns indicated that the C.C.F. majorities had come largely from the young people and not from the voters belonging to the older established parties. This opinion was further confirmed by the Gallup poll which indicated that the Dew Government would not have a majority after the election.

The Gallup poll investigators simply had not seen the young people who were taking an interest in public affairs and who had developed their own political views quite irrespective of what their parents thought.

Warren Baldwin, the parliamentary editor of the Globe & Mail, takes a very depressed view, today and his carefully prepared Ottawa report indicates that the Toronto and other urban members of the House of Commons are in a very uncomfortable state of mind and he suggests that a coalition of the old parties would be a good thing to save the life of the Conservative party.

Mr. Baldwin and his friends might as well know right now that Mackenzie King during his whole public career has refused to talk coalition. When pressure was brought upon him at the beginning of the war to take a few Conservatives into his Government, he refused because he remembered the results of the coalition of the Borden Government which was known as the Union Government.

Warren Baldwin blames the Union Government for the fact that the Conservative party was kept out of office for about a quarter of a century, and the Coalition Government in British Columbia he blames for the loss to the Conservatives of the rural riding of Yale.

The fact that outstanding Conservative candidates in Toronto were defeated by young and not very well known C.C.F. candidates, and Miss Agnes Macphail can come down from South East Grey to East York and be elected by an overwhelming majority over a popular Conservative candidate is something that should be thought over.

Miss Macphail's sharp tongue in the Legislature will make debates lively and in addition to that, she is a very experienced and realistic parliamentarian.

The result seems to indicate that the spirit of reform is in the air and those gentlemen who applauded the declaration that Family Allowances were "national bribery" and who were opposed to present day social security will be left out in the cold.

The results in the urban centres show that these centres have caught the spirit of reform as much as rural districts have. The Women's Institutes and farmers' organizations of the rural districts; the service clubs, unions, and church organizations in urban centres have given leadership and have been even the authors of reform probably to a greater extent than many of the experienced party workers think.

Yours faithfully,
G.N. GORDON.

FULFILL THE PROMISE

Sir: The bard, who quoted the immortal words, "Fame is Fleeting", might without scruples have applied them to this fair city of Peterborough; in the present post-war years.
Only a few decades ago, we elder citizens lined George Street, one early spring morning and cheered the good old 247th (Peterborough's Own) Battalion, as it marched to entrain for service on the foreign battlefields of Western Europe, and we were all resolved to do our bit for those same boys, when the armed struggle was over and they returned to private life.

Foremost in that gallant marching array all perceived a ruddy faced youth, still in his middle teens, who had apparently advanced his real age a few years; that he might join in that grim struggle of 1914-18, to save our dear country and city for democracy. Some months later, all loyal citizens reiterated those vows when the remnants of that heroic band, along with other maimed and seasoned veterans marched through our city streets, returning from a victorious war. Today we are faced with the grim reality of that self-same ruddy faced lad of another generation being deprived of his means of livelihood and his very existence and the sustenance of his worthy family threatened by the big capitalistic money barons and their satellites, representing the powerful motor industry. Sir, I humbly solicit your energetic support for our youthful hero of other days, who is none other than Johnny Russell, our highly efficient service station operator.

Very truly yours,
EDWARD J. LITTLE.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. . . . And God said, Let there be light; and there was light. And God saw the light, that it was good; and God divided the light from the darkness. . . .

And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth; and it was so. And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind; and God saw that it was good. (Gen. 1: 1, 2, 4, 11, 12.)

O Lord, how manifold are thy works; in wisdom hast thou made them all; the earth is full of thy riches. . . . The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works. (Ps. 104: 24, 31.)

Thou art my portion, O Lord. . . . Thy hands have made me and fashioned me: give me understanding, that I may learn thy commandments: (Ps. 119: 57, 73.)

And it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation. (Isa. 25: 9.)

Choir of 845 High School Pupils Present Concert Before 10,000 Music Lovers

By JEAN STENTON

Ten thousand Rochester music lovers saw history made Saturday night at the All-High Concert when the largest massed choir ever to perform in the city, 845 voices, presented a two-hour program in the Highland Park Bowl. The massed groups of singers looked like the multi-colored flower beds for which this park is famous. The brilliantly colored choir robes ranged from blue and gold to scarlet and white, purple and gold, maroon, navy and gold, green and white, blue and white and orange and gray. The group was made up of choirs from the nine high schools, 580 girls and 265 boys. Ranging in age from 16 to 18 years, most of the students have had two years' choir experience. This means a one-hour training period, five days a week through the school year. Sheer weight of numbers could have been expected to make an unwieldy instrument for the 11 conductors. Instead, the choir was as pliable as could be desired, giving tremendous volume and the lightest shading with equal ease, surprising even their leaders.

Miniature Radio Sets Added For Ground and Air Defence

RALPH GREENHILL

Hundreds of miniature radio sets, using tubes one-twentieth the size of those in your own radio at home, will be Peterborough's main defence against any air or ground attacker in a future war.

These radio sets will be hurtling through the air at a speed greater than 1,800 miles an hour and are built to withstand a force equivalent to 20,000 times that of gravity. They will be used only once in their lifetime.

This amazing new development, which some experts consider as revolutionary as the atom bomb, is the VT or radio-proximity fuse—"zombie" to Canadian gunners of The Second World War. It is the device in a shell, which explodes when it is nearest to an aircraft or above a position where enemy troops are concentrated.

The fuse, which is described in "Electrical Engineering" an American publication, is a complete radio transmitter and receiver contained in a space of only three or four cubic inches. It includes a complete set of tubes, condensers, resistors, aerials and battery power supply. These components duplicate not only a standard radio set, but also the simplified components of any local radio station.

As the shell flies through the air, the battery puts into the "radio set," which immediately starts broadcasting a wave into the air. When the wave strikes the target, it is reflected back to the shell, and at the critical moment when the target is at its nearest point to the shell, the fuse trigger is fired by the radio set, the shell explodes and the aircraft is destroyed.

In work against ground troops or positions, the fuse ensures that every shell explodes a certain distance above the ground. The high explosive shell case, broken into myriad pieces of flying death by the detonation, covers the ground yards around, making the familiar "sit-trench" or "fox-hole" as dangerous as the open ground.

It was this "radio-set" that saved London from V-1 buzz-bombs, when gunners registered more than 80 per cent "kills" using the new fuse. The Japanese "kamikaze" aircraft, or suicide planes, were blasted out of the sky by this devastating new weapon, and German ground troops in the last phases of World War II, were so utterly demoralized by its effect that they ran screaming to surrender.

The Germans started work on the idea of a proximity fuse as early as 1935, and were only too aware of the potentialities of this device. No design, however, was ever put into mass production. Fortunately for us, no German was "stupid" enough to think of firing radio sets from a gun.

The atomic bomb may never be used again, but the proximity fuse is here to stay.

VACATION TIME IS HERE—That glorious, happy period when a man is free to go anywhere his wife chooses—Isn't it the truth? It happens in every family. The kids want to go where there is a pavilion and lots of life, the wife wants to go on a motor trip and shop for new clothes, and the old man wants to go fishing. In the final analysis the bewildered male stays home and looks after the garden, and in the quiet of the evening, picks a secluded corner of his "farm" and puffs his pipe—all the while, perhaps dreaming of leaping black bass. He acquires a coat of tan, makes friends with a host of potato bugs, cutworms and cabbage butterflies, and his spouse feeling bad about the whole thing points out all the money they saved. But wait, the old guy has an idea—why not sell the house and get an apartment. Then there would be no garden to tend, no grass to cut, no verandah to paint. Perhaps the second hand dealer would kick in enough on the lawn mower and garden tools to buy a new reel. Buck up, old-timer, there's always another summer.

SPLIT RAIL SYMPHONY—Ontario songsters are carolling from the flowering cherry bushes, where the blossoms hang like limp white caterpillars swaying in the breeze. Bluebirds, meadow-larks, warblers and goldfinches are carrying the varying melody, while high in an umbrella-elm, a Baltimore oriole adds its rippling song, ending in a flourish. The sky is a laughing blue, with banks of billowing clouds, tumbling across the world's dome like ballooning giants gambling on high. The breeze has a soothing quality as it sweeps over green oat fields, and starts the rippling timothy tops to throbbing. It's June, the month of romance for the young, and memory fresher for the old. The month that flaunts its wealth of new life and stimulation, an alighting threshold rich with its promise of another Canadian summer.

PICKEREL FISHERMEN are complaining that the walleyes are not showing the same degree of co-operation that was apparent earlier in the season. Maybe the anglers are not using their best judgment in their angling programs. The pickerel or walleye, is a noted night feeder, and invariably a surface feeder. At this time of year they have moved out of the current, and spend the day just outside the weed beds in the deep water. As nightfall comes, they want a bed-time snack so they move into the shallows to feed on schools of minnows. Often they move upstream and skirt the fast waters, trapping the minnows in the side eddies and back currents. If an angler has not too much time, he should concentrate on the period between nine and 11 at night. Fish the currents and let the bait swing into the shore eddies. A silver minnow, a large fly with or without a spinner, or a live minnow on a long shank hook are best baits. If one pickerel hits, the angler should not have any trouble bagging three or four. Don't worry, how fast the current is—it makes little difference to a walleye.

FEDERATION OF ANGLERS and Hunters have declared war on fish derbies. They claim these events are publicity stunts commercializing angling and result in rapid depletion of game fish. One event in particular that promised prizes for the angler getting the most fish, and a dollar prize for every trout over one pound was given a thorough vocal mauling. The upshot of the fiery discussion was a resolution to the Dept. of Game and Fisheries asking that legislation be passed banning all short term game fishing contests better known as derbies in Ontario, and held in public waters, and of less than an open season duration. The Legislature will not be able to rule on this resolution for at least two months, so it is unlikely any change will be made until next year, and then only if the Ontario Government agrees with the resolution. It is too late in the year to interfere with established derbies because prizes have been purchased and considerable advertising done, so that chopping them off without due notice would probably do the cause of conservation more harm than good.

NEW CUSTOMS RULE—Visitors returning to the United States from Canada are now permitted a total customs exemption of $400. This includes the $100 previous exemption and an additional exemption of $300 granted under Public Law 540 of May 20, 1948. In addition to the customs exemption of $100 previously allowed, a U.S. resident who has been in Canada at least 12 days may bring back in to the U.S. free of duty, articles aggregating up to but not exceeding $300 in value. These articles which do not include distilled spirits, wines, malt, liquors or cigars must have been purchased in Canada for personal use, not for re-sale. This additional $300 exemption is allowed only once every six months. The $100 exemption applies when visitors have been in Canada for 48 hours and is allowed once every 30 days. It may include cigarettes, tobaccos, foodstuffs, not more than 100 cigars and not more than one gallon of alcoholic beverages. Importation of alcoholic beverages must comply with state liquor laws whether or not such beverages are free of duty under the $100 exemption.

HAS THERE BEEN a single conviction under the regulation which says it is illegal to catch and retain a muskie under 30 inches in length? The law is now in its third year—and it's a good law—framed to put more muskies in Canadian waters, because if the law is observed every female muskies will deposit at least one year's spawn before she becomes a legal catch. New York state has a legal size limit of 33 inches, and the value of such a law has been established. Let's not make this regulation a joke—it is being broken wilfully, by people who will only observe it if they read in the papers that some other person has been given a stiff fine for keeping undersize muskies. Muskies are increasing in many of the Kewartha lakes, and will continue to increase if people play the game. Why should we allow a small percentage of brigands to upset a long-range plan that has the support and co-operation of both the government and the great majority of the sportsmen. I would like very much to see the game overseers crack down starting right on July 1. Certainly such a move would have the blessing of organized anglers.

RANDOM GLEANINGS: Jr. Chamber of Commerce Ladies' Night will be held at Viamede, June 26. Fishing in the afternoon, and a dinner meeting in the evening. It's going to be a nice do. . . . Jim Fraser, is busy lining up a program for those 24 American newsmen who will visit the city June 24. The meal is at South Beach—a luncheon. . . . Tom Lawlor, genial host at South Beach is feeling pretty fit again. . . . Frank Laurie and George Christiansen at Camp Cleveland have a huge new dining room almost completed. . . . Jr. Chamber tourist information booth will be opened June 15. . . . Members of the Peterborough Fish and Game can be assured Bob McCabe and his lieutenant did a good hospitality job for the visiting Federation members. . . . Take a look at those bait minnows being sold—if they aren't shiners or in the chub family, don't buy them. . . . If you are going to rent a cottage, do it now, the demand is brisk. . . . Jim Cumming at Belmont lake has several cottages now equipped with running water and flush toilets—would there were more like these. . . . Examiner vacation editions are selling like hotcakes in Ohio.

lags far behind the training in the United States. But in the last 10 years, Canadians have made a beginning which should be encouraged. In the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, Mr. M. J. Curtis, is working hard to lay the foundation for a good choir. Perhaps in the years to come, the Peterborough High School Choir will be presenting a concert in the Nicholls Oval Bowl (a natural for such a plan) to an enthusiastic audience as attended the Rochester concert.

Franklin Village In Manvers Township Was Thriving Community Centre In 1856

By MRS. ROSS CARR

There is no active industry in the tiny hamlet of Franklin, now, but in its "Boom Year" in 1856 there was a school, two churches, a grist mill, sawmill, railway station, grain elevators, cattle yards, blacksmith shop, two general stores and a Post Office. A family of McGuires had the first store later owned by Mrs. J. Britain, Joseph Hadden, Henry Tripp, R. Blake and Murray Spiers. There were two hotels owned by families of Flacks and Lyties. The two churches were of the Wesleyan Methodist and the Bible Christian denominations. Old times tell of the keen rivalry between the members of these two sects. At one time the Bible Christians became annoyed at the Methodists and one night one of the young men went in a body and cut all the sills in the Methodist Church expecting it to fall down. But before anything disastrous happened one of the young men who had spent too many hours in the hotel began boasting of what had been done and upon investigation, the damage was repaired. During this most prosperous time in the village, grain, cattle, hogs and lumber were shipped to distant points.

There are no authentic records to say just how Franklin received its name, but it is supposed that it was derived from the name of the first sawmill owner Francis (Frank) Lynn. The Midland Railway, later known as Grand Trunk was constructed through in 1856, just a little north of where the school is now situated and this name was given to the railway station. The railway ceased to operate through Franklin in 1928 the travel line of the Canadian Pacific built through the section in 1911 passed by the little village several miles to the west. The lifting of the railway seems to have been the beginning of the decline in population. Younger folks had to go further afield to seek employment. The Church of the Bible Christians was torn down many years ago and in 1931 the Methodist Church was closed for lack of members. There is no business of any kind in Franklin now. The school is the only active centre of this once thriving community.

In these days of modern conveniences of good roads, hydro telephone and radio it is difficult to realize the hardships our early forefathers endured in clearing land and making homes for their families. Port Hope harbor was the landing place for vessels bringing emigrants from the Old Land to open up this new country and from there on it is a story of trail blazing through dense forests. Little settlements sprang up all along the road, some of which have been abandoned altogether with changing circumstances.

On the boundary of Cavan and Manvers Townships about three miles north of Bethany a saw mill was set up by Francis Lynn. In what is now the heart of the Bethany Ski Hills. A little later, about 1852 a log building was constructed at the top of the Devil's Elbow, the highest hill on the boundary, which became the first school in the district for the benefit of the few families who collected around the saw mill. The first teacher was Mr. Morrow, who held sway with a hickory stick that never was idle long enough to become dusty. The interior of the building was fitted with seats for the pupils. They sat side by side on long planks and another plank was elevated and set on a slant to form a desk for the scribes. At the front of the room was blackboard and there were two windows on each side of the buildings. To get into their seats the pupils stepped over each plank until they arrived at their proper place. A huge wood stove was placed in the centre of the room and led with maple sticks four feet long. Each pupil owned a reader and slate and studying was done out loud, the pupil keeping their eyes in the reader and droning away like a hive of bees, while the master paraded up and down with hickory stick aloft, ever ready to whack the shoulders of anyone who lagged or nodded. Later, Mr. Morrow acquired a whip and as there was no clock in the room, noon hour was announced, by three strokes on the door with the whip.

There was a tiny log church built alongside the first school house, which has long since fallen into decay. This Church was of no particular denomination, just a meeting house with no regular Minister.

The log schoolhouse became inadequate to house the ever increasing number of pupils and the settlers decided that this school on the brow of the hill was exposed to the elements more than was necessary so they chose a site at the base. The saw mill was also moved to the foot of the hill. Looking at the countryside now, one would wonder why the school was built there in the first place, but when the first settlers arrived it was all such dense forest that hills and valleys all looked alike. Land was cheap! One old record shows of one hundred acres being bought for a cow! Just a short distance west of the Manvers boundary on the 11th concession, half an acre of land was purchased from Mr. James Fallis for a school site. There were numerous families of this name and James known as "Jimmie, the Bush". One of his sons was well known as "Red William". And another son entered the Ministry (The Rev. John Fallis). His son, the Rev. George Fallis is now living in Vancouver B.C. but for many years occupied the pulpit in Trinity Church Toronto. Several of his descendants live in the community. Mr. Herb Fallis, blacksmith in Bethany is a grandson of James, and Mrs. Josiah Jones is also a granddaughter, living in the village. The section bought by the school board extended from the farm now owned by Donald Lowes on the south of the boundary of Manvers and Emily townships on the North. The new brick school was completed in 1864. The children played in hollow just east of the building and when they needed a drink of water went to the well on the farm of Mr. William Lee. A few years later a well was sunk on the school property. There was no need to mark the boundaries of the school yard and the pupils had plenty of room for recreation. Maple tree planted in the early days are now mature and thriving shade trees on the property.

Seventy-five years ago there were 90 pupils attending this school, but many only went during the winter months, this being particularly true of the older boys and girls who were required to work on the land in summer. The style of teaching remained the same. . . . Fear ruled the classroom and the three "R's" were drilled in to the students to the tune of hickory stick. "Spare the rod and spoil the pupil" was apparently the motto of the early school teachers. James McMullen was the first teacher to add a little music to the daily routine, but volume rather than tone was the keynote of the music and if the pupils sang lustily the teacher was satisfied. The Christmas concert was the highlight of the year and the time when proud parents came to watch their children parade across the improved stage to sing or recite.

Twenty years after the school was built the trustees hired John McCrory to use his stumping machine in removing about thirty stumps that dotted the school yard. Work proceeded and pupils marvelled at this new invention which made a hard task easy. In 1908 a stone foundation was put under the building, new brickwork was done and a new floor laid and other improvements added to keep abreast of the times. Enquiries reveal that the families living in the district when the school was built included the following: Joseph McGill, George Twigg, Mark Graham, James Muir, John McCrory, Ralph Lee, Wm. Evers, James Sutton, Robert Flack, A. Noble, J. A. Johnston, R. Sutton, Thomas Ball, J. Woods, James Fallis, Rev. J. G. Fallis, J. Lytle, Humphrey Woods, James Stewart, William Spiers, C. Windrim, James Copeland, Thomas Woods, George Mulligan, J. Hart, John Veale, Daniel Jones, Samuel Nugent, Thomas Pritchards, F. Adams, Jacob Hart and families of Bigelows, Griffins, Murphy's, Lowes, Whites, Jamesons, McGulres, Pritchard, Thompsons, O'Brians, Cairns, McCrory, Moores and McMasters.

Those who have taught at the school included the first mentioned Mr. Morrow, J. Middleton, Mr. Pritchards, Edward Hart, Mr. Keely and James McMullen, who later entered the Ministry and served in various Methodist churches. He was the son of the later Mr. and Mrs. David McMullen, pioneer settlers. Next in line were I. Graham, Thomas Kennedy and Herman Hart. James Berry and John Green each taught several years in Franklin school, both of these men later entered the Ministry. Ferdinand Gillis was succeeded by Arthur Jamieson, who is well known as Dr. Arthur Jamieson (Dentist) of Millbrook. Following in succession were Miss Ida Staples, Thomas Bradburn, David Somerville, Ernest Selby, Miss Lena Finley, Matthew Ferris, Stanley Reeds, Milton Nugent, Earl Hart, Horace Granby, Gertrude Dewell (Mrs. W. L. Rowan), Pearl White (Mrs. Percy Stewart), Alice Rafter, Joyce Browett (Mrs. Harry Gillis), Edwin Irwin, Mary Pole, Mary O'Brian, Miss Shearer, Miss Graham, Gladys Spiers, Isabel McLean, Miss Hannan, Miss Cora Bailey, Clair Sisson, Mrs. Cairns Lee, Mrs. Mervyn Smith, Clair Sisson (second term), and the present teacher, Mrs. Marshall Wright. In comparison with the first school roll of 27 pupils which grew to an attendance of over ninety, Mrs. Wright has only nine pupils, which in itself indicates the changes of time. A few years ago it was almost decided to close the school as there were only four children in the section of school age and it was increasingly difficult to obtain teachers.

Thus, another cycle passes in the history of Manvers township. Perhaps the now famous Ski Hill will be further developed in the Franklin area? Time alone can complete the story.

Petes Beat Oshawa, 16 to 5 In Scrappy Lacrosse Tussle

Unleashing a furious nine-goal attack in the second quarter, the Petes racked up a 16-5 OLA Senior "B" lacrosse win over Oshawa here last night before some 2,000 fans. It was their second victory in as many schedule starts. Though one-sided in that one inning, it was close the rest of the way, being 3-2 for the locals in the first quarter, 2-1 for them in the third and 2-2 in the final.

Play was speedy most of the way and rough enough at times with a couple of fights in the old Oshawa-Petes tradition. Referee Don Willson of Toronto checked them closely and sent off 18, several for majors, eight of them Petes. The homesters generally looked better, after a slow first heat, in checking, passing and shooting. Rowan Chute returned to the local lineup.

Mick Shone

Mick Magee shone for the winners, playing a good defensive game and leading the scorers with six points. Arn Dugan also sparked with five scoring points in a good show. Others who were in on three goals each were the Vitarelli brothers, Foote, J. J. Hill and Chute. Bun Hill was strong in goal. For Oshawa, Chambers kicked out a number in goal, while Grice, Sanders and McAdam were always prominent. DePippo looked good at times, too. They all battled hard but lacked the Petes' finish.

After some sloppy passing in the first frame, the Creighton crew really settled down to solid lacrosse in the second to run up the count. They lapped a bit after that but Oshawa also came back to play on pretty even terms the last two quarters. The score could have been higher but Goalie Chambers stopped a lot of close-in thrusts the last half. Magee was judged the outstanding player of the game and won a hat for himself.

The teams:

Oshawa—Goal, Chambers; defence, L. Vipond and Grice; centre, Christie; wings, DePippo and Haney; rover, McAdam; alternate, W. Vipond, Sutherland, Bush, Sanders, Bastien, Cooke, Helson and Bentley.

Petes—Goal, B. Hill; defence, Magee and Horton; centre, E. Creighton; wings, R. Breakpear and Dugan; rover, Foote; alternates, J. Breakpear, Chute, L.

Lindsay Girls Take Win Over Lakefield

Lindsay capped an 8-3 Girls' Softball League win over Lakefield on the latter's grounds last night in a snappy scrap lasting little over an hour. Lakefield out-hit the visitors but errors cost them the contest. They show improvement every time out but haven't a win yet, while this victory puts Lindsay back in the race. It was a tidy tussle most of the way with both sides hustling throughout.

J. Bryans pitched good steady ball for the victors, though weakening a bit at the last, and a couple of late errors didn't help. She had 11 strikeouts and four walks. H. Dunford threw nine-hit ball for Lakefield and had one whiff and two free tickets. H. Deyell, M. Chase, D. Nichols and R. Boyce went best atfield. J. Bryans led Lindsay at bat with two triples and a single, as D. Hunter homered. V. Clements got three singles for Lakefield. H. Deyell's catch in the seventh was a fielding feature.

The teams:

Lindsay—H. Deyell, 2b; P. Graham, 1b; D. Hunter, c; P. Richards, lf; M. Chase, ss; D. Woods, cf; M. Owens, 3b; J. Bryans, p; M. Dawkins, rf.

Ashby's Victors Over Lock Co.

Ashby's climbed in the Girls' Softball League last night at the Bowl as they swamped Lock Co. 23-0 in a fray as one-sided as it sounds. They had fine flinging, terrific hitting and played errorless ball. Lock Co. had a decided "off" night and could do nothing right. Their pitching, hitting and fielding were poor in this tussle. A fair-sized crowd viewed the proceedings.

Doris McFadden hurled three-hit ball and fanned eight till she retired with B. Reid taking over in the seventh and whiffing six in the last three innings, allowing but one of their four hits. Neither of the Lock Co. twirlers could halt the Ashby batting barrage and they had poor support. D. Westlake and J. McIntyre went best for them defensively as D. Callan and F. Killen stood out for the winners. F. Killen had five hits for Ashby's as M. Freeman and E. McFadden hit homers. D. Westlake got two bingles for Lock Co.

The teams:

Ashby's: E. McFadden, 2b; J. Reynolds, c; E. Simmonds, 3b; B. Reynolds, cf; M. Freeman, cf; G. Draup, lf; G. Gilmour, lf; D. Callan, rf; F. Killen, 1b; J. Dunk, ss; D. McFadden, p; B. Reid, p.

Time Limit Removed As The Whip and Earl Take On Masked Marvel And 'Goon' Henry

Before this week's Tag Team wrestling finished on the Brock Arena mat in a blaze of excitement, Manager Jim Laidlaw had already announced that because of so many requests he had high hopes of bringing back another team.

Today Laidlaw announced that all four of the big matmen had agreed to terms and the team of Whipper Billy Watson and Earl McCready will again meet the team of Jim "Goon" Henry and the Masked Marvel.

Two new conditions have been insisted on by Whipper and Earl and as a result there will be a new referee and No Time Limit. The maximum of excitement at a wrestling match seemed to have been reached in the feature event this week and fans claimed it the best card to date. On that score there can be no argument, it was a honey. But next Wednesday with the no-time-limit condition a new record may be set for "heat" and thrills.

WHIPPER BILLY WATSON

set for "heat" and thrills. Nick Vicoirelli may meet a new and tougher opponent on this card.

SNEAD ALWAYS PUNCHING—Sam Snead, like Jack Dempsey, believes in punching at all times. After 15 years of tough world-wide competition his skill, heart, personality and sportsmanship are envied by most golfers.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Travelling golf pros cover a lot of territory in a year as they pursue the golden fleece from Canada to Florida and all the way across. Travel with the climate competing in every professional and open tourney offering worthwhile prizes. We note where the palatial Tam O'Shanter Club in Chicago is staging all-American professional, amateur and women's open in a simultaneous tournament on Aug. 3-4-5-6 with prizes totalling $55,000. For instance, there are 50 prizes in the pro part for men, ranging from a first prize of $5,000 down to $100. With side offers, like $1,000 for breaking the course record of 65. Naturally the top-flight golfers go after this kind of money.

Petes have a COBL contest with Batawa in Belleville today and entertain Oshawa here next Wednesday. Whiffy and our junior Bees are slated to tangle at three this aft in Riverside, weather permitting, and over there tonight at 6.30 Port Hope plays the intermediate Petes. Same squads meet down Port Hope way next Wednesday. Junior Aces are idle for a week. East City plays westend Juvies at 6.30 p.m. Monday in Riverside, and Tuesday tilts are: East City vs. west midgels over there, and westend peewees against Crawford's Grove in Morrow Park. The bantam north-south Wednesday fixture is down south, too.

Shop Loop Tightens

Some keen competition lately in the Industrial Softball League. Nashua edged out CGE Drafting the other eve 10-9 to stay undefeated. Reid pitched steady 10-hit ball and his buddies bashed out 19 safe blows off two flingers. And Canoe Co. copped a 13-12 squeeze from Marines with Schofield and Mongraw pitching. Killenbeck hurled and led the hitters for Marines, as Robertson smacked 'em hard for the winners. Schofield fanned nine. Wood and Quemy, who are getting a lot of work—and look good—did the umping. On Monday, Nashua plays Westclox at Quaker Field.

Freddy Garvey has lined up a promising exhibition of men's streamlined softball for the Bowl tonight at eight, if it isn't pelted, betwixt Toronto Levy's and the Knights. Latter will be at full strength for this joust, and the Levy lineup shows a flock of senior stars from the Queen City. Like Normie Bagnell—outstanding twirler—Kitch Jeffers, Johnny Krycia, Jack Furlong, Dave Mustard, Ginger Hall, Manager Harv Hussey and others. Maybe Bert Haigh and Babe Pratt will come along for the trip and act as umpires. The team has a sprint champion and a couple of colored athletes, and they should be able to dish up some smart softball for the customers.

Glimpsing The Girls

Girls' softball goes again at the Bowl on Monday with Lakefield playing Marines in the seven p.m. opener and Woolens mixing with the Lindsay lassies under the arcs. The Wednesday setup is: Lock Co. vs. Westclox, and Ashby's vs. CGE while Woolens travel to Lakefield. The race in Prexy Dot Miller's circuit is settling down and one can get a pretty fair idea now of what teams will bunch up for the senior series, the intermediate and the junior sawfolds. Results of last night's numbers should be in elsewhere, and second part of the schedule will be drawn up next week. With no gate tariff for femmes' fixtures at the Bowl, the crowds will get larger right along. They don't lay off play during any of the factory holidays.

This column is like an assembly line in a machine shop. You put in your pieces and away they go. Then we learn some more later and we have to stick it in somewhere. So, another item on the girl softballers. One thing we learned from Gladys Mortimer was that Isabel (Tommy) Bullock had signed up to pitch for Toronto DuVals' senior club of the Sunnyside League and may see action this week-end. Glad to hear "Tommy" has recovered from torn ligaments and is ready to go again—she's a swell twirler. And the scores of last night's games arrived. Westclox beat CGE 8-2, Ashby's blanked Lock Co. 23-0, while Lindsay pulled out an 8-3 win in Lakefield.

Petes Take Oshawa

The lacrosse game last eve saw the Petes take a 16-5 win over Oshawa before a hefty crowd. Rough at times, it was right interesting all the way. The Petes really roared in the second heat to pile up a nice lead, but the other three periods were pretty even. A few fights, as is usual betwixt these clubs, and a lot of penalties as Referee Willson acted wisely. No use getting cut up so early in the season, eh, fellows? At that, Terry Gordon got two gashes and not even a decent licky at the other guy either time! We voted for Mick Magee as the outstanding player—he won a hat—with Arn Dugan a close runner-up. After all, they pay off on goals and Mick was in on six, which is pretty good for a defenceman. A neat tilt to view.

GRAB-BAG: Lindsay and O'Halloran's have a soccer match at 3.30 here this aft. . . Intermediate lacrossers drill at 6.30 p.m. Monday in Miller Bowl; everyone welcome. . . Midgits practice there at six Tuesday eve and juveniles play at seven. . . No COBL play in Kingston last e'en due to rain. . . Local CGE golfers won the first half of an inter-works tourney from Toronto CGE-ers. . . Westend Juvies beat northenders 18-8 in a baseball fixture. . . In Lakeshore League intermediate play, Bowmanville took Cobourg 6-3 while Port Hope blasted Colborne 12-0. . . A three-way tie for first place now, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg. . . Marines figure on bringing down a Toronto girls' team for an exhibition softball tilt here a week from tonight. . . Tuesday men's melees are: Combiges vs. Knights, and Legion vs. Comstock's. . . King George defeated King Edward 13-10 in a senior School Softball League playoff fray. . . Some keen competition now in the CGE Shop Softball Loop. . . Petes' lacrossers aren't listed to play again till Scarboro is here next Friday. . . Winding up the week.

Westclox Takes Neat One From Electrics

Westclox girls kept atop the Girls Softball League at the Bowl last night as they gained a neat 8-2 victory over CGE in a neat fray. While the fielding was about on a par, they had an edge on hitting, getting most of them off M. Percin. J. Harte, who relieved in the sixth, held them to two runs and the Electrics' were always very much in the race. The Clockers were improving and had to hustle to gain this win, a four-run splash in the fourth giving them a tidy lead to work on.

Bea Morrow and H. Waite looked good in the field for the winners, while J. Harte and T. DeCarlo were strong for the losers. In hitting, Bea Morrow led the way for Westclox with four in five, and J. Vass bashed out a homer. T. DeCarlo topped the other side at the plate with three singles in five appearances. Some good fielding was seen but CGE misuses proved more costly.

The teams:

CGE: I. Stewart, 3b; M. Bailey, cf; T. DeCarlo, ss; M. Selkirk, 1b; R. Hewitt, rf; A. Collins, 2b; G. Atkins, c; M. Sanderson, lf; M. Zinston, lf; M. Percin, p; J. Harte, p.

King George Gets First Playoff Win

King George defeated King Edward 13-10 in the first of the senior School Softball League playoffs, played on the former's ground. The winners pushed over three runs in the first inning, added five more in the second and scored five in the third, aided by a homer by L. McIlmoyle. King Edward got six runs in their first, three next time up and one more in the fourth of a good game. Homers were hit by Kimball and Jensen. The teams:

King Edward: Jones, Robinson, Jensen, Bailey, Curtis, Kimball, Elliott, Davis, Daniels, Best, Sloan.
King George: Barker, Ferguson, Galley, McConnachie, Withers, B. McIlmoyle, L. McIlmoyle, Bertland, Clapper.

West Juveniles Get Victory Over North

West juveniles defeated the northenders 18-5 in a lively City Baseball League encounter at Riverside. They hammered out 13 hits and had but one error, while the losers were held to six safeties and committed seven miscues. A dozen of them went down on strikes as eight of the hitters fanned. Berwick led the batters with three as Moore hit a homer. The teams:

LOS ANGELES, June 12. — (AP)—Will hard luck continue to dog Sam Snead in the United States open golf championship?

The final 36 holes of the big fairway derby got under way today and the question was expected to be answered about dusk on the Riviera course. Barring a 72-hole tie, that is.

Slammin' Sam held a one stroke lead over 57 survivors as he teed off for the third round. His 138 for 36 holes was compiled with a pair of 69's. He was three under par 71, for the distance.

Long-Suffering Boston Braves Cheer 2 Winners

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Long-suffering Boston fans have two winners to cheer today—the first-place Braves and Ted Williams of the Red Sox.

Billy Southworth's Braves, a pre-season pennant pick of many experts, finally edged into the lead in the rough-and-tumble National League scramble by downing St. Louis last night 7-3. Williams puffed his batting average to .395 by driving in seven runs in the Red Sox' 12-4 romp over Chicago White Sox. Even at this early date, it is not difficult to picture a .400 season for the slim slugger.

Only one game separates the first four teams in the National League, which now appears assured of a wide open battle down to the wire.

Ralph Hamner dropped New York Giants out of the lead when he pitched Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory.

Herman Wehmeier, Cincinnati's prize rookie, chalked up his fifth straight success with a five-hit job against Philadelphia, 12-1. Johnny Wyrostek led the 15-hit spree against his old team-mates with two homers, a double and a single.

Leo Durocher was banished by umpire Al Barlick before the ball game started in Pittsburgh, but Brooklyn Dodgers, nevertheless, went 13 innings to trim the Pirates 3-2.

Cleveland drew first blood in its important four-game series with New York Yankees by clubbing the world champions 10-8 before 69,924 Yankee Stadium customers. The game was enlivened by a five-minute barrage of beer cans, rubber balls and paper cartons when umpire Cal Hubbard banished catcher Yogi Berra in the fourth inning.

Bobby Feller came out of the bull pen to turn back a Yankee

Marmora Team Is Entertained

MARMORA, June 12.—(ENS).—Marmora Chamber of Commerce held a dinner meeting in the Royal hotel on Thursday evening, having Marmora hockey team of the past season as its guests.

Following "The King," President Alex Fraser alluded to the impending departure of an active worker in the person of Rev. E. M. Cadigan. He wished him well in his new sphere in Ottawa.

The guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Bert Howard, principal of Albert College, was introduced by Lt.-Col. A. V. Yates.

Dr. Howard extended congratulations to the rink committee on their fine accomplishment and followed with a talk on "this priceless way of life." He was extended a vote of thanks by Bernard Hughes on behalf of the gathering.

The toast, "Our Guests" was proposed by William Shannon, with W. M. Regan, president of the Marmora Athletic Association, responding.

The remainder of the meeting was spent with the Chamber entertaining the hockeyists at cards.

threat in the last of the ninth after Joe Dimaggio hit his 11th homer.

Philadelphia playing at home, moved ahead of the Yankees into second place, three games behind Cleveland, by a 6-5 shade over St. Louis Browns.

Art Houtteman finally broke into the victory circle as a relief pitcher after eight straight defeats when Detroit nosed out Washington 7-6, in 10 innings.

Victor Jory's Film Part One Fight After Another

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 (AP).—The screen's fightingest man was at it again this week.

Victor Jory, the mug they love to slug, was being pummeled by Joel McCrea when I visited the "South of St. Louis" set.

Covered with make-up "blood" and his own sweat, Jory walked out of the scene to complain that he is always fighting in pictures. "I would much rather be playing 'Henry VIII' or 'John Gabriel Borkman,'" said the actor.

He was overjoyed with his previous film, in which he wore a business suit, had no battles and wooed and won Gloria Grahame.

"I've had every kind of fight imaginable," he sighed. "This year I had a dagger battle with Glenn Ford and a sword and dagger match with Larry Parks. I have fought in water, above water and under water.

Too Brutal
I had a terrific bull-whip battle in a picture I made in Australia," he recalled. "It was so brutal that the whole scene was cut from the picture."

All these screen scrapes can't be faked, either. In his long and violent career, Jory has broken his collar-bone (twice), five ribs, a thumb and a toe, and suffered endless slashes, bumps and bruises. He was also wounded with blank cartridges by Errol Flynn.

Worst Memory
Jory's worst memory was when he had to do an escape scene in a swamp and when he showed up at the location, he found two large crocodiles. Jory demanded that the beasts have their jaws taped. The director agreed.

"When I started swimming," Jory recounted, "I saw the crocodiles coming after me. Then they started yawning those big mouths. I broke Weissmuller's record getting out of the water, and I broke Mel Patton's record chasing after that director."

Starr Marks Up Fifth Straight; Leafs Lose Again

By The Associated Press

Dick Starr, 27-year-old right-hander of the International League's first place Newark Bears, is pitching great ball in his bid for another crack at a berth with the parent New York Yankees.

Starr, whose pitching exploits have been overshadowed by Bob Porterfield, sensational rookie Bear right-hander, has won five straight games since the middle of May, including two one-hit shutouts.

He turned in his second one-hitter last night, hurling the Bears to a 6-0 conquest of the runner-up Montreal Royals in the first game of a scheduled double-header. The second game was postponed because of rain.

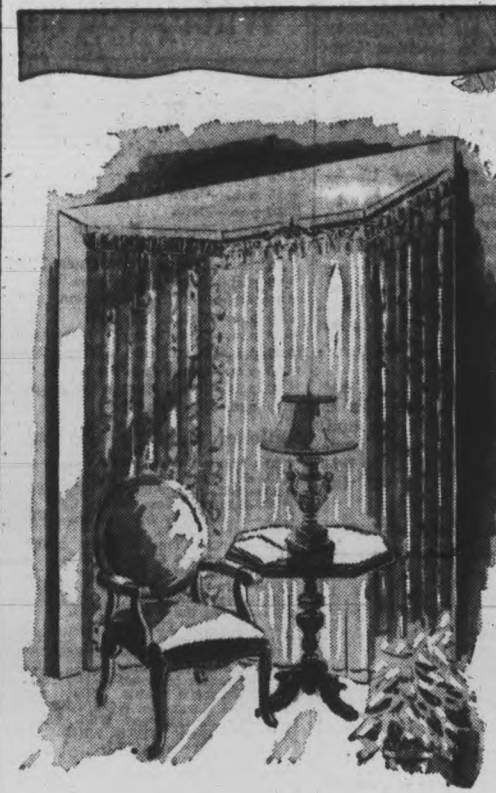

Syracuse's third place Chiefs edged out the Jersey City Giants 5-4. The Chiefs won the game in the ninth inning when relief pitcher Luther Knerr walked Clyde Vollmer with the bases loaded and one out.

The loss dropped the Giants into fifth place, a game behind the Rochester Red Wings who moved into fourth place as a result of their 5-3 13-inning triumph over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Buffalo Bisons trounced the last place Baltimore Orioles, 14-7. The Bisons scored a nine run rally in their fourth inning during which the first nine men to at scored before a man was retired.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—1 Samuel 1-15

By Alfred J. Buscher

ANGELICAN

UNITED CHURCH

Hannah, wife of Elkanah, prayed for a son and promised to consecrate him to the service of God, so when the child came, while he was still very young, Hannah took him to Eli the priest and left him there to minister to Eli.

The Lord came to Samuel and told him that Eli and his house would fall because of the wickedness of Eli's sons, and after that, all the people of Israel knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord.

The children of Israel worshipped strange gods and Samuel rebuked them saying if they would return to the Lord, he would save them from the Philistines, so they promised and Samuel prayed and the Lord saved them.

When Saul was king, anointed by Samuel with the Lord's blessing, he obeyed the Lord for a time, but when he disobeyed, Samuel told him the Lord was angry and had rejected him as king.

Secret of Attractiveness Found in Love, Compassion

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The disciples of Jesus marvelled that he talked with the woman.—St. John 4:27.

The devout orthodox Jew opens his daily supplications thus: "Lord, Jehovah, I thank Thee that Thou has not made me a woman." So you can understand the horror in the minds of the Apostles when they saw Jesus talking with the woman and that a Samaritan.

Clearly there must have been something very attractive in the personality of the Master which enabled Him to carry on a conversation with Samaritan women, who had her share of national prejudices. The secret is the Lord's deep love and compassion for all men. This must be the test of our own religion. Is it our ideal to love and serve others. You may not be attractive to a high degree but you may be more or less sympathetic with others. They have to feel that atmosphere of sympathy coming from you. You will have long ago put away the thought of your superiority, which is another name for pride, one of the deadly spiritual sins.

"I am the good Shepherd" is the Master's dominating thought. He seeks for men, women. You are to follow His example. You are to be "cells" going out in sympathy and gentleness. Let this thought be in you that some man or woman will be attracted to Christ through your personality. But your personality must be indwelt by the Holy Spirit. Who will attract and draw that person.

Mark the Lord's dealing with Zaccheus, the rich publican and tax gatherer of Jericho. No respectable Jew would invite him into his home or accept his invitation. So Our Lord takes the initiative to invite himself. "Jesus said unto him:—Zaccheus make haste and come down for to-day I must abide in thine house." Can you see the horror on the faces of the Apostles when they heard these words. There may be occasions when it will be necessary for you to invite yourself into some home. You will ask to enter. It will be done with Christian courtesy and thoughtfulness. Generally speaking you will receive a glad invitation and welcome. Never forget that you will be very humble and full of tact. There must be no patronage. You will leave behind a deep feeling of real fellowship and affection in that home. Before you make such a visit this prayer is suggested:—"O Christ, the King, grant me mercy and favour in the sight of this person for I am Thy cup bearer offering Thy Wine to make glad the heart of man."

Once again, on a Sabbath (Saturday) after the service the Master is invited to dinner by a rich Pharisee—a very respectable Churchman. He treats the Carpenter with scant courtesy. The guests are reclining at the table with their feet on the couches behind and not under the table. A woman had been attracted by the Lord's charm and sweetness and comes behind Him and washes His feet with her tears and kisses His feet and anoints them with ointment. Naturally the respectable Churchman is shocked. The Lord comes to her defence. The outstanding thought is that the Master's Face must have been so full of love and compassion that she dared to invite herself and offer Him her homage and love.

Have you been privileged to meet a fascinating personality whom you are glad to help without expecting any payment? In the Readers Digest a surgeon rejected that his operation had been successful and told the patient it was her doing. She thanked him and remarked that his bills in the past had been very small and asked him not to do so again. This Doctor agreed. The bill came with a very large charge. At the bottom of the sheet the doctor had written with his own hand:—"Paid in full with a gracious personality."

The Lord Make His Face Shine Upon Thee And Be Gracious Unto Thee.

World in Need of Men Not Afraid to Speak Out

Scripture—1 Samuel 1-15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

What the world needs most in these days of confused thinking is men who not only think our problems through clearly, but who are not afraid to speak out frankly, truthfully, without fear or favor.

We need leaders—men of vision, with understanding and sympathy for the needy and oppressed, with far-sighted wisdom to direct what should be done to relieve their sufferings.

Samuel, Hebrew prophet of God, was such a man. The first child of a deeply religious mother, who had prayed to God with tears for such a son, he was taken to the priest who had comforted her in her grief, when he was still a small child, and dedicated to his service and that of the Lord. Samuel's mother, Hannah, and his father, Elkanah, took him to Eli and left him there to be brought up.

When Eli was old and was out of favor with the Lord because he could not restrain his wicked sons, the word came to Samuel that Eli's house should fall and God would raise up a prophet of his own to take his place. Samuel told Eli frankly what the Lord had said, and Eli was resigned. After that everyone knew that Samuel was God's prophet and judge of Israel—a position he held all his life.

In last week's lesson we read of the terrific battles of the Israelites against their old enemies, the Philistines, and of the latter's capture of the sacred Ark of the Covenant. The Ark did the Philistines no good; in fact it brought them great misfortune, so they returned it to the Israelites. At this time the Hebrews were worshipping strange gods. Samuel frankly told them that if they wanted the Lord to protect them and to deliver them from their enemies, they must turn to Him "with all your hearts."

The people put their false gods away from them, and when the Philistines again attacked, they asked Samuel to pray to the Lord for them unceasingly, as they were afraid, Samuel prayed and offered sacrifices, the Lord heard to judge them, and if they insisted, to give them a king whom He would choose.

In spite of Samuel's objections and warnings of the dire results that might follow the naming of a king, the people demanded one. Samuel chose, under the Lord's direction, Saul, son of Kish, a noble young man. Samuel anointed Saul and the people accepted him as their ruler.

In the early years of his reign, Saul obeyed the Lord and overcame the enemies of his people, but at last he, while pretending to Samuel that he had done as the Lord wished, really disobeyed His command in part, and the Lord told Samuel that He rejected Saul as king.

Saul pleaded with Samuel to forgive him and take him back into favor, but Samuel, knowing that he was sincere only for the moment, told Saul, "I will not re-

The annual picnic of the Foremen's Association of the CGE plant will be held on July 10. It will be at Poplar Point on Chemong Lake.

LOST AT SHOW

Radio doesn't yet have the efficiency of a mother's instinct. Friday night at the horse show, the loud speakers called out a boy's name and asked him to report to the office near the gates. The boy was separated from his mother. Half an hour passed, and the mother walked worriedly in front of the grandstand. At the west end she paused, looked up in the stands, and called: "Bobby, come down here!"

CANNING METHODS

A demonstration of the most economic methods of canning fruit and vegetables will be given at the Collegiate on Monday, June 21 at 8 p.m. by Miss Edith Elliott, of the Consumers' Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture. The demonstration is sponsored by the Peterborough Branch of the Health League of Canada.

FIND SLUGS

About a week ago, policemen who collected the coins from city parking meters were finding brass and steel punchings galore. This week, the number of those has fallen off to a miserable three or four to each collection. The new menace is a small copper slug, about the size of a cent. More than 10 of these were found in Friday's collection.

FIRE DAMAGES ROOM

Fire damage to an upstairs room at 744 Young St., occupied by G. Thomas, has not yet been fully assessed. Cause of the blaze which broke out early last night is not yet known. The living room was the only part of the house affected. A Chesterfield rug, flooring and walls were all damaged, and smoke added to the bill of destruction.

Citizens' Band To Give Concert

Peterborough Citizens Band will make its first public appearance of the season at Riverside Park on Sunday evening at 8:30 p.m., to play a one and one-half hour program of concert music.

The band will display the "new look" for the first time when they take the stand nattily attired in their new uniforms of maroon and grey. The maroon tunic is set off with grey trousers and maroon cap and are of military style cut along the same lines as the air force uniforms.

Included on the program will be the march "The Kitties" the overture "Norma" and the waltz "Bower of Beauty."

Capt. W. H. Peryer under whose direction the band will play, advises that the band has been practicing conscientiously for the opening and promises listeners a new thrill in band concerts. A large crowd is expected if the weather is right.

The complete program is as follows:

Democracy Must Be Streamlined John Fisher Tells Underwriters

Democracy must become streamlined, it must be publicized and sold to the people, if it is to survive, John Fisher, noted C.B.C. commentator and story-teller introduced his talk on public relations to more than 300 people attending the first public relations dinner meeting held by the Life Underwriters' Association of Peterborough.

Introduced by John Allan, Mr. Fisher, thrilled the audience in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel with a masterpiece of oratory characterized by all the eloquence and vigor for which he is famous. He spoke first of public relations, then switched to a travel story of his recent trip through Europe, and he painted a graphic word picture of the canopy of fear that hangs over France, Belgium and Czechoslovakia.

Launching his talk, he said, "Democracy is dull and while imperfect, it improves with time, and we are not concerned about it because we know it is not a fixed thing. Many people chisel at democracy and weaken the links—while across the world another great power is devoting all its energy and knowledge to spreading a doctrine and way of life that is efficient but anathema to free peoples."

"Democracy has not only the competition of Communism to face, but the competition of salesmanship to combat. Today everything is presented and sold in its most pleasant form. We present democracy in a very dull way, as shown by the recent election speeches. Democracy not only needs public relations in mass form but in individual form. They sell Communism every day in Russian schools. What do we do? Unless we do something soon about selling our way of life we don't meet their challenge."

Turning to the subject of Peterborough, Mr. Fisher said "Peterborough is the capital of the muskie country. In this unusual city people can step out their back doors into varied and glorious country. Its financial stability is a tribute to the community's leaders."

"You have changed from the old days because you worked together. There has been a lot of loyalty in the history of this grand city. The old-timers set a mould and leaders of succeeding generations worked to it. They went forward."

Insurance Progressed
"Life insurance has an analogy. It saw the necessity for streamlining. The insurance man moved from the role of pedlar to that of counsellor, and today life insurance has reached a professional status. It has moved forward with the times, and no other business has made such strides.

"The greatest single symbol of Canadian maturity is life insurance. Actually Canada exports more life insurance than any other country in the world. It is sold in 64 different countries. Insurance men reach out into far-away places doing a grand job of goodwill. Yet they are in the keenest competitive field in the world. British, American and Canadian companies are all active in Canada. Canadians realize that it is performance that counts and have developed a great genius for doing things quietly and without bragging."

"Because we live in the shadow of Great Britain and the United States, they have shaped our destiny and behaviour, therefore we show a degree of stability not known elsewhere."

"We must recognize that progress in Canada depends on partnership, partnership between labor and capital, between all sects and creeds."

"We are masters of compromise in Canada. We are very cautious. We can take an example from life insurance in its progress and streamlining, we can unlock the cobwebs from the minds of a host of people who think they are sturdy democrats."

Paige Rowell, chairman of the public relations committee was in the chair, and head table guests included Mayor W. G. Owens and Mrs. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Anderson, John Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sackville, Leslie Dunsdale, Toronto and Graham Walters, Toronto.

Miss Jean Dunn, soprano, formerly of Lindsay and now of Peterborough, a scholarship winner at the recent Kiwanis festival, delighted the audience with three songs. Her accompanist was Robert C. Cutts. Bruce Davidson, Bobcaygeon, another Kiwanis scholarship winner also sang two songs in professional style.

The thanks of the meeting was voiced by Leslie Dunsdale, and a vote of thanks from the guests was given by Lou Ingram. James Cooper, president of the Peterborough Life Underwriters' Association, welcomed the guests and Mayor Owens spoke in greeting to the large number of out-of-town visitors.

Riding of Toronto Youth Highlight On Program First Night of Horse Show

With the thundering hoofs of perfectly-matched teams and the neighs of thoroughbred horses filling the air, the second annual Peterborough Horse Show opened Friday night in an exciting display which indicates the belief expressed by many that the Peterborough show will develop into the best of its type in the province. Sponsored by the Kinsmen Club, the first evening program attracted about one thousand people to the grandstand at Exhibition Park. An overflow crowd is expected at today's shows in the afternoon and evening.

Friday night saw the introduction to Peterborough of the famed Canadian Army jumping team, which competed with other entrants in a display of expert barrier-clearing not seen before in the city.

Stand-out of the jumping competition was, of course, the array of beautiful jumping horses—English and Irish breeds—entered. Of the individual riders, 17-year-old Douglas Hood, Toronto, a civilian attached to the Canadian Army team, was crowd favorite. In the "knock down and out" stakes he rode "Chamoro" to second place and "Peggy" to third place, respectively. In the open jumping class, he rode "Peggy," jumping first, made second place with another horse, "Shorty," and fourth on "Chamoro" again.

All events on the night's card drew enthusiastic responses from the stands as the watchers rooted impartially for each entry as it went through its paces, applauded a fine jump or groaned at a luckless one, cheered at a spurt of speed of one of the teams, or an upset on the track.

42 Gas Dealers Want To Close

Legal committee of the council recommended Friday night that a bylaw be prepared to regulate the time of business of gasoline service stations as requested by the proprietors.

This action is in response to a petition from 42 of the gasoline station proprietors out of the total of 47 in local selling. Their proposed arrangement is that the number of stations operating nightly after 7 p.m. be reduced to 15 per cent of the total; all closing at 10 p.m.; and that the same 15 per cent stay open, in rotation, on Sundays.

The committee's instruction to City Solicitor Huycke was said to follow new legislation permitting no discretion or choice by the council.

Ald. Adam Sands presided. Apparently the building and plumbing fee idea has only been scotched. Representatives of both trades are going to be consulted for opinions about the proposal of charging inspection fees.

In The Hard Way

TORONTO, June 12 (CP).

A six-year-old girl entered a Toronto beverage room on Friday—and the proprietors escaped arrest for allowing minors on the premises. Joyce Latanville entered through a skylight on the roof where she was playing. The resulting 15-foot fall to the beverage room floor led only to scratched legs and arms for the child.

Industry Plans 4-Day Holiday

The majority of workers employed in Peterborough will enjoy another mammoth week-end over the Dominion Day period. If the weather is good there is likely to be more travelling than at any other time during the summer season; and perhaps run Christmas—a close second.

In all, but one of the larger Peterborough firms there will be a complete shut-down. The exception is the Quaker Oats Company which will retain a skeleton staff in order to take inventory. Every year, July 1-2, that company partially closes down and it will do so again while stock is being taken this year.

July 1 falls on a Thursday and normally this would leave one more working day, Friday, before the week-end. By working on a previous Saturday the employees will have Friday also as a holiday, thus making a four-day stretch from Wednesday night to Monday morning.

Outboard Marine employees worked last Saturday, while those at CGE are working today. Western Clock and Raybestos workers are both scheduled to work on June 19.

The former have the most enviable holiday of all. They will have the first four days in July and then begin their two-week vacation. When they walk out of the plant on Wednesday, June 30 they will be free to Monday, July 1.

3,632 Enrolled In 10 Schools

Inspector K. S. Wightman reported to the Board of Education on Thursday night a public school enrollment of 3,632 in May being an increase of 262 pupils over May 1937. If these pupils were all in one section of the city they would be sufficient to fill one of the new six-room additions just being completed.

The average attendance for the month was 3,386 or 93.52 per cent. In the 10 public schools the 109 pupils at Grove headed the list with an average attendance of 95.78 per cent. Other averages were King Edward 468 pupils with 95.29; Confederation 257 pupils, 95.23; King George 473 pupils with 94.94; Central 432 with 93.42; Queen Mary 569 pupils with 93.39; Prince of Wales 710 pupils with 92.46; Queen Alexandra 345 pupils, 92.26; May's 181 pupils, 92.24; and Parkhill 88 pupils with 86.16 per cent.

Plan Inspection Tour

Peterborough's largest industry, the city works of the Canadian General Electric Co., will be "at home" to thousands of visitors of the city, who have been invited to tour the big plant on Saturday, June 19.

Arthritis Cure Unknown Martin Declares

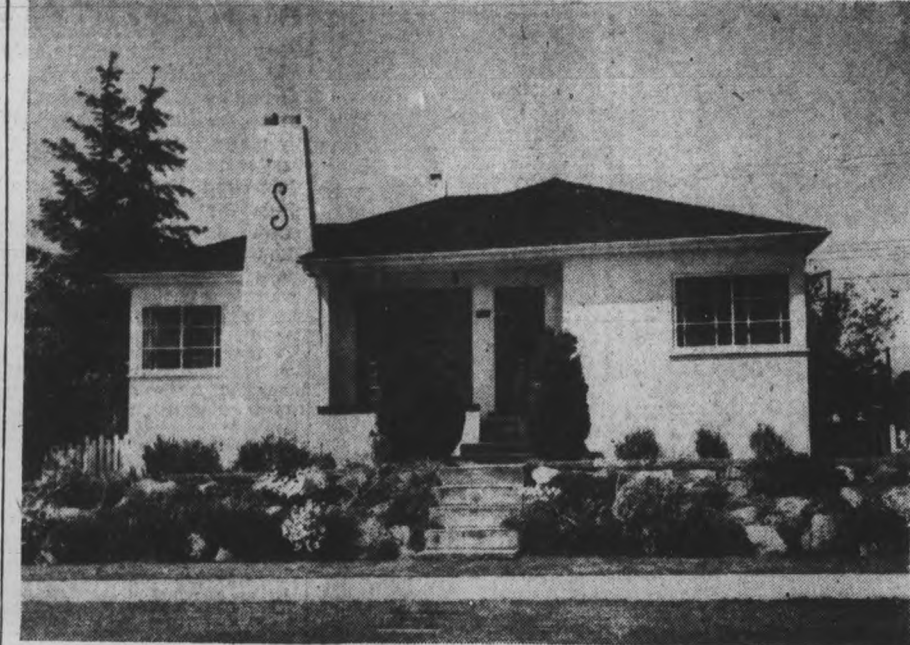

OTTAWA, June 12.—(CP).—Contribution toward the improvement of health services are contributions towards Canada's national defence, Health Minister Martin said Friday in the Commons.

Head of a department that will spend $87,000,000 more than the Defence Department this year, Mr. Martin said the money will be well spent and will contribute to the welfare of the country.

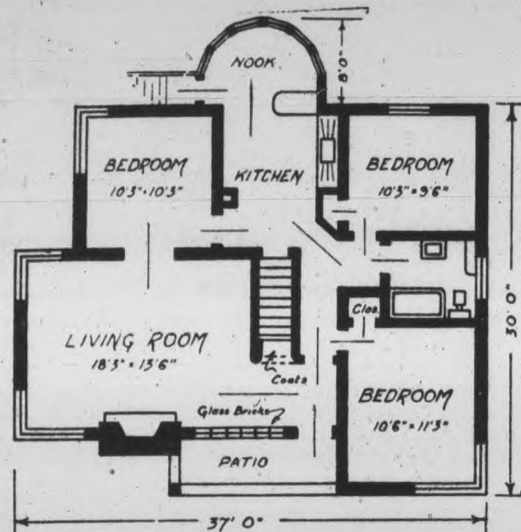

He made the statement during study of his estimates. He was replying to a series of Opposition observations, including a statement of Dr. William Blair (PC-Lanark) that 42 to 44 per cent of young Canadians were rejected as physically unfit during the Second World War.

The minister reviewed the various activities of his department. He made these points:

1. Health Department experts do not know of any known cure for arthritis.
2. Some 27 separate researches into possible cure for cancer were started in Canada last fall.

3. The Federal Government has offered to pay dollar for dollar with the provinces in the treatment of persons threatened with the loss of eyesight.
4. A conference has been held with the provinces to decide on the division of contributions to the research and treatment of specific illnesses.

A DAZZLING WHITE STUCCO COTTAGE which looks as if it had been inspired by the little homes dotting the coral beaches of Bermuda, yet it is perfectly at home in the Canadian scene. The flower-laden rock garden is an important part of the landscaping, and does much to enhance the whole picture. A glance at the plan shown reveals an ample supply of windows throughout the house. To avoid that "fish bowl feeling," translucent glass blocks were installed in the big expanse of window overlooking the street and front patio. While three bedrooms are shown in the plan, a smaller family might prefer to make other use of the one between the living room and kitchen. Of special interest is the dining nook with its half-circle of windows overlooking the rear garden. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Mr. Martin said he could not give details of the conference until later when the Commons discusses supplementary estimates that will cover contributions.

Dr. Blair said that if 42 or 44 per cent of young Canadians were turned down for military service, the health of older age groups was probably worse. He suggested a Commons committee should be established to investigate the reason.

Mr. Martin said he hoped to take some action soon toward having a Commons health committee established. His department had already been instrumental in the establishment of a national council on arthritis and rheumatism and a national institute on cancer.

While no cure has yet been found for arthritis, he hoped that

Col. A. V. Yates Leading Citizen Marmora Area

MARMORA, June 12 (ENS).—The sudden death of Lt.-Col. Arthur Volkman Yates, MC, at his home in Deloro at 11:30 p.m. on Thursday, cast a distinct gloom over the Marmora and Deloro district which has known him for almost 35 years. He had attended the Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Royal Hotel and in his usual breezy manner had introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Bert Howard, principal of Albert College, Belleville. He returned to his home shortly after 10 p.m. where he suffered a heart condition from which he failed to rally. Son of Mr. Thomas Yates and the late Mrs. Yates he came to Deloro on Labor Day, 1913 to be the teacher at the public school in that village. He had been educated at the Preston public school, the Galt Collegiate Institute and finally graduated from the Faculty of Education, University of Toronto.

In 1915 he enlisted with the 11th Bn. Canadian Infantry, proceeding overseas in 1916. He went on draft to the 1st Bn. Canadian Infantry and was one of its officers to be awarded the Military Cross. Returning from overseas, he filled in turn various positions with the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, Limited. From the Engineering Department in which he started, he was transferred to the accounting department. He became chief accountant. His next position was that of assistant secretary-treasurer. With the retirement of F. A. Barty in 1939 he became secretary-treasurer and also a member of the Board of Directors. His appointment as general manager with the retention of the secretary-treasurer position came in 1945. He was a man of many parts. Before his enlistment in 1915 he played for the Deloro Football Club as its goalkeeper. He was fond of vocal and instrumental music. He possessed a strong bass voice and was a good pianist and violinist. He was a member of the now defunct Deloro String Quartette which was held in Deloro some years ago. He was for several years a member of Deloro Public School Board.

In 1939 he was appointed honorary colonel of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and was OC of their reserve 2nd Bn. with headquarters at Picton. He was deeply interested in the welfare of the G.W.V.A. when it was functioning and later the Canadian Legion. He was a director of the Deloro Trading Company and was connected with the Social and Dramatic Society in its long tenure of life. He was past master of Marmora AF & AM 222 and a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church. In all his activities he was widely and favorably known. Although of fine stature and build, his many friends spoke of him with no shade of disrespect as "Tiny" Yates. He was married to Christina Wilson of Hamilton, who survives him as well as two children, Dorothy, nurse-in-training at Toronto General Hospital, and Thomas, who is attending Albert College, Belleville. He is also survived by his father, one brother, Ralph, Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. Mildred Cross, Galt, and Miss Blanche Yates Preston. The funeral service will be conducted at his late residence at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday under auspices of Marmora AF & AM 222. Rev. J. M. Brownlie will officiate, assisted by Rev. E. M. Cadigan. Burial will take place in Preston on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Ethel Blodgett and Douglas of Cobourg, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elliott and John of Peterborough. Miss A. Unsher, teacher of SS No. 2, Dummer, spent the week end at her home near Grafton.

MORE ABOUT— Kinsmen Show.

Opening Parade

The show got under way at 7 p.m. with a parade of some of the features of the Horse Show. Leading the procession was five-year-old Mary May Ruth of Omeene on a Shetland pony, which she handled expertly. The youngest entry in last year's Royal Winter Fair, she was titled there "Darling of the Royal" and, true to form, stole the hearts of the Peterborough crowd.

Following were a noted stable of four coal-black thoroughbred Percherons and a six-horse team of Clydesdales. The magnificent animals drew "oohs" and "ahs" of approval on their display.

Opening the Kinsmen Horse Show, Kin president James King said the show had four purposes: entertainment, advertising for the city, an exhibition of horsemanship, and the profits are to be turned over to youth training in the city.

Psychologist Says Easing Childbirth Pain May Kill Mother's Love For Her Baby

LONDON, June 12—(AP).—Dr. James Hadfield, leading London psychologist, suggested Friday that anaesthetics given mothers during childbirth may kill their love for the children they painlessly bear.

Dr. Hadfield, lecturer in psychopathology and mental hygiene at London University, wrote the British Medical Journal that "the very perpetuation of the maternal feeling" may depend upon the use of pain-killers during childbirth.

Dr. Hadfield's letter called for "further scientific investigation of the matter in human mothers... before we launch on a wholesale administration of anaesthetics...."

The Government has been promoting use of partial anaesthetics. Health Minister Aneurin Bevan reported Thursday that midwives used them in more than 43,000 cases last year, compared with only 20,000 the year before.

eral Department of Agriculture, J. M. McCallum, complimented last year's successful show, and expressed his hopes that this year's would be as good.

Two trick horses from Toronto, Pesky and Baldy, ridden by Robert Ephringham and Murray Jones, performed. To music, they danced in waltz, foxtrot, tango, cake-walks and other ballroom maneuvers.

Jump Results

Placings in the "Knock down and out" stakes were: 1, Lieut. Robert Ballard on Alladin (Army); 2, Douglas Hood on Chamor (Army); 3, Douglas Hood on Peggy (Army); 4, Lieut. Ballard on Twilight; 5, Lieut. Ballard on Reject (both horses owned by Lieut. Ballard).

Winners of the open jump competition, which had 11 entries, were: 1, Douglas Hood on Peggy (Army); 2, Hood on Shorty (Army); 3, Paddy Farrell, Toronto, on Twilight (owned by Lieut. Ballard); 4, Hood on Chamoro (Army); 5, Lieut. Ballard on Alladin (Army).

Five classes of high steppers, hackney and carriage horses, brought round after round of applause from spectators.

In the pair carriage horses class the entry of Mr. and Mrs. Ken McMillan of Georgetown, driven by Mr. McMillan, carried off top honors. In the other four places were entries of J. A. Mackay, Georgetown; Ray Inch, St. Thomas; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Barden, Hillsbury, and Donald Tinney, Cavan.

Ray Inch led three other entries to win the pair road class, though Wilfred Lindsay of Campbellcroft was a close second. Third and fourth in that order were Mel Barden, Hillsbury, and Ivan Cochrane of Nestleton.

Only one entry showed up in the hackney pony team class, that of the Ferguson Coach Lines of Peterborough whose driver was Alex Miller.

Six entries in the carriage horse class, 15 hands, two inches and under, made it a close contest. Ray Inch of St. Thomas again led the others, as Ken McMillan and J. A. Mackay placed second and third respectively. Keith Kelly, RR 3, Peterborough, and R. M. Barden won fourth and fifth honors.

Gaining his third blue ribbon of the evening, Ray Inch carried off the roadster single class, edging out W. H. Lindsay, Campbellcroft, and Ivan Cochrane, who received the red and yellow ribbons. Mel Barden was fourth and E. J. Umphries fifth.

Riders of winning horses in the Ladies' Saddle Horses class were: 1, Pat Staples, Ida; 2, Katherine Anderson, Picton; 3, Mary Dodde, 225 Engleburn Ave., Peterborough; 4, Joyce McMillan, Georgetown.

Of Interest to Women

Has Man or Wife Tougher Job in Low Income Homes?

Is the average, run-of-the-mill marriage, in which the husband makes only a modest income and the wife has to do her own housework and baby-tending, harder on the man or the woman? Ninety-nine wives out of a hundred, if asked this question, would shriek out as with one voice that it is women who get the hot end of the matrimonial bargain.

For practically all married women have the martyr complex, and there is nothing that they are more firmly convinced of than that while they are toiling over the cooking stove and walking the baby with the colic that their husbands are enjoying themselves and leading the life of Riley.

Much of wives' nagging is just pure envy of their husbands who, they think, have an easier job than they have. They can't understand why their husbands complain of being tired when they come home at night, when they have done nothing but go down town where they saw many people who were doing interesting things. If they had only been shut up in a house all day, with a lot of quarrelling and fighting children who were calling on Mamma every minute, and if they had to go through the same old routine of cooking and washing and scrubbing every day, they would have a reason for being worn out and grouchy.

Treadmill Duty

And what puts the climax on wife's slave-pity is that their work is treadmill stuff. It is brewing the same coffee, frying the same potatoes, year in and year out. No eight-hour days, no five-day weeks for wives and mothers, so it is small wonder that they quote the old adage: "Man works from how monotonous their work is, never done."

Hence it is not surprising that women think that marriage is a cinch for husbands and a chore for wives. But is it true? I think not. I think that the housewives who are always griping about how hard they have to work and how monotonous their work is, and feeling misused because their husbands won't help with the housework, need to do a little straight thinking on the subject and get help to how lucky they are.

They might realize, for instance, that no woman who has to make her own living has the personal liberty that a wife does. True, she has plenty of work to do, but she isn't working under a slave-driver. She can take her own time to sit. She is the only woman who can spend an hour gossiping over the telephone, or taking a nap, or reading a who-dun-it if she happens to feel like it. She is her own boss, and that's something.

Of course, the housewife's work is monotonous, but so is every other job from making soap to being a movie star. And certainly there is nothing monotonous about rearing a family of children, each of whom has to be dealt with on a different platform and who present problems that Solomon himself couldn't solve.

And, furthermore, there is one thing that few wives take into consideration when they are bemoaning the hardships of marriage, and that is that the husband is the "gentleman who pays the rent." On his shoulders rests the responsibility of the family being fed and clothed, and that is a crushing burden that most wives never have to wear.

Statistics show that wives outlive their husbands by six to seven years. Surely this is proof that many a man works himself to death for the Little Woman and the kids.

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 13

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of very lively and pleasant activities, with much of an intellectual, cultural, social, perhaps romantic nature, engaging the attention. Functions of pleasure and fun should wax merrily, providing they be kept within the bounds of good taste and reason.

since there is also an augury of excess, excitement and friction for lack of restraint. Accidents, cuts, fires, and loss may penalize any want of action.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of opportunity with progress, change, new contracts or pleasant renewals, with adaptability and resourcefulness gladly recognized. The personal element is strong, and charm, beauty, culture and graciousness may be prudently utilized. However, there is a hint of excess, over-doing, antagonism, and tumult, with physical harm, hurts and accidents to be reckoned with for violations of consideration, good taste.

A child born on this day will have much versatility, intellect and acumen, with a gracious and affectionate personality. This might be negated by turbulent emotions, quick temper or other extravagance or excesses, with consequent harm or penalties.

For Monday, June 14

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of little accomplishment or progress, since there are many aspects of delay, cross purpose, lack of resources, energies and cooperation. There is a sign of scattered energies, substance and assets, with an abrupt occurrence which may upset and devastate all plans and objectives. The judgment may be faulty and the impulses erratic. It would be advisable to postpone all vital operations until more hopeful and encouraging auspices. Guard funds and health.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves hemmed into a period of frustrated or difficult situations, in which scattered energies, resources and plans may prove devastating. Under erroneous judgment, erratic impulses or emotions, it could be a time of loss of funds, position, reputation and even close personal af-fillations. A sudden or untoward event may disturb and distress. A period of relaxation and restraints could be beneficial in all ways.

A child born on this day may be subject to strange and unpredictable upsets and disturbances, scattering its energies and undermining its judgment. Consideration and kindly direction could be of importance.

Girl Guide is Heroine in Landslide Tragedy WINS DOW AWARD

MARY YOUNG OF PICTON, ONTARIO, shows courage and presence of mind as trench cave-in buries two

The men working on the sewer excavation were off for lunch... leaving the 9-foot-deep trench a perfect playground for the two small children. However, Girl Guides Mary Young and Nancy Wright, hearing the children down in the trench, decided that it was no place for games. Scrambling down quickly, they were escorting the youngsters out in single file when, suddenly, a large section of earth on one side gave way.

USES BARE HANDS
One child escaped the landslide unhurt... but a little boy and Nancy Wright were buried under the heavy earth. Mary Young, somehow extricated herself, pulling one foot completely out of her shoe... and then, seeing Nancy's fingers showing, she frantically clawed at the rock and earth until she had cleared a small space around the imprisoned girl's head. This done, she dashed to the nearest house, gave the alarm, and returned to the task of freeing her chum.

Unfortunately, the little boy died. But, due to Mary's quick thinking and courage, a double tragedy was averted. Nancy Wright suffered only minor injuries and shock. We are proud to pay tribute to Girl Guide Mary Young of Picton, Ontario, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

The Guides were trying to get the children out of the trench when the disaster occurred. Earth and rock tumbled down on top of them... burying Nancy and the little boy.

Her training standing her in good stead, Mary Young coolly extricated herself... and, risking a further cave-in, she clawed desperately at the earth to rescue her friend.

TRY RAIN-MAKING—Rain-making powers of dry ice were successfully tested in the bush fire area northwest of Biscotasing Thursday night when suitable cloud formations were encountered as predicted. Cloud which Austin Airways Norseman is skimming (left) is type desired and part of bank "seeded" with dry ice flown in the Mallard from Toronto to Sudbury. Kenneth Pettit, National Research Council, conducted the experiment. At right he excitedly points out to pilot Rusty Blakey shafts of rain forming and falling.

MIGHTY COLD—Blocks of dry ice weighing 50 pounds were flown north to forest fires, ground into pellets for seeding. Gloves worn by Clarence Hutchings, will protect his hands only a few seconds, since ice is 89 degrees below zero.

Social Work Essential To Security—UN Official

HAMILTON, June 12—(CP)—The importance of social work on the international front was discussed by a United Nations official Thursday night at the Canadian conference on social work.

Sir Raphael Cilento, director of the U.N. economic and social council, told the gathering of some 800 welfare workers that the U.N.'s success or failure depended on its realization that the social welfare of the individual was "the mainspring of security."

Social work, by its very nature, must continue for all time, he said. His division had chosen social welfare first of all—as its initial project.

A lengthy discussion of "residence laws" occupied CCSW delegates at an earlier session at which they heard an American delegate report that his state had successfully abandoned these rules which could cause hardship to a family that had moved to a new district.

Finding itself in needy circumstances, such a family often was unable to get welfare assistance because it hadn't lived in that area long enough.

E. P. Reidy of the Social Welfare Department, Rhode Island, said his state abolished its settlement law six years ago.

AT ALL DRUG & DEPT. STORES

C. W. Lundy of Victoria, director of welfare, said that anyone in Canada should be able to reside anywhere he chose—and be eligible there to receive all benefits. It was "inconsistent" to talk of one world when moving across a stateline could change one's rights.

At a business session of the conference Dorothy King of Montreal, director of the McGill school of social work, was named president of the conference. She succeeds Dr. H. S. Stewart of Hamilton.

Dynamite-Tosser Faces Serious Charge

STURGEON FALLS, June 12 (CP)—Henri Poisson of Sturgeon Falls will be tried at the fall assizes on a murder attempt charge.

He was committed for trial by Magistrate M. G. Gould at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing of the indictment in police court Thursday.

It is charged that Poisson tossed sticks of dynamite at the bedroom window of his former common-law wife, Mrs. Cecile Lande. The latter, estranged from her husband, lives with her two children at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maxime Fredette, 134 Nipissing St., Sturgeon.

Discuss Merging YWCA and YMCA

BRANTFORD, June 12 (CP)—The first step in a proposed merger of the YMCA and YWCA in Brantford was taken at a joint board meeting of the two associations Thursday evening. A definite decision as to whether the plan will be carried has not been made but committees have been set up to study the plan in all its aspects.

Included in the plan is that the YWCA property would be sold and the YMCA building enlarged to house both associations. Both associations would put all their resources into the project and would have joint ownership of the present YM property.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

MAJORS HAVE AN EDGE

PLAYERS of pretty fair ability—the overwhelming majority of them—seem never to know the difference between major and minor suit-lengths as reasons for opening or not opening the bidding. They have learned that a certain amount of honor strength is one requirement of a sound opening bid, and that the length of suits is another. But when a hand is right on the borderline between an opening bid and a pass, the question of major versus minor becomes paramount. Often the side with a preponderance of major suit cards can take the same number of tricks in its best declaration as its opponents can in their best. When that is the case, the minor suit holders are obliged to overbid a level and take a one-trick beating in order to capture the contract.

(Declarer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
1 ♠	1 NT	Pass	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	Pass	3 ♠

That bidding is not recommended. It is thoroughly unsound. But it does illustrate clearly the difference between majors and minors as desirable material for opening the auction.

South has an irreducible minimum with his four-card suits and his three honor tricks. He should therefore have consulted the factor of majors versus minors and thus resolved his problem in favor of a pass. But he didn't.

South was unable to take the contract away from his opponents except by bidding one level higher than they, which also happened to be one level higher than he could make. He lost two in spades, two in hearts and one in diamonds, and was set one.

You will notice, upon study of the situation, that West could have made the last contract for which he bid, 2-Heart. He would have lost only five tricks by natural play, one in spades, two in diamonds and two in clubs.

Your Week-End Question

When is the rebid of a suit a sign-off? When is it not a sign-off?

Answers: 1. A giver. 2. Banishment. 3. Dropped.

County Farm Notes

—By HARRY THEOBALD

Many Old-Fashioned Cropping Practices Have Undergone Progressive Changes in Peterborough County in Recent Years.

CHANGING FARM PRACTICES

"Several changes have occurred in cropping practice in the Peterborough district during the last decade," Ernest McWilliam remarked to The Examiner. "They have been gradual, and thereby escape general notice, but the effect of them will alter the rotation of crops and the growing of feed to a large extent."

One of the most marked changes has been the decrease in the acreage of barley—both for feed and as a cash crop. For the past few years the yields of barley have been very low and unsatisfactory, even when using the new improved varieties. This has resulted in the loss of one of our best sources of livestock feed, and consequently most of our barley is now imported from western Canada. The implication of this change is the fact that we must find a substitute for this high carbohydrate feed; corn is at the moment the logical solution.

In the bordering states of New York and Pennsylvania barley is almost unknown in large areas, having been entirely replaced by grain corn for feeding purposes. Our present trend is closely following the trend that took place in these areas several years ago, and the end result will apparently be the same.

The second important change in general cropping has been brought about by the progressive decreasing yields of legume seeds on our local farms. The reason for this loss is at yet unknown, and is presently being investigated in a small way by several agents. This has placed this area in the position of having to import legume seed from outside the province with a serious loss to the Ontario farmer for a highly specialized cash crop and also forces him to purchase high priced imported seed. The two way loss to our local farmer constitute a serious loss of revenue.

This serious decrease in the production of legume seed can be corrected if we find the causal organism, whether it be insect or pathological. It has been solved in other areas, particularly Iowa States by the co-operative investigations of research teams from the Departments of Agriculture and Laboratories. It can and must be solved locally, and it is felt that all efforts expended would be worth while in the interests of the prosperity to our local farmers.

BUTTER FLOOR PRICE
The floor price of 57½ cents a pound, wholesale, on butter is set for Canada as a whole by the federal government's recent order-in-council. In the Montreal-Toronto market the minimum will be 58 cents. The spread between wholesale and retail butter prices averages about 3½ cents, signifying 61½ cents to the consumer.

If butter drops below the floor price, the Dairy Products Board, operated by the government, will support the market by buying whatever is offered at the floor price. This buying will end as soon as the open market price advances above the minimum level. Stocks that may be bought, will be stored or released to the trade immediately. If stored, they will be released through the normal trade channels later.

The floor plan is hoped to bring stability and security of price to the producer, and thereby to have the effect of an eventual increase in supply.

SPECIALIST FARMERS
Louis Blomfield, best-seller novelist, turned farmer, author of "Malabar Farm," tells of his own discovery that general farming was not economical, and what he did about it. Some Peterborough district farmers know the story from their own experience. In the beginning he followed the old pattern of dairy beef and beef cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens, grain and pasture land, and an orchard of 200 trees.

He disposed of the orchard because spraying costs were not economical. He found it cheaper to buy potatoes than grow them. Having 1,400 pullets was being neither in or out of the hen business, so they went with the orchard. His plan finally resolved itself as follows: "Gradually as the fertility of the fields mounted we found ourselves moving deeper under the pressure of common sense and economics into stream-lined, efficient specialty farming and a program based upon small grains and grasses. We have become a factory for grass in all its forms: hay, grass silage and pasture. Our livestock has become incidental to the main specialty. They are merely the factory which processes the raw material we produce in the form of grass. The factory in the livestock barns processes it into milk, cheese, veal, baby beef and dairy heifers which ship to the eastern markets. We are going up hill all the time, concentrating all our efforts upon a definite program of grass and cattle, building our fertility instead of tearing it down, and making more money per acre than any general farmer can make and more than most corn and hog farmers are making."

The temptation arises to name some of the local farmers who have reduced their farm management to the Malabar plan, although on smaller acreages. Fertility of their soil is one of their major objectives. They are specialists, as Blomfield has become, and their cattle are their processors, converting grass into dairy products.

CHEESE MILK FOR ICE CREAM
Silverwoods are ceasing their summer make of cheese at Indian River factory. The milk of that vicinity is being transferred to the Aymer St. plant to augment the supply required for the greatly increased production of ice cream. However, the cheese-making equipment is being kept at Indian River as a standby next spring until the demand mounts again for the ice cream freezers. That will be a temporary outlet for surplus milk at that stage of the season. In the meantime the main plant in Peterborough is going out of cheese manufacture entirely, but will continue to make condensed milk.

JUNIORS' BUS TRIP
Murray McRae, assistant agricultural representative, has drawn up the following itinerary for the Junior Farmers trip to London, June 19-20. Leave King St. terminal Saturday at 7:30 a.m.; visit TWINS ON NEW DIET — Maggie, motherly Hereford owned by Harry A. McCloskey, Guelph district farmer, has adopted twin lambs, orphaned when their mother died defending them from savage dogs.

Leitchcroft Farm at Gormley; Oxford Holstein Breeders Club and Farmers' Co-operative plant at Woodstock; Weldwood Farm, London; Alex M. Stewart's Farm, Alisa Craig. Spend night at Hotel London.

Sunday: Attend church at Tillsonburg; visit forestry station at St. Williams, and continue homeward by way of Jarvis and Hamilton.

DURHAM FEDERATION
Directors of Durham Federation of Agriculture have suspended regular meetings during July and August. For the annual picnic Saturday, June 26, the men at their June meeting reported that they had lined up three teams for softball games. Managers and Cavan are forming one team, and ship public meetings next year in the interest of the Federation: Clarence Allen, Charles Osborne, Harvey Malcolm and J. J. Mellor, secretary. It was also decided to call a meeting next fall to discuss Co-Op insurance. Mr. W. Bowles has organized a sports program in Cartwright.

EXTEND MAPLE SERVICE
Jersey and Ayrshire breeders have probably been informed that the artificial insemination service at Maple has been extended to their breeds.

GRASSLAND DAY AT ALLISTON
Ontario Crop Improvement Association is sponsoring the grassland day, Thurs. June 24 on the farm of W. H. C. Ruthven, two miles north of Alliston, from Highway 89. Modern methods of weed control will be shown in the morning, and the afternoon program includes talks by specialists on hay and pastures, an hay harvesting demonstration from 2 to 4 p.m. If any farmer of this district can knock off the day it should be a profitable trip. In regard to that phrase of occasional holiday, Fred Eason remarked in characteristic vein: "Bruce McNeven's place Thursdays that he found it easy enough to knock off, but 'knocking on' was another matter."

Allied-German Talks Delayed On Government

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 14 (AP).—By the request of France, United States and British military governors have postponed talks with German leaders here on a West-German Federal Government.

They did so because the French National Assembly has not yet approved a six-country agreement to set up such a government. The Assembly ends debate on the matter to-morrow. Paris observers predict approval by a slim margin.

The Allied-German talks had been set for to-morrow. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, and Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British military governor, meet with other British and United States officials in Frankfurt to-day.

The German Economic Council of the US and British occupation zones—which may become the nucleus of a Frankfurt Government taking in the French zone as well—also meets to-day.

The Council is expected to protest international control of the Ruhr—another recommendation made in the Allied agreement.

The agreement was worked out in London conference of Britain, the US, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg. It was announced a week ago.

While the Western Powers have been making their plans for a German government, German Communists have been gathering signatures on petitions for a unified Germany.

Fight Looming On ERP Money

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP).—Another lusty fight over the European recovery program is shaping up in the United States Senate.

Senators favoring the full $5,300,000,000 plan aimed at jacking up Europe's economy—and halting Communism—are not fully satisfied with the appropriations committee action.

The committee voted Saturday night to put the program on a 12-month basis instead of the 15 months voted by the House of Representatives. It also restored most of the house cuts, too. But the funds it approved still fall $245,000,000 short of what Congress authorized.

Yesterday, the E.C.A. handed out its biggest recovery package so far—$95,610,605 for 11 countries—of which Canada will furnish more than $14,000,000 worth of aluminum, copper, lead and linseed oil.

Isley Won't Stand As Candidate Again

KENTVILLE, N.S., June 14 (CP).—The Halifax Herald said today that Hon. J. L. Isley will definitely not be a candidate in the next Dominion election. The newspaper said the retiring Justice Minister made that clear to a meeting of the Liberal party executive for Digby-Annapolis-Kings constituency here Saturday night. The meeting unanimously urged him to retain his seat until a federal election is called.

Mr. Isley left Sunday morning by plane for Ottawa.

DROWNED ON SUNDAY—Wm. Faulkner, 26, foreman at the C.G.E. company who drowned Sunday evening in Crowe river at Marmora when his fishing boat upset. Two companions also from Peterborough reached shore safely.

Palestine Quiet As Truce Now In Force

CAIRO, June 14 (CP).—The Arab-Jewish truce was reported to have brought quiet to Palestine at last today. The United Nations mediator was on Rhodes, Greek Mediterranean island off Turkey, setting up headquarters for negotiations toward lasting peace.

Both Jews and Syrians charged new violations Sunday in northern Palestine of the four-week armistice that began Friday morning under U.N. sponsorship. The Jews said they had been forced to fight back. The Syrians threatened to do so.

But two truce observers, United States naval officers, got back to Tel Aviv from the northern front Sunday night and reported all quiet there. A Jewish communiqué said the fighting stopped Sunday morning.

Welcome Immigrants

The Jews welcomed 420 immigrants to Tel Aviv Sunday night. They got their first food convoy in more than seven weeks through from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem Sunday.

The U.N. mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden, flew into Rhodes and said he had word the Holy Land had "calmed down." He arrived from Cairo by way of Trans-Jordan, Palestine and Syria.

He would say nothing about going back to Cairo tomorrow to see future negotiations. He planned to the Arab League political committee and then to Tel Aviv Thursday to meet Israeli leaders.

King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan told late interviewers in Amman that Arab acceptance of the truce "does not mean in any way that our determination to fight Zionism has weakened."

Israel has insisted upon statehood in a partitioned Palestine. Abdullah called for "a unitary Arab state in which the Jews would have full citizenship and local independence."

Boat Upsets, 2 Others Make Shore

Say Efforts Futile
To Rescue
William Faulkner

William A. Faulkner, 554 Sherbrooke St., 26-year-old C.G.E. foreman, was drowned in Crowe river near Havelock, Sunday evening when the boat from which he and two companions were fishing overturned in swift water. He is the son of Elwood Faulkner, R.R. 2, Omshee. Faulkner was fishing with John O'Connell, and Donald Motherwell, both of the Sherbrooke St. address.

In a brave effort to save Faulkner's life, O'Connell went under himself. Ray Marker, 567 Albert St., at whose cottage the trio were staying, swam from shore to rescue O'Connell.

Faulkner was sitting at the bow of the painted punt when it dipped under the fast water. The boat was flipped by the force of the water, throwing Faulkner and his friends into the river. Provincial Constable A. F. Grayling, who investigated the accident, said he believed the anchor was out, helping the boat to overturn.

The drowning occurred at 7 p.m., and the body was recovered from the river two hours later by Glen Varty and Raymond Parsons, both of R.R. 1 Havelock. The three men had arrived there only an hour before, planning a night of fishing.

Talented Apprentice

Faulkner was one of the most brilliant and talented apprentices to ever take the machinist course at the C.G.E. plant. He started with this firm in May 1941, after graduating from Omshee High School. In 1944 on completion of his apprenticeship, he was selected to take a post-graduate apprentice course, for one year. During that time he served in several plant departments and on completion of the course was assigned to special work in the office of W. Barnack, general superintendent.

One month later, April, 1946, Faulkner was appointed assistant foreman in the wire and cable department. This morning Ian McRae, and J. E. Girven, company officials voiced deep regret at this tragic death, and paid tribute to the fine record of this young man.

He was an active and popular member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, a member of Masonic Lodge, Ommees, and was also an Orangeman and a Black Knight. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Elwood Faulkner, Ommees, two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Lawrence McConnell, Ommees, Olive at home, and Clifford and Harold also at home.

The funeral will be held Wednesday, June 16, from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons where service will be at two o'clock. Burial will be Emily Cemetery. The Rev. V. E. R. Zuffelt of Bethel United Church will officiate, with the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church assisting.

OH BOY, REAL LIVE TROUT!—Fishermen are born, not made, but an animated display such as the five tanks of Canadian game fish exhibited by the Department of Lands and Forests at the recent Kinsmen Horse Show, showed the way to little Tommy Chamberlain. He gazed in wonder for a long time at the five three-year-old speckled trout from one of the department's 27 fish hatcheries. Four other tanks displayed black bass, pickerel, brown trout, mudcats, ling, herring and perch.

Party Leaders Involved In Slander Suit

REGINA, June 14 (CP).—With the province's two major political figures involved as principals, a $100,000 slander suit today loomed across the Saskatchewan election campaign picture.

Walter Tucker, provincial Liberal leader, said Saturday he will sue Premier Douglas for defamation. His Saskatchewan lawyers immediately began legal action against the premier, asking $100,000 for alleged damages to "Mr. Tucker's reputation and credit."

The lawsuit—launched less than two weeks before the June 24 provincial election—followed a campaign speech Friday by Mr. Douglas at Rosthern. The premier said Mr. Tucker was being sued for allegedly fraudulently depriving some people of their farm lands.

From Meadow Lake Mr. Tucker issued a statement saying the lawsuit against him was the result of a "conspiracy" by the premier and Dr. M. C. Shumatcher, government legal advisor, "to get an action started so that it could be used by them in the election in an attempt to defame my character."

Mr. Tucker said the action referred to had never been before the courts except on a motion by the defendants to strike out portions of the plaintiff's statement of claim on the grounds that it disclosed no cause for action.

May Move U.N. Headquarters

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 14 (AP).—A move is quietly in the making here to switch United Nations headquarters out of the United States, it was learned today.

Countries supporting the idea are taking no open steps and are laying the groundwork carefully. The drive may emerge as early as this fall at the Paris assembly. The substitute site probably would be Geneva.

Plan Announcement On Grain Payments

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP).—Trade Minister Howe told the Commons today he hopes to make an announcement shortly on payments to be made to farmers who lost money of coarse grain sales when the price ceilings were lifted last fall.

Replying to John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), he said the matter was still under consideration and he hoped to make the announcement before the end of the session.

Charge CSU Boarding Party Takes 11 Men Off Ship

CORNWALL, June 14 (CP).—Week-end waterfront incidents here, which included the alleged boarding of two vessels in Cornwall Canal, had their sequel in magistrate's court to-day when four members of the Canadian Seamen's Union were brought up on charges laid by the RCMP. The men were remanded for a hearing on June 21 without pleas being taken. They are: Milton C. Nuttall, CSU business agent, charged with seizing and retaining or imprisoning Edward Sutton, a member of the crew of the CSL Acadia.

Joseph Grabek, of Toronto, charged with assault and obstruction in connection with the boarding of the Sarnia freighter, J. O. McKellar, Sunday morning. Gerald Yettem, Halifax, NS, and John Clark, Digby, NS, charged with assault causing actual bodily harm, on the person of Capt. John Sharp, skipper of the McKellar.

It was reported that Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan declined to conduct the prosecution. Rodolphe Davis, K.C., will conduct the case for the shipping companies. George Bleakney, of Ottawa, represented the CSU.

Ball details will be arranged this afternoon. It was also stated other charges are pending against the men.

Arrest of the C.S.U. business agent by the RCMP came as a result of the alleged boarding of the C.S.L. freighter Acadia at 9 a.m. Saturday at Lock 20, Maple Grove.

The C.S.U. boarding party is said to have forcibly removed 11 crew members and five others, who were riding super cargos.

90-Year-Old Swedish King Sets 20th Century Record

STOCKHOLM, June 14 (AP).—Still active in his job, King Gustav V of Sweden turns 90 Wednesday, loved like a father by his people.

The King's 90 years is a record among 20th-century rulers. His reign is the longest in Sweden in modern times. He became king in 1907.

An active tennis player until two years ago, still a hunter and a chain smoker, the king now is growing a bit frail. There is no special concern for his health, but age is exacting its tribute.

Last winter when the king was forced to use a walking stick, he was annoyed. "I'm getting old," he said. He no longer is permitted to walk upstairs in the royal castle.

However, he shows few outward signs of old age. On June 6, Sweden's flag day, the king stood at attention for a half hour saluting parading military and civilian groups.

Noted Cartoonist J. Frise Dies

TORONTO, June 14 (CP).—Jimmy Frise, cartoonist who created "Juniper Junction," died at his home here Sunday.

The 57-year-old artist died of a heart attack after complaining of feeling ill the night before.

Soon after his return from overseas in the First World War, Frise started the down-to-earth comic strip, first called "Life's Little Comedies," then "Birds-Eye Centre," and finally "Juniper Junction." His starring characters, Pigskin Peters, Ruby and Eli Joollie, Old Archie and his moose, were known to two generations of readers of the Toronto Star Weekly and later the Montreal Standard.

Native of Port Perry, Ont., Frise began his career in 1912 with a Toronto printing company and soon after won his first newspaper job on the Toronto Star by letter. The letter showed a sketch of the editor milking a cow—on the wrong side.

He collaborated for many years with Greg Clarke, Toronto writer, in the widely-read "Greg-and-Jimmy" features, printed for years in the Toronto Star Weekly and for the last 18 months in the Montreal Standard.

At Nanking, meanwhile, China's legislators heard a sharp attack on President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Opposition Leader Huang Yu-Jen didn't mention names but he complained that the government, military affairs and foreign policy were monopolized by "one man and one family."

Try New Type Wheat On Farm At Whitby

WHITBY, June 14 (CP).—What is believed the first trial of "Cornell 595," a new type of fall wheat, in this area has aroused the interest of neighboring farmers. A state of five acres on Jim McMorrows' farm, three miles west of here, already have reached a height of five feet.

The variety, developed at Cornell University, never has been tried out in Ontario county before. Mr. McMorrows said the field should yield at least 62 bushels to the acre early in August. Normal wheat yield in Ontario is 40 to 45 bushels an acre.

Report Burma Planning To Join Reds

UK Very Concerned About Intention To Enter Russ Orbit

LONDON, June 14 (AP).—The British Foreign Office said today it lacks official confirmation of a Reuters report from Rangoon saying that Premier Thakin Nu has announced his intention to lead Burma into Communist domination and close relationship with Russia.

The Foreign Office said the report is under close consideration. (Reuters said that Thakin Nu had announced that his country wanted to "follow Russia" and "abolish capitalism.")

Privately responsible Whitehall officials expressed "grave concern" over the reported development. Burma cut her ties with the British Commonwealth a little more than five months ago.

"It's difficult to believe that the Burmese people would really approve an action of this kind if they understood what Communism stands for," one informant said.

Thakin Nu, leader of the anti-Fascist People's League for Freedom, has presided over a moderate Socialist government since last July.

Britain still has a big economic stake in Burma, rich in oil, silver and lead mines.

Give Compensation

RANGOON, June 14 (Reuters).—Burma's left-wing Socialist Premier Thakin Nu who yesterday announced that his country wanted to "follow Russia" and "abolish capitalism" has stated that foreign property will not be confiscated without compensation. To give no compensation as demanded by the Burma Communists might lead to economic or political sanctions, or even to war, he said.

He claimed that it had been Russia's policy to pay equitable compensation for property taken over.

Say Reds Attack Below Shanghai

SHANGHAI, June 14 (AP).—A hundred junked loaded with Chinese Communist troops tried to land on the coast 100 miles south of here, a pro-government dispatch said today. The report could not be confirmed.

The vessels were reported seen in waters between Tanghai Island and the mainland. The dispatch did not say whether the attempted amphibious landing was successful. It said the Communists were from northern Kiangsu province, which includes Shanghai and Nanking.

Large-scale fighting has been in progress in Shantung province, immediately above Kiangsu, and in Honan, inland from and adjoining both coastal districts. Much of North China and most of Manchuria are under Communist control. The Reds have not threatened South China.

At Nanking, meanwhile, China's legislators heard a sharp attack on President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Opposition Leader Huang Yu-Jen didn't mention names but he complained that the government, military affairs and foreign policy were monopolized by "one man and one family."

Brakeman Is Killed In Collision

4 Carloads Cattle Badly Smashed In Toronto Wreck

TORONTO, June 14.—(CP).—A railway brakeman was killed, three other crew members hurt and a shambles made of four carloads of livestock in East Toronto Sunday.

An 82-car freight train drawn by two Diesel locomotives collided with a 24-car steam freight at slow speed.

Norman Yarrow, 27, of Belleville, lost his life after leaping from the train. The brakeman was just rising to his feet when he was pinned beneath a surging mass of bawling cattle, sheep and pigs and died of suffocation.

More than 20 animals were killed outright and others, badly hurt, had to be killed later. Eleven cars were derailed on the Canadian National Railway tracks, only 50 feet from an overhead bridge on a busy city street.

A. J. Lomas, Toronto manager of the CNR, said the cause of the collision is being investigated.

Three Injured

Hurt in the crash were engineers John Foster, 61, of Belleville and James Potts of Toronto. Also injured slightly was Walter Motychko of Toronto, believed to have been a crew member of the Potts train.

Scene of the crash was one of noisy confusion as the animals screamed in pain. One bull, apparently unhurt, was at large for an hour before police killed him with seven slugs from a rifle and two blasts of a shotgun. Before this, he alarmed the neighborhood and almost caused the death of a woman camera enthusiast. She barely got back into her house before the frenzied animal sank a horn in the door frame.

Cars that fell down the embankment ripped out hydro and telephone wires and poles and forced re-routing of traffic.

C.S.U. officials charged the five men swore out affidavits admitting they were being paid $10 per day to protect the crew.

A police source said at least six of the men taken from the Acadia were taken into the country near the city early Sunday and given severe beatings "by C.S.U. inquisition squads" before being let loose.

One man Marcel Laporte, was admitted to Hotel Dieu Hospital with severe facial injuries. His condition is favorable.

Another man, identified only as Aird, was reported by Laporte to have been beaten into unconsciousness. He could not be found at the spot on Eleventh Street designated by Laporte as the attack area, but there were bloodstains all over. Police said later he had turned up, "badly injured" in Montreal.

Top Golf Score

Lorne Fitchett turned in a phenomenal card in the Saturday sweep at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. He had an 88-28 for a net 60 to take the low net, and it is quite probable that his handicap will be sliced accordingly and immediately. Two, practically the equivalent to Lorne did the 365-yard hole in a hole in one. Don Smith won the low gross with an 82, while Wally Robinson's 44 was enough to win the nine-hole event. The inter-club competition for the Glover-Dobbin Trophy commences June 19 with Kawartha Club at the Peterborough Club.

Newfoundland Picks Government July 22

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 14.—(CP).—Newfoundlanders will choose either confederation with Canada or responsible government for their future form of government on July 22. Date of the second referendum was announced by the commission government Sunday.

The first referendum, held June 2, ousted the commission government that has ruled Newfoundland since 1934.

The winner needed a 51 per cent majority and neither responsible government nor confederation could get it. Some 69,000 voted for responsible government, 62,000 for confederation and 22,000 for commission government.

Since commission placed third it will be dropped from the ballot in the July 22 referendum, leaving a straight fight between confederation and responsible government.

Newfoundland Picks Government July 22

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 14.—(CP).—Newfoundlanders will choose either confederation with Canada or responsible government for their future form of government on July 22. Date of the second referendum was announced by the commission government Sunday.

The first referendum, held June 2, ousted the commission government that has ruled Newfoundland since 1934.

The winner needed a 51 per cent majority and neither responsible government nor confederation could get it. Some 69,000 voted for responsible government, 62,000 for confederation and 22,000 for commission government.

Since commission placed third it will be dropped from the ballot in the July 22 referendum, leaving a straight fight between confederation and responsible government.

Lorne Fitchett turned in a phenomenal card in the Saturday sweep at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. He had an 88-28 for a net 60 to take the low net, and it is quite probable that his handicap will be sliced accordingly and immediately. Two, practically the equivalent to Lorne did the 365-yard hole in a hole in one. Don Smith won the low gross with an 82, while Wally Robinson's 44 was enough to win the nine-hole event. The inter-club competition for the Glover-Dobbin Trophy commences June 19 with Kawartha Club at the Peterborough Club.

Five Pay Fines In City Court

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, heard several traffic and liquor cases in police court this morning.

Home For Aged So Crowded One Man Has Bed In Bathroom

COBOURG, June 14 (ENS).—Serious consideration is being given to the need of an addition to the Counties Home and at the close of the June session Friday evening, a resolution was passed authorizing the board of management to get plans, specifications and estimates of cost in accordance with suggestions from the Department of Welfare, submitting a report thereon at the November session.

W. Ludlow of the Department of Welfare pointed out that the normal population of the Home was 74 whereas at present the number of inmates was 101. It was definitely overcrowded and he noticed that one man had to sleep in the bathroom. Toilet facilities were not sufficient and the beds were "pretty close together" due to overcrowded condition of the institution.

In 1941, Mr. Ludlow told the council, there were 4,439 people in the province who were over 70 years of age and 6,838 over the age of 65. From 1936 to 1946, 56 per cent of those receiving old age pensions were living in counties homes. There were 90 per cent more who were paying their own way in the counties homes than before, so that these institutions were no longer homes for the indigent. He suggested that in planning for a new addition to look 25 years ahead, and to plan the addition to fit the various classes of inmates such as bed cases, those who could walk around and so on.

Pay For Trustees
Council passed a resolution, sponsored by Reeve W. G. Bowles of Cartwright, that the council go on record as favoring payment of high school area trustees and that the department be so advised. Reeve Bowles said that payment for the work would encourage a capable type of man to take on the duties. Reeve Leonard Gordon of Coborne, chairman of the special consulting committee on the school area plan, reported that several meetings had been held and enquiries made and there had been a number of requests from townships desiring to get into the school area plan.

A by-law was passed setting the tax rate at ten mills, no advance over last year. The tender of Long Bros. of Port Hope for the liability insurance was accepted, being a renewal.

Council passed a resolution thanking the mayor and council of Cobourg for the banquet given to the counties council on Wednesday night.

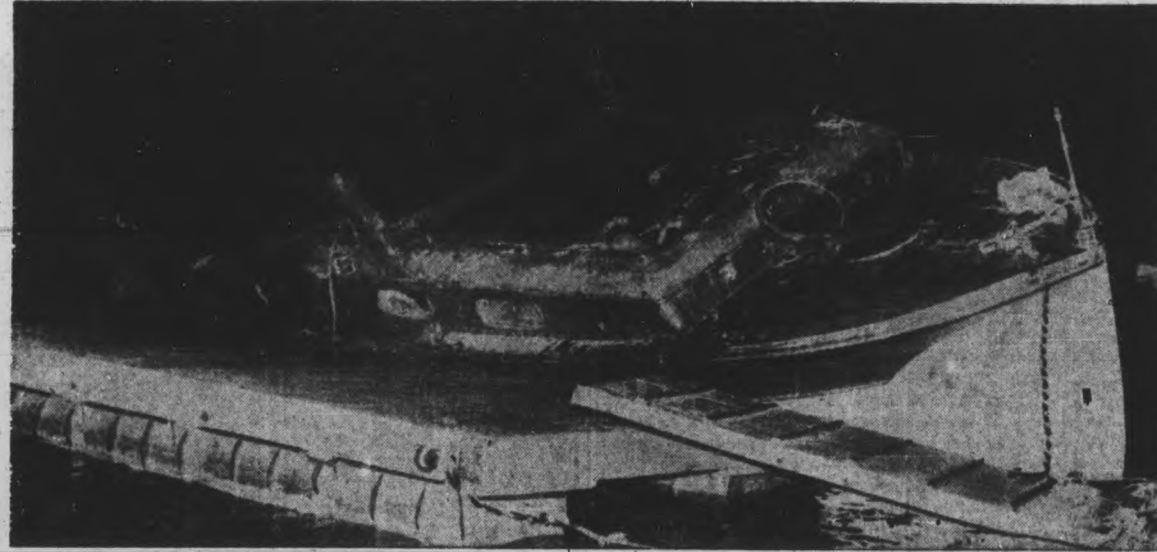

A humorous note was injected into proceedings when the Warden observed that he had parked his car too long in the one spot during the lunch hour and had received a ticket for parking until the meter time had expired. Reeve John Westington of Cobourg, a strong opponent of parking meters, told the council that if he had his way, there would have been no parking meters to trap the Warden.

County Assessors
Council referred a new assessment of the municipalities for county purposes and appointed a committee of the Warden, Reeve Charles Quinn of Cramahne township and Reeve E. Woodward of Clarke township to investigate the matter of county assessors and report back. Warden Stephens, before council adjourned, announced that the annual warden's excursion would be held on civic holiday.

The finance committee approved payment of between session accounts totalling as follows:

Administration of justice—$6,359.26; county roads, $79,028.10; board of health, $16,000; interest on loans, $2,471.43; repayment of loans, $50,000; maintenance of indigents, $3,259.82; registry offices, $1,000.18; counties home, $12,434.27; printing, postage and stationery, $1,462.11; child welfare, $11,550.20; counties gaol, $4,321.30; municipal government, $4,002.34. The finance committee recommended that no action be taken in regard to increasing the amount paid for burial of indigents; authorized a 10 per cent increase in the salary of caretakers of registry offices; turned down a request for a grant to the juvenile court committee; turned down appeals for grants from the Canadian Deaf Scholarship Appeal, United Polish Relief Fund and Newcastle Memorial Arena.

The Road and Bridge committee recommended that the request

Drownings Account For Six Of Weekend Fatalities

(By The Canadian Press)

A freight train collision and what police described as an ax-slitting accounted for two of the 16 week-end fatalities reported in Eastern Canada.

A Canadian Press survey also showed six drownings, five deaths in automobile accidents, a race track fatality, the body of an unidentified man recovered from Lake Ontario at Kingston, and an industrial accident.

Brakeman Norman Yarrow, 27, of Belleville, was suffocated under a carload of cattle which swarmed on him after he leaped from one of the trains wrecked at Toronto.

Yvonne Brouillette, 34, of Toronto, was charged with murder after Jack Farrell, also known as Fanya, 32, was found dead with head wounds in a Toronto boarding house early Saturday. Police said they believed the man had been hacked with an ax.

Edmond Hardy of Val d'Or, Que., was killed Saturday night at Amos, Que., when his automobile collided with a truck. Roger Pilon, 43, of Montreal, died Sunday when his car crashed into a steel post in Montreal. A few hours after he had been struck by a bus, 87-year-old Onesime Rheault died Sunday in hospital at Three Rivers, Que.

Died In Crash

Glennwyn D. (Pat) Hartley, 42, of Hamilton, was killed in a rear-end, two-automobile crash four miles from Guelph.

Thomas Burr of Forest, Ont., died in hospital at Sarnia, of injuries suffered when his car careened into a ditch and overturned near Sarnia.

Roger Sarazi, 18, of Ottawa, was drowned when he tried to rescue his girl friend in the Ottawa River. The girl was rescued by an unidentified man.

Freddie Allen, 15, was drowned while swimming in the St. Maurice River at Three Rivers, Que. Another swimmer, Everett Bartlett, 17, was drowned in an unused reservoir at Tillsonburg.

Edward Armstrong, 24, of Ottawa, was drowned in Lake Manitowic, 185 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, when a small boat carrying survey party members capsized. Swept from a raft and carried over a waterfall, John Slipo, 48, of Port Arthur, drowned in the Savanne River 55 miles west of Port Arthur.

Andre Parent 17 was drowned while trying to swim across the L'Assomption River near Joliette, Que.

Injured at Work

A few hours after he was injured at work in a Montreal electrical plant, Arthur McCleary, 36, of Verdun, died in hospital.

Xavier Blais, 63, veteran harness racing trainer from Davelorville, Que., suffered a fatal seizure and fell under the legs of a horse he was driving in a trial run at a Three Rivers, Que., racetrack.

At Kingston, the body of an unidentified man about 25 years of age was found floating in the harbor.

Rail Union Head May Fill Transport Board Position

By the Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, June 14.—(CP).—Howard B. Chase, rail union executive and a governor of the CBC, is regarded as the best bet to fill an early vacancy on the Board of Transport Commissioners. The $10,000-a-year job will become available with the July 1 retirement of Commissioners G. A. Stone, formerly of Amherst, N.S., Labor representative on the board.

Several candidates are in the running for the job, but informants say Mr. Chase has the inside track. He is Assistant Grand Chief Engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Normally, the successor to Commissioner Stone would be a labor man from the Maritimes, as the Commissioner is regarded also as representing that area. However, the regional angle has been taken care of through the appointment as Chief Commissioner of Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald of Halifax.

Shut Hope
Failure of Prime Minister MacKenzie King to give a Manitoba member a Cabinet post in his latest shuffle is considered an indication that there still are hopes within the government of luring Premier Garson to Ottawa.

It is no secret that Manitoba Premier has been offered a Federal Cabinet post in the past, but so far he has given no indication that he intends to bite.

Mr. King named Leslie Mutch (L-Winnipeg South) Parliamentary Assistant to Veterans Minister Gregg, but that was the one gesture to a Manitoba whose James Glen, Mines Minister, stepped down because of ill-health.

More Vacancies
Frederic Dorion, Independent member of the Commons for the Quebec constituency of Charlevoix-Saguenay, is seriously considering retirement from the Federal field of politics.

Mr. Dorion is asking his organizers for permission to give up his Federal seat in favor of a possible seat in the Quebec Legislature. If his request is granted he would stand as a Union Nationale candidate in the provincial constituency of Saguenay in the Quebec general election of July 28.

Country Needs Clean Up Say British Contractors

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, June 14.—(CP).—Tourist-conscious Britons say Britain wants a wash and brush up. After that, thousands of painters swarming over thousands of buildings need to lend a little fresh color to the national scheme. But it won't be as easy as that.

"Obstacles at every turn have risen during the year despite the vital need for repairing every hamlet, village, town and city throughout the country," a spokesman for Contractors' Federation in paint-starved Britain said.

"Work done during the year has made little if any impression upon the mass of dirt and deterioration that has accrued since the war."

"The dilapidated picture that England to-day presents to the visitor's eye cannot be excused. Paint starvation from which everything is suffering calls for an immediate review."

Officials say they are "reluctant to estimate the large capital value already lost to the country because of absence of paint."

The decline that, because of government direction, the building industry and painting trade "are in the throes of manpower depletion" with 164,000 of their labor force due for transfer to "so-called essential industries and callings."

"Any movement of labor from this field will do irreparable harm to an already dislocated and harassed industry," said Federation Director A. E. Wade.

A Ministry of Works official said the possibility of increasing the paint allowance to contractors "is now receiving careful consideration."

The year was 1835 ...

... young Canada trudged off to school with a stick of firewood under his arm! For in that year an enterprising schoolmaster named John Holmes opened one of the nation's earliest schools. He called it "The Nursery of Science," with Mrs. Holmes in charge of the "Female Department." In addition to a fee of from 12s 6d to 20s per quarter, each pupil was required to supply his share of the fuel!

Holmes had made a start toward our present educational system—but it was many years before schools were free to all in Canada. Through those years it was public opinion expressed by vote that finally forced action.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

The City Council's Opportunity

The legal committee of the City Council has given instructions for the drawing of a bylaw which will compel all city gasoline stations to close at 7 p.m. The likelihood is that the bylaw will come before the Council this evening for approval. Should the Council approve a bylaw which interferes with a man's right to conduct his business as he likes, and which is against the best interests of Peterborough as a tourist centre?

It is said that the Council has no choice in the matter, for a Provincial statute rules that if a majority of gasoline salesmen want a bylaw limiting sale the Council must pass it. But we should greatly like to see this provincial statute tested by the courts. It is doubtful if the provincial government can, by a blanket ruling, compel municipal governments to pass a bylaw relating to a municipal matter if the local government does not wish to do so. The Council can refuse to pass the bylaw and the local gasoline salesmen can take an injunction against the Council; then we shall see what is what, and how far Queen's Park can go in running the affairs of the City of Peterborough. As an alternative, the Council can pass the bylaw, with a rider to the effect that it does so under protest; such a rider, sent to the Hon. Harold Scott, would reach the attorney-general of Ontario in a manner which would compel his attention.

The Council knows, and everybody else in Peterborough knows, that a few gasoline salesmen want to keep their stations open after the majority are closed. They know, also, that more and more tourists are driving at night to take advantage of clearer roads. They know that the gasoline business at night is heavy. The Council's position is not an easy one, but it is a strong one, and if it chooses to strike a blow for freedom and common sense it will win the gratitude of municipalities everywhere in Ontario, and check further incursions upon municipal government by the government of the Province.

John Taber Pares A Cheese

While Canadians and Canadian newspapers admittedly have no right to criticize United States' attempts to "economize" by reducing sums already authorized to help world recovery, they may with propriety join in the chorus of regret expressed over the action. That chorus has been made up of the great majority of United States newspapers and of the democratic press throughout the world. These observers, and others, have pointed out that the reductions in E.C.A. and other foreign aid expenditures insisted on by Congressman John Taber of New York and approved by the House of Representatives have done more to harm the democratic cause in the world than anything could, short of complete withdrawal by the United States. Conversely, they have given aid to the Communist cause which the Communists have been quick to grasp and use.

John Taber is chairman of the U.S. House of Representatives Appropriations Committee; he is described by Time magazine as a man always vigilant to pare a cheese. He did about two billion dollars' worth of paring on foreign aid appropriations, and despite pleas from both Democratic and Republican members of the House of Representatives, the cuts were approved without even the formality of a recorded vote. The reaction in Europe was immediate; it was perhaps best expressed by Il Tempo, of Rome, as follows: "Whatever happens in the Senate, the harm has been done.... Europe will live in perpetual fear that from one moment to the next America will ship her oars."

It now seems altogether probable that the U.S. Senate will reverse the decision of the House of Representatives. Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican leader, has added to his already great political stature, by launching a vigorous fight to set aside the verdict of the House and restore the originally approved E.C.A. figures.

If he wins that fight, and most observers are inclined to think he will, some of the damage done by John Taber's cheese-paring may be repaired. But Europeans who had feared the United States Congress would never approve E.C.A. expenditures, and who sighed with heartfelt relief when they were approved, have had their fear rudely reawakened by the heavy slash made by the House Appropriations Committee.

As most of our readers know, E.C.A. was able to begin its work without awaiting approval of the original expenditures by the Appropriations Committee, for the original bill made $1,000,000,000 immediately available. Had the Appropriations Committee approved the expenditures in the bill earlier approved by both House and Senate, E.C.A. would have had a fair financial course before it. Now it faces the possibility of delay, for the bill must now be fought through the Senate Appropriations Committee, then it must pass the Senate. Then it will go to a joint conference committee of Senate and House, then through both houses for final approval.

Had no changes been made by the House, this course could have been quickly covered. Mr. Taber and his followers, however, made delay certain and defeat possible. It will remain for history to record the consequences of their action.

A Link With The Past

A few weeks ago the news reached us that Dame May Whitty had died at the age of 82. She was a fine actress and a fine woman, and because stage people show a more filial attitude toward the elder members of their profession than do most other artists, we are sure that she passed on her own fine tradition and fine philosophy to many a young actress who had the privilege of knowing her.

Dame May was herself a remarkable link with the past. The following incidents were related to the present writer by her husband, the late Ben Webster; in 1896 Sir Henry Irving made his sixth tour of America, and in his company were May Whitty and Ben Webster, who had but recently been married. Another member of the company was Henry Howe, a fine old actor who was affectionately known to his colleagues as "Evergreen Howe"; he was 84, and as he was a determined sight-seer he overtaxed his strength, fell ill, and was confined to hospital in Cincinnati. As we have said, stage folk have a filial regard for the old, and Ben Webster and his wife paid daily visits to Old Evergreen, and did what they could to cheer his last illness. Howe died soon afterward, when Irving's company had moved on to Chicago; he was not without friends at the end, for the celebrated actress Olga Nethersole was with him when he died.

What did Howe talk about to Ben Webster and May Whitty? About his early days as an actor. Howe was born in 1812, of a Quaker family, and when he decided that he wanted to be an actor he sought out the great Edmund Kean in his garden at Richmond, and asked for advice. "Why, cocky, you're a Quaker!" cried Kean in amazement. But Howe said that, in spite of his upbringing, he was determined to act in Shakespeare. "Well, cully, can you starve?" growled Kean, turning upon the boy with a look which pierced his very soul. That question, in the days before Hollywood salaries, was a highly pertinent one.

Howe could give brilliant imitations of Kean, even in his old age. He could also imitate Macready, with whom he appeared in the first production of The Lady of Lyons in 1838. And now May Whitty, to whom Howe told so many tales of the stage, is dead. Without doubt she has handed on to her daughter, Margaret Webster, all of that lore which extends backward, through two lifetimes, to the now infinitely remote days of the great Edmund Kean.

PERHAPS you didn't know that George Bernard Shaw wrote detective stories! Well he did, as the following will show—incidentally he was also unusually persistent. In 1879, G.B.S. wrote a story: The Brand of Cain. It was based on the fact that occasionally a photograph shows marks on the skin that escape the naked eye.

A WOMAN has murdered her husband (so the story goes), and in the death struggle he struck her in the face with a brand which he had heated to stamp his monogram on some amateur work of his. The mark, which would have convicted her, she manages to obliterate; but this attractive widow has fascinated a photographer, who makes her sit for him. In the dark room he discovers an unaccountable mark on the negative, which is, of course, the brand.

ON September 14, 1879 Shaw sent this tale to The Cornhill, then to One and All, to Blackwood, to Temple Bar, to Burlington and to Chamber's Journal. They all declined it with thanks. It was ultimately in 1883 sent to a Birmingham firm of stereotype founders who supplied the press with ready-set columns. When its author inquired about its whereabouts a year later they replied that they knew nothing at all of the script. Fortunately for the drama, perhaps unfortunately for the readers of detective stories, Shaw has since employed his talents in other directions.

THERE is no dearth of good books about the impressions of Englishmen in America, for example The American People by Denis Brogan, an Ulster Scot, now teaching at Cambridge. So J. Frank Dobie's A Texan in England redresses the balance and gives us a wealth of chuckles to boot. Happily, Professor Dobie has a zest for the unusual. He was visiting professor of American History at Cambridge and he found himself in congenial company. The old Dean of Emmanuel, for instance, who so loved his pipe that after he had got the congregation going on a hymn, would retire to his vestry for a few more puffs before the sermon:

"Invariably, while the last verse was being sung, (chuckles Dobie) the vestryman would come and summon him. 'Tell 'um to sing the last three verses over,' the old Dean would say. 'They like their hymn, and I like my pipe.' And he would puff away, in comfort."

AFTER women were admitted to regular University classes, he recalls, some lecturers openly flouted them: for example, "Q"—known to the world as Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, Professor of English Literature—would always begin his lecture with the words "Young gentlemen," utterly ignoring the young ladies. Finally, they tell, a year came when he had only one man in his class, while the number of women had steadily increased. "Young gentleman," he would start off. Then, the story goes on, there was no man at all; "Q" dropped his salutation and talked as if he had no auditors in mind.

ONCE at a tea-party in Oxford, Mr. Evan Jones barely sighted a short, ordinary looking man, with large, liquid and rather feminine eyes. He and this individual made a simultaneous departure and talked a little on the doorstep. Many others (Mr. John tells this story in Time In The East) have been struck by Lawrence's eyes, and when he asked Dr. Hogarth of Arabian fame, whether Lawrence had ever tried feminine disguise for many of his escapades and if so, with what success, "Yes," replied Hogarth, "and it was much too successful. He came running back with half the Turkish camp behind him."

YOU can't help but be fascinated by Robert Service's autobiography Ploughman of the Moon (Benn publishers), especially his unusually good story about the beginning of his first and most famous book, Songs Of A Sourdough. He wanted a dramatic monologue to recite at a church concert when he was then living as a bank clerk. It was the time of the Klondyke gold rush. "Give us something about our bit of earth," said a local editor.

He took the hint, and in a sudden burst of inspiration wrote "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." He spent the next two months in a fever of creative excitement. "Words and rhymes came to me without any effort, and I bubbled verse like an artesian well," he says.

THEN, as suddenly as it had begun the flow of inspiration ceased. He lost interest in what he had written and for months his shelf of ballads lay at the bottom of a desk drawer. One day the "Missis" of the place read them and suggested having them printed in a little book which he could give his friends as a Christmas present. So he despatched them with a $100 cheque to a firm that specialized in amateur poets. And then—this part of the story is familiar—the rhymes swept across Canada like a prairie fire and Service's fame was made.

Unconsidered Trifles

The mill foreman came upon two men walking slowly up the road, single file.
"Say, you, why ain't you working?"
"We're working boss, sho-nuff. We're carrying this plank up to the mill."
"What plank? I don't see any plank."
"Well, fo' de land's sake, Abe, ef we ain't gone an' forgot de plank!"

The minister's son was in the habit of going to church every Sunday with his granddad.
"Billy," said the minister one Sunday, "I've been giving you a dime every Sunday to keep your grandpa from sleeping, yet he sleeps."
"I know," said Billy, "but Grandpa is giving me a quarter to let him sleep."

PRECARIOUS PERCH

If We Want More Tourists

(FINANCIAL POST)

IF we ever hope to develop a real tourist industry in Canada, better accommodation is imperative. We can't expect Americans to come here year after year and spend their money on greasy meals, lumpy beds and outdoor plumbing. A respectable pig would refuse to enter some of the shacks along our highways that are labeled tourist cabins.

Repeated surveys of provincial and federal authorities stress the fact that American visitors are far from satisfied with much of the living accommodation we are offering. In the main these tourists are more than content with our scenery, with the possibilities for fishing, hunting and other recreations. There are some complaints about our roads and the price of gasoline, but the big criticism has always been about our dirty restaurants, messy beverage rooms and stuffy sleeping quarters. If these places are not cleaned up and cleaned promptly, then we can say good-bye to what could be our most important source of American dollars.

The successful tourist business is largely built upon personal advertising. A satisfied visitor will come back to the same spot again and again and he will tell his friends about it. But if he happens to get caught once where food, beds or mosquitoes are bad, not only will he refuse to come back but he will do his best to warn others away also. One or two poor places can soon ruin a whole neighbourhood.

Provision of better accommodation is everyone's business, because a thriving tourist trade is to everyone's advantage. But the responsibility rests primarily with the municipal and provincial authorities. They have or could have absolute control over the licensing of tourists cabins, restaurants, beverage rooms and hotels. That control should be tightened sufficiently to eliminate the relatively small number that cannot or will not offer decent, clean accommodation and at a fair price.

The average American visitor does not expect or insist on fancy and elaborate trimmings, though in some of the older and better established resort areas, he will be glad to pay a premium for something special, but he does expect and he has every right to expect cleanliness and comfort. He can be sure of finding such in most of his own states and he will take his holidays there if he can't get suitable accommodation in Canada.

Last year American tourists spent about $230 millions in this country. This was almost a clear gain for Canada. Aside from a small amount of replaceable food and game there was no depletion whatever of natural resources. The great majority of our American visitors simply came here to see our scenery, coast down our hills, sail on our lakes or breathe our fresh air. They can go on doing that for a million years without any noticeable wear and tear. If we could assure these customers good meals and comfortable beds wherever they wanted to go, we could easily entertain ten times the present inflow.

Letter To The Editor

PIPE BAND TOO LAZY?

Sir: In the interest of the citizens as well as Peterborough Pipe Band I feel it incumbent upon me to clarify the position of this band.

Being one of the principle executive to form this band and so propagate the good intentions of members while on active service to still continue their comradeship, service and usefulness to Peterborough without undue expenditure to city.

Last year we were advised by city officials we were too late in asking for share of allotted money to be expended for such purposes. In November last we were requested to come before the committee to state our requirements for 1948 "and so be in time". We had what seemed a profitable hearing. Then in April of this year we received a letter stating we were not on the list, but of course no reason given.

Our band members meet three times a week for practice, have given unselfishly of their services, produced a real Pipe Band any city or town should be proud of, Peterborough turns it down. Personally I feel there are less than six people adverse to this band and still further convinced were their identity known and the occasion arose the good-hearted pipers would even play at their funeral.

We finished a very successful year, the doublets we inherited from original Peterborough Pipe Band have more than served their purpose and need replacing. So over $100 was placed with order this being one third of the price. No grant from the city; we are faced with a variety of problems. Let it be clearly understood we did not ask or expect money from the city for nothing, but were prepared to give as usual increased returns, and right now have gone a long way towards this. When the band was at Belleville some weeks ago, a resident of Whitby asked me to please accept $1 towards funds, he said I am an Englishman but I sure appreciate that band and would gladly give $100 if I had it.

We have talked of holding a tag day, but again there are certain restrictions. Concerts, we held one in auditorium and thank artists and people for making it a great success. Open air concerts again certain restrictions as to taking collection "if we get the park" so what? This is another time of promises (election), but promises don't buy real goods when you need them.

Yours very truly,

T. KAY, Vice President,
Peterborough Pipe Band.

HE'S SAFE

A bright little girl, aged 4, and her brother, aged 6, were spending the night with their aunt. When bedtime came, the aunt asked how they said their prayers. The little girl answered:

"Sometimes I say them on mummy's knees and sometimes to the side of the bed."
"And how about you, little boy?"
"Oh, I don't need to pray. I sleep with daddy."

Elderly Senators Happy As Taxes Eased For Aged

By DOUGLAS HOW.

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP) — Mr. Parliament came to Parliament this week.

G. H. Parliament of the Department of Veterans Affairs, showed up to testify in a Commons committee as it considered a Bill to amend the Rehabilitation Act.

Nobody made a wisecrack about the name but, Mr. Parliament grinned later, it would not have made much different anyway; the years have taught him tolerance of the pun.

The name, incidentally, stems from Pennsylvania Dutch.

Another Era

Sir Allen Aylesworth, who as a comparative youngster of 66 nominated William Lyon Mackenzie King for the Liberal Leadership at the national convention of 1919, does not know whether he will be around for the choosing of Mr. King's successor in August.

Now 95 and able to attend Senate sittings only occasionally, he says he will be on hand "if I feel all right."

"They want me to go to bed," says the former Cabinet colleague of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, "but I don't want to do that; not until I have to."

Benefits of Age

A faint "Hear, hear" breathed through the aged Senate ranks when a budget bill came in this week. It gave an extra $500 income tax exemption for persons more than 65.

Taunted 70-year-old Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative Leader: "There are some 25 in this Chamber who do not benefit by this, but there are a good 60 of us that do. The day after it was announced, my law office in Winnipeg was all grins. My head girl looked up at me and said, 'Senator, how do you get away with it?'"

Shuffling. What with resignations and by-elections, there has been some shuffling of Commons members' rooms. The CCF, in the wake of its three by-election triumphs, needed more quarters.

So, E. L. Bowerman (CCF-Prince Albert) found himself in strange and ironic surroundings when he prepared to mail out copies of a speech in which he had answered arguments by Walter Tucker, Liberal Leader in Saskatchewan. He had just taken over the room Mr. Tucker had before he resigned as Liberal member for Rosthern.

Romance Again

ST. LOUIS, June 14 — (CP) — Romance wasn't dead despite a separation and divorce 32 years ago for Mr. and Mrs. Claude Patrick. They have remarried, he at 60, she at 50.

A married daughter who saw her father for the first time last April disclosed Friday that she was bridesmaid at the second wedding last Sunday.

And Patrick said "we're both as happy as can be that things have turned out this way. We never should have broken up in the first place. It was all my fault."

Patrick said he wandered over the country as a cook and in April found his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Franke, in Batchtown, Ill.

Quintuplets Perform At Ottawa Concert

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—Achieving the popularity of Hollywood Stars, the world-famed Dionne Quintuplets attracted a capacity 2,500 persons to a downtown theatre concert here Sunday night.

The manager said that more than 200 had to be turned away. The five girls appeared along with 15 of their school chums in a series of French-Canadian songs in aid of the needy children of Europe. The concert was sponsored by the Richelieu Clubs of Ottawa and Hull.

The Quints and their school mates arrived here Saturday in a special train from Corbeil, Ont. Accompanying the Quints were Oliva Dionne, father, and Rose, 20, a sister.

Later they visited the French Embassy and were received by the French Ambassador, Francisque Gay. Today they will visit the Apostolic Delegate, Most Rev.

Dancers Disappear

TORONTO, June 14 — (CP) — The decline in classical dancing in India was deplored on Friday night by Maj.-Gen. Sir Sahib Singh Sokhey, Director-General of Medical Services for the Indian Commonwealth.

"The temple dancers and consequently the ritual dances have disappeared," he said in an interview during a business visit here. "For that you can blame Christian influence, which condemned the dancing on moral grounds. Dancers were chosen at the age of six or seven for their physical appearance and dedicated to become temple dancers."

Small Medals Only Reward To Olympics' Top Athletes

LONDON, June 14 — (CP) — Silver-gilt medals, two inches in diameter, await the successful Olympic athletes this summer. But cost of the prizes is secret — "One doesn't put a price tag on sentiment, old boy," a stiff-necked Games official avowedly remarked.

"After all," he added a trifle testily, "who really cares how much they cost?"

Manufacture of the medals presented a sticky problem to the Games organizers a year ago when they turned over the job to John Pinches (Medallists) Limited, one of the oldest firms of its kind in the world. They could not find the dies.

An unsuccessful search for them was made through Germany where the last Olympics were held in 1936, Sweden and Japan. One rumor was they were held in the Russian zone of Germany.

The situation was solved by Lord Burghley, chairman of the organizing committee and one of the world's best-known hurdlers. He unearthed his medal, won in the 1928 Games at Amsterdam when he placed first in the 400-metre hurdles.

It served as a model for the prize medals. All are ready—the 6,000 bronze commemorative medals, one to each athlete, and 300 each of the silver-gilt first prize award; silver medals for second, and bronze for third.

Reverse side of the prize medal is a symbolic figure of a victorious athlete carrying a laurel wreath and being shouldered by fellow-athletes. On the obverse is a reproduction of Big Ben and the Houses of Parliament with the inscription "XIV Olympiad, London, 1948."

Pinches, established in 1840, supplies medals for various Canadian universities, including the University of Toronto, Western Ontario, McGill and Saskatchewan. Another Canadian order comes from Dufferin Rifles, in Toronto.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., June 14 — (AP) — Louis Milch was afraid he recognized the noise which disturbed him Friday night—and he didn't know how right he was.

Just a year ago a truck owned by the Saginaw Transfer Company of Saginaw, Mich., smashed into his house. Friday night's sound brought unpleasant memories.

When Milch rushed outside he saw that another truck had demolished his porch.

SERVICE DELUXE

AS THE CROWD WENT WILD! — New Middleweight Champion Tony Zale looks calm and composed as Trainer Ray Arcel, right, raises Zale's hand after Zale landed a terrific left to Graziano's chin, to regain the middleweight crown. Twenty-five thousand fans went wild when after one minute and eight seconds of the third round Zale let loose his terrific left to end the fight.

O'Halloran's Tie Lindsay In Soccer

Owing to a number of the players working for the holiday the Lindsay vs. O'Halloran soccer match was played at King Edward Park at a late hour. Both teams gave an excellent account of themselves in sportsmanship to break the league points between them in a tie count. The visitors had two new men who were quite effective on defense.

Early stages opened at a terrific pace with O'Halloran's getting the break when Featherstone rattled a low grounder away out of the reach of the Lindsay custodian. Willis, Lindsay, kept playing the ball right up the centre to give his forwards ample opportunities to test Chamberlain in goal. The locals got a left when Moir, on the extreme left, for Lindsay, hit the cross-bar with an oblique drive. At the other end, just before the interval, Featherstone broke through three men, drew the goalie out of position, but the ball went over the bar.

O'Halloran's started with a steady attack, on resuming, to confine the play within the Lindsay area with Newt Downer bringing Hamilton to his knees with rocket drives on goal. From a scrimmage in front of goal, Chamberlain, now playing as forward, sent a low grounder for the corner with Hamilton being spectacular. On an individual effort Appleton got the equalizer. After 20 minutes of play, Featherstone, Cribbiss and Downer missed an open goal with the goalie out of his citadel. A little later, O'Halloran's pivot sent a lightning drive in below the bar. Hamilton saved but Crell headed the rebound into the net. This success was short-lived, Appleton getting the equalizer again on snappy intervention of clearance. Both goals went under bombardment until the finish.

Lindsay: J. Hamilton, goal; T. Dobbie and Reg Cox, full backs;

A. Newman, L. Willis and N. Crawford, half backs; T. Nye, A. Berry, L. Appleton, H. Taylor and E. Moir, forwards.

O'Halloran's: J. Chamberlain, goal; A. B. Smart and Art Downer, full backs; D. Gray, H. Pyle and A. O'Halloran, half backs; N. Downer, T. Scott, A. Featherstone, W. Cribbiss, forwards; D. Duncan, sub.

Referee—W. Harris; Linesmen—G. Downer and W. Curtis.

Potter Refuses Reinstatement

PHILADELPHIA, June 14 (AP).—Nelson Potter, 36-year-old veteran relief pitcher for Philadelphia Athletics, refused to be reinstated after he was fired by Connie Mack during Sunday's doubleheader with St. Louis Browns, the Philadelphia Inquirer says today.

Potter relieved Lou Brissie in the eighth inning of the first game yesterday with the A's leading 5-2, the bases loaded and none out. Potter walked in a run, yielded a single, got one man out and then gave up two more singles before being replaced by Charlie Harris.

Potter, who was charged with the loss, was told by Mack as he returned to the dugout: "If that's the best you can do, get your check."

It was reported later that Mack had another talk with Potter and a reconciliation was affected, but the Inquirer says Potter considered himself fired and boarded a train for his home in Chicago when the A's entrained Sunday night.

Whip and Earle May Solve The Mystery of The Mask

BEN SHARPE

There'll be no time limit to hamper the tag team wrestling which is expected to pack the Brock Arena with thrill-hungry mat fans on Wednesday.

The team of Whipper Watson and Earl McCready will have all night long to settle their feud with Jim "Goon" Henry and the Masked Marvel. Whip and Earle came so close to exposing the masked wrestler here last week that it seemed as if even five minutes more would accomplish the trick.

On Wednesday the two stellar Canadian wrestlers will have all the time they need and it looks as if at long last the fans will get their chief desire—which is to see the Masked Marvel beaten and unmasked. No matter which of the "villains" loses the final fall the mystery man must take off that pesky hood. A good many fans have made the guess that the Mask is the famous or rather infamous King Kong Cox, while there is also a considerable group who think he is the big Australian threat Fred Atkins.

In the semi-final Ben Sharpe takes on the Boston toughie Tiger Tasker and to start the show Nick Viccarelli will get the acid test of his career against Mike Futa, the Scranton, Penn. middleweight wrestler.

Locals Beaten 7 to 3 By Port Hope

By FRED MAYBEE

Roy Armour proved here Saturday that they do come back. Pitching for Jack Billingsley's intermediate baseball squad against Port Hope in a regular Lakeshore fixture, the stout right-handed star of another day, turned in a fine effort before a good crowd at Riverside, though he lost 7-3. Two errors in centre, one paving the way for two unearned runs in the fourth and the failure of an attempted squeeze in the fifth by the locals, to kill a wonderful scoring opportunity, proved fatal to the cause.

Conway hit a homer with one on and Murphy collected two hits, while Keeler and Foote led the visitors' attack with triples. Woods pitched steady ball, striking out seven and walking one. Conway took four hard chances in right without a bobble, for fielding honors.

On Wednesday evening, these rivals meet again in Port Hope, when the Petes hope to turn the tables with a vengeance.

Fight 13 Years Ago Seen Turning Point

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott isn't superstitious.

Nevertheless the turning point in the career of the fighter some think may be the next heavyweight champion came 13 years ago.

The occasion was his fight with Roxie Allen of Camden, N.J., in 1935. Among the spectators was Felix Boicichio, Camden Sportman.

In the first round Allen floored Walcott. It didn't look as if Jersey Joe would get up. But he did and in the eighth knocked out Allen with a terrific punch.

The sock made an indelible impression on Boicichio. Years later when he entered the boxing game in Camden he got in touch with Jersey Joe.

"I never forgot that fight with Allen," Felix explained. "Anyone who can punch like that is always dangerous."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

They've announced one more pro grapple card for the Brock Arena this season, on Wednesday night. A return team bout in the main go of the evening with no time limit and a different referee. Whipper Bill Watson and Earl McCready in against the Masked Marvel and Goon Henry. They packed the place last time and went to a draw in an hour time limit, but there'll have to be a decision this time. Should be another furious flurry with these four topnotch matmen in there. And Ben Sharpe returns to the local scene, after a long absence, to mix with Tiger Tasker in the semi-final. The prelim features Nick Viccarelli, local middle, against Mike Futa. Sounds like an okay card.

A bit of frozen food appears in the Show Window today. On account of the IOOF-ers have elected puck officers for the 1948-49 season. And they're having a banquet at 6.30 Wednesday p.m. in Hooper's for last year's players and officials. New set of officers are: President, Glen Edwards; vice-presy, Vic Brown; secretary, Don Anderson; treasurer, Bob McQuade; committee, Bill Townsley, Howard Hall and Frank Caldwell; manager, Andy Price; coach, Ray Pearson; trainer, Harold Bannon. Hope we haven't missed any. Odd-fellows definitely plan to carry on in 1949.

They're Getting Ready

Doug Miller Jr. tells us the intermediate lacrossers are starting to roll. They hope to arrange a home and home series with each of the intermediate OLA squads in Western Ontario and have contacted Secretary Gene Dopp in Toronto on this. They'll play in the big July 1 celebration in Port Hope. Open workout tonight at 6.30 in Miller Bowl and the team will be picked this week from some 30 guys trying out. Good juveniles will get a chance, too. It is likely the intermediates will start play next week and what they lack in experience they'll make up in action.

Saturday eve ball games at Riverside saw Port Hope take a 7-3 Lakeshore League victory over the intermediates Petes. Not a bad game, either, but the locals kicked in with some costly errors. Score on earned runs should have been 3-2 for them, which is still enough to take home with a chuckle. Roy Armour in a comeback hurled pretty fair ball, while Conway hit a homer and fielded well, and Murphy smacked out a couple of hits. A squeeze play backfired when the batter muffed the signal and the runner was trapped in a rundown. A fair crowd on deck. Same squads clash down Port Hope way on Wednesday.

Not The Umps' Fault

A draggy junior game here Saturday aft saw Whitby pound out a 14-5 decision over the local Bees. Not too much difference in the so-so pitching but local errors proved more costly and Whitby hit in timely fashion. Dugan led the homers at bat. Lot of arguments slowed it up and it wasn't the ump's, but Whitby, which beat Bees so handily. Apart from a few slips—and we all make the odd mistake—we thought the umping was okay and had little bearing on the result. For instance, 'twas argued that a batter hit a foul—on an odd play where the pitch hit his bat behind his head, juggled around foul and finally rolled fair. But Umpire Wimp Borland was correct in ruling it fair as it's where the ball settles on the infield not where it lands. Bees were below par in this tilt.

Racking up their fourth straight COBL win in as many starts, the senior Petes thumped out a 14-1 decision against the Bata Shoemen in Belleville on Saturday. Bill Edger was in peak form to fan 13 and walk none as he hurled five-hit ball. His backing was fine, too, as the gang played almost errorless ball and pounded three twirlers for 16 safeties, including triples and doubles by Garvey, Stewart and Starr. The latter rapped out four hits in six appearances at the plate. The Shoemen kicked the apple for six miscues. The Oshawa game at Kingston on Friday was washed out. Kingston plays Batawa in Belleville tomorrow, while Oshawa comes here Wednesday evening for the first time.

Girls Are Playing

Girls' softball contests at the Bowl tonight are: 'Lakeland vs. Marines at seven, followed by Woolens vs. Lindsay. And Wednesday eve it's Lock Co. vs. Westclox, and Ashby's vs. CGE, while Woolens are playing in Lakeland. Prexy Dot Millar has ordered all players taking part in second games of twin bills to be at the Bowl by 8.15 p.m. in order to get these games away in good time. No use stalling betwixt struggles—it's not fair to the fans. Marines may arrange an exhibition joust with a Toronto team for the Bowl this Saturday night.

DESE, DEM AND DOSE: A bus load of fans, and some car loads, go to Toronto tomorrow e'en to see the Liverpool-Ulster soccer match; juvenile players can view it for free.

Lindsay and O'Halloran's drew 2-all here Saturday; CGE plays Legion on Wednesday. Open midget lacrosse drill tomorrow p.m. at six in Miller Bowl. Juvenile jousts there Tuesday: Scouts vs. Legion at seven, and Comstock's vs. Queen's.

Juvenile baseballers are idle through the week. East City plays westend juvs at 6.30 in Riverside tonight; tomorrow there, east and west midgets clash, while the west peewees play Crawford's Grove in Morrow Park.

King Edward's junior softballers rabbed out King George 11-9 and will meet the winners of Prince of Wales vs. Central for the school title this week. Quakers took Woolens 18-10 in industrial softball; Nashua plays Westclox at Quaker tonight. Games tomorrow: Canoe vs. De Laval at Brinton, and Brinton vs. Woolens at Woolens. Toronto Levy's defeated Knights 9-3 in a men's softball exhibition here Saturday.

This done.

Girls! Hollywood Calls Looking For New Talent

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 14 (AP).—The currently tight market for film actresses is forcing Robert Montgomery to hunt for an unknown as his next co-star.

"We canvassed Hollywood," he said on the "June Bride" set, "and the handful of girls who could play the role are either too expensive or tied up with contracts." He is seeking a special type to appear in his next comedy, "Come Be My Love."

The Movie Book. Toronto-born Mary Pickford is off to meet Buddy Rogers in New York. They will take a three-month vacation in Europe. Mary is taking a secretary along, Joe Pasternak is reportedly preparing a remake of his old Desna Durbin film, "It's a Date." It is being tailored for Jeanette, Nelson and Jane Powell.

Columnist Drew Pearson is the latest celebrity to be spotlighted by Hollywood.

man's life will be the subject of a semi-documentary "The Washington Story," to be filmed by Columbia in the fall.

Star Notes. Twentieth-Fox is plotting a musical to combine the talents of Dan Bailey and June Haver. Josh White, the ballad singer, makes his film debut in "The Walking Hills." He sings six songs.

Review. It's doubtful if Broadway will have much regard for "Give My Regards to Broadway." Dan Dailley deserves better.

Alexis Smith, native of Penticton, B.C., who is overjoyed with her role as dance hall queen in "South of St. Louis," provides the most arresting quote of the week: "For seven years I have played society dame parts and begged for a role with guts. Now I have got my wish, and I'll probably spend the next seven wishing to get back into clothes."

Whitby Victors By 14 to 5 Over The Bees

Whitby Rotarians hammered out a 14-5 junior Lakeshore Baseball League victory over the local Bees in Riverside on Saturday afternoon before a small crowd. Only in the late heats did the Turner crew threaten seriously and then they had spotted Whitby too big a lead. The pitching was fairly even and only so-so, with some of the Whitby hits scratchy because of fielders out of position. Both sides were a little loose defensively but local errors hurt most.

Mowatt led the winners at bat with four for five, including a triple and a double. McGregor and Anderson had three in five tries each. For the Bees, Dugan led with four in five attempts, one a double. Langhorne got two for four, with Heffernan and Legrow each having two in five, one of the latter's being a two-bagger. There were lots of arguments in the draggy duel and Sullivan was chased in the fourth for arguing too strongly with the base umpire.

Boston Braves Bounce Back Into Lead With Giants

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League, noted for its close pennant races, is staging one this year that promises to make all others look like run-arounds by comparison.

With the season nearly one third gone, the gap between the co-leading New York Giants and Boston Braves and the fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals is only 1½ games. Pittsburgh is third, a game behind the leaders.

The fifth place Phillies of Philadelphia are only 2½ games out of the pace. Only 8½ games separate last place Chicago Cubs from the leaders.

The Braves, who had dropped out of the lead Saturday when they suffered a double loss to Cincinnati, bounced back into a tie with the Giants by dumping the Reds twice in Cincinnati 8-7 and 10-5.

Eddie Stanky drove in Bobby Sturgeon with the winning run to clinch a four-run ninth-inning rally in the opener.

In the second game Bob Elliott's fifth inning home run with two mates aboard gave the Braves a commanding lead. Hank Sauer of the Reds hit his 18th and 19th home runs and tripled.

Split Decisions

The Giants and Cardinals split a couple of close decisions. The Giants won the first game 8-7 and the Cards took the second, 3-2 to snap a five-game losing streak.

Willard Marshall, Buddy Kerr, Bobby Thomson and Sid Gordon paced a hit attack against five Cardinals pitchers in the first game. One of Marshall's hits was a home run.

Ralph Kiner hammered out his 16th and 17th home runs of the season to lead the Pirates to a 9-2 second game victory over Philadelphia after the Phils had copped the opener 8-7. Elmer Riddle coasted to his seventh victory in the second game.

Johnny Schmitz registered his sixth victory of the season—a four-hitter—when he hurled the Cubs to a 3-1 victory over the Dodgers in Chicago.

New York Yankees salvaged the final of a four-game series with Cleveland Indians, defeating Bob Feller and the Tribe 5-3. Feller suffered his sixth setback.

Divide Doubleheader

Philadelphia Athletics split a doubleheader with St. Louis Browns to creep up within three games of the American league leading Indians. They won the second game 3-1 after having dropped the opener 7-5.

Carl Schieb scattered seven hits to register his fourth triumph in the afterpiece. Rookie Lou Brissie of the A's was coasting along behind a 5-1 bulge when he suddenly lost his stuff in the eighth inning of the first game. The Browns quickly scored six runs against him and his reliever, Nelson Potter, to win the game. Potter was the losing pitcher.

The Tigers went over the .500 mark for the first time in weeks when they defeated the Senators in both ends of a double header in Washington, 9-3 and 9-2. Dizzy Trout and Virgil Trucks were the winners.

Gerard Cote Outruns Field At Trials

HAMILTON, June 14 (CP)—

Canada's track stock in the 1948 Olympic games rose a little here Saturday when 34-year-old Gerard Cote virtually made sure of a berth on the Dominion's Olympic team.

The little policeman from St. Hyacinthe, Que., outpaced a field of 26 competitors to take his popular victory over the 26-mile, 385-yard marathon route for the official trial time. His time was 2:46.06.

Cote, four-time winner of the famous Boston Marathon, took the race handily after the 20-mile mark. Until that point it was a three-way race, as the veteran marathoner pulled away from Walter Fedorick, Hamilton Olympic Club star, and Lloyd Evans, veteran Montreal runner.

Fedorick, who placed second, set the pace for more than half of the official Olympic distance, crossing the Civic Stadium finish line only 23 seconds behind Cote.

In third spot was Evans, more than a minute slower than Fedorick. Although weather conditions were ideal for the run, the French-Canadians time was 15 minutes slower than his last Boston race, and three minutes slower than his victory in the Los Angeles marathon May 21. Cote had expressed fears of burning himself out against the competition of distance runner Ab Morton of Galt, Ont. Morton, however, suffered a cramp early in the race and was forced to fall back.

Hogan Breezes Home With New U.S. Record

LOS ANGELES, June 14 (AP).

Ben Hogan new United States open golf champion, was taking it easy today, wondering where his next links title would come from. Hogan had a gold medal, $2,000 in cash and a year's possession of the silver cup.

The future also held promise of a far greater silver lining. Hogan figures to capitalize on this title to the extent of upwards of $50,000.

Hogan breezed home late Saturday afternoon with a 72-hole total of 276, a record for the U.S. open. Ralph Guldahl's 281 in 1937 was the previous mark.

Besides Hogan, two other bettered the old record. They were Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., and Ojal, Calif., and Jimmy Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y. Demaret carded a 278 and Turnesa a 280.

Groth Homers Boost Bisons; Divide Twin Bill

By The Associated Press

One of the prime candidates for the International League rookie-of-the-year honors is Johnny Groth, hard-hitting outfielder of Buffalo Bisons.

Groth, operating in the No. 2 slot in the Bisons' batting order, is batting .316.

He is in his second season of organized ball. Last year he played for Williamsport of the Eastern League and batted .319 in 121 games.

The lanky ballhawk hit his ninth and 10th homers of the season yesterday as the Bisons divided a doubleheader with Baltimore Orioles.

He clouted his ninth in the first game which the Bisons lost 8-7. In the second tilt, he whacked his 10th with a man on to highlight an eight-run first inning. The Bisons went on to win 17-3.

Rochester Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs also divided a double-header. The Wings won the opener 6-4 and the Leafs the aftermatch, 11-9.

Max Surkont, with the aid of Ed Blake in the eighth, gained credit for his fifth win in the first game.

The Leafs pulled the second game out by scoring five runs after two were out in the seventh and final inning.

Jersey City's Little Giants moved into a tie with the Wings for fourth place by trouncing Syracuse Chiefs 9-2 in a single game.

Quakers Win 18-10

Quakers beat Woolens 18-10 in a loose Industrial Softball League game Friday. They hammered out 21 hits, including homers by Hay and Horton. Gunn had a perfect night at bat with five for five. Shell and Nokes had three bingles each for the losers, and Manbeck belted a four-bagger. The teams:

Prime Minister Opens Hospital

TORONTO, June 14 (CP).—Sunnybrook, Canada's largest veterans' hospital was officially opened Saturday by Prime Minister Mackenzie King who unveiled a plaque to the men who served in the first and second world wars.

A crowd of 2,000 gathered around the main entrance during the outdoor ceremony to hear the Prime Minister say the opening should express the resolve of all Canadians to share in the building of a better world in which the need for veterans' hospitals would no longer arise.

Capacity of the completed hospital will be 1,450 beds and at present houses some 700 ex-service men and women. Its 500-acre site on the northern outskirts of the city was a gift from Toronto. A fifth main building is planned.

Detain 10 Jews Sailing For Haifa

NEW YORK, June 14.—(CP).—State department agents Friday night seized the passports of 10 American citizens, and refused them permission to sail on the liner Marine Corp for the Middle East.

The 10, including one girl, had booked passage for Haifa, Israel. Departure of the Marine Corp was delayed more than eight hours while agents "screened" 31 passengers of military age bound for Haifa, Alexandria and Beyrouth.

Of the group, 21 were allowed to sail. A state department spokesman here said the action detaining the 10 Americans was taken "in accord with" United Nations decisions on Palestine and the "truce agreement" between Arabs and Jews.

Obituary

CHARLES JAMES WIDDIS

MILLBROOK, June 14.—(ENS).—Following an extended period of ill health, the death of Charles James Widdis took place at the city hospital, Regina, Sask., on Wednesday, June 9, in his sixty-fifth year. He was born on the family homestead, South Monaghan, on August 13, 1883, the eldest son of the late Jeffrey Widdis, and Helen Wilcox, one of a family of 10 children. His grandparents were pioneer settlers of Cavan township, the farm where his sister, Miss Mary Widdis, now resides, having been in the family for over one hundred years.

When he was a lad of 15, James Widdis went west to his grandfather's, Thomas Wilcox, at Lyleton, Manitoba. Later he homesteaded near Lewvan, Sask., and though the years brought hard times in certain periods, he eventually won financial independence from the fertile soil, and had resided in that province until the time of his death. During a visit to Ontario in 1910, the marriage of James Widdis and Bertha May Linnen, of Kemptville, took place on December 21 of that year, and in 1935 they celebrated their silver wedding anniversary in their western home with a large gathering of their family and friends.

Within the past two years, owing to growing ill health, Mr. Widdis was obliged to retire from active farming, making his home at Regina, and in the winter of 1946 he and his wife visited for two months with relatives in this part of Ontario. He was a member of the former Methodist, and then of the United Church.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Harold, of the RCMP, and Charles on the homestead; four daughters, Mrs. James W. Kennedy (Helen Louise) Lewvan, Sask.; Grace Olive at home,

Mrs. William A. McIver (Hazel Mabel), Calfax, Sask.; and Eva, of Slocan, B.C., also by three sisters, Mrs. Norman Trew (Margaret) of Cavan; Mrs. J. J. Powell, (Bertha), Millbrook; Mary, east of the village; and one brother, Walter of Cavan. There are a number of grandchildren.

Mr. Widdis had been in the Regina hospital for more than six months previous to death, word of which was not unexpected, the telegram Wednesday night stating that definite funeral arrangements had not then been made.

CAR-TRUCK COLLIDE

About $200 damage was done to car driven by Mrs. D. J. Lawrie, 480 Charlotte St., when her car met in collision Friday with a truck driven by J. Crawford, Lakefield. Mrs. Lawrie was driving north on the Burleigh Falls bridge when the accident happened. Damage to the truck was slight.

TROLLING FOR PICKEREL

Two boys were seen on the Otonabee River on Sunday, trolling for pickerel. They were with two older men, about a mile north of the Nassau Dam. Trolling for pickerel is illegal and the fine for this can run from ten to one hundred dollars.

WHO IS LUCKY?

Ned Vitarelli apparently is a lucky golfer—lucky for his opponent. A week ago Sunday he was going around the Kawartha Club links with Fraser Dunfield when Fraser made a hole-in-one on the ninth. Yesterday morning, Mel Akers, playing against Ned, got an ace on the 150-yard 17th hole. Clubhouse rumor has it that Vitarelli is going to charge future opponents a fee.

SIDE-WALK PHILOSOPHER

Those who prefer to stay in bed in the morning rather than walk to the sun come up, should follow the example of the old philosopher who sits, every morning, in a rickety old chair on the sidewalk of Hunter St. He hasn't missed a summer sunrise in years, and would feel sleeping in to be merely a waste of time.

OVERTURN LARGE FLOWER POTS

Despite the efforts of the city to make Victoria Park attractive to residents and summer visitors, there are always some persons who are unable to appreciate this. During tulip time a number of blooms were stolen. On Saturday night one of the recently-erected cement flower pots posted along the Water street edge of the park was cracked from its base and turned over.

TWO DUMP FIRES

Two dump fires, believed caused by spontaneous combustion, caused half of the Fire Department's four calls over the week-end. Early on Saturday evening the first call came when the dump on the West side of Roger St. N. was reported burning. Then on Sunday morning the second fire was reported across the street in the east dump. Shortly after midnight a chimney fire broke out at the residence of F. Reddell, 512 Sherbrooke St.

Knocked Off Bicycle

Knocked off his bicycle when it met in collision with a motorcycle driven by Mick Magee, 207 Murray St., Jack Heffernan, 425 Stewart St., suffered a fractured right elbow and a bruised shoulder. The collision took place Saturday afternoon on Reid St., near Dalhousie.

POLICE SAY MAGEE WAS TRAVELLING

Police say Magee was travelling south on Reid when Heffernan rode out from the east curb. Parked cars on the east side and car approaching from the north prevented Magee from avoiding the bicycle. Police Constables C. J. McGillen and G. A. Edmonson investigated.

Hay Cutting Gets Underway

The first metallic notes of the 1948 harvest are being heard in the Peterborough agricultural area as farmers begin cutting hay. Farm practice has been changing in recent years, advancing the date of earliest haying that puts new emphasis on nutrient content of the grasses.

Carman Bell on the centre line of Smith was working in a field of Dewart's improved hay and pasture mixture this morning. Frank Peterson agricultural representative, suggested today that mixtures which include orchard grass should be cut this week. He saw several Hastings county farmers haying Saturday. One of them was Dave Hollinger in the Stirling district. A little work was already begun east of Peterborough.

"It doesn't take long for orchard grass to get woody, and it should be cut this week," Mr. Peterson remarked.

Two-Car Crash Injures One Man

Two cars met in collision at the corner of Aylmer and McDonnell streets on Saturday afternoon. G. W. Vass, 1925 Brown St., was driving east on McDonnell and H. T. McMullen going south on Aylmer when the two cars met. Damage to the Vass car consisted of a dented left front fender, damaged left front wheel and steering gear. Only the front left fender of the McMullen car was dented. Police found that the brakes and horn on the McMullen car were not working, and that the steering gear was in bad shape. Police constables G. Trennum and C. J. McGillen investigated.

Hon. Russell Kelley Speaks To 150 Rotarians Here

Speaking at the 468th District assembly of Rotary International at the Empress Hotel today, the Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Ontario Minister of Health, said that in the past few weeks he had had doubts as to the program of the United Nations, but that President Truman had clearly shown the American position in the world today in relation to Russia. "The United States," he said, "has no intention of extending its borders, no ill-feeling towards anyone else, but it must be strong in peace."

He mentioned the men killed in the last war and asked, "What kind of a world did those men give their lives for?" "What should we put into Rotary?" said Mr. Kelley. "I want to say this and say it very definitely—we want to put Rotary in its place and not before the Church. Too many men place service club work before the Church." International relations will be strained until "the true love of God enters into the hearts of men."

"I do think," he continued, "that we should make up our minds to be good attendants. I believe that attendance is very important. The third thing we should put into it is to do our part. The fourth thing is that we should put in it friendship. Who lives a richer life—a man with a million dollars or a man with a million friends?"

Mr. Kelley said that when a man goes into a Rotary Club he represents both himself and his business. There should be honest representation of business and there should not be dishonest members.

"What do we get out of it?" he asked. First he mentioned fun and secondly the joy of working with others. "The fact that we are able to work with others gives us an opportunity to do things that we could not do alone."

Friendship and the privilege of working with other countries and other peoples could also be obtained from Rotary. It would be a very, very shallow world," he said, "without our friends."

Lastly he mentioned business. "You get your business from your friends and not your enemies, therefore have all the friends you can and as few enemies."

James Dutton, chairman, in opening the assembly, said that Peterborough was honored to be chosen as the place for the conference.

Charles Cummer, president of the Peterborough Club, welcomed the visitors and District Governor Ken Smith, of Leaside, replied to the welcome.

Governor-elect Ed Simmons, Trenton, spoke on the Rotary financial structure and District Governor Ken Smith on the Rotary Foundation Fellowship Fund. Thirty-nine clubs are represented at the assembly with more than 150 visitors attending and a total registration of more than 250.

Visitors attending the assembly took a boat trip on Sunday afternoon through the Clear and Stony lakes, followed by a dinner at the South Beach Hotel in the evening. The local Rotarians and Rotary Anns were the hosts. The film "Call of the Kewarths" and musical entertainment followed the dinner.

WOODCARVER EXTRAORDINARY — Deputy Fire Ranger Bruce Miller of the Department of Lands and Forests, Parry Sound district, captures the wild life of the Canadian Northland in native wood carvings that are exquisite in workmanship. In the past two years, since he started the work as a hobby, he has carved more than fifty different specimens and travels extensively with an interesting display that is shown both in Canada and the United States.

60 Candidates Invested As K of C Meet

Fourth degree assemblies of the Knights of Columbus from Montreal to Windsor and North Bay were represented in the first exemplification of the degree in this district here Sunday afternoon. The sixty candidates comprised third degree members of Kingston, Belleville, Peterborough and Lindsay councils.

The Master of the Fourth Degree in the first district of Ontario, Sir Knight Patrick J. Quinn of North Bay, was assisted by Very Rev. J. V. McAuley of Lindsay, Rev. E. Lacey, Toronto; George Hanrahan, Windsor; R. A. Jeffrey who has the distinction of the papal title of Knight of St. Gregory, Armpror; A. A. Gardiner, Montreal, and C. G. Spencer, North Bay.

At the conclusion of the degree work, the visiting Knights and the members of the newly inaugurated Peterborough assembly marched in a body to St. Peter's Cathedral for benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and then paraded to the Empress Hotel. Grace was invoked by Bishop J. Gerald Berry who also offered a prayer for His Holiness the Pope.

The only toast was to the King. Sir Knight Quinn, dinner chairman, Musical numbers were vocal solos by Miss Helen Hajnak and violin selections by Kevin Leahy, both accompanied by Mrs. R. G. Aman, ATCM.

In welcoming His Excellency, Bishop Berry as after dinner speaker, the chairman said the subject of the Fourth Degree, patriotism, should be a stimulus in the hearts of the new members to their pride as Canadians. Their forefathers had played a great part in the upbuilding of this country back to the days of the first missionaries, a heritage that should inspire them to take a prominent and rightful place in the society and the affairs of Canada.

Bishop Berry proposed as an exemplar of Catholic men the faith and sacrifices of St. Thomas More, the first layman to become Lord Chancellor England. Son of a Judge, he followed in his father's profession, with a brilliance that made him the outstanding man of his day in London.

"We came to the notice of the King, Henry VIII, and was summoned to the service of his monarch as a judge, companion and adviser. He was a man of strong religious faith, and this drafting to the court was in no wise a pleasure to him. Thomas More was one of the wisest men of his time, widely learned and intellectual of the first quality."

Henry VIII was disturbed by the prospect of having no male heir to the throne. Gradually, divorce of Queen Catharine and marriage to Ann Boleyn became his desire. "When parliament passed the law declaring that the king was head of the Church in England in so far as the laws of Christ permit or allow," it was not long before More resigned his position as chancellor and withdrew to his home at Chelsea. "When he was summoned to take the test oath of the supremacy of the king, he knew his life was forfeit."

Faced Death

So he bade leave to all his dear ones and journeyed to London and on to Canterbury where he was to be judged by his peers. In that trial Thomas seems to have stood before him all the Passions of Our Lord on which he had written such beautiful passages and even books. He would recognize as political necessities the marriage of the King and Ann Boleyn and the right of her child to succession, but what he objected to was one small clause in the preamble to the oath. There it was declared that Henry was the ruler of the Church in England, even in spiritual things, and must be acknowledged as such by his subjects. To that he could not subscribe without denying his faith."

For 400 years Thomas More had seemed almost forgotten, Bishop Berry said, "but in our time his memory has become revered, he has been canonized a Saint, and Chelsea has become a place of pilgrimage." Even his writing have received fresh attention, and, ironically, his Utopia, a mild satire on government and society, has been published in Russia. More had become, in a sense, rehabilitated as a Catholic man and as one of the great Englishmen of his age.

Bishop Berry told the Knights they might expect attacks on the Catholic church because she defended the dignity of man and his freedom by those who in a long range sought to attack man himself. "So you may hear more and more of political Catholicism from those who say the church is interfering with the rights of the state. Attacks of that kind from totalitarian countries are quite open and plain, but from others who may talk of liberty and democracy they are more subtle and are directed in different ways. To gentlemen like you I should like to suggest that you study and know in detail the life of a man like St. Thomas More. You will see in his answers and his decisions the declarations of a fearless Catholic who, though the whole kingdom be against him, he would stand his ground in the certainty that he had the faith even in the face of martyrdom. If there is one treasure we should hold fast, and study and love it is the Catholic faith in all its fullness. The church has survived revolutions, and Catholicism is here to stay, but her glory will be so much greater if you be faithful Knights now and to the end."

THE SCIENTIFIC SPIRIT

The thirst for knowledge is strong in this younger generation. At the display of the Kawartha Kennel Club at the Kin Horse Show Saturday, an enterprising young man, about eight years old, demonstrated his ability to get right to the facts of the matter. His problem: would a certain gentle-looking dog on display bite a finger if it were pushed through the wire to him? It was and he did.—RB.

DOCTOR'S GOOD DEED

There's a story getting around about a man who went to pay his doctor's bill and came out with a cheque for $100. He is the father of a young and rather large family. Death came to the wife and mother, and eventually the husband went to settle his account with the doctor, who "wouldn't take a cent." He wrote out the cheque for the century saying "you need this worse than I do" or words to that effect. May be this is subversive or something, but that's the way it goes.

Opinion Divided On Bylaw Re Gas Stations

Regulation of business hours for the gasoline service stations as proposed by the legal committee of the City Council on Friday night has stirred up a hornet's nest of controversy among local motorists.

A recent petition from 42 gasoline station proprietors of a total of 47 asked Council to pass a by-law restricting the service stations doing business after 7 p.m. to 15 per cent of the total. These would be open until 10 p.m. and then close until the next morning.

Opponents attack this petition from a number of angles: some say a man's working hours are his own business; others feel that a common code must apply to all but during the summer season it is economic suicide for the Kawartha district to restrict tourists in this manner.

The problem will be thrown into the lap of Council when it holds its next meeting.

Opinion is sharply divided among motorists as to the advisability of the city restricting the hours of gasoline sale.

Arguments against closing all cited the case of the injury might do to the tourist trade passing through the city. Arguments for were based more on sympathy for the employees and the desire for one comprehensive business schedule to cover all service stations.

Garnet Dunford, proprietor of Dunford's Garage who does not retail gasoline said "If every station stayed open the same as Russell, then he wouldn't make enough money to pay his light bill," said Mr. Dunford.

Asked if he thought the city should intervene in the matter rather than let the Garage Operators' Association decide the matter, he said, "It's better for the city to pass a by-law. Otherwise the association would never have agreement. And in any case not all the operators belong to the association."

The operators should take turns opening at night, at most this would be twice a month and would be no inconvenience." He emphasized that this was only a service to tourist. Local people can get their gas during regular hours.

More Than 4,000 Attend Kinsmen Horse Show; Best In Eastern Canada

More than 3,000 persons, lovers of expert horsemanship, crowded Exhibition Park on Saturday afternoon and evening to see the second and final day of the Kinsmen Horse Show. Horse fanciers visiting the display were agreed that this year's presentation places the Peterborough show as one of the best of its kind in Eastern Canada.

Two days of sunny, warm weather helped boost the total attendance to the 4,000 figure.

Further classes of horses were shown Saturday, as well as jumping, racing, special classes and performances.

As on Friday night the riders and horses of the Canadian Army jumping team highlighted the jumping events, with Douglas Hood and Lieut. Robert Ballard taking most of the honors for the team.

Attractive Miss Patricia Staples, daughter of S. S. Staples, RR 1, Ida, was another contender for the jumping prizes. She jumped horses of her father for first and second place in the district jumping, and won first and fourth places for district saddle horses.

Another crowd-pleaser was the performance of the two Leggett boys of Oshawa—Robert, 11, and David, 10. In the two-foot jump 100 ponies, they put their tiny steeds over the hurdles separately and then made the jumps together.

St. Thomas Man Wins

Roy Inch of St. Thomas, who ran up a heavy record of wins with his horses at the show, was another top exhibitor. He gave a special request demonstration of a fine team. Mr. Inch also took many firsts and seconds in the Millbrook Fair on Thursday of last week.

Total prize money awarded for all events was $1,500.

Show To Be Annual

Stan Gilmore, president of the Kinsmen Club, pointed out that the service club was planning on making the show an annual event in the city. He mentioned the opinions expressed by many of the visiting horse experts, who commended the show and hoped it would be continued. The class of horses, those entered by local farmers and breeders as well as the entries from outside points, was also marked upon, he said.

The Peterborough Kinsmen Club, sponsoring the Horse Show for the second time this year, made it an all-out club project with their full membership of more than 75 working on arrangements and management of the big display.

Ed O'Toole was general chairman and Walker Jones was secretary of the show. Other members of the management committee were Dr. Harold Worton, S. Staples and Lionel Brown.

Dog Display

In the former cattle building, the Kawartha Kennel Club dog show drew a large crowd. Cocker spaniels, Chesapeake and Labrador retrievers, made up only a part of the 108 dogs and 22 breeds shown. Prizes were not awarded for the dogs, but for the best displays. Winner of the award for the best display of two dogs was W. Thompson, 24 Brown St., while the prize for the best display of more than two dogs went to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wood, 58 Orpington Rd.

Films on dog training and handling were shown during the exhibit.

Officers and members of the club who worked on the show were: R. Reid, W. Wood, W. Thompson, R. Runnett, J. McGuire, G. Hill, G. English, W. Barwick, N. Wood, C. Boulter, T. McMillan, L. Phillips, Bill Botts, G. Webb, R. Gibbons.

Following is a complete list of winners in the various classes: Carriage horses over 15 hands

Scenic Drive Newly-Marked

Dr. A. J. Madill, chairman of scenic drive committee of the Horticultural Society, reports that the route of the 17-mile drive marked afresh. Wilma Dora Ketchen Is Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

HAVELOCK, June 14.—A pretty June wedding took place at Knox Presbyterian church on Saturday afternoon, when Wilma Dora Ketchen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Ketchen, of Havelock, was united in marriage in a double ring ceremony to George Leo Sisco of St. Catharines, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Sisco of Tweed.

American Beauty peonies, white iris and spiraea formed a lovely floral background for the ceremony which was performed by the groom's father, Rev. A. L. Sisco, assisted by Rev. John Davey of Toronto, a former minister of Knox church. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Errol Hoffman and Mr. Fred Bennett sang "Because" prior to the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, bertha collar, moulded bodice finished at the back with satin buttons from the neckline to below the waist, long fitted sleeves coming to points over the hands. The full skirts formed a slight train and the hips were accented with a soft peplum. Her full length veil was of point d'esprit lace caught in a satin head band clustered with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses tied with matching satin ribbon.

Mrs. Earl Hicks was matron of honor, wearing a gown of blue moire, with point d'esprit yoke, bertha collar, princess line back and front accented on the sides with numerous small puffs and trimmed with a long row of buttons in the back. Her veil of matching lace fell gracefully from a headress of blue moire in coronet style. She wore matching mittens and carried a nosegay of Briarcliffe roses and blue sweet peas tied with long ribbon streamers.

Elizabeth Mary Allen Weds R. G. Hamilton of Moose Jaw

Of wide interest was the wedding Saturday afternoon in Knox United Church of Miss Elizabeth Mary Allen to Mr. Robert George Hamilton of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Reid St., Peterborough, and the groom is a son of Mrs. Janet Hamilton of Riverhurst, Sask., and the late George S. Hamilton.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas officiated at the marriage, and Mr. T. J. Allen, brother of the bride, presided at the organ, and played "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony. During the signing of the register Miss Dorothy Mitchell sang "Through The Years". Mr. Allen gave his daughter in marriage. The chancel was banked with beautiful iris, lilacs and fern.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white frosted taffeta fashioned with padded hipline and bouffant skirt. A peplum from the centre front panel met at the back to form a deep point and fell into a fish-tail train. The square neckline of the bodice was edged with a fold of material and carried down the shoulders and there were long sleeves coming to points over her hands. She wore a full-length veil of embroidered net, shirred to a coronet of pearls, and a gold pendant, set with pearls, which was worn by her mother at her wedding. The bridal bouquet was a showered cascade of Bettertime roses, bouvardia and lily of the valley.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss E. Ruth Allen, and as bridesmaid, Miss Alva Attleberry of Brantford. They were frocked in green and yellow frosted taffeta, patterned on the same lines as the bride's gown with short sleeves. They wore Dutch caps of the same material and matching mittens and carried Colonial bouquets of Briarcliffe roses and sweet peas.

Mr. Wm. A. Hamilton of Lindsay was groomsmen for his brother. Ushers at the church were Mr. Wm. Allen, brother of the bride, Mr. Leonard Symonds, and Mr. Warren Trotter.

At Oakwood United Church, Toronto, on Saturday afternoon the marriage was solemnized of Katherine Evelyn (Lynne) Clark of Toronto and Kathryn (Kathleen) Douglas Henry (Harry) Coones of Mr. and Mrs. John Coones of Lakefield. A charming decorative setting was formed of seasonal garden flowers and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Howey. Before the bride entered, Mrs. M. Ward of Toronto sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and during the signing of the register, "Because".

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Harry Herrington. She wore a wedding gown of white satin styled on princess lines with long sleeves coming to lily points over her hands. She wore an heirloom finger-ring veil of embroidered net that was held in place by a satin cap trimmed with orange blossoms, and she carried red roses.

Ideal for smart daytime dresses of the semi-casual variety is stiff silk in a jacquard weave. Tiny beige, red, green and blue checks makes a handsome frock on shirt-waist lines with slit pockets in the hipline of the moderately full skirt. Tiny jewelled buttons on the bodice and jewelled links for the three-quarter sleeves with pointed cuffs.

Ideal for giving a dressed-up look to a soft summer suit is the flat-top or pancake type of hat inspired by the rooftops of Paris. Fine white straw braid makes a beauty that is deftly draped and manipulated. It has a coarse wide-meshed black veil and two big fake hampins of mother-of-pearl.

Coming in strong is the satin dress for late afternoon wear. Butterscotch brown satin is used for a handsome ankle-length frock with deep square neckline that is piped in gold kidskin. Wide, tailored belt is also of the kidskin, and the dress is worn with gold kidskin shoes and gloves.

Foolish Mother Expects Adults of Her Children

DEAR MISS DIX: My children do things which do not seem to me to be honorable, that make me feel they cannot be trusted, and I would like your opinion.

The other day I permitted my boy to go into a Penny Arcade with the promise that they would leave exactly at a certain time, but they overstayed the time by several minutes. They also played 25 cents on one of those wasteful machines which took only a few seconds. I felt that they should have used their money for something more worth-while.

Is it abnormal for a youngster to do such things, or does it show a bad strain?

ANXIOUS MOTHER

ANSWER: My dear woman, if you were trying to find some way to wreck your children's lives, you couldn't hit upon any line of conduct that would do it more effectively than the one that you are using. For apparently you haven't the faintest knowledge of children, or understanding of why they act as they do.

Borrowing Trouble

Your are setting standard for your youngsters that at their age they cannot possibly live up to, and you are making yourself miserable by borrowing trouble about their doing it's silly, foolish little things that all children do. Worse still, you are cultivating an inferiority complex in them by accusing them of lack of principle, when they are only acting their age.

Can't you bring a little common sense to bear on the subject? Don't you realize that time means nothing to a small child and that there is no little boy in the world who can resist throwing his ball a second time, or punching a slot machine again, in order to be just Johnny on the dot for an appointment? Can't you see how foolish you are in expecting a little kid to spend judiciously the quarter that has been given to him, instead of wasting it on junk?

If you keep on the way you are going, you will make your children hate you and turn them into little liars and sneaks. For no child is going to tell on himself the thing that will get him into trouble. The only mothers who have any influence with their children are those who talk over their father. But, on the other hand, you couldn't really expect a wife whose husband has discarded her for another woman to teach her children to love, honor and revere him.

IT WAS A HAPPY WEDDING — Doreen Fieghen and Herbert James Timmarsh, left, were being pronounced man and wife here, Saturday afternoon, at the time the bride's father, Harold Fieghen, was captured by police in a Weston garage. Mentally ill for two years, the man had wounded his wife with a .22 rifle Friday. Mrs. Fieghen, who suffered a slight chest wound, was able to attend the ceremony.

In ordinary family life the reason that mother so often disparage their husbands to the children and call their attention to their father's every fault and weakness, and implant in the children's minds the idea that their fathers care nothing for them, is just jealousy. They want their children to love them best, admire them most, and to grow up believing that Mother was the only one who cared for them. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Adverse planetary configurations are likely to create a difficult, dangerous and generally dubious state of affairs. Major interests are at stake, concerning credit, finances, position, agreements and joint issues in all relationships. Understandings or pledges may be nullified, by bad judgment, fraudulent securities, extravagance, bombast or any form of misrepresentation. These combine to shake the confidence of those in influence who are interested. Duplicity and treachery may also pervade the social or romantic environment and ties. Guard against all losses. For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are likely to encounter a year of treachery, fraud, misrepresentation and loss, not only due to unworthy intentions or plans, but to confused judgment, mistaken confidence, betrayals and intrigues affecting all forms of partnerships, joint issues or contracts of major significance. Be cautious with all writings, documents and agreements, and refrain from extravagance, prodigality, rash use of funds as well as energies or other assets. Keep prudent and practical in all investments and outlay. Guard reputation.

The invited guests included all ex-members, members of the YW Board of Directors and representatives of each senior group at the Y. They were received by the president, Miss Ailwen Jones, assisted by Misses Flora Metcalfe and Marion Pogue.

'38 Club Marks Anniversary With Tea at YWCA

The YWCA Green Room was prettily decorated Saturday to form an attractive setting for the Tenth Anniversary Tea given by the '38 Club members. Originally formed as a friendship circle, the group took their present name in 1938. Their purpose is to provide a means for new girls coming to the city to become acquainted with congenial friends. Their financial efforts are made to provide funds for worthy children to attend the Y summer camp, and assist with general YWCA work.

Mrs. Ray Kearns had arranged a charming tea table for the occasion, using a centerpiece of deep-shaded pansies in graceful swan-design holders with pastel streamers reaching out to tall every problem with them with kindness and love, instead of treating them as if they were criminals.

You are trying to make perfectionists of your children. It can't be done. Every child is born a little savage and has to be taught the amenities of life. The only way that can be done is through the mother showing the child tenderness and comprehension, instead of treating him as if he were a born degenerate.

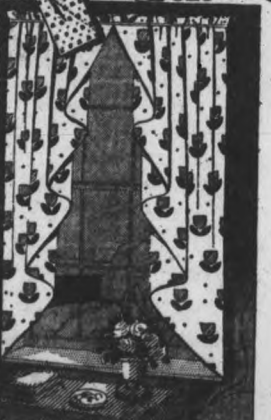

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Do you think a mother is justified in poisoning the minds of their children against their father? Why do so many mothers always "be-just," tries to prejudice the children? Why should a woman take out her grievances against her husband in trying to make the children hate their father.

D. R.

ANSWER: It is easy to see why a woman, unless she is exceptionally broad-minded and just, tries to prejudice the children against their father in cases of divorce. She is bound to justify herself to them in breaking up their home by making them feel that she is a poor, persecuted martyr and that he is a brute. Often a woman revenges herself for real or fancied wrongs by teaching the children to hate

It is a large bus-like unit, 28 feet long, 8 feet wide and 9 feet 6 inches high. It has a special body built on a standard 3-ton truck chassis, with an extended wheel base and forward-drive conversion. There are two doors on the curb side and a safety door behind the driver. Four skylights of double shatter-proof glass with an air space between are set in the roof, a wide shallow double window is placed at the back and the two curb doors have glass panels.

Shelves line the body from floor to ceiling back of the entrance door, with the exception of spaces given up to bulletin board and coat cupboard. The shelves hold about 2,200 volumes made up of approximately 900 books for boys and girls, 700 adult classed books and 600 adult fiction.

The Bookmobile follows a weekly time-table which consists of ten stops in different parts of York township, all but one for two-hour periods. They are arranged so that it is possible for both adults and children to come. Monthly circulation of books is about 6,500.

Douglas Outlines 3 Election Issues

WATROUS, Sask., June 14.—(CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas said in a week-end campaign speech here that three issues will face electors in the June 24 Saskatchewan election.

The voters will have to decide whether they approve of a government which puts its program into effect, he said, whether they want to retain the gains made and whether they approve the policies of the federal Liberal administration.

"Walter Tucker (Provincial Liberal Leader) has been trying to calm people's fears by saying the Liberals won't destroy the good things the C.C.F. has done," the premier continued. He then said he would like to ask Mr. Tucker why every Liberal member had voted against these "good things."

If the Liberals were elected, he said, all the crown corporations would be disposed of and revenue would leave the province. The Liberals then would not have the money to supply the services now provided by the C.C.F.

Settle a Wage Dispute

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., June 14.—(CP)—Settlement of a prolonged wage dispute which had threatened to halt atomic energy research here was announced Sunday. The settlement involved a wage increase of about 15½ cents an hour with vacation and other benefits.

13 Hurt In Blast

TORONTO, June 14.—(CP)—Thirteen persons were injured in an explosion and flash fire which gutted a 29-foot cruiser Saturday night as it was moored at a dock at Sea Cadet barracks on the lakefront. The injured suffered mostly from burns. The cruiser, valued at $10,000 was a total loss.

Children Thrilled By Jumpers At Show

It was a great day at the horse show for the children. Dozens of boys about eight or nine ran up and down in the grandstand, picking up soft drink bottles, making contracts to pick them up, and sucking noisily on ice cream bars and their own drinks.

Memories of the old horse-drawn water wagons came back to old timers as they saw the kids run down to the fence to soak up the spray from the watering truck.

In the west end of the stands, three or four boys played catch, obvious of the horses stepping proudly on the track. Others scuffled in front of the spectators, and several spent fifteen minutes trying to capture their dog, which had run onto the track and was bothering the horses.

Only a few paid much attention to the show on the track and in the jumping ring. But those few sat fascinated on the edge of their seats, half-rising when a horse jumped to clear a barrier. Their eyes bugged out, and they said "Gee!" respectfully when a Toronto youth, only eight years older than themselves, cleaned up the jumping stakes.

But before the evening show was over, most of them had disappeared from the stands. They walked out the gate, happy, without a thought of what Mom might say when they got home.

OTTAWA, June 14.—(CP).—Two racing jet-propelled Vampire aircraft Saturday proved you can travel from Montreal to Ottawa and back in just 25 minutes. The distance is a little over 200 miles. Some 30,000 spectators saw the streaking Vampires in the second annual air force show at nearby Rockcliffe.

Bricklayers To Strike

TORONTO, June 14.—(CP).—Unionized bricklayers and stonemasons have voted to strike Wednesday to support demands for a 30-cent hourly wage increase. An AFL union spokesman said union members voted Saturday night to reject a seven-cent hourly increase offered by Toronto builders' exchange.

Drew Has Scheme For British Branches

LONDON, June 14.—(CP).—Premier George Drew of Ontario hopes to work out a scheme that will enable British firms to establish Canadian branches in Ontario without endangering British dollar reserves.

The premier, who arrived here Saturday with his wife, said the policy of British firms establishing branches in Ontario had reached new importance with Ontario Hydro-Electric developments expected to double the province's electricity output within a few years.

Extension of British firms into Canada had become difficult since the export of sterling was stopped. Premier Drew said he was uncertain how long he would stay in London.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

IS THE BID A SIGN-OFF? IT DID NOT take long for smart bidders in the early days of bridge—long before auction was supplanted by contract—to discover the sign-off principle. They learned that often a player with nothing but a long suit in a very weak hand could do better as declarer, opposite an opening-hand bid, than could the latter as declarer, opposite nothing but a long suit in an almost honorless holding. So they developed the idea that a minimum rebid of a suit by the opener's partner gave warning his hand was of no real value except with that suit as trump.

about his suit lengths so he could show two suits.

Having chosen the diamond suit for his beginning, he should have rebid it after the 2-Club, being too weak for the heart call he made. When North signed off, however, at 3-Clubs, despite South's powerful reverse rebid, South should have closed his mouth. But he disregarded the sign-off when he rebid diamonds. North did right to show his preference, with three hearts and only one diamond.

Very humdrum play resulted in the contract being down three tricks. If North had been allowed to play at 3-Clubs, he could have made it unless East led the A and another club to set it only one.

Notice how different a suit rebid by the opener is from one by his partner. The opener can never deny a certain amount of honor strength, whereas his partner can.

Tomorrow's Problem

South got just what he deserved for his very bad bidding. Every call he made was wrong. With a minimum opener, his best start would have been 1-Heart instead of his 1-Diamond, since he was not strong enough to "reverse" by bidding the higher-ranking suit second and should have preferred a slight falsehood.

Tax Affecting Funds Used For Investment

MANOIR RICHELIEU, Que., June 14 (CP)—Taxation is affecting the supply of funds for investment, Trevor Moore of Toronto said in an address prepared for delivery to the annual meeting of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, which opened its sessions here today.

"It is extremely important," said Mr. Moore, "that Canadians take note of the fact that approximately 21 per cent of the national income, that is, of the income of labor, income from investments, income from corporations goes to the federal government.

"Add to this the cost of operating provincial and municipal governments and we find a staggering portion of our national income now is required to carry the expenses of government.

"Risk capital, venture capital, will be forthcoming, when one of these two—the tax on corporate profits or the tax on dividends received by the individual—is removed."

Raps Double Taxation

Mr. Moore said that double taxation, the taxing of profits and taxing of dividends in the hands of the investor, should be abandoned in favor of one tax, the individual income tax.

"A study of 709 business establishments by the Bank of Canada reveals that in 1946 taxes paid by these firms amounted to 45 per cent of their net profits contrasted with 18 per cent in 1936."

"All of this surely means that few indeed will put money into new enterprises unless they are reasonably assured of profits at least 50 per cent greater than would be required if there were no corporation income tax."

$12 Million Program

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—A $12,000,000 dike reconstruction program for the flood-ravaged Fraser Valley in British Columbia will be initiated "just as soon as possible," it was authoritatively learned here. The program, to be undertaken under joint planning of the governments of the Dominion and British Columbia, will provide for "complete reconstruction" of almost 200 miles of dikes.

Human Love Like Insects Odd Theme Of Comic Play

By PAT USSHER.

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—The frightening theory that humans are akin to insects when it comes to loving, living and fighting is expounded in "The Insect Comedy," currently revived by the New York City Theatre Company.

Owen Davis adapted this play by Josef and Karel Cadek. Intelligently and deftly staged by Jose Ferrer at the City Centre, it seems to have lost little of the impact it had when first produced here in 1922.

In its three acts the Czechoslovakian brother-authors portray life in the insect world, first among butterflies, then among beetles, crickets and flies, and finally among the ants. A vagrant representing the human race, surveys each episode from the sidelines. With each scene he realizes how closely the behavior of the insects tallies with that of the human race.

Fleeing Love Affairs
The butterflies spend their time in fleeting love affairs and the vagrant is reminded of drawing-room society. The beetles, crickets and flies are chiefly engaged in piling up fortunes, finding homes and preying on other creatures for food. Again he finds a vivid parallel with human day-to-day existence. The regimented life of the ants, the pretenses on which they wage war and their conduct in battle are unhappily familiar to all who have lived in this century.

George Coulouris is first-rate as the vagrant who threads the play into coherence. The whole cast is good and so is Herbert Brodtkin's forest glade set.

Betty Low, Ottawa-born dancer, shows to advantage in double role, as one of the butterflies in the first scene and as a moth in the epilogue. Miss Low was seen here last autumn as Octavia in the Katharine Cornell production of "Anthony and Cleopatra."

Sleepy Musical
An elaborate production and a large cast are engaged in "Sleepy Hollow," a musical adapted from Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," but the critical consensus was thumbs down. Only Brooks Atkinson of the Times warned towards this tale about a young woman who tried the stunt of a headless horseman to untangle her romantic affairs. Most of the critics found this musical at the St. James Theatre a mediocre production, with the accent on sleepy.

Arrest Father In Shooting Before Wedding

TORONTO, June 14 (CP)—W. Harold Fieghen, 45, Toronto shooting suspect, was captured by police on the outskirts of suburban Weston on Saturday afternoon shortly before his daughter's wedding. Police said Fieghen will be charged with the attempted murder of his wife, Annie. It is alleged he wounded her with a .22 rifle.

Fieghen, a mental patient, had said before the shooting that the wedding would not go on. But although he had threatened in telephone calls to his family that he would be at the church, the ceremony was a normally happy affair. Nineteen-year-old Doreen and her husband, Herbert James Titmarsh, were as nervous as any bridal couple, but wreathed in smiles. They did not know that Fieghen had been captured until they arrived at the reception.

Mrs. Fieghen, shaky from the slight chest wound, sat down in the receiving line. Police say that Fieghen spent the night on a park bench in Woodbridge. He was recognized Saturday by a friend as he was walking from Woodbridge to Weston. The friend told police and Chief Thomas Grant and Constable Peter Cherecki of the Weston force picked up the wanted man.

Fieghen has been in a mental institution twice. He shot at his wife after she had visited the hair-dressers in preparation for the wedding. She told police she arrived home with some chocolate bars for her husband. She walked upstairs to his bedroom and found the door closed. As soon as she opened it her husband fired the rifle.

Jewels In River

WINNIPEG, June 14 (CP)—An admitted bank robber said Friday that thousands of dollars worth of jewelry taken from safety deposit boxes in the $279,000 robbery of a Royal Bank branch here last October had been dumped into the Assiniboine river.

James Davison, sentenced to six years in penitentiary for participation in the robbery, said the jewels were dumped into the river from the Main St. bridge the night of the robbery. The jewels have been valued at from $30,000 to $40,000.

Israeli Commanding Officer Killed Twice Decorated By U. S. In World War 2

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Col. David Marcus, an American veteran of the Second World War and supreme commander of Israel's military forces on the Jerusalem front, has been killed in the Holy Land fighting.

The 47-year-old, West Point-trained officer, was felled Thursday night—a few hours before the Palestine cease-fire order became effective.

A former New York City official, he was twice decorated by the United States government during the war.

He saw service in nearly every theatre of operations, helped draft the surrender terms for

Italy and Germany, and was a legal aide to the United States delegations at Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam.

News of his death came from David Ben Gurion, Israel's Prime Minister, and was announced on Friday by New York representatives of the provisional Jewish government.

It was the first death officially recorded by the Israeli government of a former high-ranking United States army officer although several former American soldiers have died in Palestine while serving with Zionist troops. In the invasion of France, Marcus parachuted into Normandy.

Forest Fire Situation Improving

More Rain—Making Experiments Scheduled In North

By The Canadian Press

With more rain-making experiments scheduled, the forest fire situation in Northern Ontario was described early today as "the most encouraging since May 25."

That was the date the bushland, toasted by a week of hot weather, erupted into flame and smoke.

Late reports also indicated that rain showers were helping in the fight against Quebec outbreaks. Fire crews brought blazes in the Rouyn area under control and checked fires north of Maniwaki.

Ontario hotspots still were the giant fires in the Mississagi and Chapleau timber limits. The approach of the Mississagi blazes to a $15,000,000 power development on the Mississagi river north of Thessalon led the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to put a commission amphibian at the disposal of the lands department.

Based at Sault Ste. Marie, the plane Monday enabled rain-makers to douse more than 600 pounds of dry ice on clouds over the Mississagi fire area. More dry ice was scheduled to be used today in attempts to start rainstorms in the fire regions.

Situation Better

Word of improvement in the Ontario situation came from the province's deputy lands minister, Frank MacDougall. A similar view was expressed by T. E. Mackey, chief of Ontario's forest protection service.

Showers fell over the Mississagi and Chapleau blazes but the fires cover so much area that little benefit was derived, the Department of Forestry said. However, in many northern sections improvement has been such that the Department is considering lifting some restrictions barring all but essential travel.

In the North Bay district scattered showers Monday night temporarily reduced the fire hazard from an extreme to medium. It was the first drop in the hazard in nearly a month. A total of 13 bush fires, most of them minor were reported in the district today but none were out of control.

The Department's report on the forest fire situation said three fires were checked by rain. These blazes were of 8,750 acres in Panet township north of Chapleau, of 19,100 acres in Ramsden township north of Chapleau and of 12,100 acres in Sandy township, northeast of Chapleau.

Communists Call Strike In Italy

ROME, June 15 (AP)—Italy's biggest post-election strike began today.

A one-day general stoppage, called by the Communist-led Chamber of Labor in the populous province of Turin, began at 6 a.m. The strike was called in protest against what Labor said was police occupation of the Lancia Automobile Works.

The management of Lancia, one of Italy's principal producers of medium priced cars, were reported to have cut the 48-hour weekly work shift to 40 hours and in some units to 32. Economic necessity was given as the reason.

French To Vote On Pact

Fear Stubbornness May Cool Ardor Of US

PARIS, June 15 (AP)—The French Assembly is expected to reach a vote late tonight or tomorrow on the six-power London accord to create a separate state of western Germany.

France is the only one of the countries whose negotiators evaded the plan which has not approved it. Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg endorsed it Monday and Britain and the United States did so previously.

(The London papers caution the French that their stubbornness on the agreement may cool American

READY FOR TROUBLE — The photo above shows part of a force of 150 men, boarding a truck in Montreal recently to go to Cornwall where the Canadian Seamen's Union and the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union are involved in a dispute for the right to man strikebound ships. A weekend fracas between the rival unions was avoided by presence of Mounties, Provincial and local police. Scene at right shows strikers at Cornwall sitting disconsolately as lake ships move down the canal on way to Montreal. After a five-hour emergency session, Cornwall city council requested federal intervention to end violence between the unions.

Disease Looms In Flood Area; Halt Evacuees

VANCOUVER, June 15 (CP)—A new and grave danger loomed in the flooded Fraser Valley today—the threat of disease.

Mass movement of evacuees back to their homes was abandoned as the Provincial Health Department condemned inundated Valley fields and homes.

The order will not be lifted until inspection of individual homes has been made and houses approved as sanitary.

Only three partial areas will be free of water in the immediate future — Agassiz, Harrison, and Mission Flats.

Fight against disease is rapidly taking priority. It is estimated 18,000 anti-typhoid inoculations have been given in the Valley.

The Federal government was being asked what it planned doing to help put farmers in the stricken Fraser Valley back on their feet.

James Sinclair, Member for Vancouver North, said in the Commons Monday night that an "immediate" announcement of the Government's plans would do much for the morale of the victims, who have lost an estimated $25,000,000 in crops, livestock, farm homes, barns and implements.

Operation Sandbag—the task of the RCAF—was suspended Monday. Navy and army personnel recruited for flood duties were reduced.

Mr. Sinclair, querying the Government concerning its pledge to join the province in financing British Columbia's recovery, said this country has done so much for the hungry people of Europe that the people expect the government to do as much, if not more, for the people of British Columbia.

Occupy Radio Station?

BERLIN, June 15 (Reuters)—The German news service DENA today reported that armed Russian troops occupied the Berlin radio station which is situated in the British sector of the city but later asked subscribers to withdraw the report. The agency gave no explanation for its request.

Count Folke Bernadotte said today United Nations planes, supplied by the United States, were patrolling the Palestine coast to check ships arriving with immigrants and supplies. Bernadotte said all supplies sent into Jerusalem are under inspection and control, regardless of the route used.

Soviet Okays Danube Parley

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Soviet Russia has accepted a United States proposal to hold a 10-country conference July 30 to arrange for free international navigation on the Danube River. In a reply announced by the State Department, Russia also withdrew previous opposition to Australia taking part in the conference.

Moscow said it is willing to invite Austria to send representatives in a non-voting capacity. The Soviet note, dated July 12, said Yugoslavia advised it would be difficult to provide facilities for holding the conference at Belgrade.

Russia proposed instead that it be held in the capital of one of the other Soviet bloc Danube states.

Late in the day, the Soviets began re-routing motor traffic between Berlin and western Germany to by-pass a bridge across the Elbe river, which they said was closed for repairs.

American officials said the trip today said a six-mile detour with ferry service had been arranged. British officials said the Russians in 48 hours have stopped 140 carsloads of coal routed to Berlin, asserting the cars were defective.

The cars were cut out of trains at Marienborn, the Soviet checkpoint at the border of the Russian and British zones. Trains were allowed to go on with cars the Russians said were in good repair.

American officials said no freight trains in the American zone have been stopped since the complete 24-hour halt Saturday. The Elbe river bridge under repair is a makeshift structure built to replace the permanent bridge destroyed during the war.

Good Samaritan Hit

LINDSAY, June 15 (ENS)—Fred Walter, 57, of Oakwood, is resting comfortably in Ross Memorial Hospital today after being struck by a car on Highway No. 7, one mile west of Oakwood on Monday. Walters, a Dept. of Highways employee, was working in the ditch when he stepped out on the road to answer a question of a passing motorist. He was hit by the right front fender of a car going east, and driven by George Mullock, of Buckhorn. He was taken to the Lindsay hospital where it was found his right leg was fractured. Dr. W. T. Rich of Lindsay attended him. Provincial Constable William Milton of Lindsay is investigating the accident.

He foresees that one field of the future development would be the region around the St. Lawrence seaway, the joint power and waterway project that has been rejected by successive US Congresses.

"I firmly believe" he said, "that the industrial and strategic needs of our continent will in due course overcome existing obstacles to the Seaway."

Even under the current program of conserving US dollars, the Dominion was paying interest and dividends to US investors at the rate of $275,000,000 annually. He foresees that one field of the future development would be the region around the St. Lawrence seaway, the joint power and waterway project that has been rejected by successive US Congresses.

Plans for the division of Palestine into largely self-governing regions on the Swiss Canton model will be put forward, reliable Egyptian sources hinted today. The Jews would have domestic autonomy within the territory assigned to them, these sources said, but would have no statehood.

Russians Halt Coal Shipments Routed To Berlin

BERLIN, June 15 (AP)—The Russians halted motor traffic between Berlin and the west for a while today and also stopped 140 carsloads of coal inbound from the British zone.

Modern Noah's Ark

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Loaded like Noah's Ark, an airliner set out Monday from La Guardia Field for Milan, Italy. Aboard were seven bulls, two heifers, 50 young pigs, 16 white Leghorns, two cocker spaniels, two Scottish terriers, and an English setter. It took more than four hours to persuade some of the animals that they wanted to go to Italy to join cattle breeders near Milan.

He recalled that the Italian campaign was always difficult since the terrain favored defence and the Germans had more divisions than the Allies.

Plan To Keep Boats Moving And See Crew Safe From Rival Union Violence

Cornwall Council Asks Ottawa Intervene

To End Strike Trouble,

After Holding Five-Hour Emergency Session

CORNWALL, June 15 (CP)—Capt. Norman Reoch, operating manager of Canada Steamship Lines, which is engaged in a dispute with the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), said today his company planned to outfit its ships with the tear gas guns if necessary, in an effort to prevent CSU men boarding the ships. In Montreal Monday night CSU members boarded the Kinmount and induced the crew to go ashore but today a new crew, members of Pat Sullivan's Canadian Lake Seamen's Union which has an agreement with the CSL, went aboard.

The crew which left the Kinmount last night was the fourth crew to leave the vessel this season.

"We aim to keep our ships moving and we intend to give our crews every protection in carrying out their duties," said Capt. Reoch. "and, if necessary, will install tear gas guns on the ships to protect the crews from boarding parties."

The decision came after a week-long dispute of the Canadian Seamen's Union with five Great Lakes shipping companies and the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union ended in several near riots, serious injury to two seamen and the arrest of five CSU members.

Meanwhile, five CSU men are in Cornwall jail facing a range of charges from kidnapping to assault and forcibly retaining. Four are remanded for trial June 21. Bail was set at $2,500 for each man but at an early hour today the men were still in jail.

Seek Two Others

Police said they are also looking for two other CSU men, one of whom will face 10 charges ranging from assault to forcibly retaining.

Already detained are: Milton C. Nuttal, CSU business agent, on seven charges including four under the kidnapping section of the Criminal Code.

Joseph Graback of Toronto, on nine charges, including one of obstructing a police officer; Gerald Yettman, Halifax, NS, charged with assault, causing bodily harm;

Eugene Bellefontaine, CSU organizer, arrested Monday on a charge of forcibly seizing and retaining; Marcel Laporte, a member of the CLSU, who was severely beaten in the flare-up between the two rival unions over the week-end.

Stage Raids

Later RCMP officers staged a number of raids, including one on CSU headquarters. They surrounded the hall and ordered an identification parade, but made no arrests.

Arriving in Cornwall to take over direction of the CSU strike action was Conrad Sauras of Montreal, CSU vice-president.

However, along the Cornwall Canal system, where the flare-up took place, all was quiet during the night. Ships moved through the waterway without hindrance.

Court Battle

TORONTO, June 15 (CP)—A court battle between the Canadian Seamen's Union and the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union was expected to continue today.

ERP Terms Worry Britain

MP's Fear Too Many Strings Tied To Deal

LONDON, June 15 (AP)—A foreign office official said today that the British government is engaged in a "delicate" process of negotiating the ERP terms which the Yankess are demanding in Britain's bilateral agreement on Marshall aid.

Christopher Mayhew, Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, urged the Commons "not to press for comment while negotiations are going on."

He said this after John Platts-Mills (Independent) demanded "assurance that in negotiating the bilateral agreement... he would not surrender to the European recovery program administrator the power to decide the rate of exchange of British currency or the right to veto or in any way to interfere with the British tariff policy and structure."

Platts-Mills asked: "Is it not high time the British people were told these iniquitous terms which the Yankess are demanding so that we can back up our negotiator in rejecting them?"

The Financial Times today warns the United States against attaching strings to Marshall aid.

Grasshoppers Stage Blitz On Saskatchewan; Said Worst In 8 Years

Whole Sections Stripped In New Outbreak As Prairie Farmers Begin Assessing Worst Of Flood Damage

REGINA, June 15.—(CP).—Four tons of chemical grasshopper poison yesterday were being rushed to help battle the most serious outbreak of grasshoppers in more than eight years. The poison was flown in during the week-end from Chicago, Seattle and Vancouver as supplies began to shrink. Millions of the insects have hatched during the last two weeks and farm officials say they are a serious threat to the 1948 crop.

In some areas, whole sections are devastated. In others, the hoppers are just emerging from grassy ditches where they hatch and are beginning to nibble at the edges of fields.

Flood Trouble

WINNIPEG, June 15.—(CP).—Mother nature and the elements, ganging up on the prairie farmer this spring, may have thrown him for a financial loss. First it was floods. Now grasshoppers are becoming a serious menace.

In Manitoba the 'hopper' threat is not considered grave this summer, but farmers fear that the insects may migrate east from Saskatchewan, laying eggs which will constitute an invasion for next year.

In the meantime, main concern of Manitoba farmers is production of crops in areas which were flooded during the spring. Crop conditions now are said by Agricultural Department officials to be better than expected a month ago, although they report a 10-per-cent reduction in acreage sown to wheat.

In Saskatchewan recent crop reports show loss of acreage and generally retarded operations due to water remaining on cultivated land. In some areas around Regina and Weyburn no seeding is expected to take place at all.

VANCOUVER, June 15.—(CP).—Dr. Margaret Newton of Victoria Monday night was awarded the Royal Society of Canada's Flavelle Medal for outstanding contributions to science. Other medals awarded at the general meeting of the society went to Gabrielle Roy and Canon Lionel Groulx, both of Montreal.

Will Block Russ Observers Being Sent To Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 15.—(CP).—Western Power concern over Soviet Russia's bid to send military observers into Palestine is expected to receive its first formal airing today in the United Nations Security Council. Russian delegate Andrei Gromyko will probably force the Western Powers to vote out a request that Russia be allowed to send such observers into Palestine to check any violations during the four-week truce which entered its fifth day today.

Informal sources here said that the Russian proposal will be countered at the council meeting this afternoon with the claim that the staff of Count Folke Bernadotte, the UN mediator, is adequate. Bernadotte asked for 21 military observers—seven from each of the countries represented on the truce commission, the United States, France and Belgium.

Monday night Bernadotte advised Secretary-General Trygve Lie that he may put control officers in several ports to check on immigrants embarking for Palestine during the four-week truce in the Holy Land.

RUSSIANS NOT LAGGING ON JET RESEARCH—Here, in this first peek behind the iron curtain of Russian military aircraft research, are two Soviet planes utilizing jet propulsion. The fighter model, patterned after the unfinished German DFS346, is supposed to have attained a speed of 745 miles per hour, which is faster than the speed of sound. The Ilyushin four-jet bomber, one of the most important of four U.S.S.R. types now under development, bears a striking resemblance to the U.S. Boeing stratjet B-47 bomber, particularly in the nose details and suspension of engines from the wings.

Maritime Strike Threat Ended

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP).—The threat of an immediate country-wide maritime strike died out today in the wake of injunctions obtained by Federal attorneys in New York, Cleveland and San Francisco.

The National Maritime Union (N.M.U.) largest of seven unions involved in disputes with ship owners, was the first to capitulate to a court order.

Union officers sent out instructions that they obey an order from Federal Judge John Clancy of New York ordering both sides in the dispute to maintain the status quo for a period of 10 days, with a further hearing set for June 18.

Judge Clancy's order covered the east and gulf coasts. Similar orders covering the west coast and Great Lakes were issued by Federal judges in San Francisco and Cleveland.

Although the unions did not immediately rescind strike instructions, there were unofficial indications that the court order would be obeyed. The unions pledged a "fight to have this restraining order lifted so that we may go ahead without unfair government interference and reach a just and equitable settlement with our employers."

Base Metals Feature Spotty Stock Market

TORONTO, June 15.—(CP).—Base metals featured a spotty market on the Toronto Stock Exchange today with good gains probably caused by the announcement late Monday of an extra $3.50 dividend declared by Consolidated Smelters.

Smelters was up 1 1/4 and established a new high at 119 1/2 in the base metals. White Amulet gained 15 cents and a new high at $9.20. Pend Oreille, Gulf Lead, Golden Manitou and East Sullivan firmed 3 to 20 cents.

Papers eased in the industrial groupings and a few utilities and liquors weakened fractionally. Minnesota and Ontario Paper was down 1/4 at 36 1/4 and International Paper 3/4 at 68 1/4. Bell Telephone dropped 3/4 at 17 1/4. Canadian Breweries, Canadian Car, Dominion Steel B, Imperial Oil and Laura Secord were losers.

Eldons highlighted a firmer gold list, trading more than 165,000 shares for a gain of 18 cents at $1.28. Central Patricia, Dickson, Donald, Kirkland Lake and Louvicourt advanced. Bralorne eased 20 cents at $3.05 and McIntyre dropped 1 point to a new low at 55 1/2.

FIRST TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT—Takeoff of first direct trans-Atlantic flight on June 15, 1919, blazed trail for a major world airway which still passes over approximately the same spot, a few miles from St. John's, Newfoundland.

The late Capt. John Alcock and Lt. Arthur Whitten Brown ended their epic flight in a bog in Ireland 16 hours later. The heavily loaded biplane was a Vickers "Vimy," powered with Rolls Royce engines. This historic photo was loaned by R. Barclay Shaw.

Raise General Income If Elected, CCF Pledge

CEYLON, Sask., June 15 (CP).—If re-elected in the June 24 election, Saskatchewan's CCF Government will devote its activities particularly to raising the general income of the people. Premier T. C. Douglas said in a campaign speech here Monday night.

This would be done through encouraging agricultural production and development of agricultural products and through stimulating development of the province's natural resources, he said.

Oil production, described as non-existent in the province prior to the advent of the CCF Government, now was said to be producing more than 1,000,000 barrels a year. The Premier also referred to a $1,000,000 salt industry, a sulphur sulphate industry that will bring an annual return of between $1,000,000—$2,000,000, and potash and mineral possibilities.

Lindsay Police Understaffed Alderman Says

LINDSAY, June 15.—(ENS).—The Lindsay police force is definitely understaffed said Ald. G. K. Garbig, chairman of the police committee, at Tuesday night's Council meeting.

The statement was made following remarks by Ald. Lloyd Burrows, who informed that a number of taxpayers had called him stating that on numerous occasions they could not get an answer when phoning the police station at night. "Is this going to continue?" asked Mr. Burrows. Ald. Garbig said that the force was short of men, and he was in favor of having an extra officer. "My understanding is that you should have one officer for every one thousand population—but we haven't—and will have to get along the best we can."

Ald. Burrows thought some of the taxpayers might think that because they get no answer to their calls at night, there are no police on duty. Mr. Garbig explained that only two officers are on duty at night, and both go when a call is made, leaving the police station vacant. No action was taken by Council.

Mr. Garbig was authorized by Council to employ six special constables to handle the traffic during the ten days of old home week in July at $5 per day.

A bylaw forcing restaurants to close at 12.30 a.m. was rescinded by Council. Operators can now stay open for 24 hours if desirable. Mayor Charles Lamb explained the early closing was put on during the war, but now they find that truck drivers are either skirting Lindsay or driving through to Peterborough because of no place to dine in the late or early hours. Ald. Burrows stated that he had canvassed the restaurant operators and found none to be against the idea.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is a lot of little things

KEEP A FIRST-AID KIT HANDY

Even minor cuts and bruises can cause serious trouble if not cared for immediately. An untreated scratch can often cause dangerous infection and long, costly illness. It's a sound idea to keep a first-aid kit handy at all times... in your home... in your place of business... in your car. And it is just as important to know how to use it properly. If you are prepared for emergency you may help save suffering—perhaps life. Certainly that is "Good Citizenship."

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Prohibition And Politics

It has been suggested by the Toronto Star and by two or three other agencies that the poor showing made by the Liberal party in the provincial election was the result of hedging on the liquor question. It is also implied that the C.C.F. gained strength because its stand on liquor was more acceptable to the temperance forces than that of Mr. Drew.
We do not think that the facts support this assumption, and we shall discuss it briefly here.

The C.C.F. has implied—though we do not think that it has ever given a definite promise on this point—that when it forms a government it will socialize the brewers and distillers, and devote the profits from the sale of liquor to advocating temperance and treating alcoholics. We cannot take such a suggestion seriously, for a provincial government cannot socialize a national industry. We must face the fact, also, that the Province now does a thirty-million-dollar liquor business each year, and no party can keep up the present governmental services, or extend them, unless it has that money, or makes it up from some other source. The C.C.F.'s liquor policy will become apparent when it gets into power, and not before.

As for the Liberal party, it has had bitter experience of the capriciousness of the electorate when liquor is made a main issue in politics. When Sir Oliver Mowat was premier of Ontario he was accused by Sir John A. Macdonald of receiving large funds from the liquor interests. As an answer to this the Liberal party cut the number of liquor licenses in Ontario in two (from 6,000 to 3,000) and when George W. Ross was premier discussed the adoption of prohibition. A referendum on this matter showed plainly that Ontario did not want prohibition. In 1911 the Liberal party, led by Newton Wesley Rowell, campaigned in Ontario with the slogan "Abolish the Bari" and was resoundingly defeated—and stayed defeated until 1934. The Liberal party knows all about prohibition as an election issue in Ontario.

The plain fact is that few temperance advocates will desert their normal party allegiance to support a party which includes prohibition, or liquor restriction, in its platform. But it appears that there are plenty of people who will vote against a party which declares itself to be a prohibition party.
The Star, which is well acquainted with the political history of this province, must expect that its readers have very short memories when it asks them to swallow the statement that a failure to oppose Premier Drew's liquor policy lost Liberal votes on June 7.

The Student Veterans' Plight

The President of the National Council of Student Veterans has reported that living costs have forced "to the wall" many veterans who are now studying at universities on allowances of $60 a month for single men, $90 a month for married men. These are small amounts and students cannot depend on them entirely for their food and lodging, even though they have no tuition fees to pay —the Government pays them. The student veterans are asking for increased allowances.

The various grants and re-establishment credits which the Government of Canada has provided for its veterans were intended to equip a serviceman to take up civilian life at a level which he would have attained had he not enlisted. They are an attempt to compensate for "lost time". What would have been the situation of these student veterans if there had been no war and they desired to go to university? Many of them would never have gone. Those who did would of course be younger than they now are and better able to put up with the scrimping and slavery. They would have "worked their way through college", as many Canadian students have always done, at least in part.

They would have had to postpone marriage and family delights.

What is their situation now? They are better off than they would have been in 1939. They pay no tuition fees (a large item). Any veteran who had the desire, the ability and qualifications has been able to go to university and to have most of his necessary expenses (including tuition) paid for. Some veteran students, by very careful management (the kind most students exercised before the war), have been able to get along completely on the grants, and have had only to provide for their summer's food and lodging when the university was closed.
Bright student veterans can still win scholarships, as did bright pre-war students. Veterans at universities who have wives and children have thereby special problems which the extra grants do not solve, but what married student in 1939 did not have similar domestic and economic problems? Married veterans in industry and business are also having difficulty making ends meet in these days of high costs.

We are inclined to think that our student veterans are being reasonably well treated. The grants were not intended to be a kind of living wage, and should not be until all students are paid a full salary merely for being students.
It is the young men recently out of school who have good reason for being vexed. Many of them, fully qualified, cannot gain entrance to university because they are crowded out by veterans.
Those who do become students have to pay greatly increased fees.

Waste Divorce Paper

Every session of Parliament is bedevilled by hundreds of private divorce bills, for residents of Quebec and Prince Edward Island can still obtain divorces only through Acts of Parliament. The procedure is for the cases to be thoroughly examined by the Senate Divorce Committee. After this committee has passed them, private bills are submitted to the Senate and the House of Commons and automatically passed. Practically no member of either House who is not on the Committee reads the bills or the evidence.

Friday week the Commons passed 103 private divorce bills. They, with the printed minutes of proceedings and copies of the evidence, made individual stacks eleven inches high. Every member of both Houses received piles. There are all told 341 members. Mr. Knowles, M.P. for Winnipeg North Centre, estimated that all the papers together would make a pile 21 feet higher than the Peace Tower at Ottawa. Nearly all of it is consigned immediately to the waste paper basket.

If the expensive, antiquated method of granting divorces to residents of Quebec and P.E.I. must continue, one reform can be made to reduce the costs and the paper wastage. Mr. Knowles suggested that only a few copies be made and placed in an office for reference should any members ever desire to refer to them. These copies need only be mimeographed. We hope the suggestion will be taken up. Paper is too scarce and valuable to be wasted in this way, the King's Printer is already too busy, and M.P.'s have no time for reading dull pornographic evidence.

The Horse Show

The second Horse Show sponsored by the local Kinsmen Club was a success, and we congratulate the sponsors upon the excellence of the entertainment, and upon the able manner in which the show was organized. Such a show attracts desirable attention to Peterborough and provides a spectacle for which we are all grateful.

The Horse Show is particularly well-suited to children and young people, thousands of whom have never seen a horse outside the shafts of a delivery cart. It gives them a chance to see what is in many ways the noblest of animals displayed at his best. The strength, delicacy and superb style of a really fine horse give a satisfaction to the beholder which is outside the power of the finest motor car to provoke. The horse lives; its beauty and grace is the reflection of its intelligence; no collection of nuts and bolts and combustion engines—no, not even an airplane—can rival it.

There is a philosophical side to a Horse Show, too. No one can see splendid horses without reflecting that if good breeding and good training can do so much for animals these qualities might be more widely and generously applied to human beings.

There is a great to-do because strawberries in England are selling for 25 cents a berry. But we haven't heard the bad news in Ontario yet. It's a long time since Grandma bought all her berries for 5 cents a box, and always called the baskets "punnets".

The Essence Of Liberalism

By PROFESSOR A. M. LOWER
Of Queen's University in the Winnipeg
Free Press

EVERYBODY today, whatever his real political convictions, shouts the blessed words Democracy and Liberalism. Take over the words and you take over the substance!
Such seems to be the reasoning of the extreme left. The result is what was probably intended, confusion.

WHAT lies behind such words is another matter. A short-hand term like Liberalism implies a whole philosophy. For those of us who believe that we have not only a historic right to the words but also something like a monopoly of what they imply, a re-canvassing of their meaning is imperative.
They embody our way of life, but what is our way of life? Today every value is called in question. A nebulous traditionalism, such as the English-speaking world has usually made do with, will not much longer serve.

Traditionalism implies traditions and few large communities have any great unity of tradition. Certainly Canada, with her differences in race and creed, has not.

IT is no use suggesting to English Canadian Protestants that the rules for a perfect society are to be found in the encyclicals of the Pope. It is nearly as futile to make appeals to French Canadians, even those within the Liberal party, in the name of freedom and British justice. Yet the vast majority of the people of Canada, regardless of their party associations, probably consider themselves liberal. Their attitude towards life and towards each other, they would probably describe as liberal, that is, as generous or decent. What common assumptions, then, run through our society which would justify its being called liberal?

THERE is certainly no harmony of view in respect to Capitalism and Collectivism, the place of religion and the place of the state, the roles of authority and of private judgment, still less on more concrete questions such as the relationship of Dominion and provinces, free trade and protection, Canadian nationalism and the British connection.

Our society may be called liberal because it clings to its belief in the essential dignity and worth of the individual man. Except that handful of doctrinaires which sees perfection in an alien totalitarianism, virtually no one in Canada will suggest that a human being, even if of heretical ideology, deserves to be used only as a superior beast of burden.

THE major question for liberals, then, especially for those liberals who belong to the Liberal party, is: what is the essential sanction for the conviction that man is an end in himself, possessed of a dignity of which his fellows may not rob him? In the world of nature, the law is the survival of the fittest. Why should man, any more than a wolf, surround himself with a peculiar dignity, claiming a special status among created things? If it is right to slaughter off cattle for man's benefit, why was it not right to slaughter off Poles for Germans' benefit?
Were not Poles an inferior species, and was not the German the Overman?

THE only answer, beyond man's mere concetit, seems to be that the best thought of humanity, and some of its better instincts, will not accept such an attitude. Sooner or later the slaves are freed, even if a great nation is disrupted. In most parts of the world and over most of history, the best thought has been confined to the few, but in the heritage of western civilization, it is placed at the disposal of all. This has been accomplished through the medium which here in Canada furnishes almost the only tradition common to us all, that is to say, the Christian religion.
Christianity proclaims that all men are the sons of God and are therefore brothers. They should conduct themselves towards each other like brothers. The same view can be arrived at, no doubt, through other religions, but it is the Christian view of man which, for the mass of our people, has authority.

FOR Canadians, therefore, as for other peoples who share the Christian heritage, the principles of liberalism must first be sought in the Christian ethic and the Christian conception of man. Here are to be found doctrines on which we can all agree, though we shall, admittedly, vary widely in their practice. Even so, whatever the discrepancies between our theory and our practice, we have accomplished much when we have risen only to the humble level of hypocrisy, for hypocrisy is the tribute that vice pays to virtue, its acknowledgment that virtue is the accepted thing.

NATURALLY there are other constituents in our western Liberalism in addition to the Christian ethic. These cannot be discussed here, but we must never forget the contributions made by those who, centuries ago, hammered out the priceless treasure of the common law and parliamentary institutions.
We must not forget the spirit of this continent, which, broadly speaking, has coincided with the Christian view of man in that it has placed a unique value on the individual: it has enabled him to utter those words which may be taken as the very quintessence of Liberalism: "I wish neither to take nor to give orders".

BUT above all these, interwoven with them, condition and preserving them, goes the genius of the Christian ethic, the essential equality and dignity of men. If any substantial proportion of Liberals can be true to Liberalism, the future of our liberal, our free, society, need not occasion worry.

Proclamations Of Peace

THE June 12th, 1948, issue of "The Canada Gazette" contained two historic proclamations. One was that the state of war which had existed between Canada and Roumania, Hungary and Finland since December 7th,
1941, had ceased to exist on September 19th, 1947. The other proclamation, almost identical in wording, declared that the state of war between Canada and Italy since June 10th, 1940, had ceased to exist on the 15th of September, 1947. These proclamations constitute the formal announcement to the people of Canada and the world generally, that Canada is now officially at peace with these four countries. One proclamation, that of peace with Italy, is reprinted below not only because of its historic interest but also for its interesting terminology.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. (Matt. 9: 35.)

And, behold, there cometh one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name; and when he saw him, he fell at his feet, and besought him greatly, saying, My little daughter is at the point of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be healed;
and she shall live.

And Jesus went with him; and much people followed him, and thronged him....
While he yet spake, there came from the ruler of the synagogue's house, a certain which said, Thy daughter is dead: why troublest thou the Master any further?

As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he saith unto the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afraid, only believe. And he suffered no man to follow him, save Peter, and James, and John the brother of James.

And he cometh to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and seeth the tumult, and them that wept and wailed away. And when he was come in, he saith unto them, Why make ye this ado, and weep? the damsel is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn. But when he had put them all out, he taketh the father and the mother of the damsel, and them that were with him, and entereth in where the damsel was lying.

And he took the damsel by the hand, and said unto her, Talitha cumi; which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say unto thee, arise.
And straightway the damsel arose, and walked; for she was of the age of twelve years.
And they were astonished with a great astonishment. (Mark 5: 22-24, 35-42.)

There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment.

"Wine and Women"

We have been mildly critical and occasionally reproachful, at times, about a certain feature of life as it must be lived in the Province of Quebec. We have regretted the close attention its censors—duly or self appointed —have paid to the matter of feminine undress in advertising. We recall feeling particularly provoked when the Quebec censors insisted on clothing the buttocks of a nationally advertised feminine four-year-old in bathing trunks.

We are now indebted to Saturday Night for offering evidence that such foibles are not peculiar to any one province, although we are none too comfortable about it, since the province almost similarly afflicted is the hitherto nobly tolerant Province of Ontario.
It seems that a friend of Saturday Night's arrived in Toronto to see the World Trade Fair, and two things struck him on his arrival in Ontario from Quebec.

As Saturday Night tells it, when the visitor came out of the station in Toronto he saw some bill-boards on which some women were very scantily clad. In Quebec those same women would have had some more clothes on—if only form-fitting sweaters—lest the passions of the province should be aroused.
He got to the Fair shortly before the doors were thrown open to the general public; up to that time they had been open only to exhibitors and buyers. He was astonished to see men at work boarding up all the stalls where wines and liquors were on view—lest alcoholic appetites should be let loose in Ontario where the government forbids the advertising of intoxicants.

And yet, the visitor reflected—and who can restrain from joining him in his musings?—it is the consumption of alcohol that is high in Ontario, and the birth rate in Quebec.

Commons Passes Stricter Laws To Help In Curbing Sex Maniacs

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, June 15—(CP).—Crime—violent, lurid and petty—occupied the Commons Monday. It came before the Chamber in the form of more than 40 amendments to the Criminal Code, some of which will make important changes in the administration of justice in this country. They were adopted after lengthy consideration and study and now go to the Senate.

Here are some of the major changes:

1. Criminal sexual psychopaths—commonly known as sex maniacs—now may be sent to penitentiary for an indefinite period—for life if necessary after conviction of a sex crime.
2. Infanticide—the killing of a child after birth, especially by a mentally deranged mother—now will be punishable by up to three years' imprisonment. At present, the parent can be charged only with murder or manslaughter.
3. It now will be an offence to intimidate any person by threats of injury or violence to any of his relatives either in Canada or abroad. This would cover cases where Communists were reported to have made such threats against those who declined to contribute to Communist funds.
4. A person charged with conspiracy to publish a defamatory libel will be subject to trial only in the province in which he lives or in which the libel is published. This would prevent a repetition of the recent New Liberty magazine case in Alberta.
5. Jury trials now may continue, contingent on the consent of both the Crown and the accused, even if one or two jurors become ill. This is similar to a change made in the United Kingdom.

Can't Ban Comics
At the same time, Justice Minister Isley told the Chamber he has decided nothing can be done at this session to ban lurid crime comics from Canada.

A side debate on the British Columbia floods developed when the Government moved to go in to supply in the late evening. James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North) touched it off with a plea to the Government to announce "immediately" its plans to rehabilitate the coast province's flood-ridden Fraser Valley. Farmers wanted to know what to expect by way of financial aid.

The House later resumed study of Health Department estimates and heard Health Minister Martin say he was considering what could be done to prevent those suffering from incurable diseases from being thrown on public charity.

Piloting the criminal code amendments, Mr. Isley said the Government was watching the trend toward modification of capital punishment in Britain but did not plan any change in the death penalty as applied to murder in this country. John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), western Canada criminal lawyer, suggested the Justice Department seek to determine the value of capital punishment as a deterrent, but Mr. Isley said he did not think it possible to come to any definite conclusion.

Petty Crime
Petty crime came before the Chamber when it studied an amendment which would authorize Judges, in cases involving breaches of the peace, to bind the complainant as well as the defendant to keep the peace.

Opposition members objected that this was too extensive a departure and Mr. Isley agreed to drop the provision. He said he, too, had questioned its value, but had been told it was necessary sometimes in dealing with disruptive neighbors.

T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview) urged unsuccessfully that drivers who fail to stop after an accident be subject to a murder charge if the injured person dies later in hospital.

He also suggested the code be amended to make clear how far a policeman can go in firing at an alleged criminal. They now could fire two shots in the air before firing directly at the suspect. Persons sought for minor offences sometimes were killed.

Mr. Isley reported a minimum prison sentence of one year was being provided for thefts from mail.

First Big Move
The strengthening of the law against sexual psychopaths is Canada's first major move against these offenders.

Once the person has been convicted, the court now may call on two psychiatrists to examine him and testify on his sexual behavior. If the court is satisfied he is a criminal sex pervert, it may sentence him to a minimum of two years' imprisonment and to an "indefinite period" thereafter.

Jean Francois Pouliot Ind. L. (Temiscouata) said no compassion should be shown to "monsters" who killed young children in sex crimes.

Mr. Isley said there was "no sentimentality" in the provision. Turning to crime comics, he reported that a change outlawing publications devoted, exclusively to such subjects could easily be evaded while a modified amendment would operate against bona-fide books and newspapers containing crime pictures.

At the same time, he had been unable to find proof that such comics, although they were a "shocking" abuse of the freedom of the press, actually contributed towards juvenile delinquency.

Lindsay Girls Get Verdict Over Woollens

Lindsay edged out Woollens 4-3 in a nifty Girls' Softball League number at the Bowl last night to climb in the standing. It was the best bid yet by Woollens, who have yet to win. They made a strong threat in the eighth frame to tie it up but couldn't quite click. Their errors proved more costly in the tight tussle, though Lindsay kicked in with four. The game was run off in slightly over an hour and was a good one to view, although the crowd was not too large.

J. Bryans of Lindsay hurled four-hit ball and fanned 13 in a fine showing, but walked seven. Two twisters saw action for the losers and went good, allowing seven hits and three walks while fanning seven. H. Deyell, P. Graham, B. Hall and M. Lang looked best defensively. M. Owens and D. Hunter each had a homer and single for Lindsay, with C. Ferguson getting two singles for the Woollens.

The teams:

Judd Pitches Leafs To 7-0 Win Over Chiefs

By The Associated Press
Improving with age, that's what Toronto baseball fans are saying today about Oscar Judd, 38-year-old left-hander of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Judd, native of Ingersoll, who began playing organized baseball in 1934, pitched and helped beat the Leafs to a 7-0 no-hit no-run victory over the Syracuse Chiefs last night. The game was called at the end of seven innings because of rain.

The no-hitter was the first in the International League this season and also the first since July 29, 1946, when Syracuse's Earl Harritt hurled a 5-0 nine-innings no-hitter against Toronto.

Judd, who was purchased from the parent Philadelphia Phillies on May 17, now has won five games and lost only one for the seventh place Leafs.

Dangerous Batter
Judd, in addition to his fine pitching for the Leafs this year has proved a dangerous batter. He has rapped out six hits in 19 trips, including three doubles and one homer for a .316 average.

Meanwhile, Montreal Roy's regained first place from the Newark Bears. The Royals beat the Jersey City Giants, 6-3 while the Buffalo Bisons trounced the Bears 11-2.

Jack Banta scattered eight Giant hits to post his seventh straight win. He has lost once.

The Bisons knocked Bob Porterfield, great rookie Bear right-hander, out of the box for the first time this season in beating the Bears.

Porterfield, who won nine in a row before losing his first game last Wednesday, was chased during a four run third inning Buffalo rally.

The tail-end Baltimore Orioles nosed out the Rochester Red Wings, 5-4.

N-E Junes Win A Slugfest Over The West

The North-East juveniles hammered out a 15-12 City Baseball League win over the westenders in Riverside last night before a small crowd. It was a wide-open slugfest with each side having a couple of big innings and the pitchers unable to hold the hitters. Both sides kicked some, too, for unearned runs. The Turner team took an early lead but had to finish strong when the westenders drove hard in the fifth. Several of the winners had two hits, including doubles by Swanston and Dormer, while Allen led the way for the losers with a homer, double and single in four. Grainger got a three-bagger.

The teams:
West: Robinson, rf; Berwick, 3b; Grainger, c; Killingsbeck, lf; Allen, 2b; Moore, cf; Kumpf, ss; Kitchen, 1b; p; Doris, p; Corkery, p, 1b.

N-E Junes: Plumpton, 3b; Hill, 2b; Swanston, c; Langhorne, cf; Wyatt, 1b; McGillen, lf; Dormer, rf; Casey, ss; Shaughnessy, p, rf.

Story Peeves Racing Experts
NEW YORK, June 15 (AP).—A lot of racing experts are peeved about a national magazine story which gives Bryan Field credit for being the only expert to notice the famous stretch battle between jockeys Don Meade and Herb Fisher in the 1933 Kentucky Derby. The guys who were there say they saw the tussle and wrote about it—and as for the stewards missing the affair, the records show Meade drew a 30-day suspension for drough riding that day.

Freddie Wells, pitcher for the Lincoln (Neb.) Athletics in the Western League, recently was fined ten bucks for sticking out his tongue at an umpire. Maybe they reverse the procedure on the parent A's with Connie Mack sticking out his tongue at pitchers.

After Jack Zivics, one of Pittsburgh's famous fighting family, watched his daughter Jacqueline receive her degree from Penn State College, he wired his friends back in the Smoky City: "Finally the Zivics are in the brains."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

While the Petes' senior "B" lacrossers are idle this week till Scarboro comes Friday, they'll have three games next week. Meanwhile, the intermediates are lining up a squad for exhibition games and may start next week. Two juvenile jousts in Miller Bowl tonight, starting at seven, Scouts vs. Legion and Comstock's vs. Queen's. An open midget (15 and 16 years) workout there this eve at six as this section organizes. And the bantams will begin play Wednesday night at six in Miller Bowl with a double-header. There are four bantam clubs in now and if enough players show up on the morrow a fifth team may be entered.

Motor City scriener remarks: "Oshawa lacrossers took a severe jolt down in the Littleton City Friday night, suffering a 16-5 defeat. But actually, according to reports received, they made a better showing than the score would indicate. They were badly outplayed in the second stanza when the Peterborough gutted-stick experts scored nine goals and that was about the margin of victory. Petes have some new players in this year, too, and are reported stronger than last season. Incidentally, the Oshawa team has another import, a very promising lacrosse star from Brampton, hot-bed of Canadian lacrosse. He is Hillson, a 17-year-old boy, who is a real lacrosse star but also hopes to have a good future in hockey and will be making a bid for a berth with the Generals."

About Minor Baseball

There's a midget baseball game at 6.30 tonight in Riverside between East City and the westenders, while the westend peewees go against Crawford's Grove at the Ex. Down there tomorrow, north and south bantams play. Might as well mention the rest of the week's schedule, too. West and south midgets meet Thursday in Riverside, where east and north junes tangle Friday—same night as west bantams play Hawks in Morrow Park. Saturday 10 a.m. peewee tilts are: Crawford's Grove vs. East City at Riverside and south vs. west in the Ex. Wish they'd get games for all the clubs. Juniors are idle through the week while intermediates go to Port Hope tomorrow.

A COBL contest at 6.15 tomorrow e'en in Riverside between Oshawa and the senior Petes. First appearance here of the Motor City Merchants, who this year have Red Juvenville, Fred Bidgood and Tony Romaniski—last year on the Petes' lineup. Oshawa started strongly with a win against Kingston but slipped a couple of times since then. They'll be battling to get back in the thick of the race while the men o' Murphy are after their fifth straight victory. Doug Loucks or Gunner Whitehill will get the slab assignment this time and it should be a swell diamond struggle before a big twilight crowd.

Couldn't Get Going

Quinte writer says: "Batawa couldn't get started here Saturday and Eddie Murphy's Petes, playing heads-up ball, brushed aside the men of Easton with ease. Bill Edger had no trouble whatever stemming the Batawa bludgeons and the guy was master of the situation all through the piece. On the other hand, the Petes' war clubs rattled 16 safe clouts off three Shoemen hurlers. Batawa can play better baseball than they did Saturday, but why did they have to wait until Peterborough, of all teams, came here to get a bad game off their chests?" By the way, Joe Stewart suffered an injured knee and will be out of action a spell. Dalton hurt his foot but may go tomorrow.

Men's softball in the Bowl d'Ashburnham tonight, weather permitting: R-E Combines vs. Knights, and Legion vs. Comstock's, first fray going at seven bells. Thursday sees Legion playing the Knights with Combines mixing with Comstock's. At the moment, the R-E crew are on top of the pile with five wins and three losses. Legion and Comstock's are crowding them with four and four each, while Knights have taken three and dropped five. Just two games between the top and bottom teams in this keen race. Second-place deadlock will have to be broken tonight, and Knights can really tangle things up this eve by a win over Combines.

Girls Make It Close

Two classy colleen's contests over east last gloaming. The Woollens turned in a whale of a try but fell a run short and bowed to Lindsay 4-3. Couple of costly errors made the difference in the tight tussle. And Marines were lucky enough to pull out a win 6-3 against the improving Lakefield lasses, who had swell pitching but for some walks which turned into runs. Both snappy struggles but the crowd wasn't too big, and some of the fans present are looking the other way when the collection box goes by. Games Wednesday: Lock Co vs. Westclox and Ashby's vs. CGE as Woollens go to Lakefield.

GRAB-BAG: Soccer here tomorrow, CGE vs. Legion at King Edward Park; Lindsay plays Petes on Thursday.

Eight grapplers on the big pro mat card at the Brock tomorrow night. Mrs. Al Clark of Kawartha Club posted 44-47 for a 91 in Toronto yesterday, just two strokes over the qualifying mark for the Ontario ladies' golf championship.

Oshawa Hunters beat Oshawa Cables 3-2 in 12 heats of their junior ball game. Doug Mowry, St. Kitts' senior catcher—formerly of Peterborough—broke his leg sliding into second yesterday. North-east junes took a 15-12 baseball win over westenders last eve. R-E Combines and Club 72 of CGE stage an exhibition softball game this Saturday night in the Bowl for the civic arena fund. Canoe and Drafting clash in industrial play tomorrow at Brinton. In civic softball Bell Telephone took Babe's Place 10-2 and Bankers beat Busmen 14-12 last p.m.; more schedule in tomorrow. Grafton's play Babe's Place at seven Wednesday night. Gbye.

Marines On Top After Win Over Lakefield

Marines took over sole possession of first place in the Girls Softball League standing last night at the Bowl when they pulled out a 6-3 win over Lakefield. The snappy scrap lasted but five minutes over the hour and Marines were lucky—with walks—to get the decision from the improving Lakefield lasses. Their 15-year-old pitcher held them to five hits as she whiffed eight but walked seven. The winners had three misuses while Lakefield played errorless ball throughout and hit hard at times. E. Whitaker took over from M. Connolly in the sixth for Marines.

V. Mitchell and M. Hill stood out defensively for the victors with V. Clements and P. Gerald sparking in the field for the Lakefield damsels. R. Boyce and H. Dunford each had three safe hits for the visitors, and M. Connolly led Marines at the plate with two doubles. B. Larmer clouted out a homer. A double-play in the eighth cut off a Lakefield threat.

Kawartha Golf Club

By JERRY SEABROOK
Summer rule regulations were installed out at the club over the week-end. Looks as if the long, hard winter has finally been left behind. Summer rules: no preferred lies are allowed; except where local rules permit same. Guess the boys will have to pull up their socks now.

Seems as how a couple of the lads are doing just that. First Fraser Dunfield with his hole in one on the 9th last week-end and now Mel Akers with a nifty hole in one on the 17th on Sunday. Hearty congratulations are extended to these golfers. Ned Vitarelli was playing with Fraser when he got his, and was playing with Mel when he did the same. Ned won't have any trouble getting a match next week-end I'll bet.

Speaking of matches, one of interest to some of the lads is coming up on June 27th. Participants of the same are Lex Robson and Mr. Correll. Better sharpen up your sticks Ernie.

Need a few more names up on the Glover-Dobbin list, for next Saturday up at Peterborough Club. A good chance to get out and play on another course and a very good one at that. A swell time is always assured by the boys up there.

Lets get these matches run off in the Kawartha and President's Cup first round, June 27th is the deadline.

Men's two-ball draw is to be made this coming Friday.

Qualifying rounds for the club championship draw are to be played between June 8th and July 4th. Don't forget to notify Lex before you start out on these rounds, lads.

See you on the banks of the Trent Canal Saturday.

FASHION PLATE?—The beloved figure of baseball, Babe Ruth (above), at long last bowing to dame fashion, discards his famed white cap's hair cap, in favor of a straw topper. Could it be that now that his life story is being screened, the Babe aspires to be a fashion plate?

Gene Sylvester Is Suspended

OTTAWA, June 15.—(CP).—Tommy Gorman, manager of the Ottawa entry in the Border Baseball League, Monday night said the right-hand hurler, Gene Sylvester, has been indefinitely suspended for jumping the Nationals. The case is being referred to league president J. G. Ward.

Sylvester, an important mound man in the Nationals' pennant and league championship triumphs last year, had won two and lost two in 1948 operations when he quit the team and went to Boston a few days ago.

Gorman said Sylvester telephoned that illness had taken him home and that he would return. However, he failed to turn up.

Quakers Take Tennis Win Over Cobourg

Fresh from a recent 5-2 victory over the Kawartha Club, the Quaker Club won five matches to two against Cobourg on the latter's courts in Kawartha Tennis League play Saturday. The Cobourg racket-wielders won the ladies' singles 6-2 and 6-0, Kay McCaig against Doris Fenner of Quakers; and in mixed doubles, J. Haynes and D. Gummer of Cobourg defeated Verna Rose and Roy Johnstone 6-2 and 6-1.

Al Conlin of the visitors took the men's singles from S. Himm 6-2 and 6-4. One men's doubles went to Ralph Charlton and Dave Seymour (QO) over A. Martin and J. Oulahan 6-3, 6-1; and the other was taken by Doug Tanney and George Scott of Quakers against E. Haynes and C. Holland 6-2, 1-6 and 6-1. Another QO win went to Norma Whittaker and Dave McNaught in their mixed doubles play against M. Webb and J. McCaig 6-1, 6-1. In ladies' doubles, J. Elmsley and M. Charlton of Quakers turned back Ruth Holman and J. McCaig 6-2 and 6-2.

up and his suspension was announced Monday night.

With six games in three days now facing them this coming week-end, the Nats are on the hunt for a new hurler. Manager Gorman said reports that a replacement for Sylvester has been signed were unfounded.

Indians, Braves At Top Due To Night Game Skill

JOE TIPTON

VIC RASCHI

RICHIE ASHBURN

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians and Boston Braves owe their lofty standing in the major leagues to their exemplary behavior after dark.

The Indians, leading the American League by three games with a .689 percentage, also own the best night game record of any club. Led by their ace, Bob Lemon, the Tribe has won eight and lost two arc light games for an .800 percentage. The Tigers also show an .800 percentage, but have played only five night games.

The Braves, tied with the New York Giants for first place in the tight National League pennant race, have won nine and lost four at night, a .692 gait. That is exactly 178 percentage points better than their daylight won and lost record. Only the Philadelphia Phillies, winners of eight of 11, boast a better record in the senior circuit.

The best night pitcher in the majors has been Harry Brecheen. The Cardinal southpaw has won five and lost only one. His lifetime record under the lights is a sensational 34-10.

Lemon, the majors' biggest winner, has been the most effective pitcher in the American League at night. He has won four while losing one.

Bobby Feller of the Indians, who owns 21 victories and 13 defeats in after-dark contests, has made only one start under the lights this season. Although he pitched 11 scoreless innings against Washington, he was not around at the finish. The Indians finally won that game 5-0 in 15 innings. Feller last year won nine and lost three at night.

All three of today's games in the American League will be played under the lights. The Tigers will play their first home night game in history, engaging the Athletics.

Home Run Mark Goal For Cruces

AMARILLO, Tex., June 15 —

(AP). — Bob Cruces, whose arm went bad at the threshold of a brilliant pitching career, switched to the outfield and today is hot on the trail of the all-time home run record for professional baseball.

The big Amarillo Gold Sox right fielder, property of Boston's Red Sox, has slammed 31 over the fence in 52 games and if he maintains his present rate will have more than 80 when the 140-game West Texas-New Mexico league season ends.

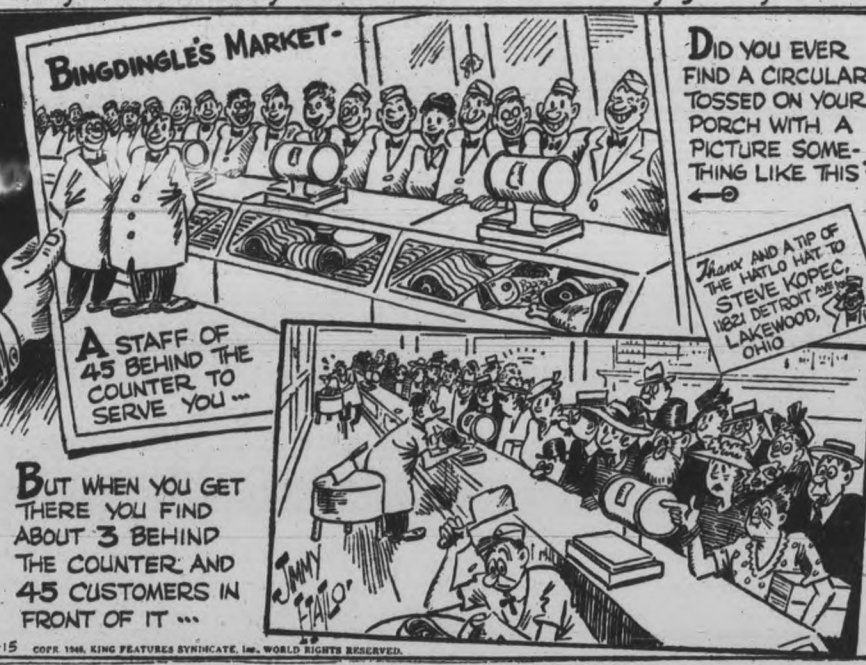

The all-time record is 69, set by Joe Hauser of Minneapolis of the American Association in 1935.

Last season Cruces clouted 52 four-baggers. But this wasn't a league record. Bill Serena of Lubbock hit 57. But last year Cruces didn't get his 31st homer until July 15, so he's a full month ahead of the 1947 schedule.

The 29-year-old Cruces is hitting .420 at this stage of the season with 106 runs batted in.

Give Doris Day Big Build-Up In New Picture

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 15 (AP).

Doris Day's stellar build-up has reached the point where Warners is trotting out its entire star list to support her, Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan in their next picture.

The film now is called "Two Guys and a Gal," and although the "two guys" are also starred, both admit it is a great vehicle for Doris, the former Les Brown band vocalist. The story takes place at Warners studio and all of the Warners star list will make appearances.

Producer Alex Gottlieb further brags that it will be the first modern-day picture with old-time musical numbers. The plot revolves around the filming of a mythical film, "The Gay Nineties."

Shorts Department

Fred MacMurray says he has given up independent producing. "I'm a lazy guy," he admits. "Why should I knock myself out as a producer when there's so much money in acting — and fewer headaches?" He reports he'll go to his Northern California ranch after "Family Honeymoon" (with Claudette Colbert) and stay there until winter.

Mae Murray, star of the silent films, says she is coming back to films as producer-actress of an independent company. David Niven tells me he'll take his whole family to England this summer, but he hopes soon to find a permanent home for them. His five-year-old boy was born in hospital which was bombed on his first night of life, spent 186 nights in air raid shelters, has had two mothers and several nursemaids and has spent later years shuttling between England and the U.S. No wonder David wants to settle down.

The Customers Talk Back

Recently I asked some stars for reasons why the old folks were not patronizing the movies. It seems the readers have some ideas on the topic, too. Here are some of them:

"The world is so full of beauty that it is disgusting to sit and see shooting and fighting and wild life, especially when we feel that they are the pictures our grandchildren are spending their money on. Their morals need uplifting these days." — Mrs. C. H. Chaston, Victoria, B.C.

"Adult audiences are going to sporting events, where they get real thrills by clean people, not synthetic slush by old actors and actresses." — J.E.G., Houston, Tex.

"The morons that pummel the back of your seat and chew popcorn and peanuts are forcing us to stay away from the movies." — Mrs. E. L. Farabaugh, Bethlehem, Pa.

More Permits Needed For Imports

OTTAWA, June 15.—(CP).—The Government announced Monday a new list of goods for which permits will be required, effective June 26.

The restrictions are another part of Canada's plan to save United States dollars. Permits will be issued only when goods are "essential to the national economy," Trade Minister Howe said in a statement.

Goods listed which were in "continuous and uninterrupted transit to Canada on or before June 25" will not require permits.

The list includes internal-combustion traction engines for other than farm purposes; all machinery composed of iron or steel, valued at more than $500 a unit; traction engines; air-cooled internal-combustion engines of not greater than 1½ horse-power rating; piston castings; aircraft and parts; electric apparatus or generators and transformers; electric apparatus of a total invoice value of more than $25; goods of which iron and steel or both are the component materials of chief value, of a total invoice value of more than $200; electric or gas apparatus designed for welding or cutting, not including motors.

Dr. J. Shaver Dies

WINNIPEG, June 15.—(CP).—Dr. J. M. Shaver, 72, retired superintendent of All Peoples' Mission and a life-long social worker in the United church, died here Sunday. He had been in ill health for some time. Born at Cornwall, in 1876, Dr. Shaver was educated in Ontario and Manitoba, and received his Doctor of Divinity degree from United College, Winnipeg, in 1936.

LONDON, June 15.—(AP).—Winston Churchill said today he is not drawing the £2,000 ($8,000) a year to which he is entitled as Conservative party leader in the House of Commons and a former prime minister.

He issued a formal statement after Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister, had said in a speech that Churchill "is more often absent than present in the House but continues to draw his £2,000 during his absence."

The statement added that Churchill does not draw the £2,000 pension open to him as former prime minister as an alternative to his salary.

Morrison Attacks British Communists

CARDIFF, Wales, June 15.—(Reuters).—Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, on Sunday attacked British Communist critics of the recent Labor Party conference as "phantom Leninists and parlor revolutionaries."

Quoting Lenin on the need for consolidation, Morrison told a meeting of the Welsh Regional Council of the Labor Party: "It is just too funny that our Communists should seek to condemn us for the wise and balanced outlook of the recent conference of the Labor Party."

"We cannot afford, and we do not intend, to slacken our efforts for economic order and progress; but it is necessary to develop, consolidate, and improve the great achievements of this Parliament, no less than to devote ourselves also to other equally urgent tasks on which we have made less progress so far. Beware of the stick-in-the-muds dressed up to look like revolutionaries."

Blind, Totally Paralyzed Veteran Spends Life Helping Others

By DAVE MCINTOSH

HALIFAX, June 15.—(CP).—Any way you try to spell the name of Walter Callow, it comes out courage. Totally paralyzed except for his lips and totally blind, Walter Callow has spent his bed-ridden years doing things for others. He's still at it—harder than ever.

"When my lower jaw became paralyzed," he said the other day, "I had to learn to talk all over again with just my lips. For a while it was hard to tell what kind of a foreigner I was."

Mr. Callow keeps two secretaries busy from his bed in Camp Hill Veterans' Hospital here. As he says, he "went to bed" 18 years ago. Since he cannot check files he draws upon an amazing memory to keep his correspondence in order. He gets about 20 letters a day from all over the world.

Walter Callow—known to his hospital friends as the "Human Log"—injured his spine in a plane crash in 1917 when he was a member of the Royal Flying Corps. Educated Daughter. For 13 years he lived an almost-normal life, physically speaking. In 1930 he went to bed and within a year both his mother and wife died. By dealing in real estate, selling Christmas cards and so on he brought up his daughter, then 10, and put her through college. She now is married to a doctor.

Eight years ago, Mr. Callow became totally blind. He is in pain almost constantly. During the war he established a cigarette "bank" for Canadian servicemen overseas. By war's end 3,000,000 cigarettes had been handed out.

He admits that he gets donations for his various funds to help others almost any way he can. "If I could use my hands, I'd hold a pistol to their heads," he said.

Designs Coach. He designed and had built last year a wheel-chair coach. It has already travelled thousands of miles around Nova Scotia taking paralyzed veterans, old people and crippled children to baseball games, movies, county fairs, hockey matches, festivals and on just plain scenic drives.

He is now embarked on a scheme to place 50 such buses across Canada and another 2,000 in the United States. To do this he is soliciting the help of private industry. He has written to 13,000 firms in Canada.

"It's time that people found out that private industry can do something except fight unions," he says.

Just to reverse the usual procedure, Mr. Callow received a present recently. It was one of the few—or perhaps only—present he could use: a new bed. It came from the Lions Club in Dallas, Tex., and is a special affair that rocks and enables him to get exercise—which he cannot feel.

J. N. Gibbs, 71, Dies

REGINA, June 15.—(CP).—Known throughout Canadian harness racing circles, J. N. Gibbs, 71, of Lumsden, Sask., died Sunday. He was born at Cannington, Ont., and came to Saskatchewan in 1910.

GRAND MASTER — William J. McCarthy, St. Catharines, as grand master for Ontario of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will preside over the provincial convention of IOOF at St. Catharines, June 14 to 18. Nine hundred delegates will attend.

ILO Outlines Labor Machinery

MONTREAL, June 15 (CP).—The plan for discussions with the UN Human Rights Commission on machinery to augment ILO enforcement powers in cases where violations of other civil rights interfere with freedom of association.

The report reveals that the ILO's governing body has proposed that the annual ILO conference opening June 17 at San Francisco consider such talks.

The conference first must act on an international labor convention guaranteeing the right of freedom of association, which then would be subject to ratification by the 56 ILO member countries.

If the convention is adopted, the conference then will take up their lives in defence of freedom in World War I and II.

Given 3 Months

Only three cases came before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court Saturday morning. Jack Billingsley, 555 Douglas Ave., was sentenced to three months in county jail when he pleaded guilty to taking a car without the owner's consent, Robert W. Holtz, of Cleveland, Ohio. The fan belt of the car is broken, but an estimate of the damage has not been made.

Elgin Boyd, 184 Edinburgh St., and Charles Bailey, 417 Stewart St., pleaded guilty to being drunk in public and were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Silver Cross Women Will Form Chapter

A chapter of the Silver Cross Women of Canada is to be formed in Peterborough, on Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock in the YWCA. Mrs. W. H. In the latter country she visited the cemeteries where more than 2,800 Canadians are buried. She will have a message of interest to all Silver Cross women.

The Silver Cross Women of Canada is a national organization. There are 22 chapters in Ontario. Any woman who has been awarded the Memorial Cross (Silver Cross) in memory of a husband, son or daughter, is eligible for membership. Debut Issue For $200,000 Sells Above Par

Everyone of the 24 bids on the $200,000 debut issue for the Utilities Commission was above par, City Treasurer S. A. Couper reported to the finance committee of the council Monday night.

The tender of Bell, Gouinlock & Co., Toronto, at $101.65 was accepted. Second highest was Wood, Gundy & Co., Toronto at $101.61.

Utilities Commission requires the money for construction work, much of it done last fall or winter in newly annexed areas. Another job is the completion of the 24-inch main from the corner of Park Hill Road and Belbune St. across the north end of the city to the pumping station.

Difference Small

The new issue will bear 3 1/4%. Acceptance of the Bell, Gouinlock & Co. tender was moved by Aldermen Waddell and Sands. The difference between the first and second tenders was only $0.04. Bell, Gouinlock & Co. were actually bidding on the basis of $203,300 and Wood, Gundy & Co. at $203,220.

The committee received a letter from the Utilities Commission enclosing a map of the water main course through the old Hilliard farm which is city property. The cost of this pipe line is estimated at $18 a foot, and for that reason is not following proposed streets which may eventually be opened in that large expanse between Anson House and Queen Mary Hospital.

Mayor Owens moved, seconded by Ald. Armstrong, acceptance of Utilities plan. The only condition is that it have the approval of City Engineer Chalmers.

Cattle Escape Crash Monuments

Ray Weldon mopped his brow with relief on Monday when he finally delivered his truckload of cattle to the pen at Lindsay. And well he might too, because before the obstreperous beasts had arrived they had broken his truck and then smashed a number of monuments valued at $200.

It all started when he was driving slowly down William St. towards Kent St. when for some reason the cattle all rushed to one side of the truck. The sudden weight broke the bolts and the body of the vehicle containing the cattle crashed to the roadway. There was some blood, but none of the animals was seriously injured.

Having thus disposed of the truck the cattle continued their eowdy journey. This time they were being driven on the hoof on the way to a pen on Cambridge Street.

Outside Allan Bros Monument works they began to push and crowd, knocking down and smashing valuable monuments worth approximately $200.

The cattle finally reached their destination leaving a wake of destruction and apologetic merchants.

Some people are going to eat some mighty tough beefsteak in the near future.

Angry Citizens Protest Taxes

Assessment Commissioner Bert C. Graham is being requested in a recommendation of the finance committee of the council to attend the next meeting of the board of works to discuss the general question of municipal assessments.

Ald. M. J. Swanson, chairman, said last night that other members of the council like himself had been receiving comments and complaints that assessments had been increased with the higher tax rate this year.

Ald. Doug Miller reported the objection of a property owner in an annexed area to the effect that his taxes to North Monaghan had been $24 and $25 a year. In 1945 first year of the incidence of city valuation and taxes his payment amounted to $37, and on the assessment made in 1947 plus the tax rate of this year he was paying the city $97.55.

"This man has not received the benefit of any new services," Ald. Miller said. "He is concerned about what his taxes are likely to be when he gets the services. So far he is not even getting mail delivery, no water, no lights."

Some of the grievances, Ald. Swanson said, were "that if a man puts on a roof on his assessment goes up."

Ald. Dodds: "A lot of us had assessments raised, and we didn't put on roofs."

Mayor Owens: "We realize that property has gone up in value. I have heard some complaints that if a new verandah is built the assessment goes up. I think we could invite Mr. Graham to come in and talk things over."

It was recognized in the brief discussion that the assessment department is independent of the council in the determining of property valuations.

He Was Unhurt Just Fractured Hip

Harry Torrance of Lindsay, is not a man to be bothered by a slight hurt.

Amid the usual scramble of departing spectators which follows a ball game, he mounted his bicycle and started for home. But he collided with a motor car and was knocked down. The motorist involved in the accident stopped to investigate, but when Torrance climbed back on to his bicycle apparently unhurt, he returned to his car and drove away.

When Torrance reached home he complained of a sore hip. Examination proved that his complaint was justified; the hip was broken.

Local Radio 'Hams' Compete In Continent-wide Hook-up

Members of the Peterborough Amateur Radio Club took carloads of radio gear to a spot on the east side of the Otonabee River between Inverlea and London Street bridges, on Saturday afternoon.

They threw up a tent and strung an antennae and filled the flimsy shelter with transmitting and receiving equipment. Gasoline-driven motors were soon whining and sending power to the radio sets. By 5 p.m. everything was ready and in working order and the first shift of two operators had clamped on their ear-phones. They opened their circuits and started calling to other amateur radio stations across the length and breadth of the continent; the 12th American Radio Relay League field day was in operation.

The operating program went on for 24 hours and, by 5 p.m. on Sunday, they had logged more than 100 stations in Canada and the United States. For extra measure, Ken worked a station in Puerto Rico although this country did not come within the scope of the trials. There were a great many interested visitors on Sunday who were curious to know what was going on; they did not pretend to understand what the club was up to.

That is the point of the whole effort. Very few know what the Peterborough Amateur club is or how it can be of help to the community. In the case of some local disaster that might sever all lines of communication, the field day demonstration showed that these technicians who train themselves for their own pleasure could set up emergency radio equipment and keep constant channels of communication open. It would be the directive centre for the organization of relief. Two of the major hurricane disasters in Florida during the past 20 years were served by a radio network set up and run by amateur radio clubs. Annual Spring Mississippi river flood menaces are served by the same radio groups as the one in Peterborough. Communications were kept open for two days by amateur radio clubs during the great Texas explosion last year. Government officials regard this set-up as a vital community service and the Peterborough club which won third place among 100 competing Canadian clubs in their first field day a year ago, has now reached a high peak in organization and efficiency.

BICYCLE DAMAGED
Slight damage was done to a bicycle owned by Margaret Smith, 512 Gilmour St., when a truck driven by John Coulter of Millbrook, backed into it. Coulter was preparing to drive away from the curb, when a passerby shouted at him that he had knocked over a bicycle standing at the curb. P.C. J. Morrow investigated.

BRINGS LARGE MOTH
A boy about eight or nine brought a large moth into the Examiner office last week. The moth had a wing spread of about four or five inches, with wing spots shaped like a comma. Its wings were mostly brown, and the body was fuzzy, like that of a mouse. The moth has been identified as an Attacus Atlas, one of the larger moths.

He was particularly well known as a singer in the United and Presbyterian Churches, and he was also a member of the Fenelon Falls Band.

Salesman Turns Critical Eye On Lush Fields

Says Farmers Won't Produce Extra Grain

Here we are—knee deep in June, and what a June! Lush and green and growing and richly and fragrantly flowered. But, not perfect to the practically appraising eye of Norm McMurphy of Co-Op. Out Fred McIndoo's way at Scott's Corners and down where Sam Comrie lives north of Mother's Corners the advancing crops never looked better.

But, we are not going to harvest those 30,000,000 extra bushels of grain Col. Tom Kennedy asked for as Minister of Agriculture, because we didn't get enough planted. Mr. McMurphy must be a seed salesman because he mentions that there is still another week or more to plant grain corn providing an early maturing variety goes into the ground.

At any rate the fall wheat is in grand shape, the spring crops are thickening their new carpeting of fields, pastures got a little late start but they are looking pretty fair, this man McMurphy concedes, while others are bemoaning the rural scene. Probably he is applying the realistic test, not the poetic and aesthetic and so on. When the countryside has turned reddish gold in October and the greens are gone, will the granaries be bulging?

Apart from that commercial and utilitarian scanning, the verdict at mid-June: "We never saw things looking better, at least, never greener."

Election Check Reveals Few Changes

Opening ballot boxes and comparing recorded totals with the figures obtained election night was a monotonous four-hour chore for D. J. Lawrie, Returning Officer, and his helpers Monday evening.

The work started at seven o'clock with Charles Elliott, defeated Liberal candidate keeping an eye on the proceedings and checking the totals himself. John Buck, locksmith, was on hand in case any of the deputy returning officers had dropped the keys into the ballot boxes and then padlocked the container. His assistance was not required as two of the missing keys had been returned separately to Mr. Lawrie a few days after the boxes had been sent in.

The check failed to reveal any irregularities, and all the documents were found to be in order. It did show that 143 ballots had been spoiled, less than one for each of the 151 polls. About the same number of ballots were cancelled, but these did not interfere with the validity of the ballots, as a cancelled ballot is not counted. For instance, a voter might accidentally tear a ballot and in such a case the DRO would replace the ballot with a perfect one, and the vote would not be lost.

Lost and Gained

The totals on the statements from the various polls did not materially affect the totals as compiled by the Examiner office on election night.

At poll 9A, 32 Park St. South, the original count was Elliott 38, Morton 25, Scott 71. The corrected total is Elliott 60, Morton 77 and Scott 57. In that poll, Mr. Elliott picked up 22 votes, Mr. Morton 53 and Mr. Scott lost 14.

At poll 52, Erskine Ave. in North Monaghan, the original tally was Elliott 22, Morton 65 and Scott 55. The corrected total is Elliott 22, Morton 67 and Scott 54. Mr. Scott picked up 20 votes at poll one, 120 Gladstone Ave. The total there had been listed as 76 but the poll clerk's sheet revealed a count of 96. The other two were unchanged. At poll 63, Parish Hall, Ennisville, Mr. Scott's list count of 135 was boosted to 137 when the ballot box was opened. The Examiner had this figure correct, but it disagreed with the totals telephoned or sent to Mr. Lawrie's office.

At poll 28A, where the only other poll to have more than one vote difference from the original count, the voting poll is at 376 Stewart St. Here Scott's total of 76 was moved to 78.

George Benton unlocked the ballot boxes and handed the various names to Mr. Lawrie, who made the check, then called the totals to George Benton, Jr. who checked the clerks' totals against those already entered on a master sheet.

An unusually large number of voters were sworn in at outlying polls. The record was set at Buckhorn poll 88 where 40 citizens were sworn in after they discovered their names were not on the list, and another known citizen was ready to vouch for them. Mr. Jennie Harris, DRO at poll 107, Havelock swore in 30 voters.

At that point there was a large hydra working, and Mrs. Harris had the foreman stand and identify each man as he applied to vote. This was at Ellis' house in Belmont. Austin Wilde was in charge at the old Havelock school, and here 16 were sworn in. Ten of the 29 voters at poll 110, Free Hills on Stony Lake were sworn in. Down at Hawatha seven people voted, two for Morton and five for Scott, and George Benton quipped "Charlie Elliott should go some fishing in Rice Lake, as apparently they don't know him down there."

During the perusal of the returns it was apparent that several of the DRO's and poll clerks were either very inexperienced or else careless, as forms were improperly filled in, and in about five instances the form to be filled after the ballots were not properly handled. At least four city polls and one Otonabee poll fell into this category.

The corrected totals are as follows: Elliott 7694, Morton 5867 and Scott 10,216. Previously the Examiner had reported the totals as follows: Elliott 7693, Morton 5869 and Scott 10,180.

Council And Board To Study Annexation

Board of Education will be asked to join with the council in a discussion with Smith council and representatives of the Queen Elizabeth school area regarding proposed annexation of at least that entire section of the township.

This motion by Ald. Raine was adopted at the meeting of finance committee Monday night. The prime consideration, it is understood, is that the Queen Elizabeth school section should be taken in if it is to receive approval of the township.

BECOMING ELONGATED

Peterborough is becoming elongated, according to Ald. Gordon Armstrong. It is showing a lathery tendency in growth and is manifestly becoming unbalanced. Annexations have been south and north with insufficient straining on the waist or belt line.

IN NEW UNIFORMS

Hundreds of band-music lovers attended the first concert of the Peterborough Civic Band on Sunday night. The bandmen were attired in maroon tunics and caps touched with gold braid and gaily striped trousers. Capt. W. H. Peryer, bandmaster directed the musical program.

HOLD CONSENT VOTES SOON

A vote will soon be held in the Barrie and Cobourg plants of the CGE to determine the bargaining agent for unionized employees. As the UZ is the only petitioner, the "consent vote" will be a simple ballot. It is estimated that the majority of employees are eligible to cast a vote. It will be held on Wednesday at Barrie and at Cobourg on some future date.

DANGEROUS BOTTLENECK

Cars parked on both sides of Water street just south of Parkhill Road are causing a dangerous bottleneck at various times. Sunday evening, only one stream of traffic south or north bound could move at one time through the traffic lights at that point. When cars were removed from one side of the street, the traffic moved normally.

HIT AND RAN

A smashed fender was the result of a hit-and-run accident which took place Saturday midnight on Downie St. George Sutherland, 668 Brown St., was travelling south on Downie St., when a north-bound auto sideswiped the left rear fender of his car. Sutherland did not get the license number of the other car, which did not stop.

USED CAR LOT

Finance committee of the council granted permission to W. J. Hickey to carry on sale of used cars on the east side of Stewart St., north of Chas-lotte St. This is only a temporary permit until the end of the year. There is a service station on the corner, and a vacant lot owned by British American Oil Co. to the north. The oil company, it was said, undertook to straighten up that lot after tearing down the old house that was there, but little or no work was actually done on the property.

Must Speed Reconstruction Of War-Torn Europe To Stop Communism—Bata

"We must not fool ourselves that today there is one world," said Thomas Bata, of Trenton, president of the Bata Shoe Company, speaking at the afternoon session on Monday of the assembly at the Empress Hotel of the 168th District of Rotary International. "There are definitely two," he continued. "One part in which the people govern themselves and decide their destiny and Rotary flourishes, and the other world where people are governed by dictatorship, where they do what they are told and where Rotary is banned as effectively under Joseph Stalin as under Adolf Hitler."

"This is a critical year and we may be nearer to an armed conflict than we seem," Mr. Bata said that the reconstruction of Europe was proceeding at such a rate that the Russians may soon have no opportunity to succeed in undermining the Western democratic countries through dissension.

"To save our own skins, we cannot afford to allow the Russians to gobble up one democratic country after another. She would soon eliminate all our potential allies and after organizing their industrial resources would be strong enough to force the surrender of the rest of the world. If Russia persists in her efforts, they will be resisted and war becomes inevitable."

A Thorough Job

"The whole Communist preparation is a very thorough one. Use is made of all dissenting elements. The ultimate object is imperialistic government and control."

He said that the democratic people of Europe are well aware of the problem facing them today, and there had been numerous efforts to bring about co-operation in Western Europe, especially on the part of Winston Churchill.

"Let us not be on the defensive on the argument that Communism brings economic equality or improved standard of living. Of course, Soviet Russia can point to the fact that during her regime industries were built, mines opened, power plants organized, some hospitals built and multiple services introduced. Would all this and much more have been done under democratic government, without the necessity of several purges and the establishment of slave labor camps? There is adequate authority to prove that the standard of living of a common worker increased between the two worlds much less under the Communist regime in Russia, than they did under democratic governments in most countries of the world. Let us be proud of the achievement of democracy and let us spread that faith to the people in whose countries democracy is being threatened from outside."

"If we are going to do anything," Mr. Bata ended, "let's do it right now and do it thoroughly."

In speaking on Rotary service to youth, Dr. Grant Bird, of Oshawa, said that in endeavoring to encourage outside activities, "let us be cautious we do not detract from service that home provides."

The Rev. Bert Howard, president, Albert College, Belleville, in an address entitled "If I Were Starting Now," discussed the organization of Rotary meetings and particularly the duties of the president. "The strength of Rotary clubs," he said, "lies in an enthusiastic whole, not a strong few."

John James, of Bowmanville, spoke on the Rotarian magazine, and Harold Gully, of Toronto, on the international convention to be held next year in New York.

Optimists' Plan For Boys Wins Tribute

Peterborough Optimists held their last bi-monthly meeting Monday evening and listened to a stirring talk by their past lieutenant-governor of District 15, Jack Purdie of Hamilton; his theme was the "Philosophy of Optimism." He pointed out that a life made up of total pleasure or work was a worthless thing but could be turned into something of personal pleasure when serious plans were laid for the betterment of the growing boy in the community.

He gave encouragement to the Peterborough club in their worthwhile effort on their Boys' Town project and warned that although there would be ups and downs the plan was very sound and would give each worker great satisfaction when it was completed and running smoothly. He advised them to study the Optimist creed and live up to it to the best of their ability.

Mr. Purdie presented life membership certificates to Shell Huffman and past-president Harry Yudin at the conclusion of his speech. James Gardiner, in the absence of V. Barry, gave a report on the progress of work at Trafalgar House in Nicholls Oval and appointed work team captains and crews to carry on the project to completion as quickly as possible through the summer.

Jack Rogers reviewed plans for the club's social evening which is being held on Friday evening in the form of a club supper dance at the Club Aragon. From the enthusiasm shown, a large turnout is anticipated. Cleve Grady was voted a new member to the club.

AH, THE HUMILIATION
Jim White, Park St., has seen all sorts of damaged cars. But his cup of bitterness is filled to overflowing after a recent personal experience. Jim had just bought a new car and was still showing it proudly to every friend he could button hole. On Friday an absent-minded lady sauntered along the sidewalk pushing a baby carriage. Suddenly she crashed into the car scratching the paint from a fender. Today the new car is undergoing repairs. "I've been run into by trucks, cars and even a tractor," said Jim, "but a baby carriage—now I've seen everything."

Lily Lake WA. To Build Hall

LILY LAKE, June 13—(ENS)—To meet a need in this area, plans were made at a meeting last evening to build a community hall, a project sponsored by Lily Lake Women's Association. There were 31 at the meeting, 28 voted for and two against.

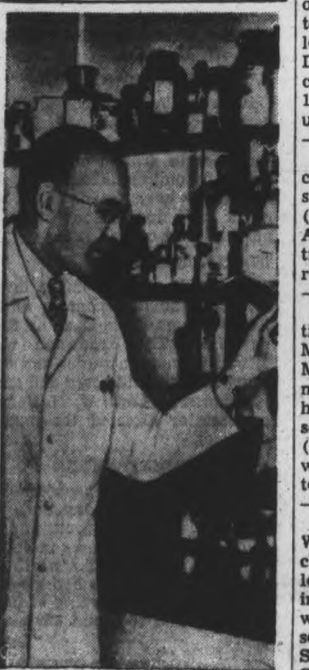

Mrs. George Middleton, WA president, called the meeting to order and later Mrs. Clarence Hancock, a former president, took charge for the discussion period.

It is anticipated the building will be a cement block structure, 30 ft. by 66 ft. To help defray expenses a general canvass will be made. The Women's Association members have been working very hard on this project and it is hoped there will be a generous response to this appeal for funds.

Members of the committee are Mrs. A. W. Ackison, convener, Mrs. W. Steinkrauss, Mrs. G. Middleton, Everett Tully, Arthur Hancock and A. W. Ackison.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better.

THROUGH CHEMISTRY

"Chemistry?.. I DON'T HANDLE IT!"

YOUR STOREKEEPER may think he doesn't handle chemistry, but everything he sells from costume jewelry to refrigerators, is in whole or in part, a chemical product.

Chemistry is a vital factor in fabrics and foods, leather and toys. It's at the cosmetic counter, and in the hardware department. You find it more and more whenever you shop—as nylon hosiery, fabrics and bristles, in new plastic articles and as "Cellophane" wrappings to protect goods and make them more attractive.

The chemical industry never stands still. It continues to create new useful products and to improve many old ones. It contributes to the well-being of all of us... with the C-I-L oval the symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

Serve By Sharing Judge Says In Address At Rotary Convention

Affinity of the motto of Rotary International: "He profits most who serves best" and the golden rule was affirmed by Judge Hawley S. Mott, Toronto, at the Rotary Club luncheon Monday at the Empress with district assembly delegates attending.

Judge Mott presides over the Toronto family court, and has long been one of the distinguished members of Canadian Rotary.

Rotary's challenging principle of service was an interpretation of the truths which had come down through the ages from the great thinkers, prophets and philosophers.

"Don't think this is something new," said Judge Mott. "It is only a rebirth. We are struggling in our minds with ideas they started with. Thus, Rotary speaks to us in a way we must not undervalue and forget. It is our continuing challenge, and we have to keep asking ourselves, what are we going to do about it?

Truth is like a leaven that moves from spirit to spirit in some mysterious way. If it was fully possessed by the 500,000 Rotarians in 80 countries of the world, would there be war? Truth has always been mightier than the sword.

Judge Mott, introduced by Mr. James Dutton, recalled some of the body of truth mankind had long accepted as veritable. Arnold Toynbee had written recently that "We are the 26th civilization the world has produced and known, and sometimes we wonder whether we are much better than those that are gone."

If we begin the study of ethics we turn back to Aristotle, Judge Mott said; if it be philosophy we start with Plato and Socrates. "The world has had some great men. Those of us who have been through three and four wars may think that the treasures of philosophy which were left to us were not used right."

"I wonder whether Rotary is born for this hour? Is this the challenge of the 20th century to us? Are we going to take it up, to hold it high and pass it on to others? Are we going to be content with saying: 'It's a nice idea; I guess it is true.' Is that the end of it. If so we will have another war."

From his personal work in family court, Judge Mott said he daily saw "boys and girls" who had mixed the road. Why? Because they haven't learned to serve. He quoted the text: "Be ye among them as one who serves."

"The word serve is a powerful word, but I suggest that you bring it closer, associating with it another word 'to share'; to serve by sharing. In our thinking today we have got to entertain that idea. In what we are doing, we must practice it. If not, then shall we be remiss. In our business, in our responsibilities in the business of life, in our social, our home and church life, we must make use of the word serve, and we must make use of it by sharing."

Gave Examples

Dr. Mott closed his talk with examples of the practical application of serving by sharing. There must be something deficient in the club officer, even the club member, whose experiences passed without some sharing with his fellows.

"The sharing of burdens and worries and joys with our neighbors, with the men with whom we work, with so many people who need you, means that we are taking the contention out of life. What about the boy on your street who is interested in you if you will let him be. He knows about you. He knows you are a Rotarian. Have you ever given him a chance to know you better? Have you kindly challenged him about the traditions of his country, his community, his home area?"

Judge Mott said that serving by sharing should begin in a man's home, with his wife, his son, his daughter. Truths of the philosophers were as potent as ever, but they were now in our hands, and therefore our responsibility.

Dr. R. A. Kelly expressed the club and assembly audience to Judge Mott.

Objectives and channels of Rotary's service was a continuing theme of the afternoon program. Mr. G. L. Woodruff of Peterborough Normal School substituted for Rev. Dr. James Semple in a discussion of the subject "vocational service". Joseph Caulder of Toronto, a past director of Rotary International, dealt with the aims and objects plan of action.

Vocational service was concerned about circumstances and conditions in employment, and other phases of the broad question of labor relations. Mr. Woodruff mentioned the enquiry the younger Ford asked the employees of that great industry in the direct question "What does labor want?" Replies included, security in all year employment, pensions schemes, advancement in pay and prestige, the feeling of having a real and integral part in the business, and also the sense of having certain privileges through certain benefits, holidays, sick leave and other advantages which most industries have put into effect.

Needs Understanding

Rotary does endeavor through its vocation important in industry, and to that end advocates "understanding plus".

On the other hand, Mr. Woodruff said, the employee cannot have a real conception of the problems of the busy manager, either the manager has not time to tell them, or there was lack of ability of the workers to appreciate the weight of managerial problems.

Many employees had the fixed idea that management and shareholders got all the money, and nothing could convince them of anything else. It was hardly likely that a floor sweeper understood the difficulties and problems of production, but there should be some action taken to make explanation he could understand.

Use 4 Questions

Mr. Woodruff suggested the application of four questions and conditions approaching decision as recommended by Herbert J. Taylor of Chicago. The questions preceding decision were: Is it true; is it fair to all concerned; will it build good will and will it benefit all concerned. "If we employ those four questions in matters relating to employees I feel confident there can be nothing but better results."

The employee of today regarded agreements of great importance because they appeared to him to be the only way by which he could get the privileges he sought. Some heads of industry had the faculty of making workers feel that they were partners in the job, that management was sharing something with them even to taking a helpful interest in some of their personal affairs. It was the friendly, appreciative attitude.

Mr. Caulder's talk was largely a shop talk on the means of putting Rotary ideals into action. "If we could get even 25 per cent of our membership to be enthusiastic Rotarians we would have the strongest organization for good outside the Christian church," was one of his statements. At least the younger clubs of the last twenty years should have aims and objects committees with the four avenues of service, club, community, vocational and international. Rotary Clubs are autonomous, and each with a well balanced program in those four directions was bound to be stronger and healthier as a result of those objectives.

Says Conciliators Ignored By 2 Companies

OTTAWA, June 15.—(CP).—Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) said Monday night in the Commons that certain employers are allowed to "ignore and defy" the law if they do so because of the political affiliation of the unions representing their employees.

Mr. MacInnis, hitting back at Labor Minister Mitchell's reply to a question about the "basic causes" of the dispute between the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) and five shipping companies, charged two of the companies have "completely ignored" Government-appointed conciliators.

Earlier, replying to Mr. MacInnis, Mr. Mitchell called the dispute "a jurisdictional scrap, to begin with."

"Secondly, the position is taken by some of the companies that they will not deal with an organization led by Communists."

One of the employee groups—the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union (Ind.)—was led by J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, a former Communist, who may still be one, Mr. Mitchell said. The other was "admittedly" Communist-led.

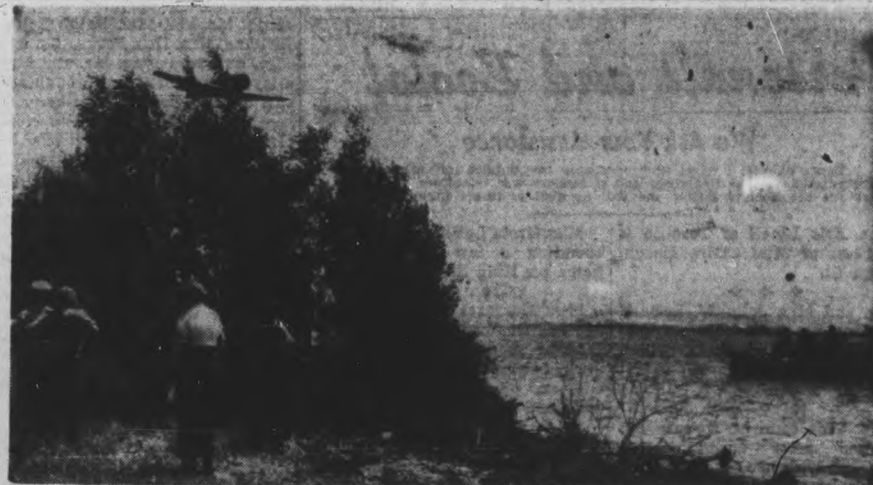

(This was believed a reference to the CSU, often accused of Red domination.)

Mr. MacInnis said later that Mr. Mitchell "sort of brushed my question aside in a most frivolous manner." He read a newspaper report in which Mr. Mitchell was quoted as saying: "I am a great believer in conciliation, and I don't believe you can settle labor disputes by putting people in jail."

"That is exactly the way this particular labor dispute is being settled," said Mr. MacInnis.

Fall Style Trend Modifies Extremes

The derriere is back. Back in the fashion, that is. It got big play this week when leading Canadian models gave a preview of fall fashions during a fast-moving aerial tour which is taking them to principal cities in Canada. While the general reaction is one of approval, male members of their audience comment most frequently on the apparent trend away from extremes in the new look. The coat silhouette is a toss-up between fitted and full-back styles. Suits are for the most part figure-fitting. Jackets are hip-length, and the full circular skirt is conspicuous by its absence. There are ski suits with belted, double breasted three-quarter-length coats, topped with moulton collars in new tones of silver grey and honey beige. Plaids are well represented, found in capes, shirts and housecoats.

Of Interest to Women

Should Husband and Wives Take Separate Vacations?

How often and how long should husbands and wives take vacations away from each other? This is one of the $64 matrimonial questions that cannot be answered definitely, because it all depends upon the temperaments of the individual.

Dorothy Dix

And sometimes it makes it grow fonder for some other woman or man.

Generally speaking, there are two schools of thought on the subject of vacations. One is the adhesive, or mustard plaster, type of marriage which holds that husbands and wives never should take a day off from each other's society. They should go to the places, know the same people, read the same books, eat the same food, have the same tastes and habits, and realize the poets' ideal of two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one.

This plan is presumed to promote the affection of married couples, and it probably works with the rubber-stamp type of individuals, for it is no uncommon thing to hear a wife boast that she and her husband never have been parted for a day in the 20 or 25 years of their marriage.

Second Theory

The other school of thought on the vacation problem puts its faith in the absence treatment. It holds to the theory that just as nobody can eat 30 quails in 30 days and still relish them, so no husband and wife can live together constantly without getting fed up on each other. It contends that the reason that so many husbands and wives sit up of evenings in a silence so thick you could cut it with a knife—or else quarrel—is because they are so tired of each other; and that the way to keep a marriage a going concern is to keep it moving, instead of static.

Now each of these plans for the vacation of husbands and wives has its points. The married couple who always go together may have a pleasant outing with a congenial companion and be able to say to each other: "Don't you remember the capitol at Washington, or the So-and-Sos we met in San Francisco?" But they are not likely to have any startling adventures.

On the other hand, the husband and wife who take their vacation alone have the unique privilege of doing what they want to do themselves, instead of adapting themselves to their mates. If the hotel and show teth half the husband wants to fish, he fishes. If the wife wants to go to a swanky hotel and show off her clothes, she goes. And both return refreshed and filled with new things to talk about.

But the summer vacation for husbands and wives, like all other good things, must be taken in moderation. Two or three weeks' absence from home is enough. A month is the limit. Two or three weeks' separation will give the galled spots made by the matrimonial yoke time enough to heal. It will give the husband and wife a chance to realize that domestic freedom is the loneliest thing on earth and that, after all, there is no place like home.

All of which adds up to staying: Take your vacation. Enjoy

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, June 16

By dint of concentrated efforts, well-planned and organized tactics, supported by shrewd and clever strategies, there is likely to be a sudden whirl in the wheel of fortune, which should be dramatic and breathtaking. A renewed grip on congested or lagging affairs, a new lease on life, may be suddenly and abruptly precipitated. This drastic change may be radical and far-reaching on the affairs, fortunes and destiny, affecting the life in all its objectives and contacts.

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to summon all their energies, resources, acumen and influence in a concentrated endeavor to take advantage of a sudden about-face of the fortunes, this being dynamic and far-reaching in its effect on future progress, happiness and accomplishment. Shrewd, decisive and well-executed plans and routines are bound to attract substantial support from high places. Most pleasant and profitable reactions should materialize in the private life, with adventure, romance.

A child born on this day should be excellently endowed with talents, character and personal influence for a career which will be dynamic and romantic to spectacular degree.

Directions

I may have described breaded beef sweetbreads to you before because your butcher can buy these very cheaply at this time of year—if he will. Parboil 1/2 hour in salted and vinegared water. Chill. Slice thin, and dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs. Sprinkle with salt and saute in butter or oil.

Lemon Sponge Cake: 4 eggs separated, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 cup sifted cake flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt. Beat the yolks with rotary beater until thick and lemon coloured, then gradually add sugar while continuing to beat. Mix together the cold water, lemon extract and lemon rind and add these alternately with the sifted flour. Beat the egg whites until stiff, then add the baking powder and salt and beat until they stand in peaks. Carefully fold them into the egg yolk mixture. Pour into square pan lined with waxed paper and bake at 350 for about 50 minutes. When baked, turn out on cake rack, peel off paper and when cool cut in halves with long sharp knife. Spread bottom half with Lemon Filling. Combine 1 egg yolk, with 1/2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/2 cup water, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Cook over boiling water, stirring until thick, then 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add 1/2 tablespoon butter, cool before spreading between layers. Put on top layer and sprinkle top of cake with powdered sugar.

London Wedding Now Costs $350

LONDON, June 15 (CP).—Dresses, reception, honeymoon—what does it all cost for a wedding in Britain these days?

Here is how the money problem was solved by attractive, dark-haired Ruby Venn—now Mrs. Ronald Carey—a typical London spring bride.

It was in January that Ruby became engaged and they started to make wedding preparations. Luckily, Ronald had an apartment, so that was one major problem disposed of.

Working from a plan in a magazine article, a clever aunt turned five yards of material—Ruby chose figured ivory satin—into a lovely gown, at a cost of a little over $15, 10 clothing coupons and two weeks' work. Ruby's headress and long veil cost $8.50 but came coupon-free.

hard to get, but the health of the bride and groom was drunk in champagne just the same!

Three days' honeymoon was all that Ronald could take from his work. They went to a fashionable hotel, and it cost them $40. Other incidentals mounted up, such as $16 for the cars to the church, and $15 for the wedding fee; not to mention the ring which Ronald bought for $50.

Looking back on their own wedding 30 years ago, Ruby's parents thought how times had changed. Ruby's wedding cost around $350. And their cost $40—which they thought was a lot at the time.

Ascot Races Sees New Look

ASCOT, Berkshire, England, June 15.—(Reuters).—The four-day Royal Ascot race meeting, big social event of the summer, opened today with new look dresses, morning clothes and grey toppers, champagne and sunshine.

Early indications gave promise of the most fashionable Ascot since pre-war days.

The new look spread even to the weather precautions. Many women carried umbrellas in gay colors with the new long handles, reviving a fashion of Edwardian days.

The railings around the exclusive enclosure were gleaming white and the glass-fronted royal box filled with soft blue and pink hydrangeas and other flowers.

British sunshades were over the little tables outside the champagne tent in the royal enclosure.

This year, for the first time, the King has ordered that the royal procession shall drive to the course on each of the four days.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, who are staying at Windsor Castle, will be in the royal party each day. But the Duke of Edinburgh, pursuing his duties at the royal naval staff college, is not attending the races.

Delhi Area Quiet No Disturbances Yet

NEW DELHI, June 15 (AP).—Police reported the Delhi area quiet today—rumored date for the outbreak of new communal disturbances. A few minor incidents occurred Monday night, but police quickly intervened.

In the Delhi area along 220 arrests have been made.

West Annoyed Over New Football Rules

By JOHN SIFTON

WINNIPEG, June 15 (CP).—The 1940 East-West football rules war is being recalled as a result of this week's announcement from Toronto by the Inter-provincial Rugby Football Union that its teams can use six American imports this season.

Western football fans, long-used to being pushed around by the East in rules controversies, are angered at the manner in which the Big Four stole their thunder. They say the East made the move purely from selfish motives.

The East-West blowoff came in 1940 when the Canadian Rugby Union ruled the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, defending Grey Cup winners, ineligible for the Grey Cup final. The Western team was barred because it had failed to observe C.R.U. rules throughout the season.

Most outspoken critic of the Big Four announcement was Tom Brook, president of the Calgary Stampeder.

Brook said: "It's high time something was done about the football setup in Canada. What burns me up is that the East changes things to suit themselves and does just about as they please with the rules and at the same time does everything to restrict the West."

Baptists Plan 3-Year Drive

WINDSOR, June 15 (CP).—The executive committee of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec today laid before the 60th annual assembly details of a diamond jubilee for a movement program. It calls for a three-year drive in evangelism, stewardship and ministerial and lay leadership.

The report suggested that the convention's official diamond jubilee assembly be held next year, place and date to be announced during the present meetings.

The executive praised the work of a committee on minimum salaries for ministers and said the committee was largely responsible for establishing a $1,600 minimum salary, with parsonage, in 59 churches.

The financial statement showed that the convention raised $21,155.04 in the last year and spent $21,038.69, leaving a balance of $116.35.

Rev. S. D. France of Niagara Falls, Ont., reported on development of relations between the associations of the church—organized on a regional basis. Association moderators and clerks had attended a special conference in Toronto.

The stewardship committee report showed that receipts for missions and other church activities totalled $180,818 in the last year, compared with $166,832 in the previous year.

Artificial Valves In Hearts Of Dogs
CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP).—Successful use of artificial valves in the hearts of dogs was described by two Argentine physicians today at an international assembly of heart specialists.

The report was made to the third Inter-American Cardiological Congress by Mrs. Julie A. Beretta and Isidro Perianes of Buenos Aires.

In the experiments, a surgical leak was made in a main heart (aortic) valve. Artificial valves made of vitallium metal then were inserted in the heart artery and fixed into place.

These artificial valves, the physicians said, were able to overcome the effects of the leak and permitted the dogs to survive for "different periods of time."

Columbia River Now Receding

PORTLAND, Ore., June 15.—(AP).—Columbia river flood waters from the Rockies to the Pacific are receding at all river gauges today.

The river will remain above flood stage in the lower valley for three weeks while inching downward. The danger now is that weakened levees may collapse after 25 days of pounding.

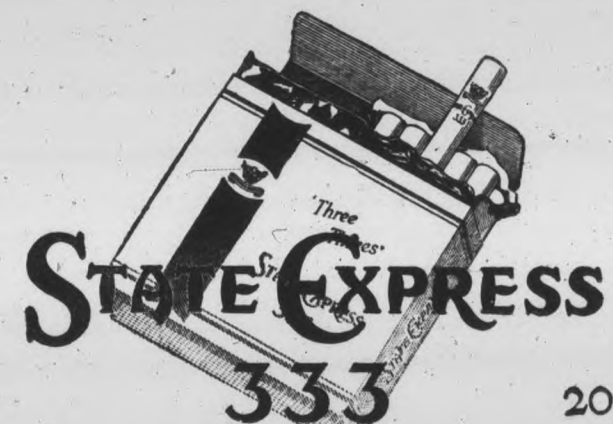

There are 41 known dead in the wake of the region's greatest disaster in the 1,000 mile long river valley.

Some 60,000 are homeless in the United States and Canadian flood zones. Damage is in multi-millions.

Still a mystery is the exact toll in the May 30 destruction of the flimsy, war-built apartment homes of 18,700 at Vanport, Ore. Five bodies have been recovered, but the Red Cross names 28 on its list of men, women and children missing since the tragedy. This list once totalled 121, was pared to 18 and then Monday the names of 10 bachelor tradesmen were added.

Engineers have stopped the water from rising higher over Portland.

The Canada that emerged from the war is a far greater country than we ever thought possible—a country of vastly increased and varied productivity—with a million more employed than before the war—with a new wealth of interesting careers awaiting those alive to the opportunities around them.

125,000 APPLICATIONS were on file in Ontario House, London, when Ontario began its immigration plan. It has been estimated that at least 80% of the displaced persons in Germany want to emigrate to Canada.

SIGNIFICANT, too, is the number of new plants established here by foreign firms. Specially interesting are those built up by wartime refugees, of whom about 3,500 entered Canada. They established at least 56 new industries employing over 6,000.

RECKON HONORS DIVIDED

FAILURE of your opponents to bid against you can sometimes be just as informative to the good declarer as if they had spoken. If one of them thereafter makes a lead which locates certain high honors in one defender's hand, the probabilities are heavy that any other important honor is opposite it. That is because, with all those honors in one hand, an overall would have been likely, especially if the side is not vulnerable.

South's three aces from the 5-Spades response.

When West led the spade K, Mr. Harrison noted several optional ways to seek his contract, with a number of possible losers in sight. His first decision was to count East for the heart K and finesse against it. West having shown the high spades, would have been likely to double if he also held the heart K. He decided also to try for exactly twelve tricks, not thirteen, which would involve unnecessary risk, and to ruff high once to preserve an entry into dummy.

So he won the opener with the spade A, scored the diamond A, led to the diamond J, took two club tops, ruffed the bottom club with the diamond Q, led to the diamond 10 to clear trumps, discarded two hearts on the club Q and 10, now finessed the heart, raised in the heart A and diamond K, then gave up the last trick to the spade Q.

Terrifically aggressive bidding, that, on the part of South, in fact a gross overbid by anybody except a card-player of the calibre of John T. Harrison, who held those cards in the final club championship tournament of the University Club in New York. Nobody could blame his partner, Walter P. Lantz, for Blackwooding opposite him and putting the contract into a diamond snarl when he learned about

Scots Proud of Prestwick Emigrants Like To Use It

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A Robbie Burns of this generation, transplanted to Canada, may one day write nostalgically of his last glimpse of Scotland—the gleaming tarmac of Prestwick airport.

In the old days, emigrants for the Dominion watched their native land recede over the ship's rail. Thousands still prefer sea travel but Canadian-bound aircraft are moving an impressive total.

Large numbers go from London airport too, but for those who have watched many emigrants taking off, Prestwick is unique for its friendly informal atmosphere which precedes goodbye.

It is significant that the first flight of Canada's new air immigration scheme, launched June 3, took off from Prestwick carrying a typical load, mostly Scots.

The Scots are proud of Prestwick and rub their hands gleefully when fog causes aircraft to be diverted there from other fields. Last year, 240 planes landed there for this reason while only 13 had to be turned away.

TO LECTURE IN GERMANY—Prof. H. N. Fieldhouse, head of the history department at McGill University, who will lecture this summer at a Canadian-sponsored seminar in the British zone of Germany.

TASTE REAL COFFEE!

RICHER, FINER CHASE & SANBORN TASTE IT TODAY!

because Prestwick itself was fogged over.

Out of Way
The base which was heavily used during the war for Atlantic crossings of military aircraft, is about 20 miles outside Glasgow—too far for convenience, some travellers say. But it boasts a comfortable little hotel which can accommodate 100 and there is room for another 250 in the hotel annex.

Before the takeoff of an immigrant plane the airport buildings hum with friendly activity. Passengers have to be on hand two hours before the scheduled departure (officials insist on setting an early deadline to take care of stragglers) and they bring their friends and families.

Some sit in groups in the lounge. Others wander restlessly through the corridors or seek out the restaurant for a final meal. Small children scamper among piles of hand luggage.

Third Son To Go

That young man in the centre of the proud group is the third son to go to Canada—his brothers have a job lined up for him. The nervous young woman with an elaborate hairdo and rose corsage is going to join her husband who went out six months ago and now has a job and a home.

The old lady sitting very straight with folded hands is on her way to her children who have made a new home in the Dominion.

When the aircraft hurtles down the runway and soars skyward there are some tears among those left behind, but not many. Most of them feel, one way or another, they will soon be heading for Canada themselves.

Hundreds Mourn Col. A. V. Yates

MARMORA, June 15—(ENS)—

The funeral of the late Lt.-Col. A. V. Yates, MC, VD, was held on Sunday afternoon under auspices of Marmora Branch No. 237, Canadian Legion, which formed a guard of honor outside his late residence at Deloro and also at the Memorial Hall at Marmora. Burial was in Preston, under auspices of Marmora AF and AM 222 Monday afternoon. In addition to the Legionnaires there was a good attendance of officers and non-commissioned officers of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. Maj.-Gen. Chris. Vokes was the senior officer on parade, which was in charge of Sergeant-Major Almey. The service at the home was conducted by Rural Dean J. M. Brownie, assisted by the Rev. E. M. Cadigan. The former in a brief address touched upon the uncertainty of human life and paid tribute to the memory of Colonel Yates.

Members of the Legion acted as flower carriers of the large number of floral emblems, while non-commissioned officers of the regiment which was mourning the death of a beloved former officer acted as pall-bearers. The streets were lined with a large concourse of prominent folk from various centres in Hastings county, besides villagers of Marmora and Deloro. Before the cortege left Deloro, Floyd Ketcheson of Frankford sounded Last Post and Reveille, and Legionnaires deposited poppies on the casket.

Lakefield Preparatory School Closes With Presenting Of Prizes

LAKEFIELD, June 15 (ENS)—Hundreds of parents and interested guests attended the closing exercises of the Lakefield Preparatory School held on the spacious campus on Saturday afternoon.

The Chapel service opened the afternoon's program and was conducted by the school's chaplain, Rev. M. R. Hunt, assisted by Headmaster G. Winder Smith. The scripture lesson was read by the head prefect, Grant Burroughes, and Mr. J. Cranston was at the organ.

In speaking to the boys in general, and especially to the graduating class, Rev. Hunt said in part, "The time you have spent in school is a preparation for life. Just as an athlete spends much time in training, so you, in the race of life must spend many years in preparation, in order that you can put the most into life and get the most out of it. The training you have received here will help you to run the race of life as it should be run."

Distribution of Prizes

Following the service the guests gathered on the lawn for the annual distribution of prizes. Headmaster Smith welcomed those present to the 69th closing, and introduced Mr. Hugh McCulloch, chairman of the Board of Governors, who reviewed briefly financial questions relating to the school.

In a short address Mr. Smith gave a resume of the highlights of the school's year. He reported one of the most successful years, athletically and academically in the school's history.

Mr. Smith, as did Mr. McCulloch, spoke in a most complimentary manner of the splendid work done by the secretary, Mrs. G. Robinson, who leaves at the conclusion of the term, after serving the school for 14 years.

A solemn tribute was also paid to the memory of the late Hubert Kisdell, who for many years was organist and music master at The Grove, and who recently passed on.

In concluding his address, Mr. Smith pointed out what he, and the members of his staff considered the best form of education, "In the individual boy," said Mr. Smith, "we want to develop intellectual and emotional and ethical maturity. Intellectual maturity is a basic necessity of citizens in a free country such as ours, because free citizens must make decisions for themselves. By emotional maturity I mean the ability to get along with and live happily with our fellowmen. Last comes ethical maturity which free citizens need if they are to accept the civic responsibilities of a democratic government."

"In speaking now to you boys who will not be returning," concluded Mr. Smith, "I would like you to remember that there are three parts to a mature person, and that an equal balance must be maintained among them all. The development of any one of these three qualities, at the expense of the other two, will not make you a fully educated person, read for, and capable of living as free citizens in a free society. Strive, therefore, for intellectual, emotional and ethical maturity."

See US Directing Tariffs On ERP Aid Restrictions

LONDON, June 16. (Reuters).—Some of the "unacceptable" clauses in the Washington draft of the bilateral European recovery program agreements have been shown London financial editors. This draft lays down Washington's present ideas of the conditions which the European countries must undertake to qualify for Marshall aid after July 3.

Under another clause the United States, at any time that it felt a currency change was desirable in the interests of European recovery, would be entitled to "seek consultation" with the country concerned and could then "require" that country to confer with the international monetary fund. This has been regarded in Britain and on the continent as going beyond the international monetary fund agreement, where under the initiative lies wholly with the country concerned.

Cornwall Asks Army Troops Drive Out Unions

CORNWALL, June 16—(CP).—Strong RCMP detachments or army troops to drive warring seamen from Cornwall likely will be asked of the Government when Mayor Lloyd Gallinger and a city council delegation meet with Cabinet Minister today.

Transport Minister Chevrier and Labor Minister Mitchell will receive the delegation in Ottawa and will hear requests "to put both the Canadian Seamen's Union and the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union out of Cornwall," Mayor Gallinger said Tuesday night.

The Mayor asserted the flare-up between the rival unions has had a frightening effect on many Cornwall residents. There had been complaints that persons were afraid to walk in some sections of the city; trade was beginning to drop and tourists were being frightened away.

He will ask the Federal Government to act in the removal of the CSU encampment from a city park and to prevent further truckloads of CLSU members from being brought into the district.

In other quarters, Arthur Marshall, president of the Cornwall Trades and Labor Council, said the council will meet Wednesday to discuss withdrawal support from the CSU.

RCAF Reports One Aircraft Now Overdue

Plane Dives Into Lake Mile From Town;
Identity Not Known

BOWMANVILLE, June 16 (CP).—A jet airplane crashed into Lake Ontario today about a mile east of Bowmanville and a mile out in the lake.

So far, its identity has not been established. However, RCAF officials at Trenton told Provincial Police here that a jet plane piloted by Group Captain S. Y. Broadbent, a veteran flyer, is overdue.

L. J. Brock, a local farmer, and his son Reginald told police they were working on the lakefront at about 10 a.m. this morning when they saw a silver plane spinning at "terrific speed" down towards the lake. There was a "great splash" about one mile offshore.

Ontario provincial police set out in boats for the scene of the crash. Search Lake TRENTON, June 16 (CP).—Aircraft and surface vessels were searching Lake Ontario today for the wreckage of a Vampire jet plane, it was announced by the RCAF Central Flying School.

Officials said the Vampire left Trenton at 9:44 a.m. EDT this morning.

Appeal Hinted In Tax Decision

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP).—Finance Minister Abbott hinted Tuesday night that the government will appeal an Exchequer Court judgment about war income tax.

The ruling by Mr. Justice G. G. O'Connor, was that the husband of a woman who worked during the war was entitled to claim married status for tax purposes, no matter in what type of work his wife was engaged.

The case was raised by G. K. Fraser, (PC-Peterborough West) in the Commons banking committee as it discussed the government's income tax bill.

Find No Motive In Slaying Of Oshawa Wife Police Suggest Husband Deranged In Sleep

OSHAWA, June 16 (CP).—Police said today they are without a motive for the slaying of Mrs. Marie Bradley, 65, in nearby Whitby township. They said her husband, Howard C. Bradley, 70, killed her with a wooden mallet and then took his life by carbon monoxide.

Police suggested Bradley had become mentally deranged during the night "possibly because of a nightmare." He was not known to have suffered any previous mental trouble, they said, and the couple were very happy.

Railway Talks Collapse Strike Threatens, Ask Federal Intervention

MONTREAL, June 16—(CP).—Spokesmen for 28,000 railway workers yesterday announced the "complete breakdown" of efforts at mediating their wage dispute with the railways. Shortly after Mr. Justice J. C. A. Cameron of the Exchequer Court of Canada announced that a mediation board attempting settlement of the dispute between the railways and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers (CCL) had "terminated its proceedings without reaching agreement," the union made public its message to Mr. Mitchell.

The message, signed by the six members of the union negotiating committee, advised the Minister "that strike action by our members can only be avoided by the government taking whatever action necessary to make acceptance of our compromise offer to the board possible."

8 Patients Stage Sit Down Strike
At Being Moved

TORONTO, June 16—(CP).—Eight women, between 50 and 80 years of age went on a sit-down strike today in protest against being moved from a nursing home.

The home was discussed recently by the city welfare committee. It was charged the building did not conform with fire regulations.

Two ambulances arrived today to take 37 women who live in the home to other quarters.

Mrs. Mary E. Nobes, who runs the institution, said: "The drivers tried to persuade the women to leave with them, but they just sat down in their rooms and refused to budge."

Police Seeking Car In Embankment Crash

TORONTO, June 16—(CP).—Provincial and city police are on the look-out for an automobile which forced a second car off the Princess Elizabeth Way on the eastern approaches to Toronto early today and fled.

Four persons were injured when their car plunged off the highway, struck a light standard, jumped a steel guard rail, and fell 300 feet down an embankment. Injured were the driver, Gerald Williams, 28, Mrs. Rose Haldun, 28, Gilbert McNamara, 31, and William Reid, 26, all of Toronto.

Police said two hitch-hikers who had been riding in the car which forced William's automobile off the road forced the driver to stop the car after the accident, but that he had driven away as soon as they got out. They said the driver appeared to have been drinking and deliberately forced the other car off the road.

Southern France Gripped By Spreading Strike Wave

CLERMONT - FERRAND, France, June 16 (CP).—A spreading strike wave, reminiscent of last winter's cold civil war, crept over south central and northeastern France today, sparked by a general work stoppage in this French tire capital.

A general strike also spread throughout Belgium while London's shipping industry was crippled by a growing dock walkout. At least 150 persons were injured here when police forcibly ejected strikers who had occupied the Berougnan rubber factory.

Police moved in on the rubber plant Tuesday night. An eyewitness said the company of state police and mounted republican guards were met by a barrage of missiles. Strikers used clubs made from gum rubber in a hand-to-hand conflict.

Holy Land Cease-Fire Order;

CAIRO, June 16—(AP).—The Arabs today rejected a proposal of the United Nations mediator to declare Jerusalem an open city. Fawzi Mulki Pasha, Foreign Minister of Trans-Jordan, told newspaper men that the Arab League replied to Count Folke Bernadotte that if Jerusalem was declared an open city, Arab troops would be asked to evacuate positions they conquered there last month. He said this would be in contradiction of the cease fire terms.

Scour Atlantic For 3 'Forts'; Sight Wreckage

PARIS, June 16 (AP).—Search planes and ships scoured the Atlantic today in an effort to solve the mysterious disappearance of three flying fortress planes privately owned and headed for Palestine.

One search plane out of Santa Maria, the Azores, reported, spotting floating debris. The Portuguese destroyer Lima sped to the area.

The planes, their nationality unidentified officially, were reported to have disappeared Tuesday on a flight from the Azores to Corsica. A dispatch from Lisbon, Portugal, said all three were reported headed to Palestine with crews of Jews.

Santa Maria sources said it was believed two of the three planes might have continued safely on their trip.

The French Air Ministry ordered planes and ships of its Mediterranean rescue service into the search, and craft put out from French, Moroccan, Corsican, Tunisian and Algerian ports.

The planes were last heard from Monday when one reported an engine failure. The three had left Santa Maria a short time earlier.

House Passes CNR Expenditure

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP).—The Commons today passed with two amendments Finance Minister Abbott's bill authorizing Canadian National Railway financing of $101,679,200 new capital expenditure.

The bill provides that $15,882,200 is to be met from reserves which the line has available and the remainder may be raised by issuing notes or bonds.

The amendments to the bill limit to a year the finance minister's power to make temporary advances to the CNR.

The expenditures which the bill authorizes the CNR to finance are $20,250,000 for additions and improvements; $59,000,000 for new equipment; $1,440,000 for a branch line at Barre; $1,007,200 for the acquisition of securities and the retirement of capital obligations; and $30,000,000 additional working capital.

Isley Protests Blueprints On Rights' Bill

OTTAWA, June 16.—(CP).—Problems which would arise from a bill of rights based on constitutional amendment are scheduled for a thorough airing today.

The Parliamentary committee on human rights and fundamental freedoms, continuing its study of requests for legislation guaranteeing civil rights, will hear from Justice Department experts.

Justice Minister Isley warned Tuesday of the "implications" of changing the British North America Act, the Dominion's constitution.

Mr. Isley stressed that the first requirement in connection with a B.N.A. Act amendment is to determine whether Parliament may legally make changes.

He said suggestions submitted by the Committee for a Bill of Rights did not list "implied restrictions" and "consequences."

He said that the Canadian Parliament "ceases to be supreme the minute this goes into the constitution."

Earlier Tuesday the committee read briefs by the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and a group of 16 Chinese organizations.

The C.D.N.A., taking the stand that basic freedoms are "insecure" in Canada, asked for a law guaranteeing freedom of the press.

The Chinese brief appealed for "fair play and equal treatment" for the 35,000 Chinese in the Dominion.

The Chinese groups asked particularly for repeal of a law requiring Chinese men to be naturalized citizens before their families may join them in Canada.

They also listed certain British Columbia laws which "clearly discriminate against the Chinese as a race."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 16 (CP).—The livestock market here today is slow and sales are too few to establish prices. Current bids are 50 cents to $1 lower and a few common stockers are selling at $13.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Marketing Service are: cattle 300; calves 235; hogs 250; sheep and lambs 123. Buyers are apparently waiting for prices to slide down from peaks established in the last few weeks and there is a holdover of 1,050 cattle from yesterday's trading.

Calves remain strong at $21-$23.50 with plain lightweights down to $13. Hogs are up 25 cents with grade A at $30.50 and grade B at $30.10. Sows are $21 dressed. Spring lambs are steady at $25.

WAGNAP GRAIN
WINNIPEG, June 16.—(CP).—The future months in oats and barley were weaker in light early dealings on Winnipeg grain exchange today, declining sharply under hedging pressure and local and commission house selling.

Subsequent trading, however, brought out a good partial rally. Prices:

Instal 70 Water Heaters Total In City Now 3,767

The city's electric power peak for May, 22,800 h.p., was at the same level a year ago. Kilowatt hours for the month, delivered from the substations, were down by 10 per cent. less than April, 1948. This is probably the effect of daylight saving. R. L. Dobbin reported to the Utilities Commission Tuesday.

Circuits on Braidwood Ave. from Park St. to Monaghan Rd. were built; 23 new street lights were erected in accordance with the City Council's scheme; 98 new 3-wire and 20 2-wire services were placed. In the rural district seven miles of line were built, and 13 miles of 6,000-volt lines were changed to 8,000 volt.

Seventy new privately owned water heaters were connected during the month. Total number of heaters now in use is 3,767, with a total load of 2,900 h.p.

Waterworks Dept.
Pumpage for May was 117,410,000 gallons as compared with 111,004,000 gals in May, 1947.

The increase per day over the corresponding month of May, 1947, was 200,000 gallons. Towards the end of the month the daily pumpage increased greatly. On May 31st we pumped 4,825,000 gallons which was one million greater than the average for the month.

This increase was no doubt due to the decrease in rainfall, which was 3.07 inches as compared with 3.30 inches in 1947.

During the month 960 feet of 8-inch water main and 625 feet of 10-inch main were laid on Monaghan Road, connecting up existing mains from Edison Avenue to Arden Avenue.

430 feet of 6 inch main were laid on Rose Avenue, and 1848 feet on Braidwood Avenue.

Five new fire hydrants were connected to these mains.

33 new water services were laid, mostly in connection with these new mains.

Gas Department
Gas made for the month amounted to 7,802,000 cubic feet, which was only 269,000 more than last May.

It is difficult to account for this small increase, which is very much lower than we have been experiencing. May of 1947 was much hotter than this year, which may have had an effect on the domestic use of gas.

Two new gas services were laid. Work on the new propane plant was continued during the month. The unloading compressor and the piping to the storage tanks were completed and tested, also part of the piping to the mixer.

The machinery in the mixing room was partly set up, but could not be completed because some materials are short.

It is expected that delivery of liquid propane will start about the 11th of June, and operation of the plant at the end of June.

United Church Building Starts

Excavation began on Tuesday on the site of a new church to be built in the south-end of the city.

The church is to be built at the corner of Monaghan Road and Howden Avenue, and has been made possible through the generosity of the Hon. G. N. Gordon, who donated the site of the Home Mission Board of the United Church.

It is to be a more or less temporary church, to be used while a congregation is being formed, and until the congregation can build a permanent building, but will have accommodation for about two hundred people. It is expected that the church will be finished about the middle of the summer.

The work is being done under the authority of the Peterborough and the backing of the Home Mission Board of the United Church. Rev. M. J. Aiken, of St. Andrew's Church, is chairman of the committee formed to build the church.

Ignore Order
JERUSALEM, June 16.—(AP).—The Stern group commander in Jerusalem said the group does not recognize the cease fire in Palestine. He spoke of territorial ambitions in Trans-Jordan, which he asserted is part of Jerusalem.

The Sternists, who call themselves fighters for the freedom of Israel, consider themselves free to act according to their own decisions, he said.

The commander calls himself "Mister Shapiro." He once was chief-of-staff to Abraham Stern, founder of the faction.

"Every cease fire is pure fiction," Shapiro said. "We do not recognize the cease fire in any case, and especially since the Arabs have broken this, we are free to act according to our own decisions."

Premier David Ben-Gurion warned all Jewish factions Friday, the day the armistice took effect, that Israel would tolerate no break in the truce.

Business Plans More Courses

By The Canadian Press

Part of the present movement by business to interpret itself to the public is described by Henry L. Gassard, director of education of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada in a report to the associations current annual meeting at Manoir Richelieu, Que. It was put in motion only during the last year and to date has consisted chiefly of a correspondence course in the essentials of the investment business which was taken by more than 300 employees of member firms.

This now will be followed by more advanced courses, and consideration is being given to making all courses available to employees of banks, life insurance and trust companies and possibly to the general public.

Further, as stated in Mr. Gassard's report: "It is reasonable to expect that two years hence our program will be complete and that we will be in a position to approach Canadian Universities with a view to their making use of the material which we have developed."

Refuse To Load Yugoslav Ship

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP).—Cargo for a Yugoslav vessel, which Longshoremen refused to load after they found portraits of Prime Minister Stalin and Marshal Tito on the ship, remained on a Brooklyn pier today.

The 10,000-ton passenger-cargo ship, the Radnik, originally was scheduled to sail at noon today with a cargo including food, automobiles, trucks, jeeps and ambulances.

Sixty-three dock hands, members of the International Longshoremen's Union (AFL), quit loading the ship Tuesday after they found hammer-and-sickle insignia and Tito and Stalin pictures adorning the walls of the ship's main lounge.

"We loaded the Jap ships before the war and you remember how they threw the stuff back at our kids," said Salvatore Camarda, a delegate of Local 37. "I say we must not make the same mistake again."

Treat Cancer With Iodine

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Lewis L. Strauss, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, reported today that a new technique for using radio-active iodine to treat cancer, "holds out hope" for curing the disease.

Strauss said he had been advised of the development by Dr. Cornelius Rhoads, director of the Sloan-Kettering Institute of Memorial Hospital in New York City.

Asked by reporters if the new technique holds out promise for the cure of cancer, Strauss replied that it "holds out hope."

Strauss first made the disclosure before a Senate appropriations sub-committee. The group is studying requests of the commission for a restoration of House cuts in AEC appropriations for the 1949 fiscal year, starting July 1. He later elaborated on his testimony to reporters.

Radio-active iodine has been used successfully, Strauss said, in the treatment of thyroid cancer. Because of iodine's affinity for the thyroid, he explained, it has not been possible before to use it successfully to check cancer in other parts of the body.

Strauss said the new technique developed at Sloan-Kettering in the last few days from research financed by AEC funds deals with this.

It indicates, he said, that a means of concentrating any required amount of radio-active iodine 131 in any desired amount in any tissue or organ of the body probably has been discovered.

He said that Dr. Rhoads had reported that the method is still complex, but seems to work. The doctor added that while the results are wholly preliminary, they are impressive.

Radio-active iodine may be administered either orally or by injection. It offers, Strauss said, a non-surgical treatment for a deep-seated lesion without damage to surrounding tissue. Once the radio-active iodine is concentrated in an infected part of the body, its radiation immediately attacks and destroys the malignant tissue.

Wm. Lucas, 84 Repairs Roof

LINDSAY, June 16. (ENS).—Years seem to rest lightly on the shoulders of some men in Haliburton County.

Mr. William Lucas, the first white child born in Haliburton 84 years ago, has spent the last few days painting and repairing the roof of his house, a two-story building. Bill, as he is known to his friends, keeps his building in the best of repair and does all the outside work himself. Not long ago he took on the job of painting all the benches that are at the edge of Memorial Park.

Another Haliburton gentleman, Mr. David Anderson, 93, cast his ballot on the recent election day. Mr. Anderson has not missed voting in a great number of years and still takes an active interest in the political discussions in the northern village.

Gasoline Sale Bylaw

In a letter elsewhere on this page Mr. R. F. McWilliams presents the other side of the question relating to the proposed bylaw which would limit the hours of gasoline sale in this city. We appreciate the courtesy with which he has done this, but we are not convinced that the bylaw would not be an unjust limitation of personal liberty. We are not, as Mr. McWilliams suggests, conducting a campaign "to force the industries of our nation to keep their wheels turning 24 hours a day": we are conducting a campaign to preserve the liberty of independent men to open and shut their businesses in any "eccentric manner" they please. Nor need Mr. McWilliams fear a 12-hour day and a 72-hour week for anyone except people who choose to work that long; there are adequate laws which protect workers from exploitation, but independent owners of businesses are surely free to work as hard as they choose?

The passing of the bylaw cannot close several garages in Peterborough which have been giving 24-hour service for some time. But "24-hour service" in this instance means the retention at all times of a qualified mechanic; if Mr. Russell has not been complying with this regulation the bylaw will affect him strongly. But if the other garage operators want Mr. Russell to bring his service up to a higher standard could they not have done so without asking for another bylaw to clutter our already overloaded books? And would the garage operators who will continue 24-hour service have signed the petition if they had been affected? We think that the nub of Mr. McWilliams' letter lies in his suggestion that the bylaw will make night service a paying business for all garages at some time or other, and that Mr. Russell must oblige his fellow gasoline salesmen. Will all the garages which give night service in rotation, may we ask, also have a qualified mechanic on the staff as they do so?

Our principal point in this discussion is that the passing of this bylaw is another local matter in which the provincial government has interfered. Year by year, the rights of municipalities to decide on local matters has been nibbled away by Queen's Park, and we object very strongly to anything which makes a local government into a rubber stamp. The Council may be compelled to pass this bylaw, as matters stand, though this remains to be seen; but we think that there is an excellent chance that, if there were no pressure from above, the Council would refuse to make a bylaw of what should be a rule of a trade association, binding upon the willing members of that association, and nothing more.

A Truce For Peace

A four-weeks' armistice in Palestine is now in uneasy effect. Count Folke Bernadotte, the U.N. mediator, is hopeful that before July 9th when the truce is scheduled to end, terms can be reached which will translate the truce into a peace settlement.

U.N. has not had notable success in maintaining or restoring peace in troubled areas. There has been one triumph of negotiation over the force of arms—in Indonesia. After treaties had been broken, a Dutch military campaign and a variety of parleys, peace has been achieved in Indonesia. This came about after the Dutch imperial forces had consolidated their advanced positions and shown their superiority in arms—as the Israeli forces have done in recent weeks—and the peace terms took this into account.

The situation in Palestine is not parallel nor is American mediation as confident and impressive as in Indonesia. Nevertheless, there is some hope that weighty and secret negotiation on the island of Rhodes may, as on the American battleship in Indonesian waters, result in a settlement. The force of the results of the last month of fighting in Palestine may convince the Arabs that their demands must be lessened, and the big powers that the time has come to impose peace.

King Gustavus Is Ninety

This is the ninetieth birthday of King Gustavus V of Sweden, one of the most popular and secure of living monarchs. His great popularity with his people is founded first of all upon his accessibility to them, his obvious concern for their welfare and his wealth of political experience. He is admired also as a great sportsman, and is certainly one of the outstanding examples of a healthy old age which has been the result of an active outdoor life. And King Gustavus is loved in Sweden because by his marriage with Victoria of Baden he united the Bernadotte dynasty (of which he is the oldest) with the line of Gustavus Vasa, the sixteenth century Swedish monarch who released his country from the domination of the Danes.

In Sweden, and in the person of King Gustavus, we see a flat contradiction of the theory that a monarchy must invariably be an impediment to social progress. Sweden is one of the most advanced countries, politically, in the world. Its progress toward that proud position has been rapid, but never impetuous, and in the forming of modern Sweden the monarchy has acted not as a brake, but as a ballast. Political thinkers who brush monarchies aside as outworn would do well to look at Sweden. Its monarchy has served it well, and the congratulations which are offered to the Swedish King today are heartfelt, for he is a living symbol of his country's aspirations.

Do We Learn From History?

After the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia several months ago, President Benes remained in office, probably hoping, against the evidence of history, to be able still to have a liberal influence, still to effect a working compromise between totalitarianism and democratic practice. His high position in the country and the hearts of the people did not avail against Gottwald. When he refused to sign the new communist constitution, he had to resign—beaten. The liberals in Czechoslovakia were beaten two years ago when they tried to deal politically with both Russia and the West. Totalitarianism brooks no opposition. That is the evidence of history.

When Mussolini came to power with a small group of fascists in 1922, some Italian liberals accepted cabinet office under him. They were soon liquidated. When Hitler came to power in 1933, some liberals gave him qualified support. They were got rid of when it suited Hitler's convenience. The last German in high political position who was not a Nazi was Chancellor Hindenburg — no liberal. Even he had to toe the Nazi line, and on his death Hitler took his office, as Gottwald has now taken Benes' office. History has its lessons, but we learn them a hard way.

A Canadian Cartoonist

Like thousands of other Canadians, we were grieved to learn of the death of Jimmy Frise. For years we kept an eye on Birdseye Centre and Juniper Junction, and we enjoyed them because they were funny, and also because they were Canadian. Our country has had some admirable comic artists, but never a wealth of them, and some of the best have turned their talent to political comment. Political cartoons are splendid things, and we wish that Canada produced more of them, but inevitably a political cartoon must be sharp, and occasionally bitter. Jimmy Frise stuck to his own interpretation of rural Canadian life, and there was never any trace of sharpness or bitterness in his fun.

Those who knew him personally admired him; those of us who did not have that pleasure enjoyed his work, and will hold him in affectionate remembrance.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We read that Marshal Stalin's biography will shortly be available in 54 languages. And will probably be a fiction best-seller in all of them.

A Detroit baker not only makes wedding cakes but also divorce cakes. The latter, we presume, are so rich that they fall apart as soon as you touch them.

A waiter says that children should be taught the proper use of the telephone. Beginning with the lesson that when an adult has glared at them three times, they should hang up.

A Texas packer says that people can easily mistake horsemeat for beef. Let's hope that does not mean a hoist in the price of horsemeat. If it does, we're joining Nebuchadnezzar in the back forty.

The Telescope At Palomar

By H. B. NICHOLS
In The Christian Science Monitor

WHEN Harvard's giant 15-inch refractor was dedicated 100 years ago, it had to share honors with Russia on the distinction of being "the world's largest telescope." But when American astronomers of today dedicated the great 200-inch Hale Reflector on Mt. Palomar there was indeed no rival anywhere.

It was 31 years ago while he was putting the 100-inch Mt. Wilson telescope into service, that the late Dr. George E. Hale stopped toying with the idea of building a 200 or 300-inch instrument, and began to lay plans for the larger scope.

That it is today a reality and no longer merely an idea or a blueprint, is a tribute not only to him but to the myriad of technicians with most unusual engineering problems to solve, and the Rockefeller Foundation which provided the funds.

CERTAINLY if any man ever dreamed big dreams, it was Dr. Hale, one of the great natural scientists the United States has yet produced. While Director of the observatory which he had persuaded C. T. Yerkes to buy for the University of Chicago, and Director of the one he had begged Carnegie Institution of Washington to erect on Mt. Wilson, he still had time to build a spectroheliograph, administer the California Institute of Technology which he founded, as well as to start the work on America's No. 1 Observatory.

THE question probably foremost in everyone's thinking at this point is—"Now astronomers have their Giant Celestial Penetrator, what are they going to do with it?"

Certainly there is no dearth of work cut out for it. Now that the celebrations and speeches are over and visitors have settled down to less distinguished members of the general public who will be satisfied with a glimpse from the visitor's gallery, an already tight observing schedule will go ahead without interference. Since professional astronomers everywhere with a need to use the instrument will not be denied access, the big problem now for those doubling in brass as staff astronomers at both Mt. Wilson and Mt. Palomar will be to decide who shall come first.

CONTRARY to general public opinion, those astronomers who have had the first chance to use the new giant, did not see, nor did they expect to see, any spectacular or supercolossal displays of celestial grandeur. Planets, moons, comets, and other bodies within our sun's tiny corner of the cosmos would naturally appear brighter and clearer, and there would be more stars visible than with any other instrument. But these are still mere pinpoints of light. Even the largest stars never show up as disks like the sun, moon, and planets.

FAINT stars that can just barely be discerned with the Hale Telescope may be new stars never seen before by mankind, but then again, to make sure, the observers must consult star catalogues to find out. Perhaps after a few weeks of observing photographically, it will become apparent that this new instrument shows there are fewer stars and galaxies between 500,000,000 and 1,000,000,000 light years away.

Perhaps proof will be found right away that some other phenomenon is responsible for the shift toward the red end of the spectrum which light from distant stars exhibits, in which case Sir James Jeans' "Expanding Universe" theory will be knocked to pieces.

PERHAPS early plates will show definitely that many distant, dim stars appearing in the eastern sky are really in the western, and that their light has gone clear around through Einstein's "Curved Space" to come from the opposite direction.

Perhaps somewhere among the nearer stars will be found one or two with planetary systems like ours. We may conjecture right away that living things dwell there comparable to plant and animal life on earth, reviving again the theory that life on earth began when some "cosmic spark" arrived here from elsewhere in space.

BUT it is much more probable that professional astronomers will study their plates and spectroscopic results (for the Hale telescope is really just a telescopic lens system for the world's finest camera), and after lengthy thought and much mathematical calculations the true importance of what they see will become apparent.

When that day comes, the public will doubtless know the essentials as quickly as the world of natural science, for the number of writers able to read technical reports and interpret them for the public is fast increasing. There are also more journals willing to publish such stories.

And since the birth of the atom bomb, researchers, themselves, have taken more interest in presenting their own ideas in popular vein so that thinking people can understand.

SO, while you and I may never take a peek at the glories of the celestial sphere through the Hale Telescope, we will not be denied the knowledge of what those men who devote their lives to what observations find out. Even Congress appreciates what Dr. Raymond Fosdick called "the healing perspective of astronomy" when it passed a special act banning all mining activities within three miles of the observatory, so as not to spoil with even a thin fog of dust, the seeing ability of that "Pampered Pet of Palomar."

TOO BAD

After the parliamentary candidate's first meeting two of his supporters were discussing the impression he had made.

"There's one point," said one doubtfully, "do you think he put enough fire into his speech?"

"Oh, yes," replied the other, "the trouble was that he didn't put enough of his speech into the fire."

"THERE'S NONE SO BLIND..."

Letters To The Editor

THE HON. G. N. GORDON AND THE C.C.F.

Sir: I was very interested in Mr. G. N. Gordon's letter of June 12th and I wish to go into the different angles as mentioned. Mr. Gordon and I have on occasions made reference to each other's quotations, but, not as is too often the case, destructive criticism. Ours is more of a friendliness, to reach our purpose. I have a question to ask Mr. Gordon and it is just as pointed as the one asked of our Saviour, "Lord what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

Mr. Gordon or anyone else can ask a question to myself or any other member of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. What must I do to become an active member of our present day Reform Party?

The interview he had with the supposed to be Toronto Liberals and the decidedly Conservatives, must have been interesting but rather unexpected in their answer, when they soon asked the question if they had given any study to the matter of a social or economic character, to be answered in the affirmative.

This need not surprise Mr. Gordon or anyone as there are thousands who have not done so, but the surprise to those holding membership cards in the C.C.F. have not by men of the calibre of Mr. Gordon ever asked the question, What must I do to get a membership card?

The Gallup Poll or anything similar will not hasten the reform, as it is active members who are required. It is at least being shown that the younger people are seriously talking to the elderly people and in cases I actually know about, sons and daughters tried to persuade parents to vote with us and were unsuccessful, but worked for our reform and in some cases gave up their wages to do so. Older people can and are being taught advanced legislation as they are not like the old saying, You cannot teach old dogs new tricks. The C.C.F. are not up to new tricks, they have a platform which is not changed to get support of the unsuspicious electorate. Yes, the Union Government was a terrible mistake and now the Grits and Tories, in order to defeat the C.C.F. are forming coalition and will try to form a government. Shades of Hades, deliver us from this.

Mr. Gordon as you state the Spirit of Reform is in the air why not only yourself but get your friends to ask the question?

If more people had asked the question they would have crammed the life of Communism in the C.C.F. down the throats of those who uttered the lie.

It is as hard for Communists to get a membership as it is for a camel to enter the eye of the needle, in fact harder, as they cannot get in on bended knees. Our C.C.F. is a Reform Movement, a straight business and justifiable movement, for all the people.

MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

THE GASOLINE SALE BYLAW

Sir: In answer to your editorial of June 9th, 1948 in which you have voiced your sympathy for the cause of Mr. John A. Russell, an independent gasoline station owner in this city, I am also an independent gasoline station owner and would appreciate the public knowing my side of the story.

You state there is no reason why an association should force their desires on others. May I point out that in no way is any association connected with this by-law? A petition was drawn up by individuals interested in holding their working hours down to a 12 hour day and 72 hour week so that they might have a chance to live like other human beings. This petition was circulated to all garage operators and 42 out of 48 city operators signed it of their own free will. Does that sound like an association forcing anyone to do anything?

You state that a gasoline station should be open to give emergency service. The by-law in question would in no way hinder Mr. Russell from giving 24 hour road service, or any others who have been giving 24 hour road service for the protection of the public. And in this respect, there is a very active law forbidding anyone, other than an "A" licensed mechanic performing any mechanical repairs; another law limits mechanic's working hours to 48 hours per week; still another obstacle is that no automatic supply house or automotive parts department is open past six o'clock, for procuring parts.

Your defence of Mr. Russell's rights to work as hard as he likes is most understandable. Anyone who would try to take that from a man would certainly be open for your severest criticisms: but why, in your defence to work when he likes, do you single out garage operators as the blackguards? You should start with the Dominion Government, and down through the Provincial Government, and on into the Municipalities. A campaign such as yours to force the industries of our nation to keep their wheels turning 24 hours a day, might not please the majority of working men, but would be sure to please as many in proportion as it does garage operators. Our local factories, merchants, druggists, doctors, dentists, machine shops, hotels, restaurants, transportation people, dairies, bakeries, newspapers, anything you care to name have either local or provincial or Dominion or individual regulations governing their services.

You try to influence the city council's decision in your editorial by saying they have far too much good sense to allow a trade association to present this petition and have it passed. The effort you must have put into your investigation prior to this statement must have been a mighty one. The subject has been kicked around by the government for many years, and investigated more thoroughly and by smarter men than you or I, and it may interest you to know that it is the job of the council to investigate our application and pass it if found satisfactory, and the decision as to whether it is wanted or not is left in the hands of the operators, where it belongs.

To do justice to this letter I am also going to endeavour to answer some of the misleading remarks of Mr. Russell's letter, which you printed and based your editorial on.

First, it is not certain garage operators who are after this petition, but it is over 85 per cent of the operators who have signed a petition. Next, our tourists will not be stranded in the city since all operators will take turns staying open evenings and Sundays so that at least six outlets will be open. Also the country operators will not get thousands of Peterborough dollars, because they are not open all night any more than we want to be; very few people travel all night, and those who will fill up their tanks before attempting it, as they cannot get it in the United States at such an hour and as a result are used to making their plans accordingly.

Mr. Russell says he got no helping hand from the established operators to build his station and business. I was not aware that it was the practice of business men to help competitors build a new place of business, but if such is the case I should feel badly also since not a finger was lifted to assist me either. They talked about me, also, and I capitalized on it as good free advertising and am doing fine so far: and if flying aircraft for the R.C.A.F. taught me anything about the garage business outside of initiative, common sense and good manners, then I have applied it unknowingly to my business. Mr. Russell states jealousy has prompted the action of the garage operators, and recently he singled me out before an audience of about a thousand people to throw abuses and bad language at. As I calmly stated then and repeat now, I am on opposite highways to him and from a financial standpoint did not know he was in business. If I were in his immediate district I might feel it, the same as a merchant down town, if one were allowed to stay open and not the others. In fact the only sensible thing that I agree on with Mr. Russell is that he has a large family, and one he can be justly proud of. However, this family is growing up

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me, with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men; therefore behold, I will proceed to do marvelous work among his people, even marvelous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

Surely your turning of things upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay for shall the work say of him that made it. He made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, He had no understanding? (Isa. 29: 13, 14, 15.)

Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world? For ye say your calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called; but God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not to bring to nought things that are: that no flesh should glory in his presence. (I Cor. 1: 20, 26-29.)

Unconsidered Trifles

An English paper publishes this advertisement:

"For sale: Baker's business; good trade; large oven; present owner been in for seven years; good reasons for leaving."

The lecturer was emphasizing the demoralizing effect of divorce.

"Love," he said, "is a quest; a proposal, a request; the giving of a daughter in marriage, a bequest; and marriage itself the conquest. But what is divorce?"

Voice from the audience: "The inquest."

Two boys going round the exhibits in the British Museum stopped in front of a mummy to which was attached a card: B.C. 1500.

"That puzzles me," said one of the boys.

"What does it mean?"

"Don't show your ignorance," replied the other, "that's the number of the car that run him down."

A Guardsman got separated from his unit in one of the worst parts of Tunisia. For days he wandered about without food or drink. In the end he found a British military post and tottered to it.

"Water?" he gasped. "Water!"

It was brought and he proceeded to blanco his belt!

An old actor was playing "Othello" when he was struck on the head by a melon.

"Dear me!" he said, "what strange forms applause sometimes takes!"

and soon will have wives, husbands, and grandchildren, then will they all be able to live from the same station, or will longer hours and more pay begin to show Mr. Russell the follies of his proposal. By the sounds of Mr. Russell's letter you would think he was the only garage operator in Peterborough who paid taxes, bought in Peterborough, or did an honest day's work. I would suggest he look around and see if maybe the other 48 outlets may not be in the same category.

As for the statement of what have some of them to lose operating company owned stations. In defence of these operators I will say they have a lot at stake in this issue also, and if the gasoline companies who own them thought they could sell enough to cover expenses by having them all open 24 hours a day, they would all be open: if this happened I think Mr. Russell would make less than he would if he took his turn as the by-law recommends. Six stations per evening can make it pay, and give good service, but 48 cannot.

If the motoring public are so much up in arms about our service to them, it is news to me. None of my customers, and I have my share, have complained. Every station will be open from seven in the morning till seven at night; at least six stations will be open until ten every night; and at least six stations will be open every Sunday. Compared to any other retail or wholesale business in town, I call it good service to the public we serve.

Thanking you for the same unprejudiced consideration to my letter, I am,

Yours very truly,

R. F. McWilliams.

Movie Tourists Find Europe Star Attraction

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 16 (AP).—The No. 1 destination for Hollywood tourists is now taking over as Europe's star attraction.

There are good reasons for the migration: 1. Many stars are making films there. 2. European countries are encouraging noted visitors.

Among those now in Europe or heading there this summer are: Cary Grant, Ronald Colman, Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, Clark Gable, Tyrone Power, Mary Pickford, Buddy Rogers, Sonja Henie, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Fredric March, Louis Hayward, Hedy Lamarr, Orson Welles, Maria Montez, Jean Pierre Aumont, David Niven, Rex Harrison, Lilli Palmer, Charles Boyer, Jack Benny, Alice Faye, Phil Harris, Edgar Bergen, Tony Martin.

New Productions

John Wayne, who plans a film based on the life of Davy Crockett, has been beaten to the punch by Edward Small. The producer is now shooting "Indian Scout" in the heat of the Mojave Desert. It stars George Montgomery as the legendary Texan. John Garfield is quietly planning a revival of "Peer Gynt" for his Broadway appearance next season.

Ten Years Ago

Let's take a stroll down Nostalgia Alley and find what was going on in the movie world 10 years ago this week. . . . MGM announced it would make a movie out of Dale Carnegie's best-seller "How to Win Friends and Influence People" (whatever happened to it?) . . .

The Hays office snipped anti-Nazi scenes of "Three Comrades" but "Blockade" dealt realistically with the Spanish Civil War. . . . A Cody, who, theatre advertised "Seven Features—Can You Take It?" . . .

Rudolph Valentino films were being revived. . . . Charlie Chaplin was battling with United Artists (he still is) . . .

The country's box-office was slumping and companies were moving out re-issues to make money (sound familiar?) . . .

Ex-Convict Killed

DETROIT, June 16 — (CP) — A 35-year-old ex-convict was shot and killed in a fight with an off-duty policeman in downtown Detroit early today as he attempted to escape arrest after an auto accident. The dead man was identified from papers on his person as Frederick J. Perchard of Alpena, Mich. Patrolman John Ritchie caught Perchard after a two-block chase. Ritchie told superior officers that his gun accidentally discharged as Perchard attempted to wrest it from him.

WINS FATHER AWARD—Sir Ernest MacMillan, conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, won the First Annual Canadian Father's Award as "Father of the Year." He was cited as—"Being a typical father . . . and for outstanding contribution to musical culture amongst Canadian children." Here is a typical scene in his studio, chatting with two young Conservatory members, Lindsay Banack and Eleanor Valensky.

Ice Cream Free At Church Picnic

Cool, cloudy weather didn't spoil the fun at Wallace's Point Saturday, when Murray St. Baptist church held its annual Sunday School picnic. Races of all kinds were the order of the day and were run off by Jack Arnott and Frank Ephgrave. Hazel Arnott, Martha Tice and Reta Ephgrave were the official prize givers. Later a delicious supper was served by the Others Class and not the least attraction was the free ice cream given out by the Young Married Couples group. And no picnic is complete without the softball game which was looked after by Ted Naish.

Ask Jamblyn's
Travelling Dogs: "We are going to New York state next month and want to take our dog. Does he need a passport?"
No passport needed for Rover. But he does need a Certificate of Health from your veterinarian.
Spinnach: "What is the quickest way to get the sand out of spinnach?"
Wash it in the hottest water you have. This loosens the sand quickly and efficiently. Shake the spinnach and cook without any additional water. Place in a heavy saucepan with a close fitting lid.
Asthma: "I am such a victim of asthma that my life here is unbearable. Can I move to the States? Where should I go? Will the authorities allow me to take out enough money to live?"
Say the experts, the state for you is Arizona. Get your Doctor's Certificate and you will have no trouble getting permission to leave or enough money to keep you there till you have recovered. You must go to the American Consul, 202 Bay Street, Toronto, and then to your bank in order to complete the necessary forms.
Foot Clinic: "My little boy (7) has flat feet and toes in badly. Before he starts to school I want his feet fixed. Can you tell me where to take him?"
If you write to the Out Patients' Department of the Sick Children's Hospital for an appointment, they will give your son a thorough check over. Doctors in charge will advise you where to go and what to do.
Flaky Pie Paste: "Please send me a recipe for flaky, tender pie crust. My pies are dead while and I don't like the look of them."
A good pastry crust has already gone forward to you. It's easy to make, too. Bake your pie in a 400 degree F. oven. That will brown the crust. Brush with cream or milk just before taking from the oven. That will give you the crust you like, flaky, shining and golden brown.
Birth Control Clinic: "Is there an official birth control clinic in Toronto?"
No, there is no official clinic of this sort.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Who will represent our club in provincial playoffs for District No. 14 in singles, doubles and rinks? We don't know, but here's how we're going to find out. Any one of the members who care to enter in any of these competitions, send your entry, in writing, to the secretary of the games committee, on or before June 30th. Should there be more than one entry in any one or all of the competitions, a series of games will be arranged to determine winners.

There is still time to make your entry in the Tip Top Tailor competition.

The onlookers stayed around last evening and then slipped away home. It was just too chilly to be sitting around.

Here's hoping that it warms up a little for the holiday tournaments.

Combines Win By 2 to 0 From Knights

The R-E Combines blanked Knights 2-0 in a snappy men's softball scrap before a fair crowd at the Bowl last night to keep ahead in the keen race and drop Knights a bit in the cellar. They got the only runs of the game right in the first frame on singles by Leather and Crowe, with Blewett's double. After that it was a tight tilt, though only five of the losers got on base throughout as Don Akers twisted three-hit ball and fanned six in a swell sab performance. Both sides shone afield with but one error each. Woods threw fair ball, keeping the hits scattered generally.

Conlin led the victors at bat with three hits in four appearances. Blewett and Crowe each collected three in five tries, including a double apiece, and Pryde got two in five. Willshaw, Wade and Tompkins got the lone hits for the losers. But the Knights supplied the fielding features, as they played heads-up ball, with catches by Willshaw, Tompkins and Wade. The fray lasted just an hour.

Locos Beat Batawa In A COBL Contest

Petes	4	4	0
Oshawa	4	1	3
Kingston	4	1	3
Batawa	6	3	3

Kingston Locos broke into the victory column last night in Belleville when they defeated the Batawa Shoemen 5-3 and climb up on even terms with Oshawa. Jack Stone scattered seven hits while the Locos touched Sheehan and Muffit for nine bingles. A three-run drive on four hits in the fifth clinched matters. Muffit got a triple in this game while Kerejuk, Conner and Mulholland each got doubles for the winners.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

If the weather is okay tonight, a big crowd will trek over the Hunter St. span to see the COBL fixture at 6:30 in Riverside. Oshawa Merchants in their first showing here against the league-leading Petes? It ought to be quite a ball game and will catch those fans who have to work Saturday afternoons, thereby missing most of the Central League contests in this city. Oshawa may throw Tony Romaniski against his old teammates—Red Jubenville and Fred Bidgood are also with them—while Ed Murphy has Doug Loucks all ready and set for the home slab. Yes, it might be quite a battle.

The COBL schedule is approaching the one-third mark and we'll soon have to compile the batting averages up to date. Kingston were listed to play Batawa under the Belleville bulbs last night, while this week-end sees the Shoemen playing here, and Kingston have a twin bill in the Motor City. The schedule goes till the middle of August before the playoffs get underway. The Oshawa scribe fears the Petes may make a runaway race of it and possibly Kingston will fold, but things will even up as the race proceeds. We'll drop our share and the others in turn will take triumphs. At that, the locals have been getting both the hurling and hitting so far.

Player Talks Back

We liked this item—showing other places have umps' squabbles, too—from Kitchener re an argument between player Slota and an ump by the name of Buck: "The exchange grew quite hot and Buck finally blew up when Slota told him he was through as an umpire five years ago. 'You're out of the game,' roared Buck. 'I'm wrong,' Slota shot back, 'you were through 10 years ago.' 'Get out of the park,' spluttered Buck. 'No, it wasn't 10 years ago, it was 15,' said the persistent Slota. Buck didn't say anything more as he evidently realized he couldn't order him out of town."

Sacred Heart School is having a big field day on the church grounds this Saturday, starting at 10 a.m. Their first one and they have lined up a hefty program for boys and girls from six years of age up. Expect some 250 competitors and the executive of the Home and School Association expects to have done a good job. Sprints, novelty races, relays, ball-throwing, jumping and all the rest which makes for a keen track and field meet. The program is much too lengthy to mention here but there'll be lots of action for everyone. We'll run the results, too, if they're sent in.

Close And Snappy

Night after night, those men softballers at the Bowl are dishing up dandy duels. Close counts and snappy scraps. Last eve over there, Combines edged Knights 2-0 in one hour, while Comstock's jerked out a 5-3 nod over Legion in 55 minutes. That's good softball and shows a well-matched league. And fans were starting home at 9:30! At that, some of 'em left earlier as it got quite chilly during the second game. A tourist from Washington went back to his car to get a topcoat, remarking: "This is pretty cold for a ball game — it was 85 degrees when I left home!" But warm weather will arrive soon enough.

Combines won their tilt in the first frame and it was a nice go after that. Akers pitched lovely ball to earn the win and both sides, especially the Knights, fielded swell. Comstock's also had one big frame — for four runs — to take the other lout, with the pitching pretty even and the winners having a margin in fielding. In hitting, Conlin led Combines, none of the Knights got more than one, Withers, White and Dalton each had two in four for Legion, and McCarthy was best for Comstock's. The R-E crew now have six and three, Comstock's come next with five and four, Legion are third with four and five, while Knights have three and six. Same four clubs in action again there Thursday, Legion vs. Knights, and Combines vs. Comstock's.

About The Lassies

Girls' games at the Bowl tonight: Lock Co. vs. Westclox at seven, and Ashby's vs. CGE, while Woollens go to Lakefield. Friday sees Woollens playing Lock Co., Marines against Lindsay, with Westclox at Lakefield. And we're rapidly running out of schedule. Marines and Westclox are undefeated so far, Electrics are next, then Ashby's and Lindsay in a tie, while Lakefield, Lock Co. and Woollens still seek their first win. Saturday night at the Bowl has been left to the lassies, so there'll be an exhibition tilt at eight between a good Toronto girls' team and Outboard Marines.

GRAB-BAG: Big team wrestling bout at the Brock tonight has the Whip and McCready in against the Geon and the Mask. CGE and Legion have a soccer match tonight while Petes play Lindsay here tomorrow. In juvenile lacrosse, Scouts took Legion 6-4 as Queen's beat Comstock's 5-3. Bantam lacrosse twin bill starting at six tonight; a 6.15 midget melee tomorrow followed by Comstock's vs. Queen's juveniles. Sorry to hear of the death of Ed (Gunner) Whitehill's mother in Cedar Rapids. East City peewees practice at 6:30 Friday in the Oval. East midgets beat westend 8-1 last eve; north-south bantams go tonight at the Ex. and west-south midgets tomorrow in Riverside. Kingston beat Batawa 5-3 in a COBL fray last night. Prince of Wales won the senior and King Edward the junior Public School Softball League titles; our congrats to both. An Islington lady defeated Mrs. Al Clark 5 and 3 in Toronto golf play yesterday. That's all.

Comstocks Get 5-3 Verdict Against Legion

Comstock's edged Legionnaires 5-3 at the Bowl last night to take over second place in the City Softball League and drop Legion to third place. They rode home the winners on a four-run outburst in the second frame of a fine fixture, lasting just 55 minutes. Hits by Jaquith, Gordon, Thompson, McCarthy and Mackness did the damage in the second and they added an unearned run in the fifth. Legion clicked for one each in the third, fourth and sixth. Dalton and Gordon pitched on practically even terms and Comstock's had a little edge in fielding, with a catch by Griffin the best bit of defensive work shown.

McCarthy topped Comstock's at bat with two safe blows in three trips to the plate. Thompson got two in five tries. For the Legion, Withers, White and Dalton each batted out two singles in four trips, and Scrifer got a double—the only extra-base blow of the speedy struggle. It was quite chilly the last half of this game and some of the fans left early.

Champ In Action At Brock Tonight

It appears to be tonight-or never for the team of Whipper Watson and Earl McCready or the team of Masked Marvel and Jim 'Goon' Henry in the feature attraction at the Brock St. Arena. There'll be no time limit and a winner must be declared. Whipper Watson and Moose McCready Nick Viccarelli would appear to be definitely the stronger combination and if they win the mask must be removed from the face of the secretive grappler who has roused so much curiosity here.

Tiger Tasker, a newcomer here, from Boston, will try to demolish handsome Ben Sharpe who is looking more dashing than ever since his return from Texas.

In the opener Mike Futa will try to take Nick Viccarelli apart and see what makes the local boy tick.

It is expected that tonight's fracas will wind up the Spring wrestling season but before the lights go out there may be a few extra oversize explosions.

OH, WHAT A BEAUTIFUL MORNING—The sky was never bluer and never were the birds more in tune than they were on the morning of June 11 in New York. That is, as far as Tony Zale was concerned. Tony opened his big blue eyes to read a flock of congratulatory telegrams on his defeat of Rocky Graziano and the recovery of the middleweight crown he lost to Rocky. An underdog in the betting, 34-year-old Zale gave 25-year-old Graziano as decisive a trouncing as was ever administered to a champion and kayoed him in the third round.

Newhouse's 2-Hit Pitching Gives Tigers 4-1 Victory

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The inauguration of night baseball in Detroit proved a smashing success—thanks to the strong left arm of Hal Newhouse.

The Tiger southpaw, pitching the first home night game in Detroit history, gave added proof last night that he still is the best left hander in the American League when he twirled a two-hit 4-1 triumph over Philadelphia Athletics.

It was the seventh successive victory for Newhouse and the fifth in a row for the Tigers. Newhouse's record now is eight victories and four defeats. Only Cleveland's Bob Lemon, with nine victories, has won more games.

A near-capacity crowd of 54,480 saw the Tiger outfield provide victory for Newhouse and the fifth in a row for the Tigers. Newhouse's record now is eight victories and four defeats. Only Cleveland's Bob Lemon, with nine victories, has won more games.

Left fielder Dick Wakefield continued his terrific hitting since his return to the regular lineup by belting his third home run of the season. Right fielder Pat Mullin smashed his ninth four-bagger in the same eighth inning. Centerfielder Hoot Evers batted in the other two runs with a pair of singles. Both homers came off loser Joe Coleman who had beaten the Tigers three straight.

On Top

The Detroit victory narrowed the third-place New York Yankees' lead to two games. The Yankees were beaten by the White Sox 9-8 in an 11-inning thriller in Chicago.

Barney McCosky, traded by the Tigers to the Athletics back in 1945, apparently escaped severe injury when he crashed into the concrete wall while attempting to catch Wakefield's home run drive. McCosky was carried off the field on a stretcher in extreme pain. It was believed the left fielder suffered only a back bruise.

Boston Red Sox handed the Indians a 7-3 setback in a night game in Cleveland. The American League leaders, however, retained their three-game bulge over the runner-up A's.

Southpaw rookie Mel Parnell gained his second victory with a neat seven-hitter in outpitching Lemon.

Johnny Sain pitched Boston Braves into undisputed possession of the National League lead by defeating Chicago Cubs 6-3. Sain allowed six hits in chalking up his seventh victory.

Boston's victory, coupled with Pittsburgh's 2-0 triumph over the Giants in New York, enabled the Braves to break their first-place deadlock with the Giants. The Polo Grounders fell into a second-place tie with Pittsburgh.

Nip Phillies

The fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Phillies 2-1 in a night game in Philadelphia. The six-place Dodgers nipped Cincinnati Reds 5-4 in Brooklyn. Eddie Stanky paced Boston's 10-hit attack with two singles.

Forty-year-old Fritz Ostermuller limited the Giants to three singles. Clint Hartung allowed only four hits in eight innings, but two were made by Ralph Kiner and Frank Gustine, and each scored a run.

A throw by catcher Andy Seminick with second base uncovered on an attempted double steal uncovered Stan Musial to score from third in the eighth with the run that gave the Cardinals victory over the Phils.

The Yankees overcame a seven-run third inning by the White Sox to deadlock the game 8-8 in the eighth, but the Sox came back with a run in the last of the 11th to win.

Orioles Grab Doubleheader From Red Wings

By The Associated Press

The wolves, who have been hounding Manager Tommy Thoms and his Baltimore Orioles during most of the current International League season are relenting a bit today.

Thoms' last-place Orioles won their second double-header of the season last night, beating Rochester Red Wings 10-0 and 3-0.

Lefty Bob Kuzava stopped the Wings on five hits in the first game. It was Kuzava's third victory as against eight setbacks.

The Orioles collected 14 hits off Rochester's Ray Yochim and Ed Green including homers by Bill Martin, Al Chiochi and Bill Barnacle.

Lyman Linde, who like Kuzava is on option to the Orioles from Cleveland, gave up only one hit, Dick Cole's double in the fourth inning.

In Fifth Place

The twin setbacks dumped the Wings into fifth place, a half game behind Jersey City Giants, who dropped a 4-2 decision to the front-running Montreal Royals.

Southpaw Johnny Van Cuyk scattered nine hits in going the route for the Royals who collected only five hits off Sam Webb. Newark Bears defeated Buffalo Bisons, 7-4 to remain a game behind the Royals. Two-run doubles by Joe Collins and Jerry Coleman in the fourth and fifth innings decided the issue.

Syracuse's third-place Chiefs bowed 7-2 to the seventh place Maple Leafs.

Veteran Jim Konstanty limited

the Chiefs to five hits while his mates batted three Syracuse pitchers for 12, including Ed Sanicki's 11th homer of the season in the seventh inning.

P. of W. Seniors Take Title In School Loop

Prince of Wales won the senior championship of the Public School Softball League when they edged out King George 13-8 in the sudden-death final at the Bowl. King George had previously beaten King Edward and Prince of Wales had won from Central in the semi-final play-offs.

McConnachie of King George held Prince of Wales in check the first three innings with fine flinging. The West-enders went to work in the fourth and fifth to pile up a healthy lead and they coasted home. They got four in the fourth and nine in the fifth while the losers had scored four in the first, two next time up and one each in the fifth and seventh. A. Buott, B. Downer, and B. McIlmoyle starred at bat, while Bertrand, Withers, Deck and Cranfield supplied fielding features. The teams:

King George—Davis 1b, Barker 1b, Ferguson c, Galley 2b, McConnachie p, Withers 3b, B. McIlmoyle rf, H. McIlmoyle lf, Bertrand ss, Clapper cf.
Prince of Wales—Graham 1b, Smith 3b, Halliday p, Downer cf, Buott lf, Cranfield 2b, Holbrook c, Deck ss, Peacock rf, Cannon, Moffatt.

"Someday" comes closer with every dollar you save

Most of us have to plan for the good things of life. And a big part of that planning is a matter of dollars and cents—of earmarking a certain part of our earnings for the things we want most. It's not always easy, especially these days. But the fact remains that what you save is still the most important—the most satisfying—part of what you earn. Are you hoping for something...or saving for it?

King Edward Juniors Take Honors

King Edward won the junior School Softball League championship yesterday when they defeated Central 5-3 in a sudden-death final for the title. It was a swell, keen contest with the winners showing over three runs in the fifth inning and adding two in the sixth. Central counted one each in the first, second and fourth frames. Eight of the losers went down on strikes, as they got six hits and nine walks. Half a dozen of the victors were struck out and two walked as they banged out 10 hits. Both sides fielded well and the issue was in doubt to the final out. The teams:

King Edward: Corbett, 1b; Paget, ss; Turner, rf; Frizzelle, p; Crowe, cf; Downer, 2b; Nickson, 3b; Moffatt, c; Rose, lf; Herbison, lf; Hunt, ss; Henderson, 1b.
Central: Rowley, 2b; Patterson, c; Kelley, 1b; Spalding, p; Forbes, 3b; Brooks, ss; Armstrong, rf; Maxwell, cf; Gardner, lf; Gibbs, lf.

Umpires, A. Olmstead and R. Rutherford.

East City Victors

East City turned back the west-end midgets 8-1 last night in a City Baseball League fixture in Riverside Park. Getting fine pitching, they held the losers to two hits while fanning 16, though walking seven. The winners hit in timely fashion and fielded well besides cashing in on several boots and four walks. The were held hitless during the last half of the game after scoring four runs in the opening inning, three next time up and one in the fifth. Westend scored a single in the eighth on walks. The teams:

East City: McGrath, Gandy, Murdoch, Batchelor, Driscoll, Mongraw, Ferguson, Foley, Sullivan, Adams.
Westend: Bacon, Grodon, Mor-

The players were each presented with a penknife, and Howard Peters—of the team—was presented with an occasional chair by the staff and fellow workers on the occasion of his coming marriage.

Tom Taylor, works manager, spoke on the advantages of team spirit both in work and play, and he commented on the progress shown by the team in its first year. He predicted the team would make a better showing next season. The pleasant affair concluded with speeches by Bill Piercy, team manager; Cliff Smith, the captain; and Don MacIndoe, coach.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

The famed Liverpool touring soccer team downed Toronto's Ulsters 5-1 before more than 17,000 fans in Toronto Tuesday night, stretching their international exhibition winning streak to eight straight. Jack Balmer copped two counters for the winners with William Fagan, Albert Stubbins and Bill Liddell booting home singles. Paul Eric notched Toronto's lone goal on a penalty shot. England's pride displayed effective close checking and passing throughout.

Dinny Pails, former Australian Davis Cup star, and Don Budge, veteran court king from Hollywood, gained quarter-finals on Tuesday at Forest Hills, N.Y., in the United States professional tennis championships. Pails downed Wayne Sabin of Bretton Woods, N.H., while Budge conquered Jerry Adler of White Plains, N.Y. Favored Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., and Panchito Segura of Ecuador are also in the quarters.

Nearly 1,000 athletes will compete in Montreal next Saturday in the No. 1 zone of the Olympic track and field trials, striving for a place in the Dominion finals next month when Canada's representatives at the Olympic Games will be chosen. Those finishing first and second in zone-trial events will automatically qualify for the final trials and the Dominion championships in Montreal July 9 and 10.

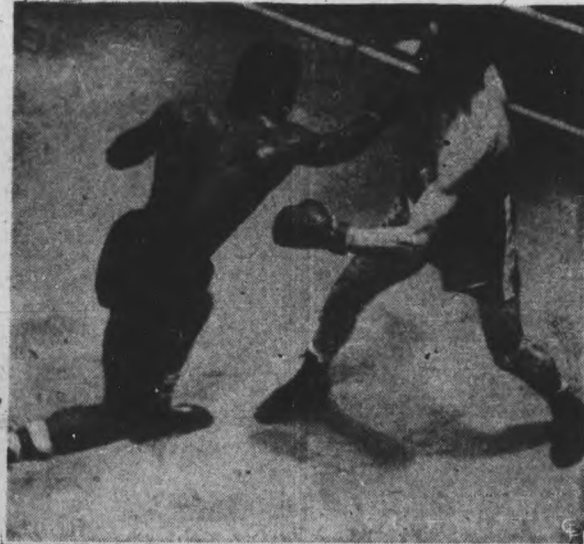

Cabinet titles and party loyalties will be shelved in Ottawa to-day when members of Parliament tackle Press Gallery correspondents in what has been billed as a softball game. The game is scheduled for the spacious lawn in front of the centre block of the Parliament Buildings. Bucko McDonald, former National Hockey League star, and now Liberal member for Parry Sound, will pitch for the Commons contingent.

Frank Parker of Los Angeles and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del., were seeded No. 1 Tuesday in London in the singles division of the Wimbledon tennis championships, which begins Monday. Jack Bromwich of Australia was seeded second to Parker in the men's field.

For a man who says he "expects to win quick" heavyweight champion Joe Louis still is shockingly easy to hit with a straight right hand. This chink in the Brown Bomber's armor was quite evident Tuesday at his training camp in Pompton Lake, N.J., as he went four rounds with assorted sparring partners in preparation for his title defence against Joe Walcott at Yankee Stadium on June 23. In an interview before the workout, Louis again blamed his poor December fight on drying out to take off weight. He assured some 40 reporters he would not repeat the error. Before the drink he said he weighed 215, a weight he hopes to hold until ring time.

St. Louis Cardinals of the National League announced in Winnipeg Tuesday they have signed 21-year-old Almer McKerlie of Fort William. McKerlie, a six-foot catcher, was signed by George Sisler, Jr., who is in charge of the Cards' three-day baseball tryout school in Winnipeg.

Jean Richard, stylish Montreal battler, Tuesday night upset Canadian featherweight and bantamweight champion Fernando Gagnon of Quebec, by pounding out a 10-round decision in the Forum at Montreal. Richard's handlers announced after the bout they would file a claim with the Canadian Boxing Federation for recognition of the Montreal scrapper as Canadian featherweight champ. It was originally billed as a non-title scrap.

Noble F Wins Double At Maywood Race

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP).—Noble F, six-year-old gelding owned and driven by Hollis Regur of Keosauqua, Iowa, came from behind to win both sections of the featured grand circuit pace at Maywood Park Tuesday night before a crowd of 4,430. In the one mile sixth race, Noble F passed the pace setting Miss Stardust and came home a two-lengths winner. He paid $9.60.

Showing a strong burst of speed in the eighth race, Noble F took the lead in the back stretch from the front runner Rex C Brooke to win by a half length. The victory returned $5.60, $4.80 and $4.00.

Robinson Weight May Lose Title

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP).—Sugar Ray Robinson today was faced by the threat of losing his welterweight title on the scales in his 15-round championship match against challenger Bernard Docusen tomorrow night. Mystery surrounded Robinson's exact weight for his third title defence before an estimated 15,000 at Comiskey Park. Robinson must weigh 147 on the official scales tomorrow to be considered defending welter champion. Estimates of his weight Tuesday varied from 149 to 152. The champion, defeated only once in 88 bouts over an eight year period, possibly can sweat off his excess poundage. But—if he fails—boxing rule dictate that he must vacate his crown and fight Docusen, 21-year-old cutie from New Orleans, in an overweight bout.

To all Consumers of Coca-Cola

Drink Coca-Cola
Coca-Cola Ltd.
June 5th, 1948.
TO ALL CONSUMERS OF COCA-COLA

For almost three generations...since 1886...Coca-Cola has been a 5¢ product. Today you pay 7¢, the extra 2¢ being due solely to the two special wartime taxes imposed on soft drinks.

Newspaper commentaries, following the recent Federal Budget, outlined two main reasons given for the Government's decision not to remove certain excise taxes. One of these was summed up as follows:

"There is no guarantee that if they (the taxes) were dropped the saving would be passed on to the consumer."

We are pleased to say that this does not apply to the special wartime taxes on Coca-Cola, because we continue to hold our traditional belief in a 5¢ price for our product. We have been and are now prepared to pass on to the consumer the full amount of these taxes, when removed. We will neither want nor seek any profits from the elimination of these taxes when they are removed.

With prices so much a matter of daily interest, you may be interested to know that our price remains exactly what it was before the war, with only the two wartime taxes added.

Coca-Cola is the same refreshing drink of fine quality which you have enjoyed through the years.

COCA-COLA LTD.

The pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola is a little minute long enough for a big rest. Have a Coke and work refreshed.

In addition to this discussion, Mr. J. Stark gave a report on Temperance, stressing the great importance of this work. He also recommended the use of slides in furthering the interests in the Sunday School.

A service of worship conducted by Mrs. W. Barrie and Mrs. J. Stark of Norwood, followed by a period of discussion in groups led by the O.R.E.C. representative, concerning a well run Sunday School, brought the meeting to a close.

Supper was served by the local Sunday School. The evening session was presided over by the president, Mr. Golloher, and the report of the nominating committee was presented by the secretary. Officers for 1949 are: President, W. Golloher; first vice president, G. Humphries; 2nd vice president, J. H. Caskey; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; children's work, Mrs. W. Golloher; girls' work, Mrs. J. J. Stewart; boys' work, to be appointed by the executive; temperance, J. Stark; missions, Mrs. W. Barrie; teacher training, Rev. E. E. Pugsley.

The report of the resolutions committee was presented by Mrs. W. Golloher. It resolved that a township executive be set up to carry on the departmental work of the township, and that instead of the township convention for 1949, the county should be asked to plan a county convention.

Mrs. W. Golloher was named delegate to the Children's Work Regional Conference to be held in Toronto next November.

In the absence of Mr. Kibblewhite, president of the newly organized county and city R.E.C., Mr. Pugsley explained the work of the organization to the meeting.

Three five minute talks were given by Mrs. Glover of Hastings United Church, Mrs. Burt of Norwood Presbyterian Church, and Mr. J. H. Laskey of Norwood United Church, all on the theme dealing with methods and hints to teaching in the church.

The special address of the evening was given by the O.R.E.C. representative, discussing the problem of making the Sunday School evangelistic.

Music was provided by the Hastings Sunday School, and the closing service of dedication was conducted by Rev. P. A. Rickard of Christ Church, Norwood.

Baptists Rap Moral Decline

WINDSOR, June 16 (CP).—Rev. J. E. Wintemute of Toronto today told the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec that the social service department of the convention is endeavoring to improve the "declining" social conditions of the Canadian people. In the report of the social service and evangelism committee prepared for delivery to the 60th assembly he said the fact must be recognized that there has been a "lamentable and serious decline in the morals of Canadians."

"Intemperance is increasing," he said. "The signs point to a great laxity in sex relations. The sanctity of marriage is being forgotten or denied. The number and cordiness of crimes of violence has become shocking. The greed for gain, the eagerness of so many to exploit their fellows, the open appeal for lower desires which one so often hears or sees made for monetary profit, are very disturbing to the thoughtful mind."

Four People Injured In Embankment Crash

TORONTO, June 16 (CP).—Four persons were injured early today in suburban Humber Bay when an automobile crashed through a guard rail and plunged 300 feet down an embankment. The injured: Mrs. Rose Hladun, 28, fractured skull and arm and leg cuts; William Reid, possible skull fracture and facial injuries; Gilbert McNamara, 31, elbow, thigh and facial injuries; Gerald Williams, 28, facial bruise burns. All are from Toronto.

B.C. Legislature Will Vote Flood Funds

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP).—British Columbia has called a special session of the Legislature to vote relief funds to speed rehabilitation plans for homeless families and destitute victims of the province's now-receding floods. The session will open July 7. Meanwhile, danger of disease threatened evacuees of the inundated Fraser Valley as they waited the time when they could return to their homes.

The Provincial Health Department has warned that before the houses can be re-occupied, thorough inspections must be made. Inoculations against typhoid fever are being carried out, an estimated 18,000 persons treated thus far.

Two Tiger Moth planes and a helicopter, meanwhile, have carried out a fight against mosquitoes, spraying stagnant water in the Fraser Valley with powerful insecticides.

Tuesday saw the resumption of rail traffic between Vancouver and the East, the first since May 28. A 55-car freight train carried first-class merchandise for the city. To-night the first rail passengers will be carried since the break in railway service.

Armed Cuban Group Said Revolt Threat

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, June 16 (AP).—The government charged Tuesday that there is an armed movement in Cuba "possibly designed for an attempted overthrow of the governments of Honduras, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic."

The government said a so-called "Caribbean Legion" composed of Guatemalans, Dominicans, Costa Ricans, Nicaraguans and Hondurans "is gathering in Costa Rica under the protection of Figueres (Jose Figueres, leader of the recent victorious revolt in Costa Rica) with the same arms with which they were going to attack the Dominican republic last year."

Superannuation Is Topic At Teachers' Convention

The Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association of Peterborough District held the final meeting of the school year at Villa St. Joseph, Cobourg, Monday. Several representatives of the Cobourg School Board were also present.

His Excellency, the Most Reverend Bishop Berry, D.D., celebrated Mass at 10 o'clock, assisted by Reverend J. F. Houlihan, B.A., and Rev. J. F. Coughlan, B.A. Reverend J. Collins, Reverend G. Maher, Rev. C. Maloney, and Rev. K. Malane were present in the sanctuary. Following the Mass, His Excellency addressed the teachers.

The morning session opened with the president's address given by Sister Marion. Items of business were then dealt with, and Sister Alma gave a complete and interesting report of the OECTA Easter convention in Toronto.

The luncheon, which was served on the lawn of Villa St. Joseph, on the shore of Lake Ontario, was preceded by a lively sing-song under the direction of Sister St. Hubert.

The meeting was resumed at two o'clock, and Miss Berenice Greenan entertained the teachers with a capable rendition of Drummond's humorous poem "The Stove-Pipe." Following this were several choral numbers by the girls of Grades III and IV of St. Michael's School, Cobourg. The guest speaker was Sister M. Camilla, B.A., of Mt. St. Joseph, Peterborough. She dealt at length with topic of superannuation, unravelling some of its complexities to the teachers. After some discussion, the meeting adjourned.

$225,000 Budget For Missions Baptists Decide

WINDSOR, June 16. (CP)—A missionary budget of $225,000 for the church year which began last May 1 was adopted today by the 60th annual session of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec.

It represents an increase of $45,000 over last year's missionary budget, which was exceeded by $518. Approval followed debate during which Frank Inrig, Toronto layman, said that "Giving money is as spiritual a thing as anything else we do."

The $225,000 budget does not represent all the givings of Baptists. Last year total receipts were $514,231.91, an all-time record.

Dr. H. H. Bingham, general secretary of the convention, presented the executive committee's report. That of the stewardship committee, in which was included the missionary budget, was presented by Thomas Camelford, Dunville, Ont., layman.

Too Much Money Talk

Rev. C. C. Anderson of Niagara Falls said he feared there was too much talk about money. He said that 40 years ago the Ontario-Quebec Baptists had nearly 20,000 more children on the rolls in Sunday school and had 100 more ministers.

"It is no disgrace to ask aid," said Prof. N. H. Parker of McMaster University.

Rev. John Ward, Ingersoll, said when the $1,600 minimum was approved, he cost of living was lower. To give the same purchasing power, the minimum should now be $1,854.

The executive committee laid before the Assembly plans for a diamond jubilee Forward Movement Program. It calls for a three-year drive in evangelism, stewardship and ministerial and lay leadership.

War Firefighters Get Tax Back

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP)—Canadian wartime firefighters will not be liable for income tax for the time they served overseas, it was announced Tuesday.

Major Leslie Mutch, parliamentary assistant to Veterans Minister Gregg, told the Veterans' Committee of the Commons he had been authorized by Finance Minister Abbott to make the announcement.

A total of 408 men served in Britain with the Corps of Firefighters, but only about 10 per cent. of them made enough to be taxable. Mr. Mutch said those who had paid tax would be reimbursed.

The statement came as spokesmen for the corps appeared before the committee to ask that they be given the same rehabilitation benefits as veterans of the services.

Richard Hake of Toronto, president of the corps, said they had been given assurances that they would be treated the same as "a fourth arm of the services." Men had been killed and wounded on duty. The service was for duty anywhere and for the duration of the war.

The firefighters already get a number of benefits, but felt they should have them all. They also asked for award of the Volunteer Service Medal.

Their delegation included Herbert Magill and Charles Rowntree, Jr., of Toronto, and Lorn Macrostie of Ottawa.

APSLEY, June 16 (ENS). —

A number of little friends attended the party of Rosemond McCall recently when she celebrated her fourth birthday. Games were played on the lawn, and later a delicious supper was served in the pink and white decorated dining room. Probably the greatest attraction was the beautiful birthday cake. Her little visitors presented Rosemond with many lovely presents.

Those present: Joan Oitment, Joan McCauley, Joyce McDonald, Joyce Woods, Shirley Reynolds, Beverly Alphy, Thelma Alphy, Francis Alphy, Irene McFadden, Ruth Graham Mauretta Montgomery, Sharon Watson, Gail Reynolds, Lane Hazlewood, and Murry McCall.

IRRIGATION PROJECTS—E. L. Gray, director of water conservation for the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation administration, told a group of agriculturists in Saskatoon, Sask., that sprinkler irrigation systems might soon displace present ditching methods common on irrigation projects in the west. The man with the shovel and the rubber boots, such as the one shown in the photo, who, at the best, can irrigate only five acres a day, would be replaced by an unskilled worker who would simply move the aluminum sprinkler pipes every few hours, and irrigate up to ten acres a day. Mr. Gray added that the cost of a sprinkler system would in most cases not exceed the cost of levelling and ditching a farm for conventional irrigation practice.

Famous Families

LE MOYNE 1656

The fame and honour which the eleven sons of Charles Le Moyne, Sieur de Longueuil, bestowed on their distinguished father is unique in Canadian history. Soldiers, explorers and colonizers, they each contributed generously to Canada's greatness. The most famous were Charles, Baron de Longueuil; Jean Baptiste, Sieur de Bienville; and Pierre, Sieur d'Iberville. Between 1670 and 1680, Longueuil built a house, which still stands at Lachine, Quebec—a memorial to a distinguished Canadian family.

Great Families Create Great Nations

EARLY in the 17th Century, Calvert, head of the famous Calvert Family, distinguished English statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, founded pioneer colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland.

In the New World Calvert's descendants drafted a constitution, which was the pattern for the democratic freedom we now enjoy. The Calvert ideals of freedom and religious tolerance were perpetuated down through the succeeding generations of the Calvert Family.

The family is the corner-stone upon which great nations are built. Let each of us strive to promote within the great Canadian family the same concepts of freedom and tolerance pioneered by the Calvert Family, three hundred years ago.

The Calvert family encourage building among their settlers.

Rotarians Hear 3 Speeches On Organization

"Strengthening the inner foundations of Rotary" was the subject of a speech of Dan McQuarrie, of Lindsay, at the morning session on Tuesday of the 168th District Assembly of Rotary International at the Empress Hotel. He said that in the material world we must be continually remodelling our machinery. The progress of science suggested the remodelling and strengthening of our way of living. Education and social services are being changed and are strengthening our economic and social structure.

Mr. McQuarrie then spoke on the strengthening of our spiritual side. "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." He said he had great faith in the youth of Canada and felt we were building and strengthening ourselves spiritually as well as materially.

"Rotary has to keep changing to meet changing conditions," he said. "When it becomes static, then it dies."

R. F. Downey, of Peterborough, spoke on the mechanics of the weekly meeting, and District Governor Ken Smith, of Leaside, addressed the meeting on the Club Assembly—what it is and does. The functions of a district governor were explained by George Ziegler, of Parry Sound, and Frank Linton, of Campbellford, spoke on the technique in organizing new Rotary clubs.

After the final luncheon, at which Mrs. James Goldie sang three songs, Charles Cummer, president of the Peterborough club, thanked James Dutton for his work as chairman of the assembly and all the members of the committee who had worked with him.

Governor-elect Ed Simmons, of Trenton, said that all Peterborough members could be very proud of their achievement in sponsoring the assembly, and he thanked the Peterborough club and particularly the ladies.

D. J. More, of Davenport, England, said he was very grateful for being allowed to attend the assembly, which had given him an opportunity to renew old acquaintances and make new friends.

An early birds' breakfast was held, followed by entertainment and a draw for prizes. Prize-winners were Mrs. Les Woodruff, of Peterborough; Mrs. Ed Simmons, of Trenton; Mrs. Frank Patterson, of Peterborough; Mrs. L. Expect Approval On Power Plan

TORONTO, June 16—(CP).—The international joint commission may be asked early next week to approve plans for the proposed power development on the St. Lawrence river near Cornwall. Chairman Robert Saunders of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission said Tuesday night that if the Ontario cabinet approves the commission's plans at a meeting Thursday, the application for permission to proceed with construction will go before the international commission.

A similar application will be made by the New York state power authority.

It had been thought previously the application would be made today but Richard L. Hearn, general manager and chief engineer of the Ontario Commission, said some delay was met in preparing the submissions.

Conferences between the Ontario Commission and the New York state power authority were held late in May to determine details of the project "second only in magnitude to the Grand Coulee development on the Columbia river."

Over-all length of the dam required would be about 2,900 feet and maximum height 100 feet. A top dam would be a roadway 20 feet wide.

ANCIENT MAKE-UP

Kill ALL the ants — not just the scouts

Here is an entirely new principle of ant extermination designed to kill the entire colony. An average ant colony consists of Scouts, Nurses, Workers and the Queen. A healthy Queen can produce more than 8,000 eggs a day, which hatch in 7 days. The ants you see are the scouts gathering food for the Queen and the colony.

Rex Laboratories have developed TAT ANT TRAPS to destroy the entire nest. Scout ants are offered a poisoned bait to take home to the colony. TAT ANT bait is more attractive to the ant than the food it is likely to find in an average kitchen. And because the ants are blind and guided solely by smell, THALLIUM SULPHATE is used, the only tasteless and odorless poison known. THALLIUM SULPHATE is also slow-acting. Quick acting poisons, found in most other insecticides, kill only the surface ants, while the colony, buried in the soil, continues to hatch out new ants.

TAT ANT TRAPS offer double baits—to kill both sweet and grease eating ants. TAT ANT TRAPS are safe for children and pets. The bait is moist and sealed tight.

Many millions of TAT ANT TRAPS are sold because they have been proven effective.

Privy Council Will Hear 2 Saskatchewan Appeals

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, June 16 (CP).—Two appeals by the CCF Government of Saskatchewan against Saskatchewan Court judgments are to be heard by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council—highest court of appeal in the British Commonwealth—towards the end of this month.

Both appeals have been brought despite the fact that the CCF is opposed to the principle of the Privy Council having the right to decide such appeals. The Privy Council itself ruled in January, 1947, that Canada has the right to abolish appeals to the Council if she chooses.

The first appeal will decide whether Section Six of the Farm Security Act, 1944, is ultra vires of Saskatchewan Legislature. The Act is designed to make the mortgage-holder take the same risks as the farmer—sharing losses in bad years and profits in good years—and to prevent debt accumulation and foreclosures resulting from drought and depression.

In the second appeal Saskatchewan Labor Relations Board is in dispute with the John East Iron Works of Saskatoon and the Attorney-Generals of the Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia. The Privy Council will give a ruling as to whether Section Five (E) of the Trade Union Act, 1944, is ultra vires of Saskatchewan Legislature.

Guarantee For Workers

This Act, passed at a special session of Saskatchewan Legislature, guarantees the right of workers to form unions without interference, outlaws company unions and provides penalties for unfair labor practices, whether committed by employee or employer.

It also establishes a Labor Relations Board comprising a chairman, two employer and two employee representatives and two public representatives.

Counsel's arguments in Privy Council appeals are addressed to a panel of six or seven law lords sitting around a horseshoe-shaped table at No. 11 Downing Street. The Lords, in joint possession of hundreds of years of experience at bench and bar, sometime interfere with penetrating legal questions. Their interest in the proceedings is strictly confined to the law.

Burning Matches Thrown Into School Building

An attempt was made during the week-end to set fire to the Prince of Wales public school on Monaghan Road when five matches were thrown into a waste paper basket on the floor near the teacher's desk.

The caretaker on Monday morning discovered a dozen or more matches partially burned lying all around the wastepaper basket, and evidence showed that the matches had been burning when they struck the floor or desk as the varnish was burned.

The culprit had climbed along the kindergarten wall and then standing on an abutment beside the main wall tossed in the lit matches through a broken window.

Officials of the Board of Education have experienced considerable difficulty in recent years at the Prince of Wales School with the breaking of windows and as many as 25 panes have been broken on a week-end either by stones or airguns.

PERVERSE FEMALE

It seems that even in this day of advanced education, superstition is as pronounced as in the sixteenth century. A woman walking down main street to-day, stopped suddenly, and wheeled around, and walked back to where a window-cleaning man had left a ladder standing in the middle of the sidewalk. Contrary to the prevailing fear that walking under a ladder results in the worst kind of bad luck, this woman carefully moved under the two sides of the evil object. When asked her motive, she replied that her success in life had been a result of always facing up to the bad luck and beating it at its own game. Superstition phooey.—N.S.

TRENT RIVER PICKEREL—After a 45-minute battle, Tom Poulos of Havelock landed an 8½-pound pickerel in the Trent River Monday night. Not having a net with him, he was forced to bring the fish to the shore before attempting to land it. Tom said he got the fish near Breezy Point, along with four smaller pickerel, using minnows as bait. The fish has a huge head, almost disproportionate to the size of the body.

Walter Thorn Has Loss Totalling $6,000

A $6,000-fire on Tuesday afternoon completely destroyed an L-shaped barn and contents on the property of Walter Thorn, near Wallace Point, in Otonabee township. Loss included 22 marketable pigs, 10 calves, a herd bull, a smaller bull, and valuable farm machinery.

Mr. Thorn observed the outbreak when he was on his adjoining farm and immediately rushed to the scene. He said it seemed a mass of flames all at once and it was impossible to save any part of the stock. Cause of the fire is not known.

Neighbors who hurried to the burning barn were similarly impotent to save the stock. Forming a bucket brigade was out of the question as the flames had too great a start. The large crowd was forced to stand and watch as the structure was quickly consumed, by the fire, the skeleton remains crashing into the blazing interior.

The most valued part of Mr. Thorn's stock was his Holstein herd bull, Elm Colantha Trime. The pigs that also perished in the flames were ready for market, which made his loss even heavier.

It is believed that none of the farm machinery is salvageable.

S. Shaughnessy Dies Suddenly

Sylvester Stephen Shaughnessy 525 Parnell St., died suddenly of a heart attack at his home this morning. He was in his sixtieth year.

Mr. Shaughnessy was born in Otonabee township, son of Stephen Shaughnessy and his wife, Clara Rose, was educated in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and was for 40 years an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company. He entered the cost accounting department in 1907 and was one of the valued members of that staff under Mr. Thomas Glover, and had actually grown up with its expansion. He was a member of Peterborough Council of the Knights of Columbus, was a past Grand Knight and had held various other offices during his membership of about 40 years.

Mr. Shaughnessy was one of the esteemed members of that order locally and throughout the district. He was a member of the Quarter Century Club of the CGE, and had a host of friends throughout the city who will deeply regret his death. It was learned today that his health appeared to be declining during the last year or more. He had been at home for a few days recently and was, expecting to return to work.

He leaves his wife, the former Alice Millroy, three daughters Mrs. James (Marita) Renahan of Toronto, Norma and Carmel at home, and two sons, Vernon of Toronto and J. Omer Shaughnessy of Cleveland, O.; also his sisters Mrs. Arthur Lazure, Ioca, B.C. Mrs. Melville McLean and Mrs. Percy Innis, Toronto; and his brothers, John, Norman, Joseph Cecil and Vincent of Toronto, and Charles of Guelph.

The body will be resting at Mr. Shaughnessy's late home, 525 Parnell St., Thursday afternoon. Funeral announcement will be made later.

New Chlorinating Unit To Cost Utilities $7,000

Purchase of new chlorinating equipment for the city's waterworks department at a approximate cost of $7,000 was authorized by the Utilities Commission Tuesday.

The two machines are described as an automatic chlorinator and "a residual chlorine indicating and recording apparatus". Mr. R. L. Dobbin, manager, said the cost would be between $6,000 and $7,000.

The Commission is following the recommendations of Dr. A. E. Berry, chief officer of the Ontario Department of Health, in enlarging the chlorinating capacity of the waterworks.

"We have always endeavored to co-operate with the Ontario Department," said Gordon S. Matthews, "and I feel sure we have a high standing with Dr. Berry. He has suggested that we should double the chlorinating capacity, and I think we should do something to meet his recommendation."

Sentiment of the Commission was if there was any adverse happening it would be in line for blame, but by complying with the advice and virtual direction of Dr. Berry, the Commission was properly performing its duty in the safeguarding of public health. "Our pumpage has increased since 1939 from an average of 2,500,000 gals. a day to the present daily 3,800,000 gals.," Mr. Dobbin reported. "The inspector found that we were using 6.8 pounds of chlorine for a million gallons when, according to their standards we should be using 13 pounds per million."

We have at present an automatic chlorinator, bought in 1928, with a maximum capacity of 50 pounds per 24 hours. We also have a manually operated chlorinator which has a similar capacity, and it is used as a stand-by in case of trouble with the other machine.

We have at present two discharge mains from the pump house, one 20 inch and one 16-inch. The latter is used only in case of emergency. It is possible that the pumping rates continue to increase, and when the new 24-inch main is completed, we may have to use both of these discharge mains. In such case we would have to have a meter on each discharge, and an automobile chlorinator on each."

Mr. Dobbin said the recording apparatus would permit more complete control of the amount of chlorine used and prevent over-doses. "And if there is one thing the public doesn't like it is an over-dose of chlorine in our drinking water," Mr. Matthews remarked. The Commission was unanimous on this purchase. The three members were present, Fred Hills and George A. MacDonald with the chairman.

Excavating For New Civic Arena Underway Heating Plant, Dressing Rooms In Cellar

Preparatory work of the construction of the civic arena on Park St. was begun Tuesday afternoon by the contractor, Hugh Wilson of Cannington.

Preliminary survey and staking of the levels was completed, about fifty loads of soil were taken out by a power shovel, and the job of providing what has been known as a secondary rink for skating and hockey got under way. Among those present, representing the arena committee and the council, were: Alderman Hurrell Dodds, Stan McBride, Charles G. Kingan and City Engineer A. E. Chalmers.

Immediate work will be the digging of the basement, 14 ft. by 56 ft., and footings for the walls. Mr. Wilson said he was engaging local help as far as possible. Basement accommodation is mainly for the heating plant and dressing rooms with showers.

The Civic Arena Committee reached yesterday a new and constructive stage in their community enterprise after struggling through their campaign of promotion and enlisting public support.

Otonabee Township Plans Urban Development Area

Otonabee Township Council has instructed its clerk to prepare a bylaw to set up an urban development area. This instrument will prohibit selling of lots or parcels of land under ten acres unless they are surveyed and registered.

The area is to be part of the Peterborough suburban fringe which is coming under the control of the special planning board composed of representatives of the city and adjoining townships.

One purpose of the bylaw and the whole project, it was said at the Otonabee Council meeting, was: "It should help to prevent too many small lots and houses being built on vague lots and parcels of land with no definite descriptions."

This is one of the purposes of the suburban planning commission which is well advanced in its founding and establishment. The city's planning program was found to be incomplete without co-operation from the townships, and new legislation was devised. This experience has been general, by Hon. Dana Porter to meet the municipal deficiency. This has all been ground work.

Peterborough's neighboring townships have been most co-operative. The Otonabee bylaw is one of the necessary steps toward investing authority upon the new Urban Development Area Commission. One of the effects of this development in control that is any land owner will not be permitted to cut up a five or ten acre holding into postage-stamp lots, as was done on a large scale years ago south of the city.

Otonabee council in a motion by Percy Davidson and Alan Johnson authorized the township telephone commission to sell Dominion of Canada bonds. The proceeds will be used to finance new construction.

Council is having 150 copies of the auditor's report printed. The following accounts were passed: road expenditure $1,272.12; Wm. Bryer $37.27; A. Yaxley $13.50; Whelan & Steele $48; SS No. 10, treasurer $200.

Woman Collapses Dies In Store

Mrs. Alfred Garrett of 660 Armour Rd., collapsed Tuesday afternoon on George St., and died in one of the nearby stores before medical assistance arrived. She was born in Suffolk, England, Jessie Hilda, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Hart, and previous to coming to Peterborough three months ago, had resided in Toronto for a number of years.

Besides her husband, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. Charles Willis of Peterborough, Mrs. Hector Douglas and Mrs. James Miller, both of Toronto. One son, Frederick, also lives in Toronto. Two sisters, Mrs. Rose Miller and Mrs. Lillian Seaman and a brother, Jack, all live in England. She was of the Anglican faith.

Funeral service will be held from the Constable Funeral Home on Thursday at 2 p.m. The Rev. W. E. Kibbwhite of All Saints Anglican Church will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Claims Legal Suppression Can't Kill Communism; Minority Rights In Danger

Problems in dealing with minorities and civil rights were discussed by T. J. Carley, K.C., at the final luncheon of the 168th District Assembly of Rotary International. He said that the feeling of frustration we have as we see the various United Nations organizations floundering around from one deadlock to another on a veto to veto basis, and as we see the minority members render futile the efforts of the majority members, brings us to a consideration of some of our own problems.

"We have heard much recently concerning the Freedoms we have learned to cherish and which we have come to regard as our inalienable rights—the right to Personal Freedom, the right to Freedom of discussion and Communication in Speech, Press and Assembly. How far do we possess these rights and how secure are we in the possession of the same?"

Mr. Carley pointed out that Magna Carta (1215), the Habeas Corpus Act (1679) and the Bill of Rights (1689) are often regarded as the pillars of our liberty, but that on examination we find that freedom of speech and worship, due process of law and equality before the law were not even dreamed of. "We must remember that political rights at that time were treated as Professor McKeechie puts it: 'Political rights were the monopoly of the few; and civil rights were far from equally distributed.'"

Three Acts Helped
"Nevertheless," he said, "we must not get the idea that these were or are of no value. The sentiment that has been built up around them and the merits the people have attributed to them have often proved a real safeguard and have resulted in supplementary legislation and judicial decisions to implement and safeguard some of these liberties."

The real question arises with troublesome minorities, such as the communist minority. Legal suppression of communism would merely drive it underground and "law does not always effect the remedy."

Police Say Domestic Pretends She's Hurt

TORONTO, June 16—(CP).—Alice Tostowaryk, 19-year-old domestic, was discharged from hospital today and police said she had "merely pretended" to have been attacked.

Police found the girl Tuesday night lying in a ditch in suburban North York township, apparently unconscious. Police believed she had been struck on the head.

Hospital officials denied earlier reports that the girl, who was missing from her employer's home since Monday afternoon, suffered concussion.

Police said no charges will be laid.

315 Children Recommended For Entrance

For the majority of Public School and Separate School entrance pupils, summer holidays began on Tuesday. A total of 315 have been recommended for promotion to secondary school, Superintendent K. S. Wightman, announced.

Breakdown shows that 239 were recommended from the public schools, while 84 must try their examinations; 76 received the promotion from the separate schools, while 22 will write. This works out to 74 per cent and 78 per cent, respectively.

Students at PCVS and St. Peter's High School are not passed on recommendations; they must all try their examinations. The only exception is at the Collegiate where a number of them who had made 65 per cent on their midterm examinations were allowed to volunteer for farm service providing they agreed to remain for the greater part of the summer.

The teen-agers finished their last examination paper on Friday and will receive their results sometime early in July.

Reformed Police Will Aid German State

WINNIPEG, June 16 (CP) — Most Germans—conscious of the police state which existed under the Nazis—favor the reformation of the police force and efforts to make its officers servants and not masters of the people, a public safety officer said today.

"Keep the policing right, and I think other things will look after themselves," said John Timmerman, assistant inspector-general of public safety for the Allied Control Commission in Germany's British zone.

Mr. Timmerman, Winnipeg-born and a veteran of eight years' service with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, now is home on leave. He said in an interview that Germany's economic situation was "pretty desperate," and rations still were low.

The shortage of food, clothing and other commodities, with resultant black market activity and violent crime, made the policing of the country difficult. The situation now was improving; serious and violent crime had been reduced. The British zone alone had 44,000 police.

"The Nazis used the police as a training ground for a future army. Their army was limited to 100,000 men, but they brought thousands of men into the police force, trained them as soldiers and then discharged them. They had a big turnover."

"Before they were ready to break the Versailles Treaty, they used the men as instructors," said Mr. Timmerman. "It is our job to demilitarize the police."

CCF Education Tax To Be Kept—Gardiner

PUNNICHY, Sask., June 16.—(CP). — Agriculture Minister Gardiner predicted Tuesday night the two per cent education sales tax in Saskatchewan would never be removed by a CCF government until it could reach into "your wheat bins, your cattle stalls and your pig pens" and take the money it needed to run the government.

"When they can do that they won't have to collect taxes," he told an election campaign meeting. "They won't even have to consult you, they'll consult the planning board and the Crown corporations instead."

The Federal Minister of Agriculture spoke in support of Dr. J. J. Collins, Liberal candidate for Touchwood in the June 24 Provincial election.

Mr. Gardiner said the farmers of Saskatchewan had no right to expect different treatment than the lumbermen, fishermen and trappers of Saskatchewan.

Single Transferable Vote Gets Rough Going-Over In Commons

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, June 16.—(CP).—The single transferable vote got a going-over in the Commons Tuesday but the members couldn't agree whether it was an improvement over present voting methods. This is the system where the voter has more than one choice of candidate in marking his ballot paper.

Some authorities claim it guarantees against the election of a candidate with only a "minority" of the votes cast in his constituency.

Some members urged the adoption of the transferable vote for federal general elections, contending it would improve the voting system, while others argued that it was so "complicated" that it would prove unworkable.

The bill, which finally was given third reading and now goes to the Senate, contained one important change—the extension of the federal franchise to Canadians of Japanese origin. The present law denies them the vote in Federal elections if they are barred from voting Provincially. Now, no exception will be made.

Raise Allowance

Besides the election bill, the Chamber adopted a measure amending the War Veterans' Allowance Act to give an extra $10 a month to the majority of the 29,000 aged or needy veterans and widows of veterans now receiving payments under its provisions.

Two other bills amending the Veterans' Insurance Act and the Veterans' Rehabilitation Act also were approved.

First reading was given measures to reorganize the set-up of the Board of Transport Commissioners and to appoint a commission to revise Canada's laws. The last revision was in 1927.

Study of Health Department estimates was resumed briefly in the late evening.

The issue of the single transferable vote almost got to the voting stage in the election study—but not quite.

Robert Fair (SC-Battle River) moved an amendment to introduce it in the Federal election regulations only to have it ruled out of order on the grounds it was improperly framed.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), one of those who was returned on a minority vote, agreed that Canada's electoral system was "archaic" and that the time had come for reform.

T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview) said the vote would find no favor in the two central provinces. It was too complicated.

John R. MacNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport), said many countries had tried the so-called improved voting systems, which were nothing more than "tricks," and has discarded them.

No Vote For Indians

The Chamber, sitting in committee of the whole, rejected by a standing vote of 58 to 39 an amendment moved by Don Brown (L-Essex West), chairman of the Indians Affairs committee, which would have extended the vote to Indians on reservations.

The veterans allowance bill won approval over the demands of Opposition members for increases greater than those proposed by the government. They sought boosts from $30 to $40 a month for single recipients and from $60 to $70 for couples.

Progressive Conservatives, Social Crediters and CCF members also joined in urging that the Act be extended to Imperial veterans with 20 years' residence in Canada and to Canadians who served only in Britain during the First World War.

As adopted, the Allowances Act eliminates any reference to deductions for casual earnings but places the top amount of allowable regular outside income at $125 a year for single and $250 for married recipients. The $10-a-month increase can be made retroactive to last Oct. 1 if considered "necessary."

"We have seen," he continued, "that during the two great wars we have had to forego our liberties to a large extent—conscription of the press, suspension of Habeas Corpus, in many instances the refusal of free expression of opinion. Since the war, where do we stand?"

"In 1938 the Alberta Government passed 'an Act to Ensure the Publication of Accurate News and Information,' a very harmless title, but the Act provided that newspapers were obliged to disclose the source of their news, could be compelled to publish statements issued by the government to correct previous articles. The Act was referred to the Supreme Court of Canada where it was declared invalid. Mr. Justice Cannon stated, 'Democracy cannot be maintained without its foundation: free public opinion and free discussion throughout the nation of all matters affecting the state within limits set by the criminal code and the common law. Every inhabitant in Alberta is also a citizen of the Dominion. The province may deal with his property and civil rights of a local and private nature within the province; but the province cannot interfere with his status as a Canadian citizen.'

OBSERVES FLAG DAY—In full panoply of a reigning sovereign, King Gustav is shown as he attended annual Swedish Flag Day exercises in the Stockholm stadium. This picture of Sweden's venerable monarch was made as he listened to the national anthem of his country.

Appeal, and the Supreme Court of Canada dismissed appeals, and Laurier Saumur served the maximum sentence of three months.

"Sedition prosecutions have been common in Canada. In Great Britain there has been only one case in the present century, but Canada has had more recorded sedition cases since the enactment of the criminal code in 1892 than all other parts of the British Empire together barring India. Jehovah's witnesses have been prosecuted for sedition."

In regard to religion, the Deputy Minister of Justice, Mr. Varcoe stated, "As regards religion there would seem to be no constitutional safeguards."

He did not think that a Bill of Rights would be the solution to the problem. The Negro in the United States knows the futility of such guarantees. "How then can our liberties be preserved? I believe that the only foundation for any liberty lies in the recognition of the rights of others. Legislation will not prove an adequate safeguard. The basis of the enforcement of all laws must rest on the individual. It has been said, 'While I do not agree with what you are saying, I will defend with my life your right to say it.'"

Mr. Carley was introduced by W. J. Hamilton and thanked by Major Charles Watt. James Dutton presided.

300 Dock Workers Strike In London

LONDON, June 16.—(AP).—Another 3,000 dock workers quit work today in a wildcat strike that has halted unloading of about 100 ships at London wharves.

Strike leaders estimated 6,900 of the port's 25,000 dockers were idle in protest of disciplinary action against 11 men who demanded extra pay for unloading a "dirty cargo" of zinc oxide.

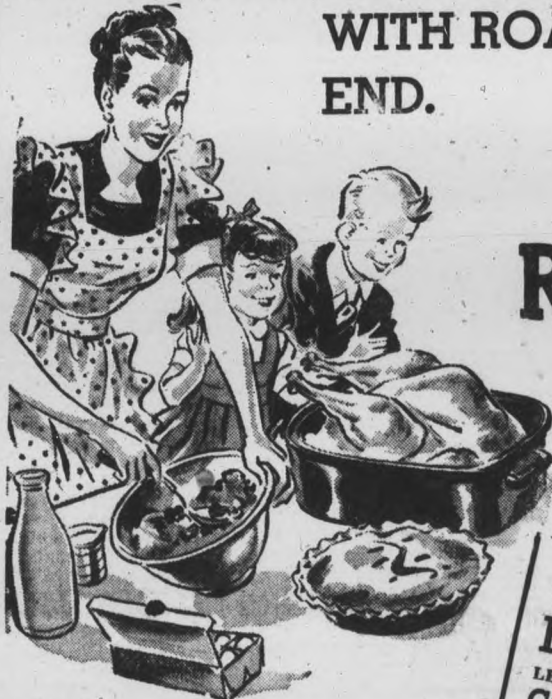

The Ministry of Food warned Tuesday perishable food cargoes, including tomatoes and eggs, are endangered by the work stoppage. Thirty-eight shop stewards Tuesday night rejected union advice to call off the work stoppage, which began Monday.

Moscow Sends High Powered Diplomat To UN Council

By WALTER O'HEARN

NEW YORK — Among distinguished steamship arrivals here was Dmitri Manulsky, known in U.N. circles as "my friend Manulsky" (Soviet bloc), or as "that little Manulsky" (by delegates other than the Soviet bloc). The distinguished Foreign Minister of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic is coming here presumably to take over the chair of the Security Council in July. There may be more to his errand than that. Manulsky was the heart and brains of the old Communist International, the Comintern, and he may well occupy as great an influence with the new International, known as the Cominform. With current evidence of a change in the Soviet line, the presence in this country of a high powered Soviet diplomat is interesting. Manulsky is high-powered. He certainly ranks among the first 75 persons in the Soviet Union.

Of course, you will get odds out at Lake Success against the proposition that this particular Russian is a diplomat. If a diplomat is a fellow who gets along with other people Manulsky is certainly not that. The old, mocking English definition that a diplomat is a man who "lies abroad" for his country may not apply either. Blunt abuse, rather than the bland deception, is the chief stock in trade of Dmitri Manulsky.

He is a plump, ruddy-cheeked fellow of about five feet five with a shock of grey hair and astonished-looking moustaches and eyes like black currants. He looks at first sight rather like a comic brigand in an opera. At first sight he also looks very cheerful.

No Easy Task

But Manulsky's great forte is getting himself disliked. That is not as easy as it sounds, for most delegates lean over backwards to accept Soviet statesmen as persons. Thus Andrei Gromyko is rather highly regarded and certainly respected even by persons who take issue with him publicly and condemn the doctrines he preaches. Andrei Vishinsky, while not exactly beloved, was respected for his extraordinary fluency and power of invective. People used to compare him to a police court lawyer who specialized in disorderly clients. Once or twice, it is true, his utterances were compared to those of the late Paul Joseph Goebbels; but there was a certain grudging regard for the man's real skill and his colossal nerve.

The feeling about Manulsky is different. Most delegates would tell you that he is both malicious and inept. In November 1946 he was chairman of the powerful first committee of the General Assembly and he rode iron-shod over parliamentary rules. Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, the over-worked president of the General Assembly and he rode iron-shod his place. Last autumn Manulsky spent most of his time snarling out the corner of his mouth at M. Spaak.

Last autumn, too, Manulsky set out to attack Canada on a couple of occasions. He charged that the Canadian spy disclosures were propaganda but in making the charge he had not even bothered to be accurate about his dates. He obviously believed that the spy disclosures—it was apparent from his text—had come about in December '46 instead of February of that year.

An Agreement

The great reluctance of the last regular General Assembly to vote the Ukraine onto the Security Council was in large measure due to personal hostility to Manulsky. There had been a sort of gentleman's agreement that one Slav satellite should have a seat on the Security Council. The delegates of a majority of the nations were perfectly content to have it that way—although India remained a strong contender until ninth ballot. What the delegates did not want was Dmitri

VISITS HOLY CITY—King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan (centre), surrounded by military and religious leaders, stands on steps leading to the dome of the Rock, Jerusalem's greatest Moslem shrine, as he visits the Holy City, this week for the first time to observe the carrying out of the cease fire order in the four-week Arab-Jewish truce by members of his command.

Manulsky in the Security Council. "We simply can't stand the little man" one Commonwealth representative snorted when asked if his country would vote for the Ukraine. (Apparently however, the Security Council will have to endure Manulsky for the next month or two.)

Although he is Foreign Minister of the Ukraine, which was designated in 1944 a semi-autonomous Soviet republic, Manulsky is not himself a Ukrainian. He is a great Russian, a native of Leningrad and an old revolutionary with a record of activity in Russia and on the Continent. His English is uncertain and he rather tends to hide his knowledge of the language. But he speaks the French of a Paris taxi-driver, brisk, ungrammatical and stiff with argot.

Latterly, Manulsky has made all his speeches in Russian and they are for the most part long, explosive and sputtering. It is difficult at first hearing to single out the element in Manulsky's speeches which arouses enmity, whereas his Soviet colleagues manage to get along. It may be a combination of reasons. Manulsky's attacks are often fumbling; he is badly briefed; he is personal.

To Redeem Himself?

It may be that the little man has been sent this time to redeem himself—among other things. He may exhibit a great deal of charm in the Security Council debates—and Manulsky can, when pressed. But the arrival in America of a high Soviet agent at this time, when the Soviet peace drive is in full swing, when Bulgaria is seeking a rapprochement with Greece, could have explanations.

However, since the Russians have renewed their cries of "War-mongering Americans" over the weekend, Manulsky may really be coming to stir up trouble; this would suit his peculiar talents.

The rocky progress of the Palestine truce has surprised nobody at Lake Success for everybody there is familiar by now with the emotional and political factors which make this situation explosive beyond parallel. However, there is a feeling that the Arabs might have waited a few hours before crying that the cease-fire was being violated and made allowance for faulty communications and normal misunderstanding. In fact one observer who shall be nameless, has coined the following motto for the Arab states:

First in war,

First in truce and

First to yell 'foul' when the referee is not looking.

The dispatches said the bandits—allegedly Communist-inspired—attacked rubber estates in the Sungai Siput area 20 miles from Ipoh, killed the three planters and took their valuables.

The planters were identified as J. E. Walker, J. M. Allison and C. H. Christian.

Find New Uses For Asbestos

ASBESTOS, Que., June 16—(CP).—Jet planes were far in the future when asbestos outcroppings forced Charles Webb to turn his eastern townships farm-land into pasture, but 70 years later new uses for the mineral are driving the world's largest quarrying operation of its kind underground.

Asbestos blankets to insulate a pilot from the terrific heat of his jet engines are only one of the new products made of the mineral torn from open pits at the rate of 305,000 tons yearly. Now the operators who provide a livelihood for Asbestos' 5,500 people have dug a hole 1,000 feet underground in search for more of the fibrous mineral.

Ever since the prosperous English farmer, W. H. Jeffrey, took over Webb's apparently useless farm in 1881 to quarry asbestos, it has been taken out of a big open pit now nearly a mile across and 300 feet deep.

Two years ago the operators finished sinking a 1,000-foot shaft to get at ore bodies far below the surface. This operation still is in the development state but already Asbestos men, used to working in the open, are beginning to push drifts toward the ore.

No Charge Laid

CORNWALL, June 16 (CP)—Police said no charge has been laid against William A. Aziz of Toronto, driver of a car that Tuesday struck and killed Jeremiah McCormick, 69, of Cornwall. Police said McCormick was walking along the highway five miles east of Cornwall when he was struck by a westbound car. An inquest will be held.

Producing Less Coal

EDMONTON (CP)—Coal production in Alberta for the four months ending April 30 totalled 2,246,347 tons, a drop of 471,439 tons for the same period in 1947. In April, output increased 86,407 tons to 700,884 tons.

$30,000 Bull Has Operation

LONDON, Ont., June 16—(CP).—About 100 visitors to the annual clinic meeting of the Western Ontario Veterinary Association yesterday were present at a delicate foot operation performed on an Aberdeen Angus bull valued at $30,000.

The operation was carried out by Dr. J. W. Cunkelman of Fort Dodge, Iowa, "guest surgeon" at the clinic. He used a local anesthetic. The clinic was held at Edwards Brothers' farm at near-by Arva.

Demonstration of X-ray in the treatment of animals was another feature. A horse was X-rayed for a broken bone in the foot and a cow for a suspected nail in the stomach, which was not found. A horse that recently had been involved in a car accident was given a going-over for possible broken bones.

Directing the small animal surgery was Dr. Frank J. Cote, of Ontario Veterinary College, assisted by Dr. Walter M. Rice of St. Thomas. Clinic specimens were under the supervision of Dr. G. Henderson of Lambeth, Dr. J. S. Clark of Forest and Dr. H. Nelson, of Guelph.

Major Division On Tariff Cut Looms In U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—State Secretary George Marshall and Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich.)—the chief promoters of bi-partisan co-operation on recent foreign policy—are closer to a major split right now than they ever have been.

The issue is the tariff-cutting reciprocal trade act.

As a result state department officials may swallow their objections to the newly-voted revival bill and recommend that President Truman accept it rather than veto it.

If Marshall determines on that course, he probably will have to overrule Will Clayton, his former under-secretary and now special adviser.

Clayton, who fought the trade act battle in Congress, has been described as feeling that the bill which went to Truman Tuesday is wholly inadequate to continue a workable tariff reduction program.

Vandenberg, on the other hand, helped write the compromise measure and argued in the Senate that its limitations would not injure the tariff-cutting project.

The Michigan Senator furthermore has had some rather uncompromising things to say about the state department.

He called its attitude toward the revival bill "stubborn" and said he was "shocked" to learn that the department had refused to give senators certain foreign trade records.

Dies During Game

TORONTO, June 16 (CP).—William Ferguson, 59, of Claremont, collapsed and died of a seizure during Tuesday night's exhibition soccer game between the touring British Liverpool team and Toronto Ulster at Maple Leaf stadium. It was the third such death among soccer spectators this year.

Egg Prices Rising

TORONTO, June 16 (CP).—A. H. Hassall, sales manager of a Toronto wholesale distributing firm, said Tuesday that the present average of 56 cents a dozen for grade "A" large eggs "will be increased to at least 61 cents by July 1." He said the increase would be a gradual one.

2 Men In Belleville Sentenced For Theft

BELLEVILLE, June 16 (CP).—Bernard McNeil of Cape Breton, N.S., today was sentenced to 30 months for robbing Gerald Quinn of Ottawa in a local hotel. A concurrent 30-month sentence was also imposed on him for attempting to rob the hotel clerk.

Murray Gray, St. John, N.B., was sentenced to six months on the same charges. McNeil had been released from a Nova Scotia prison recently.

Senate Boosts Global Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—The Senate's $6,125,710,228 global aid bill headed to-day for a stormy reception in the economy-minded House of Representatives which last week voted many millions less.

The Senate approved the unprecedented sum by a 60 to 9 vote shortly after midnight. If rejected by the House—as it undoubtedly will be—the bill will be sent to a joint conference committee for agreement on some middle ground before Saturday's adjournment.

The Senate action added well over $1,000,000,000 to the House-approved bill. It did this chiefly by restoring the world-wide assistance program to a 12-month spending basis instead of the 15 months demanded by the House. In actual cash, the Senate bill increased the House amount by only $145,000,000 and was still $400,000,000 short of the amount President Truman asked.

Both Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich.) and State Secretary Marshall had urged the Senate to restore all of the House cuts. Vandenberg charged that the House had used a "meg-axe technique" which "guts the enterprise."

Windsor Teacher Edward Young Has Big Funeral

The funeral of the late Edward Young, BA, took place on Friday morning at St. Mary's Church, Young's Point, with interment in St. Mary's Cemetery. The funeral mass was sung by the Rev. J. V. Masterson, DD, and the graveside prayers were said by the Rev. Cyril Carroll of Norwood, a cousin of the deceased. The pall-bearers were F. Walsh, A. Davis, H. Ayotte, J. Trainor, W. W. Rose, and F. Rose.

The funeral was attended by friends from Young's Point, Lakefield, Peterborough, Toronto, Windsor and points in the United States. Mr. Young died at his residence, 1358 Currie Avenue, Windsor, June 7, after an illness of six months, in his 38th year.

Surviving are his wife, the former Marie Drouillard, and daughter Jo-Anne. Also a sister Kathleen (Mrs. Arthur Langlois) of Windsor, one sister Clara and a brother John of Young's Point. He was educated at St. Peter's High School, Peterborough, and St. Michael's College, and University of Toronto, where he received his honor degree of Bachelor of Arts. For the past ten years he has been principal of St. Clair's School, Windsor.

The many floral tributes and spiritual offerings received show how sadly he is missed by his family and the hosts of friends from many points in Ontario and the United States.

Wants To Boost Historic Sites

OTTAWA, June 16 — (CP).—Federal tourist-attracting projects were urged in the Senate on Tuesday by Senators from Manitoba and Nova Scotia. Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative Leader, suggested a Dominion system of super-highways integrated with the national park system.

Senator Felix P. Quinn (PC-Nova Scotia) appealed to the government for the rehabilitation of historic monuments around Halifax, particularly that port's Citadel Hill Fortress.

They spoke as the Senate approved in principle a Commons measure to increase from $75,000 to $100,000 the yearly amount for the upkeep of national battlefields in the Quebec area.

Liberal Convention Third In Party's History

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 16.—The National Liberal convention meeting here in August to choose a new leader succeeding Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will be the third since Confederation. The first was in June, 1893, and the second in August, 1919, both in Ottawa.

Wilfrid Laurier was the undisputed national leader when the 1893 convention was held. He had been chosen in 1887 by a party caucus comprising Liberal members of Parliament and Liberal senators. Purpose of the convention was to define the party platform and, more important, to rally the forces of Liberalism for the next general election which did not come until 1896.

The convention proved an imposing demonstration of the political strength of the party. Canada then had seven provinces and Liberal governments were in power in five of them. Quebec was Conservative. In British Columbia, at that time, governments were not organized on party lines.

Premier Oliver Mowat of Ontario was the chairman and on the platform as vice-chairmen were Premiers W. S. Fielding of Nova Scotia, Fred Peters of Prince Edward Island and A. G. Blair of New Brunswick. Clifford Sifton, attorney-general for Manitoba, was vice-chairman for that province. British Columbia had no vice-chairman; and H. G. Joly De Lotbiniere, former premier, represented Quebec.

Keynote Speech

The keynote speech was delivered by Mr. Laurier, later Sir Wilfrid, and Sir Richard Cartwright delivered a stinging attack on the government of Sir John Thompson. A series of resolutions provided the planks of a platform which was to carry the party to victory. The leadership of Mr. Laurier was unanimously endorsed.

When Sir Wilfrid's health began to fail in 1918, he started plans for a national convention to choose his successor. This was a departure from the time-honored custom in both parties of selecting a national leader by caucus. Conservatives did not follow the example of the Liberals until the 1927 convention in Winnipeg chose the late Viscount Bennett.

Sir Wilfrid died before the convention was called and D. D. MacKenzie, member for Cape Breton, who was Liberal house leader, issued the call. The convention was organized by Charles Murphy, who later became a minister and a senator.

The convention assembled Aug. 5, 1919, the same day of the month as this year's meeting, 29 years later. The convention in 1919 had a voting strength of 949, this year's 1,286.

The 1919 convention chose W. L. Mackenzie King as leader, and he has held the post ever since. It was a wide open election with the result in doubt until the final vote.

Premiers G. H. Murray of Nova Scotia and Lomer Gouin of Quebec were joint chairmen of that gathering and Andrew Haydon, later a senator, was general secretary. From time to time Rodolphe Lemieux of Quebec, Hartley D. Dewar of Ontario and Senator R. Dandurand of Quebec were acting chairmen.

Five were nominated for the leadership: Alexander Smith of Ottawa, Mr. King, D. D. Mackenzie, George P. Graham of Brockville and W. S. Fielding. Mr. King, Mr. Graham and Mr. Fielding had been in the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Smith said he recognized his nomination was a courtesy and retired before voting began. After the second ballot, Mr. Graham and Mr. Mackenzie also retired. The final vote was 476 for Mr. King and 438 for Mr. Fielding, who made the selection unanimous.

The convention also drew up a platform which has been a cause of controversy for years, the Conservatives accusing Mr. King of failing to bring it into effect and Mr. King declaring that he had charted the Liberal party course in the direction the convention mapped out even if it was not possible to fulfil every promise the party made.

Mr. King found no reason in the years that followed to call another convention. His leadership has never been challenged and any advice he required on party policy from the rank and file has been available from annual meetings of the National Liberal convention.

Fault-Finder Husband Trouble Maker in Home

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married five years, have two children, a nice home, a husband who is a good man, but who ruins all of our happiness by his perpetual fault-finding. The minute he opens the door he begins criticizing me in an angry voice.

If I am listening to the radio, it is a fool program. If I have taken the children out, it was too hot or too cold. If I have kept them in, they should have had fresh air. If I talk, I bore him with my jabber. If I keep silent, he wants to know what's wrong with me. And so on, and so on.

Is there anything I can do to break my husband from always knocking me?

A DEPRESSED WIFE

Answer: You can't argue with that kind of a man because he always flies into a passion that he is incapable of appreciating anything that you say, so the best way to approach him is by writing him a letter and mailing it to him at his place of business.

Threaten to Resign

Tell him how hard you try to please him, and how discouraging it is to you never to be able to win his approval by anything you do. Tell him that the wife job is like any other job, and that you feel that if you do not give satisfaction you had better resign and go to work for someone whom you can please.

That might wake him up and make him realize what he is doing. You see the trouble with the chronic fault-finders is that they don't know that they do it. It just becomes a habit with them. They grumble about everything that happens. It is just a letting off of the steam of their own fretful natures.

The chances are that your husband doesn't mean a word that he says, and he probably brags to everyone else about how good-looking you are and what a fine manager and a good mother.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a florist shop and live very nicely

BEAUTIFUL BORDER PRINT

A collarless round neckline, sloping shoulders and a full mid-calf skirt make for an effective little frock, nice for general wear.

on my own money, but I am very much in love with a man who has asked me to marry him although he makes a very small salary. Would you suggest that I marry him and keep on with my work? I always have worn that I never would work on the outside after I married. My job has become monotonous to me and I would like to give it up. But do you think I would be satisfied to live on the little he makes?

JOAN H

ANSWER: I certainly should advise you to stick to your florist shop if you marry your sweetheart. It is easy to accustom ourselves to luxuries, but hard to do without them. You would find it very disillusioning to have to come down to shabbiness and doing without all the things you enjoy.

As for your work being monotonous, so is all other work by which we earn a living. You won't find it any more thrilling to scrub pots and pans than it is to work in your florist shop, and there is a lot more money and less labor in one than in the other.

Girls who marry poor men because they are tired of working are just plain dumb.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am an intelligent woman and hold down a good position, but my trouble is that I cannot carry on a conversation. Do you think a certain amount of small talk is better than dumb silence?

ANSWER: Certainly it is, but small talk is not to be spoken of lightly. It is a fine art and one that is worthy of careful cultivation. No people are more useful or popular in society than those who can just babble on pleasantly and gaily about nothing at all.

In your case the only thing to do is to just jump in. The water is fine. Talk to people about themselves and you will be sure of interesting them. But use moderation. Don't talk people to death. Better silence than that.

Bensfort Bridge Re-opened By 2 Wardens

Bensfort bridge, which has been undergoing repairs since last winter, was officially re-opened late on Tuesday afternoon.

A car containing Wardens Alex Stephens of Durham-Northumberland and James Humphries of Peterborough, and other members of the Road Commission, broke the ribbons stretched across the centre span to mark completion of repairs. Cost is estimated at $15,000.

Work was done on the northern and central spans of the three-span bridge. The swinging portion operated by the Trent Canal was unaffected. The Department of Transport, however, divided the cost of laying the pile between the swinging section and the central span.

Engineers of both counties agreed that the most difficult part of the job was driving the steel piles into the fast-flowing waters of the Otonabee. This, however, was begun in February when the ice was at its thickest and completed in March.

After the H-piles had been sunk, a new laminated floor was laid consisting of 2 by 6 dressed lumber, treated with a special preservative and laid on edge. The whole surface, 226 feet in length, was given a concrete covering.

Curbs must still be laid and there is some bracing work to be done. When the bridge is then touched up with a coat of paint it should be almost as good as new.

At a dinner held later in the Empress Hotel, Warden Stephens, chairman of the evening, pointed out that the problem of repairing the Bensfort bridge had been plaguing council members since he entered their ranks nine years ago.

Warden Humphries confirmed this view and then told how the Road Commission had consulted last year together with Ewart Marston, municipal engineer, to decide what should be done. "The result was highly satisfactory to all parties concerned."

Weather Helped
"It shows what can be done with a little co-operation," he said.

William Darling, Reeve of Dummer, and chairman of the Road Commission, also referred to the co-operative aspect of the project. "It will be something to be proud of," he said.

Mr. Marston said that John Jordan, engineer of the United Counties, had supervised the steel work, while J. A. Fletcher, Peterborough county engineer, and Earl Orr, general foreman for Peterborough, had supervised the deck of the bridge.

Mr. Fletcher pointed out that they had been fortunate in last winter's weather. "I don't think if we had waited 20 years we would have found a spell of more favorable weather than last winter."

Present at the dinner were: the two wardens, Hugh Wilson, William Lumber Co., and councillor for Cannington; Arthur Warton, reeve of Percy Twp.; Mr. Orr; James Harrison, reeve of Smith; James Gifford, reeve of Ennismore; Jay Whittington, reeve of South Monaghan; Mr. Fletcher; Mr. Marston; William Filshie, Great Lakes Steel Corporation; Fred Nelson, Blythe Construction Co.; George Nelson, superintendent of Percy Twp.; Thomas Kerr, Four-Wheel Drive Co.; Bruce Andrew, reeve of Murray Twp.; Harold Cathart, reeve of Cavan; Willis Jones, road foreman, Northumberland.

IN LINE FOR THRONE — Baby Richard Paul George Andrew, born to Lady Katharine Brandram in a London nursing home, is fourth in line of succession to the Greek throne. Lady Katharine assumed British nationality when she married a British citizen, but was given the title of a duke's daughter by the king. However, according to Greek law, she remains Princess Katherine of Greece, a sister to the king of the Hellenes and her son is fourth in line for the throne.

Don't Expect Morrison Be Embarrassed

LONDON, June 16. (CP)—Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, usually is considered deft by labor supporters.

No one expects his position in the cabinet to be endangered by embarrassing or difficult developments. He is counted along with the foreign secretary Bevin as secure in high office as long as the Attlee administration continues.

But there is speculation that A. V. Alexander, another government veteran, may receive a new post in the next cabinet shake-up. He now is defence minister. The prospect is that John Strachey, now food minister, will be given one of the service ministries and be succeeded by Dr. Edith Sum-

Love Living In England Russian Bride Declares

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, June 16. (CP)—Mrs. Nora Murray, first wartime bride of a Briton allowed to leave Russia, today took her blonde curls and smiled at a letter describing life in Britain as too hard for women.

"I stay here," said the 28-year-old university graduate whose father once was mayor of Stalingrad. "I'm wonderfully happy."

As her three young sons played in a bombed site outside her prefabricated home in north London, Mrs. Murray was shown the letter written by Mrs. Nina Brand, Russian war bride who since has returned to Moscow.

In the letter published Tuesday by Pravda, Communist party organ, Mrs. Brand said that life in London was "like being in prison."

Mrs. Murray avoided comment on Mrs. Brand's complaints. She said she met her husband, John, during the war in Stalingrad.

House Builders Urge Help On Low Incomes

CALGARY, June 16. (CP)—Provincial government participation in a scheme to reduce down payments on newly constructed homes for low income groups will be urged by the Western Canada House Builders' Association.

More than 40 delegates representing the four Prairie Provinces at a builders' conference here, Tuesday night unanimously passed a resolution asking provincial aid for such a scheme.

The conference adjourned to Banff, Alta., today for the final session.

Delegates suggested that the Ontario home financing system whereby the government takes a second mortgage on new dwellings to reduce down payments, might be used as a model by other provinces.

A second resolution asked for specific assistance from the governments of Alberta and Saskatchewan in financing construction this summer of 125 homes in Edmonton, 200 in Calgary and 300 in Regina.

The houses planned for the three cities would be two-bedroom structures costing in the neighborhood of $7,000 apiece. They will be for sale, not rent. The association is trying to arrange with the governments of the two provinces to reduce the down payments of prospective owners to around $700. Under the most lenient of present federal housing terms, a down payment of about $1,400 would be required to purchase such a house.

Stassen's friends here contend the last week has shown an upturn in the former governor's political standing from the low point reached after his defeat by Governor Thomas Dewey of New York in the May 21 Oregon primary.

While he stuck to his prediction of a Stassen victory, a close associate told a reporter that if the drive should fail for any reason, he would expect Stassen to get behind the movement for Vandenberg.

The enigma of Vandenberg's non-candidacy continued to hold top interest as delegates began heading for Philadelphia from all over the country.

It produced a prediction Tuesday by Senator Chan Gurney (Rep.-S.D.) that the Michigan senator would accept the nomination if it were offered.

Later Murray joined the army and Mrs. Murray lived in a top floor room in a north London working-class district where her sons were born.

Quite Satisfied
When her husband was demobilized a year ago, Mrs. Murray said, "we had to start from scratch—no money, no nothing."

Now? Her husband has "just got going" in business with other former servicemen.

Here are some of her comments on British life:

"I admire your civil administration, your fair rationing and, above all, the spirit of your women in making the best of everything."

"Food is not plenty but sufficient. Clothes are good... shops beautiful and I love window shopping."

On the debit side she said her sons could not go to Eton—"and if Eton is the best school I want it for my sons." In Russia her sons could go to the best schools and universities free.

COUPLE PAROLED — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hankinson are shown as they sobbed out in New York court the story of their three-months-old baby in Brooklyn in March. The father is a disabled war veteran, unable to work and forced on relief because of a mix-up in his discharge papers. The couple's story of post-war hard luck so moved the court that they were freed on parole for further hearing.

Report Stassen May Back Vandenberg

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—reports came out of the Harold Stassen camp today that if the Minnesotan fails to win the Republican presidential nomination he might lead a convention move to draft Senator Arthur Vandenberg.

Antique Fair Delights British Experts

By SHAUN McQUILLAN

LONDON, June 16. (CP). — The glitter of precious metals, the smell of old wood and musty odors of perfume are trademarks of one of London's most curious annual exhibitions — the antique fair.

An estimated £4,000,000 ($16,000,000) worth of antiques from delicate Chinese porcelain of the B.C. era to clumsy oak furniture of the early 1800's is on view in the Great Hall of Grosvenor House where the art fanciers crowd in to admire, criticize and buy.

Nothing later than 1830 vintage is permitted on display. The merchandise includes pewter, prints, clocks and miniature porcelains.

An air of brisk business pervades the thronged hall. A stout, prosperous looking dealer, smoking a cigar, discusses feverishly with a prospective buyer the merits of some ancient treasure.

Connoisseurs' Paradise
At one stand an expert peers at a minute Japanese carving through a magnifying glass. Farther along a connoisseur stands admiringly before a Chippendale chair and another examines a miniature silver skull and apple-shaped pomander—a box for perfumes. The apple is inscribed:

"A.D. 1628
"From man came woman
"From woman came sin
"From sin came death."

Most of the stands were decorated with fresh flowers. Many of them are reconstructions typical of rooms in Tudor times. Others are so crammed with oddments that they look just like antique shops, despite the modernity of the cast hall.

Children were notable by their absence among viewers. Perhaps it was just as well. Even elderly folk were sent into chorales of joy as they tried to puzzle out the various mechanical novelties.

Asked what antiques were most demanded, a dealer's representative on one of the stalls told the Canadian Press:

"Silverware from Georgian and Queen Anne periods is selling like hot cross buns on Good Friday. Furniture, too, is in great demand. Many dealers have cleared out their original exhibits and have had to replace them with a fresh lot."

COUNT WINNERS TOO COUNTING your losers when you are in a suit contract is usually a good short-cut to finding which must be disposed of. But it is not always an adequate method. In a high contract especially, if you have no overplus of tricks in sight, it is well also to count up the winners and make sure you have the necessary number of them.

South got himself a justified castigating from his partner for this contract. He won the diamond K lead by ruffing with the heart 10, then counted his losers. He saw he could discard one losing spade on the dummy's sixth club and could ruff the other in the dummy, so without further ado raced along those lines.

He scored three top hearts, then became frightened about ruffing a spade with the dummy's last trump. Doing that would enable West, when he trumped a club, to take in several diamonds. So he decided to make West ruff with his last heart. He scored the club A, led to the club K, West discarding, and then a third club, which West trumped to set the contract.

You will go far to find worse play of an easy contract. All that South had to do was to lay down the heart 9 when in the dummy with the first club and discard his last spade on it. Or, sounder still, after taking his third high trump, lead to the spade A and use the heart 9 for a double purpose—take out West's 8 and discard a spade. North's hand would then have been set up.

East complimented himself for his 7-Diamonds intended sacrifice which caused South to play in hearts instead of clubs, but North's outline of the simple play required for the actual contract took the wind out of his sails.

Say 100,000 In France Idle Through Strikes 25 Towns Hit By Walkouts

Charge Troops Beat Strikers In Effort To Hide Real Issue;
Demonstrations Reach As Far As Paris

PARIS, June 17—(AP)—More than 25 towns have been hit by a surge of strikes snowballing across France and there are indications that 100,000 Frenchmen will be off the job by tonight. At least 50,000 workers were idle Wednesday, most of them in sympathy with strikers at Clermont-Ferrand, who were tossed out of their factory Wednesday morning by police and state troops.

France Approves German Plan; Has 6 Conditions

PARIS, June 17 (AP)—The National Assembly early today reluctantly approved a six-power agreement to set up a semi-independent government in western Germany. It backed on six conditions intended to guarantee French security.

Premier Robert Schuman had only eight votes to spare on the final count—287 to 289, with 26 abstentions.

The plan envisages election of a constituent assembly in the British, French and American occupation zones of Germany to set up a German government with the least possible allied control. It also contains provisions for six-power control of German industry and the Ruhr mines and for indefinite allied occupation of Germany.

The deputies decided that conditions were necessary and appended these six:

1. The government should try to gain for internationalization of the Ruhr mines and industry.
2. The government should make certain that France will participate in control of German industry.
3. The government should get an airtight agreement on guarantees of peace before any allied troops are withdrawn from Germany.
4. The formation of a centralized Reich must be prevented.
5. The government is to keep trying for agreement with the Russians on Germany.
6. Efforts to organize Europe politically and economically must be stepped up.

Fruit Dealer Dead In Park

OTTAWA, June 17, (CP)—Saul Toronto, Ottawa fruit dealer, was found shot to death in nearby Rockcliffe today, his suit jacket pocketed carefully over his head and upper portions of his body.

A note scrawled in pencil was found in his automobile, beside which the body was found. Police are checking the handwriting but said it was too early to indicate whether the case was murder.

The body was discovered by John Brown, who was cutting grass in the park. Brown thought the man was asleep, but found a heavy automatic on the grass beside the figure and a bullet hole in the head. He reported his discovery at the RCMP barracks nearby.

Canada Hopes To Sell More Exports To U.S.

WINNIPEG, June 17—(CP)—Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, told the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce today that Canada hopes to sell a larger proportion of her exports to the United States in future.

In an address prepared for delivery to the chamber's annual convention, Mr. Towers suggested the pre-war flow of trade between Canada and the United Kingdom might have to be shifted into new channels.

Discussing the U.S. European Recovery Program, he said some Canadians were over-optimistic as to its effects on the dollar position of the Dominion.

Pickets Fined $100

TORONTO, June 17 (CP).—Ten United Electrical Workers (CIO) pickets were each fined $100 today for watching and besetting arising from disturbances at the Rogers Majestic plan in suburban Leaside last month. Fined were Marion Anderson, Gordon Edwards, Lloyd Taitton, Michael Haejey, Margaret Smith, Barbara Botts, Reginald Bonofrio, William Baker, George Schaefer and George Wilson, all of Toronto.

Promises Truce Won't Affect Military Gains

CAIRO, June 17—(AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte took off for Tel Aviv today to talk with Israeli leaders about permanent peace plans for Palestine. The first week of a 28-day armistice ends tonight.

Just before he left, a letter he wrote to Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha was made public promising the military situation in the Holy Land will be restored to what it was when the truce took effect.

In Tel Aviv, the United Nations mediator intends to ask Israeli authorities whether they plan to send consultants to his headquarters on Rhodes. He said the Arabs have promised to send four experts there next Monday.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary of the league, emphasized that the experts will not represent Arab countries, but merely will supply Bernadotte with data and documents he may need.

Bernadotte pointed out that sending of experts to Rhodes does not mean there will be a round-table conference attended by both Jews and Arabs. The Arabs already have turned down any such talks.

The Israeli government in Tel Aviv, meanwhile, accused Britain of diverting fuel to Arab states by shutting off the pipeline from Arab countries to Haifa.

In a statement condemning the pipeline shutdown, the foreign office said the Israeli government "is becoming more and more convinced that what is happening is not just a commercial readjustment, but definite part and parcel of a scheme to intervene, to put it mildly, in the Jewish war effort and to lead the dice against us."

In Jerusalem an official Jewish source said Wednesday night that movement of the official United Nations food convoy toward Jerusalem has been delayed, "owing to inaccurate information given by the Arab Legion to the truce commission."

German Police Recapture Kuhn

MUNICH, Germany June 17—(AP)—Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund leader, was recaptured today, Munich public safety officials disclosed.

Kuhn escaped from the German internment camp at Dachau under mysterious circumstances Feb. 4. The camp director, Anton Zirngibl, was dismissed as a result.

Kuhn was captured in the French zone town of Bernkastel, near Trier, by German police. Suspicion was aroused when he applied for a chemist's license.

Kommandatura Functions Despite Russian Walkout

BERLIN, June 17 (AP)—Three committees of the Allied Kommandatura for Berlin met today, with the Russians present despite their angry walkout Wednesday night from the Kommandatura itself, last functioning four-power agency in the city.

They stalked out of the long session shouting: "There won't be any next meeting." Col. Frank Howley, the United States representative at that meeting, said he believed the Russians intend to boycott the Kommandatura, as they have the Allied Control Council for Germany since March 20. A Russian walkout broke up that agency.

The Kommandatura is the administrative agency for the city of Berlin, a four-power island deep in Russian-occupied territory. The control council is the four power agency for governing all of occupied Germany. Kommandatura attaches said today's public works, finance and economy committee meetings proceeded normally.

The walkout, following a 13-hour session of the Kommandatura in which Russian travel and transport restrictions were discussed, was not altogether unexpected.

This morning, the Russians announced they plan still further restrictions on German travel between their occupation zone and western Germany.

At the same time, the Russian military administration announced that it had authorized two new political parties to operate in the Russian zone. One is the National Democratic Party, whose organizers announced several months ago that it was designed to enroll former Nazis who had "found no political home among existing parties." The other new party authorized is the Democratic Peasants party.

Dutch Crisis Reported; Talks Fail

Complete Collapse Of Peace Efforts Feared In Indonesia

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 17—(CP)—The United Nations Security Council today takes up the problem of Indonesia where a crisis seemed to be developing after months of quiet.

It is not clear just how serious the current Batavia difficulties are, but some high UN authorities fear that a complete collapse of Dutch-Indonesian peace talks is imminent.

The good offices committee told the council Wednesday in a cable that Netherlands officials had informed the committee that they thought it advisable to suspend the discussions with the Indonesians for the time being.

A report from UN officials in Batavia said a serious situation had developed there after publication of a confidential proposal which Coert Dubois, United States member of the good offices committee, had submitted to the Dutch and Indonesian representatives.

In the council's Indonesian debate last week, Netherlands representative Dr. Elco N. Van Kleffens delivered a sharp rebuke to the delegates for permitting what he called trivial discussions.

Van Kleffens' flare-up followed Indonesian charges that the Dutch were trying to break up the Indonesian charges that the Dutch were trying to break up the Indonesian republic by sponsoring the creation of separate states in West Java and Madoera.

The council today also expects to record its 27th veto, with Russia blocking a United States proposal for international control of atomic energy.

Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko Wednesday declared that he will reject the United States plan to approve the majority report of the Atomic Energy Commission.

London Dock Strike Ties Up 100 Ships

LONDON, June 17—(CP).—More than 100 ships, carrying an estimated 10,000,000 ($40,000,000) worth of import and export cargoes, today were tied up in London docks as a special labor tribunal sought to settle the four-day-old dockers' strike.

The strike started Monday after 11 dock workers were suspended because they refused to handle a zinc oxide shipment without extra pay. They called the shipment a dirty cargo. Longshoremen out in sympathy now total more than 13,000.

The 11 men also were deprived for three months of guaranteed attendance money—basic wages paid even when there is insufficient work to keep them occupied.

Cargoes held up by the strike included automobiles and machinery for export and among the imports five cargoes of meat, as well as eggs, fruit and vegetables.

Rainbow Bridge Carillon Peals For First Pennsylvania Man Handles Bells At Debut

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 17—(CP).—After more than a year's delay, the 55-bell Rainbow Bridge carillon will peal today for the first time. The honor of playing at the debut of the Dominion's greatest, and possibly most-publicized set of bells will fall to a Pennsylvania carillonneur, Prof. Robert Klein-schmidt.

The carillon, erected in the Rainbow Tower, 135 feet above the boiling Niagara river, has taken more than two years to install, at a cost of $100,000. Its great bells, weighing from eight pounds to eight tons, were hand-forged in England.

The bells were first scheduled to play in June 1947, but their grand opening was delayed when an inscription on one of the bells became the centre of a Dominion-wide controversy.

The dispute arose over a phrase in the inscription, "In grateful memory of our nation's leaders, Winston Spencer Churchill and Franklin Delano Roosevelt." Critics said the inscription was an affront to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

A bitter verbal and legal duel ensued which ended ultimately on the floor of the House of Commons, and resulted in the dismissal of the three Canadian members of the Niagara Falls bridge commission by the Ontario government.

FRASER RIVER FLOOD DAMAGE — Communities and valley farm lands inundated by the flooding Fraser River are common scenes of chaos in parts of British Columbia today. Leslie Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graham, 599 Harvey St., first year engineering student with Consolidated Mining and Smelting for the summer, sent the above pictures of Kimberley home to his parents. Top photo shows undamaged homes that were blasted to prevent obstruction of flood waters and, Lower shows the ruins of the roadbed on Highway 7 on the outskirts of the town.

3-Month Terms Given 4; Police Assaulted

LINDSAY, June 17 (Special).—A three-day trial ended in county court before Judge J. A. McGibbon Wednesday afternoon when four brothers, Lionel, Earl, Gerald and Leo Tracey, as well as Lorne McGee and John Hopkins of Lindsay, all were sentenced to three months in the county jails on charges resulting from a fracas in a local hotel in which Police Constables J. Hunter, R. Endicott and T. Bouldestone were injured.

Constable Hunter received a smashed hand and several fractured ribs.

Mr. Arthur Fair of Peterborough, representing the accused, informed court officials he would appeal the decision because "the judge would not permit the Crown or the defence counsel to submit leading questions in cross-examination."

"The question for you to decide is which side is telling the truth," said Judge McGibbon in charging the jury. "I am inclined to believe the evidence of the police," he said, pointing out the great 3-MONTH TERM

Union Gets Tear Gas Masks Answer To Threats of CSU

CORNWALL, June 17—(CP).—Twenty-four gas masks, brought from Montreal, was the union's answer to tear gas threats by Canada Shipping Lines, Michael Jackson, Canadian Seamen's Union Great Lakes director, said Wednesday night. He declared the CSU had 12,000 members determined to "carry on a fight to the last man" in the dispute with five Great Lakes shipping companies.

The gas masks, he added, were in answer to a statement by Capt. N. J. Reoch, Canada Steamship Lines operations manager. Reoch said Tuesday CSL vessels would be equipped with tear gas weapons and other equipment to hold off CSU men who try to board company ships.

Meanwhile, an emergency session of CIO-TLC members of greater Cornwall discussed continued CSU support behind closed doors for 5½ hours.

Attending was Milton Nuttall, CSU business agent at Cornwall, released from police custody a few hours previously on bail of $2,500.

Harry Davis, CSU president, on Wednesday night termed Capt. Reoch's threat to use tear gas and

Urges Farmers Get Profit To Save Dairy Industry

WOODSTOCK, June 17—(CP).—Earle Kitchen, secretary-manager of the Dairy Farmers of Canada said today it was in the interests of all Canadians that farmers be paid the cost of producing food, plus "a reasonable profit."

Mr. Kitchen said, in a speech prepared for delivery today at the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association picnic here that the "uncertain" future of the dairy industry has caused "a rapid decline in the dairy population of Canada." This decline might "quickly reach a point from which it will take years to recover."

Dairy price levels had fallen just before the imposition of price ceilings.

"It was our expectation that when the war was over our fellow citizens would see us fairly recompensed for our wartime service."

Instead, industry had demanded the relaxation of controls and decontrol had become public policy. The public, however, accustomed to controlled prices, continued to demand regulated food prices. Industrial controls came off but food controls remained in the form of export market regulations.

Producers of cheese, concentrated milk and whole milk had seen their costs "go on mounting steadily and their return remain stationary."

The imposition of a ceiling on butter prices last winter and a recent government announcement of a floor price "so far below the cost of production" had affected the confidence of dairy men.

The only policy that would build dairy herds and assure dairy production was "a long-term government policy."

Food Market Destroyed In Toronto

Seven Firemen Hurt
At $200,000 Fire;
Blame Garage Blast

TORONTO, June 17, (CP).—Thirty-eight families were driven from two North-Central (Bathurst and St. Clair) apartment buildings today by a $200,000 fire that gutted the adjacent farmers' market building and a garage, and damaged several other business premises.

Seven firemen suffered cuts from flying glass while fighting the blaze which delayed thousands of downtown office workers on their way to work.

Two automobiles were destroyed in a garage at the rear of the building. More than a dozen other automobiles were wheeled out in time.

Hundreds of passers-by jammed streets as the roof of the building collapsed and flames and yellow smoke shot high in the air.

The fire is believed to have started with an explosion in the garage.

Make Headway

Two hours after the fire began, firemen had the blaze under control for a time. Fires broke out anew, however, in the ruins of a large second-storey bowling alley and squads of firemen continued to fight the blaze.

Firemen were warned on their arrival that there were 60 gallons of highly-inflammable liquid polish in the back of the bowling alley. A special squad of firemen forced their way through the flames and smoke to the storage room and carried the cans of polish to safety.

Fire Department officials said that if the fire had reached the cans, the whole city block would have been destroyed.

Lift Travel Ban In Five Areas

By The Canadian Press
Travel restriction will be lifted tomorrow in five northern Ontario fire areas, the Lands and Forests Department announced today.

Travel will be allowed in the Algonquin Park, North Bay, Temiskaming, Gogama and Cochrane districts under a "closely supervised" travel permit system. Other parts of the province will be opened to woods travel as conditions permit, a department spokesman said.

There are no restrictions to prevent travel to established tourist camps and private cottages, provided vacationists stay close to the lakes and keep out of the bush.

Rainmakers, meanwhile, watched for cloud formations suitable for rain-producing experiments in the Chapleau and Mississagi areas.

Dry ice was kept ready in Sault Ste. Marie, for Lands Department men to load aboard an Ontario Hydro Commission plane when word came that moisture-laden cloud banks were drifting over the fire areas between Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury.

The forestry men and a Federal meteorologist awaited only favorable conditions to resume bombardment of clouds in efforts to touch off a heavy rain storm which would quench fires that have licked through rich timberland since May 25.

Use of dry ice started a rain storm in the Gogama area northwest of Sudbury last week. Since then, however, north country clouds have had low water content and dousing them with the solidified carbon dioxide had little effect.

Belleville Seaman Arrested By RCMP

PORT COLBORNE, June 17—(CP).—Two Canadian Seamen's Union pickets, George Miller, 27, Belleville, and Charles Everett, 28, Galt, were remanded Wednesday on trespassing charges laid by the R.C.M.P. They were arrested on canal property adjoining lock eight at Humberstone last night in possession of a case of beer.

Evacuate Women, Children As Communists Terrorize Malayan Area

Despatch Gurkha Troops To Capture Killers, Police Given Extra Powers; Raiders Threaten To Kill All Europeans

SINGAPORE, June 17.—(CP).—Authorities yesterday ordered the immediate evacuation of all European women and children from the Sungei Seput district of the Malay Federation, where Communists are charged with conducting a terror reign. High Commissioner Sir Edward Gent placed that region and three other rich rubber-producing areas of the peninsula under a state of emergency, giving local officials drastic police powers to combat what he described as a serious state of lawlessness.

His action came shortly after Chinese gunmen killed three British planters at Sungei Seput in Northwestern Malaya. Two prominent Chinese also were slain in Malaya, bringing the Wednesday toll to five.

Ipo and the Klang and Muar-Plemon districts in the south central State of Johore were included along with Sungei Seput in Sir Edward's decree which provide the death penalty for unauthorized possession of firearms, ammunition or explosives.

Greater Powers

Local officials were granted power to arrest or exclude persons in the four areas, to limit assembly, impose curfews, search persons and premises, close roads and waterways, requisition buildings, vehicles and boats, seize seditious documents and seize articles which could be used as offensive weapons.

Despatches identified the slain Britons as J. E. Walker, F. M. Allison and C. H. Christian. They were killed when a band of 15 gunmen, armed with Sten guns and revolvers, raided two rubber plantations.

"We'll shoot all Europeans," one raider said before the shooting.

Ten armed men killed the Chinese Kuomintang Party leader in Johore. He was the fifth pro-government Chinese slain in two days. Near Taiping a Chinese contractor also was shot.

A senior police officer at Sungei Seput said that there was no question but that the murders were carried out by the Communist strong-arm corps which was out to destroy the rubber and tin industries in this country.

He added that Allison and Christian were shot in cold blood while they were still tied up. The gang searched the bungalows of the two men for valuables and then set fire to rubber smoke-houses.

Gurka troops were despatched to the scene of the shooting of the planters to aid in a search for the killers. A $3,500 reward was offered for apprehension of the band.

Malcolm Macdonald, British Commissioner in Southeast Asia, recently charged that Communist agitators were attempting to establish a rule of violence in Malaya.

Mitchell Gets Report On Rail Wage Dispute

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP).—Labour Minister Mitchell today received a direct report on the stalling of his department's mediation attempt in the railway wage dispute.

He conferred with Mr. Justice J. C. A. Cameron of the Exchequer Court of Canada, government mediator between the railways and unions representing 140,000 men who are threatening to strike for higher pay.

Officials await results of a strike vote, expected to be completed June 18, among the 112,000 members of 18 international unions. Another group—the 28,000-man Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other Transport Workers (CCL)—was said by its officers to be ready to stage a strike on a few days' notice.

Discover Suicide Note Left By Oshawa Man Police Delay Decision On Holding Inquest

OSHAWA, June 17.—Inspector W. H. Clark of the Provincial Police, said that Howard C. Bradley, Oshawa realtor, who committed suicide Tuesday after bludgeoning his wife to death in their Simcoe St. home, left a personal note to his daughter.

The note, contents of which were not divulged, was found in the couple's bedroom, where their daughter, Mrs. Margaret Reed, discovered her mother's body early Tuesday morning. The father's body was found in the garage, where he had climbed into the back seat of his car and asphyxiated himself with carbon monoxide gas from a hose attached to the exhaust.

WINNIPEG, June 17.—(CP).—Oats and barley futures are showing an easier tone in early trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Mr. Fair asked for suspended sentence for his clients because of their previously clean court sheet. "They all are fine young fellows, come from a good family and have never been in court before. Three of them received a very bad beating from the police," Crown Attorney Louis Jordan said.

He could not agree to a suspended sentence, but was not adverse to having the sentences run concurrently. The Crown commended Mr. Fair for the fight he had put up on behalf of his clients.

Trenton Plane Crashes In Lake; Pilot Missing

BOWMANVILLE, June 17.—(CP).—Bits of wreckage in Lake Ontario were identified Wednesday night as parts of a Vampire jet fighter plane and search continued for the body of the pilot assumed to have plunged to his death today.

Wing Cmdr. F. Sharpe made the identification of the wreckage of the plane that was flown from Trenton air station on a routine flight by Sqdn. Ldr. S. Y. Broadbent of St. Thomas.

Flt. Lt. W. Barry, public relations officer of central air force command, announced a Navy Fairmile left Toronto Wednesday night to take soundings in the area a mile offshore to determine the course of salvage operations.

Charts give the depth as 20 fathoms (120 feet) but on-the-spot investigation will determine whether divers can be used or whether dragging will be employed.

The jet plane left the RCAF Station at Trenton yesterday morning on a routine mission.

Bowmanville farmer, Lyle Brock, told police he saw the plane crash into the lake about a mile east of the village and vanish beneath the surface within a few seconds.

"There was a great splash 25 or 30 feet high and then nothing," Brock said. He told police he had seen no trace of a parachute before the plane nosedived into the lake.

Congress Upsets 3rd Truman Veto

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP).—Congress widening its split with President Truman, today undertook the history-making step of overriding his third veto in a week.

A House of Representatives vote was all that was needed to make Truman the first President to have his "noes" on major legislation turned into "yesses" by Congress so often in so short a time.

Today's vote is on a bill to exempt railroads and other surface carriers from anti-trust actions for delays and fare agreements provided the agreements met Interstate Commerce Commission approval.

Will Accept Health Plan Ontario Says

All Nine Provinces Have Indicated Approval Of Scheme

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP).—The stock of the federal government's National Health Plan soared Wednesday when Ontario formally announced its intention to co-operate in the $30,000,000 program.

A government source said it means that "practically all" the nine provinces have indicated their approval of the scheme.

The plan, distinct from other Dominion-provincial agreements, was announced in the Commons by Prime Minister Mackenzie King last May 14. He said it calls for expenditure of $30,000,000 a year during each of the next five years. That sum will go to the province provided they:

1. Express willingness to co-operate.

2. Guarantee the grants will be spent for the purposes intended.

3. Agree not to reduce their own present health expenditures.

In two cases—cancer-control and hospital-construction—the provinces must contribute amounts equal to or greater than the federal grants.

Ontario's decision was announced in Toronto Wednesday by Provincial Health Minister Kelley.

New Brunswick, Alberta and British Columbia also have publicly stated their intention to co-operate.

Part of the program of the New Brunswick Liberal Party, seeking re-election June 28, is a promise to "co-operate with the Dominion in all necessary steps leading to inauguration of a national health plan."

Health Minister Cross of Alberta said Tuesday that his government intends to co-operate with the Dominion. British Columbia's health minister, George S. Pearson, expressed the same stand for his government.

Doomed to extinction?

A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our waterfowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservation practices are neglected.

Balancing Our Trade

"Canada finds herself today in the peculiar situation as the sole member of the British Commonwealth unable to trade more or less freely in Empire markets, which have become increasingly important to Canada in the development of her world trade."

That sentence, from a submission by the Canadian Exporters' Association to Trade Minister Howe, points to the critical position in which our economy is now placed. Canada is the only Commonwealth country not in the sterling area; it is in the American "hard currency" dollar realm. Nevertheless, we like "soft currency" countries, are short of American dollars. Other Commonwealth countries, short of dollars, find trade among themselves easier than with us, and in fact if they do not have American dollars to implement their trade with Canada, we must give them large credits or deal on a barter basis—that is, import their goods as we export ours.

Because we are short of American dollars, the Howe-Abbott restrictions were imposed last November. These were aimed at reducing our buying in the United States, for which we did not, and have not the dollars. Because of the Geneva Trade Agreements we could not theoretically discriminate against imports from one country (the U.S.). In effect the restrictions have almost exclusively affected American imports, and the Americans, realizing our economic difficulties, have generously put up with the virtually discriminatory regulations.

The Toronto Globe and Mail, critical of the Howe-Abbott emergency measures, maintains that the regulations are strangling our trade, particularly with Britain. In certain commodities sales may have been lost—the Exporters' Association has cited instances of firms
"currently losing 50, 75, 90 and even 100 per cent. of their sales in Empire countries". We would not dispute this, but can record the fact that in the first four months of this year imports from Britain were up 66 per cent, and we can repeat Mr. Abbott's statement that British trade has been affected scarcely at all by our import prohibitions. If Britain has reduced its imports of specific Canadian commodities, may that not be because Britain is attempting to spend her Canadian funds on essentials like wheat, as we are attempting to spend our American funds on essential capital goods?

A further consideration is this: Empire markets may have become increasingly important to Canada, but of greater increased importance have become markets like those in South America and other "hard currency" areas—like the U.S. The import restriction program has resulted in the first three months of this year in a saving of U.S. exchange of 59.1 million dollars. Canadian exports to the U.S. are up 24 per cent, and our exports to all dollar countries have increased. It would seem therefore that the restrictive regulations on imports are at least partly achieving their purpose of conserving American dollars and are not "strangling our trade" as the Globe and Mail would have us believe.

Dangerous Journalism

Many reasons are being put forward to explain the success of the C.C.F. at the polls in the Provincial general election on June 7 and the two federal by-elections which followed. We would say that the abusive anti-C.C.F. propaganda and scurrilous innuendo of the kind that appeared in the May issue of the small, influential The Canadian Military Journal is a contributory factor.

We call attention to this journal and one particular passage in it first because it is a scandalous kind of journalism which should be exposed and vigorously condemned; secondly because it appears in a magazine whose name gives it a kind of official sound—"The Canadian Military Journal". It is not an official publication, though its slogan is: "Published in the interest of Navy, Army, Air Force and National Security". Its Editor-in-Chief is Lieutenant-Colonel J. K.

Keefler, its Editor Lieutenant-Colonel R.
J. S. Langford.

The passage which should arouse the ire of any fair-minded Canadian—appears to be an editorial comment, it is not signed or credited to any advertiser.

The C.C.F. aspirants to political power (and you don't find many of them working in factories) hold out all sorts of fancy promises to the workers, but if successful in their quest for office, the workers could expect no better treatment at their hands than the Germans and Italians got under Hitler and Mussolini; and the Russians and English are getting today under their reputed labour-minded governments. In England, the Government has given the workers the nauseating advice of "work or starve".

This malicious paragraph links the C.C.F. and the British Labour Government insidiously with Hitler's Nazis and Mussolini's Fascists and with the latest bugaboo, Stalin's Communists. It is an irresponsible, scandalous statement to appear in any Canadian journal, let alone in one which professes to be a "Defence Forces Review". Contemptible journalism like that deserves to be ground under the heel of army men, suppressed by naval officers and jettisoned by R.C.A.F. men whose messes or

Put Not Your Faith In The Alphabet

We doubt that this is after all the Atomic Age. According to the lingo of the times it is the Alphabetic Age, even though the Atom Bomb seems to be here to stay and the various combinations of letters (like UNSCOP which referred to the ineffective United Nations Special Commission on Palestine) are here today and gone tomorrow. The combinations may pass but not, alas, the habit of concocting them.

It is a bad habit, for an alphabetic term invented six months ago is more than likely to be in limbo today. Should its ugly face be revived temporarily on a news page it is incomprehensible—people have forgotten what it used to mean. That is one reason why these letter-fingies are bad. The official historian of the Canadian Army is astute enough to avoid the hundreds of military combinations like COSSAC and C.A.O.F. as frequently as he can in his historical summary of The Canadian Army.
He expects the book to be read and understood six months and more after its publication.

We mention the matter merely to make clear to our readers what has happened to the Marshall Plan. As soon as the public came to know what that term meant the name was changed to E.R.P. (European Recovery Program).
That was General Marshall's suggestion put into a definite program by the sixteen nations represented at last year's Paris conference. We have now become accustomed to "E.R.P." Now we read about E.C.A. (Economic Co-operation Administration). That is the way to refer to the bill and the action taken by the Americans on the matter of E.R.P.
It is all so confusing that perhaps we should refer to the whole business, past, present and future, as "It" (i.e. I.T.: International Teaser).

Oratory At School Closings

June brings the end of school terms;
the end of school terms brings formal closing functions, prize-givings and the like; these bring speakers. Speakers on these occasions should be witty, if possible, but principally brief, and affable.
They should pay the usual compliments to the students and the staff, and then retire from the stage, their traditional duty done.

We have remarked in late years a tendency for speakers to attempt to say something original or provocative. This is an error of judgement, or to take a less charitable view of it, an attempt by the speaker to gain notoriety, to have his words reported in the press. This can too easily lead to inanities. For instance, Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education for the province of Quebec, addressed the graduating class of Macdonald College, a suburban Montreal institution for giving instruction in elementary pedagogy, agriculture and domestic science. He is reported to have said that teachers and other intellectual workers should be paid on a "piece-work" basis.

Industry has solved the problem of just reward for effort expended by introducing piece-work, whereby the labourer is paid for the amount produced. But some genius is needed to discover a similar thought for paying intellectual workers.

Well, even if Dr. Percival did not say anything sensible, he has won the attention, though not the approval, of the press.

Leadership

From The Times Literary Supplement

LEADERSHIP may be defined as the power to induce others to follow a given course of action without recourse to bribery or menace. It assumes three main forms, which may be classified as military, political and intellectual. Military leadership, the most primitive of the three, consists in the ability to secure prompt and uncritical obedience to commands. Such obedience, when it is not forced, is an act of confidence in the professional competence, fidelity and single-mindedness of the leader. The relationship of command and obedience must be carefully distinguished from that of ownership and slavery. Subordination is a condition of status and implies respect, slavery a condition of rightlessness based on coercion. The relations of mutual trust which military leadership presupposes were the avowed basis of feudal society. With the advance of civilization they have been restricted to a steadily diminishing field of activity. Even now, however, they are regarded as necessary not only in the Army but throughout a large part of industry. Furthermore, they have about them a beauty by which romantic radicals have always been attracted. Carlyle, Morris and Ruskin all considered the problem of social and economic order in terms of military leadership and the feudal ideal. In the process they contributed to the modern distortion of the military ideal which is hero-worship. To the democratic mind leadership is tolerable only when it is based on admiration for the leader's own qualities as distinct from respect for his station. Once this is admitted, however, it rapidly degenerates into demagoguery.
To encourage the leader to wallow in the admiration of his subjects, and his subjects to attribute to him semi-divine qualities, is to encourage arrogance and idolatry.

POLITICAL leadership appeals not to loyalty but to conviction; its instrument is not command but persuasion. A political leader has to convince those over whom he exercises authority of the wisdom of his principles and the dependability of his judgment.
He surveys society from a high eminence and he cannot always hope to convey his impression of it to those in the plains. He must adapt himself to their narrower views, always being ready to use private interests for the pursuit of public objects. However rigid his principles and austere his devotion to them, he must be content for most of the time to reconcile the divergent claims of individuals and groups and slowly and subtly mould them to the ends of statesmanship. He is nevertheless a leader, and in proportion as he is forced to concede he is a bad leader.
He demands the confidence of the country as of right, although he is obliged to prove that right. The essential qualities of political leadership are tact, patience and constancy; its natural weaknesses moral cowardice and the habit of concession. The ultimate perversion of political leadership is plebiscitary democracy, a system of government which exalts concession into a virtue and reduces the leader to a mere delegate, a mirror of public opinion.

INTELLECTUAL leadership is in essence judicial. The business of an intellectualist is to criticize. It is the guardian of a cultural tradition in the light of which it preaches and condemns, and it should never yield to prejudice or stoop to flattery. Its bias is always against the prevailing fashion because its function is to correct the balance of popular opinion. Its end is always to influence action and its method is rigorously rational and wholly candid persuasion. Unlike military or political leaders, the intellectual leader should convince his audience not of the quality of his judgment but of the correctness of his opinions. An intellectualist stands midway between eternity and the present and is always under the temptation to forget one of these dimensions. The breakdown of intellectual leadership throughout a great part of Europe is due to this tension.
Intellectual leadership was provided in the distant past by a priesthood and later by a leisured class whose energies were divided between contemplation and more active forms of public service. When scholarship ceased to be the prerogative of the Church and part of the recognized equipment of a gentleman a professional intellectualism came into being. A section of that intellectualism devotes itself to highly skilled and esoteric pursuits, classified as learning for learning's sake, or, when its interests are political, abandons leadership in favour of administration. The passion of many intelligent people for planning, and their attendant contempt for parliamentary democracy is the result of this specialization. An intellectualism which has lost the power of communication is the raw material of bureaucracy. It governs by force because it despairs of persuasion. Another section of the intellectualism reacts in the opposite way, devoting itself wholeheartedly to communication and becoming merely the mouthpiece of the politicians. It is this which has transformed journalism from being, as it was in the nineteenth century, the art of applying abstract principles to current controversy, into an organ of party propaganda and official innuendo.

AN intellectualist at once aware of contemporary needs and aloof from contemporary prejudice is the greatest deficiency in European leadership today. In the past this intellectual elite has been only one element in a governing class based on hereditary privilege. The reward of genius has been admission to that class and has carried with it the discipline imposed by continual converse with average minds and that nearness to reality which follows from belonging to an order whose primary function is government. The purpose of the class system has been to discipline individual genius. How this can be done in a society which honours nothing but intelligence as revealed in competitive examinations is one of the great unsolved problems of social democracy.

THE SKY'S THE LIMIT

A Literally Fabulous Shambles

(SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE)

WE had a piece in this space not long ago about some of the booby traps that are being placed along the line of communication by language. We find that there is more ground to cover.

Now take that word "literally." Most people must have noticed by now that there is a school holding "literally" to be synonymous with "so to speak"; that is, with "figuratively." This is a disconcerting tenet of course, for it is just like saying that "good" means
"bad" or "hot" means "cold"—like saying, for that matter, that "synonym" means "antonym."

Now, "literally" means what it means, or should mean, and, literally, nothing else.
How far some wordsmiths have strayed from this sound anvil may be gathered when we remember you that a syndicate story just the other day reported that an, until then, promising young pitcher had "literally thrown his arm off." How figuratively can you use "literally"?

We come to "fabulous," a word which once derived cleanly from "fable." True, some writers have infringed permissibly by applying the adjective to individuals or happenings damn near fabulous if not literally so. A biography some years ago was called "The Fabulous Wilson Mizner," and we will settle for that, conceding that Mr. Mizner could hardly have seemed less than mythological even to those who knew him well. In the passing years, however, the merest micromet-rical departure from the ordinary is called "fabulous"; the word has become loosely synonymous with "conceivably noticeable." "Fantastic," we are pleased to report, seems to be losing its vogue for approximately the same shade of meaning, a vogue which helped make life resemble fantasy while it lasted.

"Shambles" (It is a passing singularity that this plural-sounding word originated in the singular. Webster says that the word was "shamble," meaning a place where stock was slaughtered, and then "illustrates" with a Shakespearean quotation in which the word is "shambles.") We are concerned here with the fact that some journalists have devalued
"shambles" to the point where it is applied upward from the mild disorder of a deserted play pen.

In closing—for the present—we invite you to visualize the discovery by archeologists off the South Coast of Sicily of a cavern in which Homeric sirens butchered swine which had once been men. It may never come about, but if it does, and some reporter describes it as a literally fabulous shambles, he'll be right and we'll be the first to wring his hand—literally, if he is reachable.

Zephyr of Indignation

FROM HANSARD, JUNE 8

Mr. H. W. Herdridge (Kootenay West): Mr.
Speaker, I wish to raise a question of privilege that concerns every member of the house.

Last summer while this house was in session the LaSalle cadets paraded on the lawns in front of these parliament buildings. Later, during the evening, several members of parliament—if I am correctly informed, members representing all the major parties—entered the front gate and attempted to proceed to the House of Commons by the main walk, and were stopped from doing so by a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. They explained to him that they were members of Parliament. That made no difference. An order had been issued that everyone must come to the House of Commons around by the east block. Therefore these members had to proceed to the House of Commons via the east block.

I wish at this time, Mr. Speaker, to protest strongly against the placing of members of this house in such a position that they must approach the building after the fashion of the butcher boy delivering a pound of sausage by the tradesmen's entrance.

Last Friday evening the LaSalle cadets were parading again on the lawns in front of the House of Commons. I had occasion to approach the house by the central walk, and, when about half way between the front gate and the House of Commons, I was informed that the LaSalle cadets were being paraded and reviewed, and they were being reviewed by a special visitor from Rome.
Italy, Brother Athanasius Emile. Knowing of the record of the LaSalle cadets and being interested in this distinguished clerical visitor, I stopped about half way between the front gate and the House of Commons and watched the cadets being inspected by the visitor, followed by Colonel Purves of national defence headquarters, a member of the Canadian armoured corps. I saw these cadets very smartly give the general salute to the distinguished clerical visitor.

At that time a staff sergeant of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police approached me and informed me that the grounds for that period were reserved for the LaSalle cadets, the officers of the Department of National Defence on the grounds, and the distinguished visitor, and that I would have to move.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I must say that I am one of those to whom on such occasions the scroll of British history swiftly unfolds itself before mine eyes, and I am quickly moved by such events. Therefore I informed the staff sergeant that I was a member of parliament and as such I did not intend to budge, come what may. At this point the staff sergeant was most courteous, I might say almost embarrassed. He explained to me the reason for the grounds being reserved. I protested and said that this was a violation of the rights of members of the House of Commons, and no explanation from him could alter my determination to stand my ground, since I considered this order an indignity upon members of the House of Commons.

In view of the fact that the zephyrs of indignity can soon become the winds of intolerance the hurricane of tyranny, I wish to protest most vigorously against this transgression of the freedom of members within the precincts of the House of Commons, and against this indignity to members of parliament, to the representatives of the people, and thus indirectly to the Canadian people as a whole.

Maybe They Use Ouija Boards

When Marxists come to power one of their principal concerns is to purge all remnants of "decadent bourgeois culture" and fill the vacuum with pure Marxian precepts, or reasonable facsimiles thereof.

But the dialectical mind though zealous enough in conducting the purge has trouble often with the purification, not being greatly gifted with originality. An example is the following delicate little fragment of Lenin lore taken from a present day Roumanian school book, presumably for consumption at the kindergarten level.

Now when Marx learned of the birth of Lenin, he sent a ball of thread to the mother asking her to measure the baby's every month and send him back the piece of thread, saying: "I shall watch the growth of this child carefully, for he will do great things for mankind." And when Lenin grew up Marx imparted to him all his wisdom. And when the comrades came unto Marx to ask his advice, Marx said unto them: "All that I know I taught unto Lenin. Go unto him and trust in all things."

Now it came to pass that when Marx died in 1883, Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov, later known as Lenin, was going unto a terrifically bour-

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee; so that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding; yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding.... Then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.

For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding.
(Prov. 2: 1-3, 5, 6.)

For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven.... The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple. (Ps. 119: 89, 130.)

Hearken unto me, O Jacob and Israel, my called; I am he; I am the first, I also am the last. Mine hand, also hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heavens: when I call unto them, they stand up together.... Thus said the Lord, thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel;
I am the Lord thy God which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou shouldest go. (Isa. 48: 12, 13, 17.)

Letter To The Editor

SUPPORTS RUSSELLE

Sir: Re Johnny Russelle doing business on a 24 hour basis.

The idea that Johnny Russelle should close —because some persons or person insists that he close—is absolutely ridiculous.

After all, he owns his own business — or does he? If he is forced to close there would be room for argument.... Dictatorship!

Motorists would simply patronize Kava's the Motors or Nick's Camp or some gas station up the line. Thus Johnny would possibly sever some very good connections.

Stick to your guns, Johnny! says this

Unconsidered Trifles

A Greek scholar, visiting a women's college in the United States, was asked whether he would do the institution the compliment of translating their college motto into Greek.
He agreed, and asked what the motto was.
It was placed before him, and he read the words: "Pep without purpose is piffle."

"See here," exclaimed the stranger, as he stumbled into his twentieth puddle. "I thought you said you knew where all the places were on this road?"

"Well," replied the native who had volunteered to guide him through the dark, "we're a-findin' of them, ain't we?"

Pat was engaged putting a water main into the poorhouse. Saturday came and the boss saw Pat dolefully examining his pay packet.
"Mistake in your wages, Pat?" he asked.
"Oh, no," said Pat, "but I was just wondering whether me or the water would be in the poorhouse first."

The school master was explaining vulgar fractions, "If I take a potato, cut it in half then in quarters, and then in halves, again, what shall I have?" he asked.
"Chips, sir," was the immediate response.

First Irishman: "Which would you rather be in, Pat—an explosion or a collision?"

Second ditto: "In a collision, because a collision there yez are, but in an explosion where are yez?"

Tommy was meandering homeward much later than his usual supper time. A friend of the family who happened to meet him said:
"Why, Tommy, aren't you afraid you will be late for supper?"
"None," replied Tommy, "I've got the meat."

"That's a bad cold you've got," said one man to another, who was sneezing violently.
"What are you taking for it?" "Whisky," was the reply. "Whisky, I know something better than that," said the man. "But who wants anything better than that?" sniffed the sufferer.

$1,213 Surplus Shown In United Counties

COBOURG, June 17.—(ENS).—Northumberland and Durham Counties had a surplus of $1,213.21 at the end of 1947, the auditors' report for last year reveals. The counties started the year by absorbing a 1946 deficit of $3,842.57. The general surplus as of Jan. 1, 1947, was $8,039.75, plus a schools surplus of $1,221.79 against which there was road and bridge deficit of $13,104.10, leaving a net deficit of $3,842.57. Total county rates were $388,034.36 and expenditures amounted to $386,821.15, the auditors' report commending the committees for the astute and accurate control of the counties' finances. The treasurer is William Barr.

The breakdown of the general rate for towns totalled $93,962.00; villages, $20,744.00, and townships, $240,141.00, in the general rate. High and continuation schools amounted to $614.15 for villages and $35,386.12 for towns and the vocational and technical schools was $14,72 for towns, $1,014.94 for townships. Budgeted revenue was $388,034 and actual was $389,173.99. Uncontrollable charges were estimated at $167,459.60 and the actual amount was $160,219.24. Fixed charges (debtures) were as budgeted, $61,309.01. Controllable charges were budgeted at $159,265.75 and actual amount was $166,432.54.

Ottawa Gas Dealers Dispute Petition

Ottawa city council, like the Peterborough council, has a by-law before it which would permit gasoline stations to remain open between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. on week days and 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Sundays. But, where in Peterborough the sponsors of the petition claim the 75 per cent required for the city council to pass the bylaw, the Ottawa petition is being vigorously disputed. Names are placed on the petitions one day and withdrawn the next. The petition in Ottawa is being sponsored by the Garage Owners' Association and the opposition is formed of individual operators. When the last meeting of the garagemen opened with the city's Board of Control the sponsors claimed 75.22 per cent of the dealers and at the close of the meeting it had dropped to 73 per cent. Battered by withdrawals and additions to the petition the city clerk has ruled that the withdrawals or additions are permitted to be made right up until the time the city council meets to pass the bylaw. This ruling has been upheld by the city solicitor.

Tug-Of-War Teams Battle At Bell Party

Approximately 100 people arrived by bus or car at Wallace's Point yesterday afternoon. These were the employees of Bell Telephone Co. and their families, who had come to take part in the annual picnic.

The picnic ground was a hive of activity all afternoon with people swimming, using the playground apparatus and running races. These last were supervised by J. Macdonald, with assistants D. Raynor and B. McClure. Numerous baseball teams were organized, men's and women's alike, and in one game were seen the "Young" folks playing the "Old." An onlooker commented that the line of demarcation between the two seemed somewhat obscure.

Perhaps the greatest centre of interest during the afternoon was the game of tug-of-war between the construction department and the installation department. The latter were ignominiously defeated.

Supper was eaten at picnic tables on the grounds, and although the employees brought their own supper, ice cream and soft drinks for everyone were provided by the Bell Social Club.

The organization of the food committee was done by Miss F. Cooper.

Later in the evening, the picnickers went into the nearby pavilion where they danced to records.

Whipper-McCreedy Lose To The Mask and Lee In Mat Go

The Mask was unmasked—though not seen—and Whipper Bill Watson and Earl McCreedy were defeated in the wildest pro mat show ever seen here at the Brock Arena last night before a packed house. The Masked Marvel and Lee Henning, replacing the Goon (who missed connections from Buffalo) were the winners in the main bout, a team wrestling affair, in 75 minutes of furious action. They had to fight their way through an angry crowd at the finish.

McCreedy, weighing 239, had won the first fall over the 257-pound Mask in 23 minutes with his rolling cradle splits after a rip-scoring show in and out of the ring. They started before the goin' and went right to it with dressing gowns still on as Referee Ernie Powers appeared powerless. Henning, going 249, got the worst of it as the Whip, who weighs 229, went to work on him. Later the villainous duo got a lot of it back but Earl and the Whip played it rough, too, in the wide-open go which saw the four mixing frequently and three one time grappling out among the fans.

Powers disqualified McCreedy in 27 minutes to give the second fall to the Mask and Lee. The latter pair had the Whip in their corner choking him and Earl repeatedly rushed to his rescue but was chased back by the befuddled referee, who finally disqualified him and ignored the rough stuff by Henning and the Marvel. The big crowd was plenty peeved. The grapplers had made it wild and woolly in a furious session and at one time the Whip and Mask were pumping in harmony on the ropes as the Marvel thought he had Earl hung up on the opposite side—but it was Henning! The ref once stopped it all and warned the four to wrestle properly, but the matmen ignored him and the fans saw a terrific match.

The end came in 30 minutes when Watson was counted out after Lee and the Marvel had jumped him outside the ropes and bashed his head against the ring boards. The referee at the time was lying on his stomach after taking an accidental elbow from Watson in a hot mixup inside the ring. McCreedy was hung by his feet in the ropes and couldn't help at the time, after another sizzling mat session with the bunch in, out and under the ring. The referee finally got to his feet and counted the Whip out, and then action really got going. They all mixed again and the Whip yanked off the Marvel's mask. The Marvel ran around the ring with his hands over his face till Lee could wrap a towel and later his hood over his pan. The crowd swarmed around the ring and police had to help the winners fight their way through.

Sharpe Won

Ben Sharpe, at 235, won the semi-final in 22 minutes over 228-pound Tiger Tasker with drop kicks and a slam. It was a popular fall for the big Hamilton ex-paratrooper, and it was a good scrap. Tasker angered the fans with rough stuff, being short and squat but very powerful. He even did some biting and ignored warnings. They tangled hard outside the ring and Ben went best for awhile. He was taking a lot of illegal stuff but came back strong to hammer the other around as the crowd roared. Toward the end, the Tiger threw Ben out and was keeping him out for a space but finally Sharpe tore back in and decapitated his antagonist into submission.

Mike Futa, who goes 179 pounds, took the prelin from the local 165-pounder, Nick Vicchiarelli, in 16 minutes with a body slam. Futa cashed in on his extra weight and roughed it up with off-the-beam tactics to earn the fans' disapproval, while Nick played it clean. And Nick held his own for a time, too, with some neat whips and a punishing armlock. But Mike finally broke loose and got in some damaging work, including a hard crack to the nose, to set Nick up for the fall. The local grappler said afterward he'd tackle Futa again if given a chance.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

At long last work has commenced on the new hockey arena—the civic rink project, that is, and not the off-shelf Memorial Centre. Lots of young spectators daily at the Park St. site as work moves space on the foundation. A dozen or so workmen follow up on the steam shovel, building abutments and 'tis likely they'll start pouring cement before the end of the week. The contractor has the construction of this type of rink down to a streamlined system, having built a bunch of them. Anyway, it's swell news, and folks can see Peterborough hockey next winter in Peterborough. Dick Quimet asks the PMHA fellows to turn in draw tickets to him, at the arena headquarters on George St., by Saturday.

Someone sends us a clipping, apparently from the Old Country, which starts off like this: "Thirty-year-old farm servant Norman Robb might have been excused for ploughing a slightly erratic furrow as he drove his tractor across the fields of Pottengardner Farm, Fordoun, this week. For Mr. Robb admits happily he could 'hardly believe his e'en', has come into a fortune of £12,997 12/5 for six penny lines in a football pool." Nice going, Norman, and it is too bad our government doesn't permit pools in Canada. Instead, a great deal of Canadian money—for Canucks gable, too—goes out of the country annually.

Scarboro And Petes

Big lacrosse attraction here tomorrow night is the OLA senior "B" fixture at nine in Miller Bowl. Scarboro Grads supply the opposition for the Petes in a league game. It should be another neat number before another large gallery. Folks here really go for the gutted-stick game now, following Peterborough's provincial championship of 1947, and they're seeing some smart struggles. Red Creighton will likely field his regular squad with no changes from last week's lineup. The Grads will no doubt give the champs a battle all the way.

Weather permitting, a twin bill in men's softball will go again tonight in the Bowl, commencing at seven. Legionnaires tackle the Knights in the opener and a win for the latter would pull 'em up into a tie with Legion in the standing. A Legion victory means second spot for the ex-servicemen. Second game is between the R-E Combines and Comstock's. If the R-E crew capture it, they'll be pretty well out in front of the pack, but Comstock can climb right into a top-place tie by a win. Yeah, the race is still that close in the City Softball League.

Three Keen Contests

Three girls' softball games staged last gloaming, all of them close enough and reeled off in rapid fashion. Ashby's finished strong to beat CGE 3-3, Westclox took a 9-4 triumph over Lock Co., and Lakefield won at home from Woollens 13-11. So Marines and Westclox are tied atop the loop with five and no losses, CGE are next with four and two, then Ashby's with three and two, while Lindsay goes two and two, and Lakefield one and four. Lock Co. and Woollens are still knocking at the door. Games tomorrow: Woollens vs. Lock Co. and Marines vs. Lindsay, with Westclox at Lakefield. Young Motors of Toronto play Marines an exhibition at eight p.m. in the Bowl on Saturday.

Petes made it five in a row as they pounded out a 10-1 COBL victory over Oshawa here last p.m. Doug Loucks (have to get a picture of him) hurled six-hit ball and had perfect support, while the potent Peterborough bats slammed out 13 safeties, including five for extra bases. The Merchants were shaky in the field, couldn't do much to Loucks' throws and neither twirler for them could halt the local attack. The visitors did run off two twin killings, and catches by Garvey and Foley were other fielding features. Loucks and Garvey led the hitters, while getting two bingles were Menzies, Mackness and Dalton—the latter had a homer and double. Romaniski hit a triple. A fair fixture but rather one-sided the last half. Batava plays the Petes at three Saturday aft in Riverside, and the new bleachers will be up for this game.

Curling The Shingles

Like Sarah Bernhard and Harry Lauder with their famous farewell tours, the pro grapplers can't quite make up their minds. So their second windup match of the season will stretch into one more, we're told. Not satisfied at the finish last night, a phone call was put through to Boston and the promoter later said he had obtained Jack Sharkey—former world's heavyweight boxing champ—to referee one more no-decision team bout between Whip Watson and Earl McCreedy on one side and the Masked Marvel and Lee Henning on the other. Lee replaced the Goon, who missed a train out of Buffalo. A packed house saw a terrific card last p.m. in the Brock with absolutely everything going. But if you were there you know what went on and if you weren't there you likely aren't interested.

HITHER AND YAWN: Legion beat CGE 6-2 in soccer yesterday; Lindsay plays the Petes here tonight. Oshawa lacrosse took Orillia 18-5. A midweek melee at 6.15 tonight in Miller Bowl, followed by Comstock's and Scouts in juvenile go; Scouts play Legion there at 7.15 Friday. Port Hope took the intermediate Petes 14-2 yesterday; locals play in Whitby on Monday. Whitby recently defeated Port Hope 7-4. West and south midweek tangle tonight in Riverside at 6.30; east and north jukes go tomorrow there with west and Hawks in a banian fray at the Ex. West-end banians will drill at 6.30 tonight and the east midweek work out Friday at 6.30. Special church softball meeting Friday at seven in the "Y" for executive and managers; no games this week but playoffs next. Drafting plays Brinton at Brinton, as Quakers meet Marines at Woollens tonight in industrial play. Revised civic softball schedule tomorrow. Closing time.

Babe's Place Wins Over Grafton's 6-5

Arnold Riches broke up an otherwise close ball game last night. It was something you might expect to read in a Frank Merriwell story. In the last half of the last inning, he was sent in to pitch for Grafton's with men on first and second, none out, and he retired the side. In the extra innings, Babe's Place failed to score. Riches was first to bat for Grafton's, and he lined a long hard deep drive over Westlake's head in centre field for a home run.

Jim Price pitched the earlier part of the game for Grafton's and pitched steady ball until the last innings when an injured hand began to give him trouble. Sandy Sanderson was on the mound for Babe's Place and held Grafton's down to a few scattered hits until the fateful extra innings.

Fontaine, Davis and Mortimer played good ball for Babe's Place, while Jamison, Sheehy and Livingston stood out for Grafton's. Line-ups: Grafton's: Sheehy 2b, Jamison ss, Legrow cf, Taylor 1b, Livingston c, Price p, Conroy 3b, Lewis lf, Herron rf, Ritchies p.

Babe's Place: Jefferson c, Post 3b, Westlake cf, Anderson lf, Wilford 1b, Mortimer ss, Davis rf, Sanderson p, Fontaine 2b.

Petes Hammer Out Victory Against Oshawa Merchants

The Petes racked up their fifth straight COBL win with a 10-1 decision over Oshawa Merchants here last night to take a tighter grip on first place and drop the Motor City nine into the cellar. Back of six-hit hurling by Doug Loucks, the homers played errorless ball and banged out 13 hits, including five extra-base blows, off Tony Romaniski and Lefty Hill, who took over in the sixth, to coast in. Oshawa was loose defensively.

Fred Garvey and Loucks led the winners at bat with two for each, as Al Menzies, Jack Mackness and Howie Dalton had two each in five tries, the latter's including a homer and double. Romaniski hit a triple for Oshawa in one official trip, and McMullen got a double as a pinch-hitter. Two Oshawa double-plays and catches by Garvey and Foley were

Duffus Trophy Is Taken By Mrs. Ackford

By HERB MARTIN

Playing under ideal bowling weather, the Peterborough Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club held their annual open rink tournament for the J. J. Duffus Trophy on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

And the honor of winning the trophy went to Mrs. L. Ackford's local rink with Mrs. W. Hepburn, also from the local club, a close second. Mrs. H. Beatty came third, Miss L. Allan fourth, and Mrs. Knight, of Port Hope, fifth, the only visiting rink to reach the charmed circle.

There were rinks entered from Lindsay, Cobourg, Port Hope and Peterborough, and although the entry was not as large as the committee had hoped, nevertheless it was a good tournament.

Each rink played three 12-end games, two during the afternoon and one after the supper hour. Served Tea

Tea and sandwiches were served between the first and second games.

Not only is it the first year for Mrs. Ackford to skip a rink, it is also her first attempt to skip in an open tournament, and she made a good job of it.

The tournament was supervised by the games committee, Mrs. Coursey, Mrs. McArthur, Mrs. Dyer and Mrs. Wilson, and the draw by Mrs. Bearne and Mrs. Killingbeck.

Down at Brighton, on the hall holiday, H. Freeman, J. Fitzpatrick and R. Freeman won three games and came home with the first prize.

We have no report from the boys who took in the Lindsay tournament.

To those who are playing in the Tip Top Tailor competition, please be on the greens by 7 o'clock.

fielding features in the one-sided game.

Fine Form

Loucks was in fine form on the home slab, scattering his six hits as he fanned three and walked three, his support being perfect. Romaniski had five whiffs and but two walks in his mound sojourn but they were hitting him hard in the fifth and sixth. Hill took over with one out in the sixth and allowed two runs the rest of the way and four hits, fanning three and walking one. Their support wasn't good, though the Petes earned seven runs on solid clouting.

The Oshawa run came in the third on a triple to right by Romaniski and a fielder's choice on Dell's roller to second. Only twice more did the visitors get a man to third. The Petes got a run in the second on hits by Menzies and Walton, with an error. Three scored in the fifth on singles by Loucks and Mackness, an error and Dalton's single. Five counted next heat on singles by Menzies, Pagett and Loucks, with doubles by Foley and Garvey and Dalton's homer. A single by Garvey and Mackness' double added one in the eighth.

Williams Leads Red Sox To 7-4 Win Over Indians

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

That second 400 mark, the goal that Ted Williams has set for himself, appears to be within striking distance, now that the splendid splitter has finally solved two of his biggest problems.

The mighty slugger of the Boston Red Sox, currently leading all major league batters with a cool .406, expressed doubt early this spring whether he would top .350 because of two things—the "Boudreau shift" and night baseball.

The box scores beset illustrate how Ted has hurdled obstacles this season. In addition to his pace-setting batting mark, Williams also is No. 1 man in the American League in hits, runs, runs batted in and doubles. He is second in home runs and he has not committed an error in the outfield this season.

Perfect Day

Ted had a perfect day at bat yesterday, four for four. Two of his hits went to left field. One was a double and the other cleared the left field fence for his 13th home run.

The blows came against Boudreau's league leading Indians and helped the Red Sox defeat Cleveland and Boston 7-4. It was Feller's seventh loss against five victories. He hasn't won a game since May 19.

Detroit Tigers ran their winning streak to six straight games with a 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in 11 innings. Young Art Houtteman won a close one, outpitching lefty Lou Erissie.

The Yankees nipped the White Sox 3-1 in Chicago. Allie Reynolds went the route for the first time since May 11. He allowed only seven hits in gaining his seventh victory.

Pirates Tied

Pittsburgh Pirates climbed into a tie with the Boston Braves for the National League lead when they trounced New York Giants 11-5 while the Braves were beaten by the Chicago Cubs 8-5.

Home runs by Johnny Hopp and Wally Westlake, and four Giant errors, helped the Pirates. Ernie Bonham, veteran righthander, won his second straight.

Home runs by Ed Waitkus and Andy Pafko (his 10th this year) and some good relief pitching by Emil Kish enabled the Cubs to win their first victory over the Braves in eight games this season.

Brooklyn Dodgers edged Cincinnati Reds 4-3 and St. Louis Browns nosed out Washington Senators 6-5.

Carl Furillo drove in three Brooklyn runs on a double and two singles, one with the bases loaded to break up the game in the ninth. Big Ralph Branca was the winner.

Lakefield Cops Decision Over Woollens

Lakefield lasses pulled out a neat 13-11 victory over Dominion Woollens on the former's grounds last night in a Girls' Softball League fixture. After Woollens had rallied for four in a fine try in the eighth, the home-sters retaliated with four in their half, and Woollens' two runs in their part of the ninth were not quite enough. It was a keen contest all the way with the score always close and not too many errors in an open tussle, though the losers were a bit off defensively.

The hitting was even and there were few strikeouts or walks in the well-matched showing of the teams. The winners clicked better in the clutch before a good crowd in a game that lasted but an hour. R. Maloney, E. Boyce, and E. Humphries came up with some good defensive work. H. Gerald and B. Jaquith led the hitters for their respective sides. It was a neat one to take and a tough one to drop.

Royals Dump Jersey City In 5-2 Victory

By The Associated Press

The pitching staff of Montreal Royals is gradually shaping up as the best in the International League.

Righthanders Jack Banta and Hank Behrman have borne the brunt of the mound work so far but manager Clay Hopper is beginning to give more work to southpaws Johnny Van Cuyk and Paul Minner.

Minner gained his third triumph last night, pitching the Royals to a 5-2 victory over Jersey City Giants.

By winning, the Royals moved two games ahead of the second-place Newark Bears who dropped a 5-4 decision to Buffalo Bisons. The Bears piled up a 4-0 lead but the Bisons came back with three runs in the fifth to rout starter Dick Stark.

In one of the finest hurling duels of the season, Syracuse Chiefs beat Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0 in 12 innings.

Austin Knickerbocker, a former Leaf, homered in the third over-time frame to win the game. Ed Erutt, who led the Pacific Coast league in strikeouts in 1946 with 234, went the route for Syracuse. He fanned 13 and allowed only five hits. Veteran Luke Hamlin went the distance for Toronto, yielding six safeties.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association split its biggest million in history Wednesday, sending $103,000 in cheques through the mails for distribution. The cheques came out of profit of $146,680.27 which the CAHA made on Allan and Memorial Cup games last spring.

Of the profit Juniors contributed more than $80,000. Seniors producing more than $66,000. The West cashed in heavily with Edmonton Flyers, the Allan Cup champs, drawing $8,900 and Port Arthur Bruins reaping $10,700 for copping the Memorial Cup. The amounts included a $500 bonus paid Cup finalists.

The Allan Cup finals between Edmonton and Ottawa Senators drew only $146,190, while the Eastern senior final between Hamilton Tigers and Ottawa made $26,298. The Memorial Cup finals between Barrie Flyers and Port Arthur made $16,037.

Frankie Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., moved into the semi-finals of the United States professional tennis championships Wednesday. He ousted Pancho Segura of Ecuador in a hard-fought match. Defending champion Bobby Riggs and Edwood Cooke of New York moved forward to compete the quarter-finals with victories over Dick Van Den Bosch of Sunnyside, N.Y., and Pierre Pelizzia of France respectively.

Russia was among the missing Wednesday night when a record number of 57 nations were listed by the British Olympic organizing committee as official entries in the Olympics. At the Berlin Games in 1936, 52 nations accepted invitations and 48 participated.

Mrs. John Medland of Toronto was elected president of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union at the annual meeting in Toronto Wednesday. Caroline Mitchell of Kingston was named handicap manager for Eastern Ontario.

The Incorporated Canadian Racing Association disapproved Wednesday a recommendation that split saliva tests be required on racing tracks. Replying to a demand of the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association, a statement said that the suggested method for testing the saliva and urine of race horses lessened the chemists' chance of finding traces of a stimulant drug.

Locals Beaten 14 To 2 By Port Hope

By FRED MAYBEE

Hal Woods was in rare form last evening in Port Hope as he pitched three-hit ball and walked but one to defeat Peterborough 14-2 in a regular intermediate Lakeshore League baseball game.

Woods struck out three and with good support from his mates was never in trouble. For the first half of the game, the teams battled on even terms but in the fifth inning the home team produced a rally that virtually served up the ball game. Led by Keeler, Maun, Foote and Thixon, they collected six hits and eight runs to put the game on ice. Guerin smacked a homer for the Petes in the second to tie the score while Cray turned in a good chore, even in defeat. For Port Hope, White gave a neat display of fielding in right-field while the infield also showed up well from a fielding standpoint.

Abbott, Costello Continue To Seek Fortune In US

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 17. (AP).—Abbott and Costello will continue to seek their professional fortunes in the United States. They have called off their jaunt for stage and screen appearances in England.

The deal was stalled pending settlement of their dispute with Universal-International. Now it's back late for them to prepare an English picture. And Lou balked at a proposal to play London's Palladium in November.

"I'm afraid the winter weather wouldn't be good for me," said Lou, who has suffered rheumatic fever. "And the most important thing to me now is my health."

Branca Loses Out By Very Slim Margin

BROOKLYN, June 17 (AP).—It was big Ralph Branca talking in the Brooklyn Dodger's dressing room last night. He had just thrown 7-2-3 innings of hitless baseball against Cincinnati Reds.

"I got by that first man in the eighth and thought I had it made." He got by one more man. Then Ray Lamanno was safe on an error. Then came Johnny Wyrostek.

"It ((the pitch)) went low, fast and down the middle," said the righthander. "It was supposed to be a high one. It wasn't. 'Wham!'"

And Wyrostek packed it for a home run. The four bagger tied the score at 3-3 and Brooklyn finally won, 4-3, with a run in the last of the ninth.

The Reds scored off Branca in the first inning without a hit. Wyrostek walked, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and scampered home after a long fly.

Press Gallery Edges Commons

OTTAWA, June 17 — (CP).

The press gallery, recovering slowly after a good night's sleep, buzzed modestly today about its 19-17 softball victory over the Commons.

Parliament seemed to be functioning as normally as could be expected, but a Canadian Press survey disclosed a big increase in the volume of grunting and puffing in the Commons corridors.

Last night's game was—uh, well "a lot of fun." That was 75-year-old Rev. Dan Melvor (L—Port William), the Commons' manager, talking.

Bob (Toronto Star) Nielson, the scribes' mentor, said "We're the champs!" Then, gently stroking a painful right-leg charleyhorse, he added: "Quote me like this—because we're champs, it's up to those other guys to challenge us to another game."

The game? Well, the gallery blokes rapped out 25 hits in the five innings of play, compared to the members' 21. The scores lost all track of the errors. Johnny (Canadian Press) LeBlanc carried home the winning run, on a hit by Harry (Toronto Star) Hindmarsh. Bob Winters (L—Queens-Lunenburg) and D'Arcy (Canadian Press) O'Donnell hit home runs.

Legion Victors Over CGE In Soccer Fray

Canadian Legion swamped the Electrics 6-2 in a soccer league game Wednesday evening at King Edward Park before a good attendance. The winners trotted out A. Ross, who played here before the war with C.P.C. Losers were off their regular style of play to lose two valuable points, thereby putting the Petes two points ahead and leading the league.

G. Downer early missed an open goal but made amends a little later to send a drive across to H. Foster who bulged the net. Electrics went right back to keep Craig, Legion goalie, busy holding his charge intact. Grant relieved the pressure to Dunn. He sent his outside left away to goal where he made a perfect centre across to G. Downer to connect for the second counter. Within a minute Cotton on an individual 20-yard drive reduced the count. Attard followed up with the equalizer on a cross from Strong, on extreme right. Boot tapping crept into the play that resulted in two players being sent to the showers for the remainder of the game. A misunderstanding between the full-backs and the goalie resulted in T. Foster, Sr., kicking the ball from between them into the net.

Both teams trotted out with 10 men that resulted in a four-man attack on each eleven in the second half. After 10 minutes of play, Murdoff conceded a penalty shot. Buchanan was trusted with the kick and the C.G.E. goal was diverted over the bar for a fruitless corner kick. Suddenly the Electrics wilted in every department and Legion dominated the situation to allow G. Downer to rattle in three goals in a row to give the soldiers a six-goal margin over their opponents.

C.G.E.—A. Greenhorn, goal; S. McGinn and S. Murdoff, full-backs; F. Eao, H. Steel and T. McPhate, half-backs; R. Stronk, A. Welland, F. Attard, E. Cotton and T. McPhate, forwards. Sub. A. McArthur.

Canadian Legion — J. Craig, goal; T. Foster, Jr. and Al Downer, full-backs; B. Woodcock, B. Grant and J. Buchanan, half-backs; G. Downer, J. Dunn, A. Ross, T. Foster, Sr. and Jack Downer, forwards. Sub. C. Murdoff.

Referee—Asa Downer. Linesmen, J. Croall and D. Duncan.

Fraserville News

Miss Lorraine Puc left on Monday for St. Catharines, where she will spend the summer at camp. A number from the community attended the exhibition at Millbrook last Wednesday. Mr. Garnet Whitfield received 10 prizes for his hogs.

A special meeting of the Fraserville L.O.L. 46 was held on Monday night. Among those taking the Scarlet Degree were Messrs. J. O. Puc, Eric Clarke and John Lewis.

Mrs. Willis Cunningham spent a couple of days last week at Hamilton where she attended the nurses' graduation.

Friends of Mrs. Mann of Fraserville, were sorry to hear of her sudden illness at her home here. Her daughter, Mrs. Dorris, of Toronto, was called to care for her. Mrs. R. Terry and children are spending a few days with friends at Carmel.

NEW LOOK—GOOD GOLF — Miss Jo Anna, originally of South Africa but now playing out of Welland's Lookout Point Golf Club, favors this attire for tournament play.

There's somewhat of a ballerina effect when she swings, but it apparently hasn't hampered her game. Yesterday, in the Ontario Ladies' championship consolation at St. George's, she beat her chum, young Anne Sharp on the 19th hole. Tuesday, she gave defending champion Ada Mackenzie a terrific battle before losing in championship flight play on the 18th.

Westclox took a 9-4 Girls Softball League victory from Lock Co. before a good sized crowd at the Bowl last night. It was a snappy struggle in an hour and 10 minutes, with the improving Lock crew threatening toward the end. M. Downer pitched good ball for the Clockers, though she was weakening some in the late stages. She fanned four and walked half a dozen. D. Westlake replaced P. Williams on the lower slab and they had four strikeouts in a fair showing, too, to keep it pretty close.

B. Morrow and I. Clarke went good defensively for the winners, as D. Westlake and B. McMahon stood out for the other side. B. Morrow led Westclox at bat with three for five, and M. Hawthorne hit a homer and double. P. Williams topped Lock Co. at the plate with three in four official appearances.

Post Office: Thirnebeck, Wall-work, Smith, Scott, Moore, Millard, Maher, Bennett, Drury.

Electric Lose To Ashby's In Keen Joust

Ashby's triumphed over Electrics 8-3 last evening in the Bowl in a tidy Girls Softball League encounter. While the hitting was even, the winners had a little margin in fielding, and they finished strong with drives in the seventh and eighth innings to gain the decision. It was keen ball all through, even with the miscues. B. Reid was relieved in the sixth when she gave one hit and three walks, but D. McFadden got out of the hole nicely and had five strikeouts the rest of the way. B. Reid had fanned eight. J. Harle also pitched well with 13 whiffs but her backing wasn't so good. E. McFadden and J. Dunk were strong in the field for Ashby's, and M. Selkirk and M. Batley were the pick of the CGE crew. D. Manley led the winners with the willow, pounding out a double and two singles in four. J. Harle got two hits for CGE. F. Killen pulled off the feature catch.

The teams:
Ashby's: E. McFadden, 2b; J. Reynolds, c; E. Simmonds, 3b; M. Freeman, cf; G. Dracup, lf; D. Callan, rf; F. Killen, 1b; J. Dunk, 1b; D. Manley, ss; B. Reid, p; D. McFadden, p.

South End Churches

Plan Union Services

Park Street Baptist, St. James' United and Knox United Churches in the south end of the city have again decided to hold union services during the two summer months. According to the schedule drawn up the Rev. E. J. Whan will be in charge of the congregations for the first three Sundays in July and will preach every Sunday morning in Park Street Church and Sunday evening in Knox Church; for the next three Sundays the Rev. H. G. Douglas will be in charge with services on Sundays in the morning in Knox Church and in the evening in St. James' Church. The final three Sundays will see the Rev. F. W. Craik in charge with services on Sunday morning in St. James' Church and in the evening in Park Street Church.

The joint committee who made arrangements for the union services has recommended the holding of a communion service on August 8 with the members from the boards of the three churches assisting.

For the nine-week period a prayer service will be held every Wednesday evening in the Park Street Church. The organist in charge of the music at the church services will be from the church of the presiding minister.

Tells Conservatives To Streamline Policy

OTTAWA, June 17 — (CP). — A newly-elected Progressive Conservative member to the Ontario

Legislature Wednesday night told a Tory rally to "quit kidding themselves" and "pull up their socks" if they didn't want a Socialist government to take over at Ottawa.

He is 39-year-old Donald Morrow, elected for Carleton, guest speaker to 300 of the Carleton County Progressive Conservative Association attending the annual meeting at nearby Carp village.

"Old-established political parties had better quit kidding themselves about CCF election gains and streamline their whole approach to the nation's business," said Mr. Morrow, a former district schoolmaster.

The man who had defeated the veteran political campaigner, A. H. (Holly) Acres for the P.S. nomination in Carleton and followed it up with a strong win said: "Social unrest is only partly responsible for the Socialist gains. The CCF works every day, every hour, and places a platform, attractively packaged if unworkable, before the electorate."

Potato Supply Going Fast; Prices Move Up

Potato eaters in Peterborough are going to have a rough time of it from now until new local spuds are available in quantity. Citizens who are fortunate in having a potato plot of their own and are able to fend off the Colorado beetle will be the lucky ones in the long run.

Old spud stocks are being rapidly depleted and retailers who have been buying from private growers in Manvers and Millbrook, Colborne and Cobourg have just about reached the bottom of the bins, and are selling them from five to six and one-half cents a pound. Wholesalers, who have been handling potatoes from Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, report that those sources are depleted and they do not know of any other market they can buy from.

It is too early for any quantity of new potatoes to replace the old, and the new ones, which come from the Southern States, will be in very short supply. The embargo which was lifted on their import about a week ago, will not help the situation a great deal. The limited supply will be reduced to a mere dribble by the time each importer gets his small quota. Then, too, the Canadian Government, looking to an early future crop of domestic potatoes to replace the old depleted supply, are using American dollars for the import of citrus fruits instead of new spuds. What new ones there are cost five cents a pound.

The potato situation is grim, and will continue to remain so for some time. An executive of one of the larger bread companies in the city verified that bread sales rise considerably when there is a shortage of spuds; on the consumers' market, whether it is between seasons, as the situation exists now, or in times of crop failure.

Suicide Verdict

KITCHENER, June 17 (CP). — A verdict of suicide was brought in Wednesday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Joshua Leach, 23, a painter who formerly lived in North Bay. A .22 rifle was found beside Leach's body in a Kitchener hotel room.

SS Convention Held At Warsaw

The Dummer township Sunday School convention was held in the United Church Friday, with a small attendance.

In the afternoon, two local speakers gave short, thought provoking, messages: Allan Boate spoke on "Securing a personal commitment for Christ" and Dr. Donald Munro, "A method of teaching I have tried."

The OREC representative, the Rev. H. St. Clair Hilchey of the Anglican clergy, Toronto, then conducted a short discussion period. A group of six school girls sang.

The devotional periods were ably taken by the Rev. E. Pugsley, Norwood in the afternoon, and by the Rev. E. H. Unstead, Warsaw, in the evening.

Rev. H. St. Clair Hilchey gave a very inspiring talk at the evening session, his subject being "Making the Sunday School Evangelistic." Mr. E. Trethewey sang two solos at the evening service which were much appreciated.

Final Figures

The returning officer's statement of the provincial election result in Peterborough riding gives Harold R. Scott a plurality of 2528. Totals were: Elliott 7729; Morton 5927; Scott 10,257.

The vote in the city and county was as follows:

	City	County
Elliott	4597	3132
Morton	4421	1506
Scott	6156	4101

The report comes from Col. D. J. Lawrie, returning officer, and is his tabulation of the poll figures as reported to him by the deputy returning officers.

Pilot Misses Bush Fire Discovers Dad Arrived First

PORT ARTHUR, June 17 (CP). — When forestry pilot Jack Donnelly flew to Graham Lake to check a report of a bush fire in the area along the Canadian Pacific Railway's right-of-way, he could find no trace of smoke. He concluded it was a false alarm.

It wasn't until later that he learned the fire had been extinguished by the crew and passengers of a CPR train on which his father, J. J. Donnelly, was conductor.

Donnelly had been flying men and equipment to a stubborn bush fire at Windogokan Lake near the Quetico Park border when he received a radio message advising him to go to Graham Lake to check a report of a fire near the CPR's line.

The former RCAF pilot landed his firefighters and equipment at Windogokan Lake and turned northward in search of the reported smoke.

He circled the area for half an hour before returning to base, to report disgustedly that it was a false alarm.

He learned that night it was not a false alarm when Mr. Donnelly senior told him the full story. His train had been running northwest of Port Arthur, through Graham.

There had been a fire at milepost 77. The train crew observed the flaming bushland, stopped the train, rigged hose to the engine pump and, with the aid of passengers who swarmed from the coaches to help, battled the fire with water, old sacks and shovels. They soon had it out.

Thus by the time pilot Donnelly arrived over the scene, there was nothing to see.

Ross Hood Sells Auto Business After 21 Years

After 21 years, an automobile agency that has been almost a landmark in Peterborough will change its name. Ross Hood, the president of Hood & Cumming Motors, has sold his business to Paul M. Irwin of Kitchener and William R. Godson of Toronto.

Mr. Hood has given uninterrupted service as a car dealer for 29 years, except for five years spent in the Canadian Army during the past war. In 1939 he joined the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Regiment, transferring to the Ordnance Corps, where he continued his job as quartermaster. Mr. Hood spent five years overseas. With forty months in the Mechanical Transport Corps in World War I, he has a total of almost nine years' service.

Born in Port Perry, he handled a Ford agency there for eight years, coming then to Peterborough where he set up his own agency.

"As far as I know I am going to remain in Peterborough. Of course, you can't tell," he said. Mr. Hood did not state his plans for the future.

Paul Irwin, one of the future co-owners of the business, was formerly sales manager with the Dominion Ribber Company in Kitchener. He spent five years overseas with the Ordnance Corps, where he met Mr. Hood, whom he had known in Canada. Awarded an MBE and once mentioned in Despatches, Mr. Irwin saw parts of Africa, France, Belgium, Holland, and the central Mediterranean while in the Army. Born in Victoria County, Mr. Irwin was brought up in Norwood, and knows the district well.

William Godson, his partner, is a former Air Force flight-sergeant observer, with service in Newfoundland and on the East Coast to his credit. He has been with the Ford Company for several years, working with the Toronto sales division, where he specialized in farm equipment.

Both men say: "Peterborough is the finest town we have seen." In their new venture, they agree that they have chosen an ideal city in which to work.

Ask Minille Be Deported

OAKLAND, Calif., June 17 — (AP)—An immigration hearing ended Wednesday for Nicholas Minille, escaped Canadian convict, and the record was sent to Washington with a recommendation that he be deported.

If the deportation is approved he will be taken to the border and turned over to Canadian officials. Minille was arrested here May 10 as a burglary suspect. A fingerprint check later established that he was a fugitive from Portsmouth Penitentiary, Kingston, where he was serving a 17-year term for armed robbery.

Ask Ottawa Operate 5 Shipping Firms

OTTAWA, June 17 — (CP) — The Trades and Labor Congress asked the government to appoint a controller to operate the five shipping companies involved in a dispute with the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC).

"This action by the government is needed, immediately to avoid any possibility of armed conflict on the Great Lakes," TLC secretary-treasurer J. W. Buckle said in a statement.

Province-Wide Group Aim For Spastics

LONDON, June 17 — (CP) — A province-wide organization to help spastic children who have normal intelligence but lack physical co-ordination due to brain injury at birth or shortly afterwards, was forecast at a meeting of the local Cerebral Palsy Parents Council.

With the last year councils to aid the child victims of cerebral palsy (spastics) have been formed in Windsor, Chatham, London and Sarnia, and there is also a strong group in Toronto. Eventually, a Dominion organization is planned.

Dr. T. H. Coffey, head of the department of physical medicine of University of Western Ontario, and specialist for the Department of Veterans Affairs in southwestern Ontario, advised the council to start a campaign through press and radio to get recognition of the needs of the children.

Urge Disability Insurance To Provide Aid For Canadian Incurables

OTTAWA, June 17—(CP).—The best way to provide assistance for incurables and cripples is to establish a contributory disability insurance plan, the Commons was told Wednesday night. The opinion came from Health Minister Martin, who told the Chamber during study of his departmental estimates that those who could not pay their share under such a plan would have to be assisted by the State.

Replying to requests from Opposition members for assistance to incurables and cripples unable to earn a living, he said the question was receiving his "personal" attention. It was "incontestable" that those people should be helped.

He hoped before he left the Health Department to be able to announce that a plan for the assistance of incurables and cripples had been worked out.

Mr. Martin also reported his aim was to bring into effect a system of contributory old age pensions. However, constitutional matters entered into the picture and the Federal government would have to have certain rights transferred from the provinces in order to make the plan operative.

Garfield Case (PC-Grey North) suggested the pension might better be called a "retirement allowance."

Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) said the means test should be removed on pensions to the blind.

Mr. Martin said it appeared to be generally agreed that the blind should come under legislation of their own.

Pay 725 Million

Dealing with family allowances, he said $725,000,000 had been paid out since the scheme became effective in 1945.

Some 3,500,000 children in Canada received the allowances. Another 50,000 were ineligible for various reasons, including the fact that their parents were immigrants and had not yet established the required resident qualifications.

Reports from all provinces indicate an increase in school attendance since the payments became effective.

Garfield Case said he did not like the compulsory feature of the allowances and suggested that families earning $3,000 or more a year be given the choice as to whether or not they wanted to take the payments.

Julian Ferguson said the gov-

US Tourists Getting Wiser Buy Canadian Funds Home

MONTREAL, June 17—(CP).—Those good old free-spending days by American tourists are apparently over.

Visitors from below the border are getting wiser. Instead of bringing American dollars with them they are bringing Canadian funds purchased in United States banks at a discount, according to a survey by the Gazette.

Hotel and rooming house operators, amusement places, handicraft shops and other establishments who do substantial business with tourists said that although there are more tourists this year, the number of American dollars passed out has greatly decreased.

By purchasing their Canadian money at home, Americans save approximately seven cents on every dollar. While American money is only accepted at par in Canada, Canadian dollars can be bought for about 93 cents on the New York market.

Some observers here report that Canadian dollars can be bought on the black market and from other sources for as low as 87 cents in American currency.

An official of the Foreign Exchange Control Board said Americans wanting to bring Canadian money into Canada can do so without any trouble. Funds are obtainable at banks and in most cases drafts are made out.

A manager of one of Montreal's large hotels said his business was much heavier than last year, but the number of bills paid with American money has shrunk considerably.

Cankervorms Attack Trees In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, June 17—(CP).—Hasten, Jason, and bring the spray gun. Fill it with a solution of lead arsenate or calcium arsenate and point it at Winnipeg's maple and elm trees. They are being stormed by leaf-eating cankerworms.

Professor A. V. Mitchener of the University of Manitoba Department of Entomology reports that the trees in the city parks are being attacked by the small green worms, and said that "these worms are doubtless present everywhere."

"They can easily be killed off while in their first early stages, and although they are only eat-small holes in the leaves just now they will strip the trees bare if they aren't exterminated."

Reports from all over Manitoba that blue spruce and pine trees are dying of blight were checked with the Provincial Forest Insect Laboratory at the University of Manitoba. Officials there stated that these trees are suffering from winter weather conditions combined with the recent warm spells which have come over the province.

This was confirmed by the Forestry Service Department which says the coniferous trees have evaporated the moisture through their needles during the warm weather, but are not able to draw up fresh water from the ground as it is still frozen.

Need Airmen's Group

Bishop Wells Advocates Closer Cooperation Between Protestant Faiths

MILLBROOK, June 17—(ENS)—Right Rev. G. A. Wells, MA, CMG, ED, was the guest preacher at the Confirmation service in St. Thomas' Anglican Church on Sunday morning. The rector, Rev. C. M. MacLean, was in charge of the service, and presented two candidates. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Edwards of St. John's Church, Ida, to the Bishop, for the solemn rite of Confirmation. Owing to the annual memorial service at St. John's in the afternoon, at which Bishop Wells was also the guest speaker, Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, the former a veteran of World War II, were received into full church membership through the laying on of hands at the morning service.

In introducing Bishop Wells, Rev. Mr. MacLean explained that he had been in the South African War, was senior chaplain in World War I, and as Brigadier was principal Protestant chaplain to all Canadian Forces in World War II. "Chaplains of all denominations found him friendly, helpful, and anxious to serve. They trusted him fully, and knew him to be appreciative of the work any church is doing for the establishment of the Kingdom of God in this great Dominion."

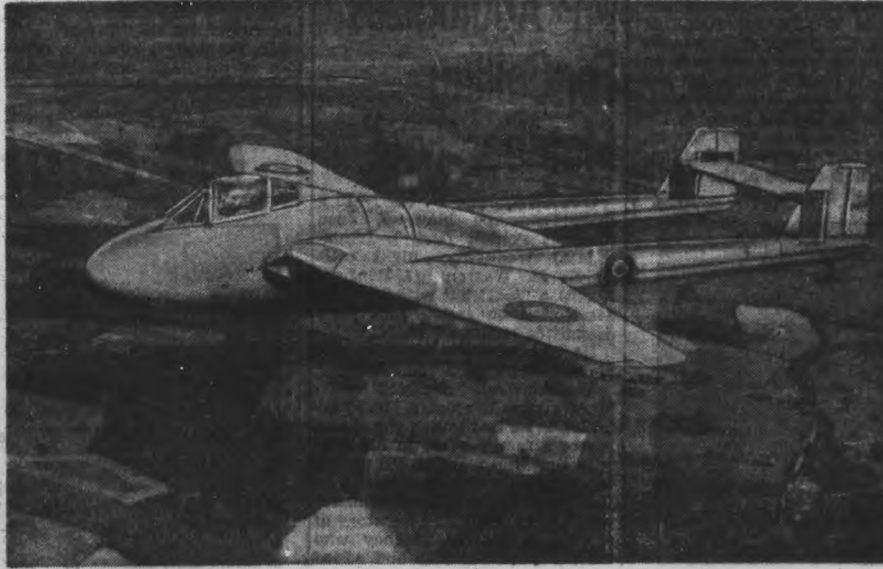

In beginning his sermon, Bishop Wells addressed a few words first to the candidates, impressing upon them that they would only get out of Confirmation what they put into it. "It completes what your godparents promised for you at baptism. It is closely associated with the Holy Communion, and admits you to that Sacrament, and to full membership in the Christian Church. But you must do your part, before God can do His."

Turning to the larger congregation, the speaker dealt especially with the Lambeth Conference, which meets in London, England, in July, and which he expects to attend. Its main theme will be how to develop a closer relationship between the different communities of the Christian church, outside of the Roman Catholic. Agreement has been reached on the Bible as the basis of faith, the symbol of faith, the Apostles' Creed, or the Nicene Creed; baptism and the Lord's Supper accepted as the sacraments of the church. The present difficulty is in regard to church government, and ordination of the clergy. Personally Bishop Wells feels that this will be solved without making shipwreck of the undertaking. All Christians should earnestly pray that God will direct the discussions and make the way clear.

Should Get Closer

"After two wars a wave of co-operation and friendly feeling among all denominations has swept the churches, and if we could get together in time of war, why not in time of peace? It would release men and money for needy fields, especially in the west, as overlapping was done away with, and help us present a united front to the dreadful problems facing the world today. The trend of the times may force a union of the leading political parties, and the church should get an example." Negotiations in Canada, looking toward unity, are being carried on by fifteen leading men of the Church of England and the United Church and the speaker felt that "any member in good standing in his own congregation should be allowed to come to the Lord's Table in any other Protestant church."

An anthem by the choir, under the leader, Mrs. G. A. Spicer, with Miss M. L. Collins at the organ, followed the sermon, and special prayers for the sick of the congregation were offered, previous to the recessional hymn, and the blessing by the Bishop.

Bishop Speaks At Cavan Decoration Day

CAVAN, June 17 (ENS)—Last Sunday the annual Decoration Day and memorial service was held at St. John's Church, Ida, at three o'clock in the afternoon. The rector, Rev. C. M. MacLean, of Millbrook, had charge of the service and Bishop Wells, Toronto, who had conducted confirmation services at St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, in the morning, was present and preached the sermon. The choir of St. Thomas' Church led in singing, with Miss M. Collins at the organ. Mrs. G. A. Spicer, Millbrook, sang a solo. The chancel of the church was decorated with baskets of white flowers and the windows were filled with bouquets of peonies, iris and spirea. The church was filled to capacity with many having to remain outside for the service. Mr. MacLean gave a brief historical sketch of the parish. Rev. Joseph Thompson, who came out from England and settled on a farm on the Tenth Line, Cavan, gave the land for the cemetery 130 years ago. He also was the first preacher in the first church to be erected there.

Nature's own monument was used to mark the grave of the first person to be buried there, a little child, who sleeps at the foot of a huge pine tree at the southwest corner of the cemetery.

Will Continue Flogging For Prisoners

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, June 17.—(CP).—The House of Lords heard a description of the sombre ritual of flogging in a prison and approved a continuation of a grim punishment for grim crimes.

But they wanted no more of the cruel cat o'nine tails, which might mark a man for life. They would keep the birch to give—as Lord Goddard, lord chief justice of England described it—the man or youth found guilty of violent crime “a jolly good hiding.”

The peers voted 29-17 for a continuation of flogging, with the birch, and thus rejected a Commons decision to eliminate this form of punishment.

Lord du Parc, a judge who opposed the use of both “cat” and birch, said a committee which studied the matter agreed that flogging with the birch is almost as bad as flogging with the instrument more commonly condemned.

Solemn Business

“In both cases it is a solemn and formal business. The triangle is used, and the policeman or warder who beats the man is screened so that his face cannot be seen by the offender. It is a solemn ritual, with a doctor present to watch the man's face the whole time, in order to see if there are symptoms of fainting; and in that event the punishment is not proceeded with.”

“From his own experience, Lord du Parc recalled the one case where he had ordered flogging—for a man guilty of robbery with violence. Later he heard the man had again been arrested for a crime and the police had testified that since he had been flogged in prison had become a “much more desperate character.”

But Lord Goddard, who also had experience with criminals, said men guilty of “filthy and brutal offences” were exposed to ridicule by their associates after being birched.

“... Do away with the brutality of the cat, but keep the birch, which may hurt, which will not injure, and which will bring ridicule on the person who receives it.”

Honor Meighen On Birthday

TORONTO, June 17.—(CP).—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, twice prime minister of Canada, reflected at a 74th birthday celebration in his home last night that “the world is indeed in a sorry plight.”

He told almost 60 persons, most of them prominent in public life, that there are these two causes of present maladjustment:

1. The blockade of the highways and paths of thought.
2. The frenzy caused by the blocking of information at its source.

Mr. Meighen said although there is no political telescope he believes the government of leading western powers will lead them from the crisis.

Prominent guests included: Lieut.-Gov. Ray Lawson of Ontario; John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader; Hon. George S. Henry, former Ontario premier; Hon. Earl Rowe; Arthur R. Ford, chancellor of the University of Western Ontario and editor-in-chief of the London Free

Price Of Beer Up In Ontario

TORONTO, June 17.—(CP).—The price of beer in Ontario has been increased by 22 cents a 24-pint case.

Liquor Commissioner William Griesinger, announcing the first increase in the beer price since 1943, said the rate for a 24-pint case, would be $3.75 instead of $3.50, effective tomorrow. At the same time the refund on empties would be boosted to 75 cents from 72 cents.

Mr. Griesinger said that at the new rates beer still could be bought for less in Ontario than in any other province.

Some quarters here expressed belief the size of glasses for draft sale of beer would be reduced to 8½ ounces from the present nine ounces.

The bulls, shipped by the World Commerce Corporation to the Joint Breeders' Association of Italy, will be on public display in the Canadian Embassy Garden in Rome on arrival.

Later, they will be exhibited at the Milan Cattle Breeders' mer show.

MP Apologizes For Calling Member 'Fool'

OTTAWA, June 17. (CP).—In a sharp Commons blow-up, Jean Francois Pouliot (Ind. L-Temis-couata) Wednesday night called R. M. Warren (L-Renfrew North) a “fool” but withdrew the description on instructions from committee chairman W. N. Gold. He had used the term, he explained partly, as a “euphemism.”

The blow-up occurred when Mr. Warren interrupted Mr. Pouliot while he was telling the chamber of a family of 12 in his constituency who were forced to live in inadequate accommodation.

He asked the Quebec minister whether he had heard the story of a man in his constituency who built a home for $475 and added that he had an ever “better” story than that.

Shouting at the top of his voice, Mr. Pouliot retorted:

“I think the honorable member for Renfrew North should have more sympathy for those who suffer and stop his silly jokes when we speak of suffering people. His story is old. It has appeared in the press.”

Mr. Warren: “It was no joke. It was absolutely true. I have even a better, one than that if my honorary friend would care to listen.” Mr. Pouliot: “I am not to be interrupted by silly things . . .” Mr. Pouliot: “I rise to a question of privilege, not to be disturbed by a fool like that when I speak of my problems in the house.” The chairman: “Order. The honorary member will have to withdraw that word.”

Smith, Harvey, Lakefield Convention At Curve Lake

CURVE LAKE, June 17—(ENS).—The Smith and Harvey townships and Lakefield village met for their annual Sunday school convention in the Curve Lake United church.

Twelve schools out of an enrolment of 17 answered the roll call. The president, Eric Pearson, of Wesley United church, presided.

Rev. Mr. Day, pastor of Curve Lake Sunday school, welcomed the delegates and led the opening worship. Mr. Tobico of Curve Lake, said that he had been superintendent for nine years and had only been absent three Sunday days during that time.

Discussion groups were led by the Rev. F. J. Fife and Mr. Hilchey concerning "well run Sunday school."

When the convention adjourned, a supper was served in the hall by the Curve Lake ladies.

During the evening, Rev. Maunsel Hunt of the Lakefield Anglican Church, gave a splendid address advocating patience to the teachers in the matter of religious education. This was followed by more hymn singing led by the Rev. Mr. Day and the children's choir.

Mr. Hilchey made the closing address "Making the Sunday sized the necessity of greater community Evangelistic." He emphasized the Sunday School to defeat the attraction of movie and comic book. He strongly stressed his desire to see the church take a more prominent part in the leadership of youth.

Prices Group Studies Committee's Report

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP).—The prices committee is scheduled to hold one of its most important meetings today.

Its members plan to hold a full executive session—closed to the public—to consider the questions of the committee's report to parliament and its own life. The meeting was originally scheduled for last week-end but was cancelled because too many members had conflicting engagements.

There is in existence a tentative report, prepared mainly by government economists under the direction of chairman Paul Martin. It would require approval from the committee before it could be presented to Commons.

Council of Blind Leader Wants Separate Act

To foster the social and recreational activities of the blind people, to advocate a program of improved legislation for the blind, and to carry out research on the educational facilities for blind children, is the work of the Canadian Council of the Blind, according to Mrs. W. C. Bending, Dominion president of the council, who spoke at a meeting of the Louis Braille Society held last night in All Saints' Parish Hall.

Mrs. Bending went on to say that 27 clubs formed by blind people and their friends, similar to the Louis Braille Society, are now affiliated with the CCB, and that the council is looking forward to the formation of other clubs throughout the Dominion. Through social clubs blind people are able to organize recreational activities.

At present Mrs. Bending said the act governing Blind Person's Pension is an amendment to the Old Age Pension's Act. It is the hope of the council that in the near future an act separate from the Old Age Pension's Act will be passed by the House of Commons for blind persons. She believes that a pension of $40 a month is a minimum requirement to meet the needs of blind people.

Touching briefly on the council's work on educational facilities for blind children Mrs. Bending said that these are not uniform throughout the Dominion. Education for the blind is conducted by Provincial Governments and no national standard has been established.

The work of the council is carried out in co-operation with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the council receiving support and advice from the Institute on all phases of its work.

Accompanying Mrs. Bending was Miss E. K. Walker. Mr. E. Lewis Horning, represented the Lions Club. Speaking briefly he said the Lions Club was glad to have the opportunity of supporting recreational activities for the blind people of Peterborough.

Representing the Peterborough City and County Advisory Board to the C.N.B. were Mrs. Doris Whalen, Mrs. Gladys Robinson and Mrs. Floyd Curtis. Mrs. Curtis speaking on behalf of the board stated that the formation of the Louis Braille Society had been most advantageous to the blind persons of this district and that the board would follow activities of the club with keen interest.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Iris Whalen and Mrs. Percy Hooper. Frank Simmons and Thos. McQuaig had charge of the program.

Plan New Drive To Get Funds For Civic Arena

A three-night drive which will blanket the city covering every home and place of business is planned by the Civic Arena committee to give the final push in the drive for funds to finance the rink now under construction.

Dick Oulmet, general chairman, said an organization meeting is planned for tonight in the headquarters on George St., opposite the market clock. At this get-together an appeal will be drafted to every service club and women's organization in the city asking for large contingents of canvassers to do the work. The city will be broken into subdivisions similarly to voting areas, and each group will be assigned a specific section to canvass.

Mr. Oulmet said the contractor is making rapid progress, and the money must be raised soon. He feels there are hundreds of people who will donate generously if a canvasser approaches for support.

Another facet of this program is the work being done by the Forester's Youth Group of more than 100 boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 25. They plan a dance at Club Aragon next Wednesday night in the hope of raising $500 for the Arena.

Miss Janet Kearns, leader of the group, said they have pledged the raising of $500 in appreciation for the fine leadership given the rink committee, and all the members are selling tickets. Ten usherettes smartly garbed in costumes, which include red and green capes will be on duty at the dance, and a splendid evening of entertainment is planned.

Laundry Fire At Hospital Doused Quickly

Quick thinking and action by Harold Hynes, engineer at Civic Hospital, and a group of workmen resulted this morning in a small roof fire on the hospital laundry building being extinguished before it could do more than minor damage.

Firemen were called at 10 a.m. this morning when it was reported that sparks from the laundry chimney had ignited a patch on the laundry roof. Even though they drove to the scene of the blaze at top speed they were beaten by Mr. Hynes and his hastily-assembled crew.

A line of two-and-a-half inch hose had been laid and the single fire was rapidly doused. By the time firemen arrived it was all over. The only thing remaining was a hole about the size of a man's fist which had been burned in the roof.

Six Swimmers Given Awards

Six Peterborough swimmers have earned the Award of Merit of the Royal Life Saving Society. They are Edwin Nicholls, Harold Grafein, Ronald Gynane, Gordon Buck, Frank Wright and Kenneth Stacey. Bronze medallions and intermediate certificates have been earned by Edwin Nicholls, Harold Grafein and Frank Wright. Leonard Pulver, who was in charge of the classes at the YMCA for those entering for bronze medallions, has been awarded an instructor's certificate.

All these swimmers will be acting as instructors and life guards during the summer. Edwin Nicholls will be swimming director at the Lions' Club swimming pool at Bancroft. Frank Wright will act as swimming director at the Y's Men's Camp Kawartha, where Bill Watson will be a swimming instructor.

Harold Grafein will be swimming instructor at Camp Mizrahi at Bronte, and Leonard Pulver will be swimming instructor at Camp Kawagama at Dorset. Ronald Gynane and Gordon Buck are expected to be acting as life guards for the city this summer. Gordon Minty, who is in charge of the life saving classes and swimming at the YMCA, will be aquatic director at Camp Kamano on Stony Lake.

Board of Health Endorses County, City Health Unit

A resolution from the Peterborough Home and School Council urging the establishment of a county and city health unit was endorsed by the Board of Health at their meeting on Wednesday. Approval was given for the engagement of Florence Stewart, of Guelph, as public health nurse, and also for one nurse to attend a course in child psychology and a course in pre-natal supervision. James Dutton, chairman of the board, reported that as a result of a conversation with the Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Ontario Minister of Health, there is a possibility that a mental health clinic may be formed in Peterborough.

The report of Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, showed that attendance at child hygiene clinics held during May there was a total attendance of 334 with an average of approximately 28 per clinic. Eight new active, 5 new inactive and 2 re-activated cases of tuberculosis were reported during the month. Dr. Kelly said that it had been extremely difficult to find adequate treatment facilities for all these people. R. M. McPherson, Sanitary Inspector, reported that all restaur-

Work To Start Within Month In South End

E. Reynolds & Son of Kirkland Lake have been awarded by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation the contract to build in Peterborough 200 permanent, low-rental houses for war veterans and their families.

Mr. Reynolds is coming here next week to begin preparations for construction, and actual work should be underway within a month. The contractors will occupy land on the west side of Monaghan Road and south of the Peterborough Canoe Co. property as office headquarters and for the procuring of lumber to the sizes required in the two types of houses in this latest local project.

This announcement today by Ald. Gordon Armstrong, chairman of the council's special building committee, is the result of months of enquiry and consideration especially in obtaining suitable properties for the economy of collective building.

The first houses will be erected on the John T. O'Connell property which extends between Park St. and Monaghan Road, and will complete the development of virtually the entire area south of Edison Ave.

"The contract was let by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation," Ald. Armstrong said. "It was delayed by the element of cost that would permit the company to hold rentals to the limit set by the Crown company."

Of these 200 houses, 140 or 70 per cent will be of five rooms, renting at $34.50 a month, and the others of six rooms renting at $37.50. They will all have basements and not gas furnaces. We have studied the plans of room layout and equipment, and we think quite favorably of them, especially at present building costs.

Mostly One Storey

Most of the houses are of one storey, consisting of kitchen, bath, combined dining and living room, and two bedrooms with basement. The exterior finish will be of rigid asbestos siding. Those are just details of outline.

Mr. Reynolds will be here Monday. This contracting firm is experienced in Central Mortgage projects. The last one they completed comprised 100 houses. Tenants moved into the first houses four months after the contract was begun. We should say that in our negotiations we have had fine co-operation from Peterborough Canoe Co. and from Nashua Paper Co. We are going to have use of the latter company's siding. I understand that Central Mortgage was able to hold the rent for the six-room houses to $37.50 by amortizing the investment over 55 years."

The Armstrong committee is meeting tonight to dispose of the final details of their planning.

The O'Connell property is being occupied on the basis of expropriation by the city.

Figures were: Men's beverage room, 591 in favor, 413 against. For women's beverage room, 534 in favor, 468 against.

Present Fire Hall Bulging More Space Needed, South-end Station Likely

Essential apparatus is now so crowded in Peterborough's only fire station that either its capacity must be enlarged or a substation built adjacent to the new south end. That was the substance of a comment by Ald. Doug Miller at the meeting of the finance committee of the council Monday night.

Discussion of this problem during the past months reveals that an addition to the Aymer St. station would naturally have to conform with the present building, and is almost certain to run into an expense bill beyond the council's present contemplation of cost. On the other hand, a temporary building, suitable even for ten years or more, could be provided at small outlay somewhere in the vicinity of the De Laval-Ovaltine corner, equipped with the minimum of one pumper with a captain and three men.

The south end may consider itself lucky in the fewness of serious fires within its neighborhood boundaries, and especially that none have broken out while the main streets of approach were blocked by railway traffic. And there isn't much that can be done about that hazard of obstruction. Two lines, CPR and CNR, cross Park St. and Monaghan Road. They are necessarily laid in the compact industrial section of the city, and there is no changing them. Even the CNR now Park St. They are Peterborough Canoe Co., Nashua Paper Co., Ovaltine plant, De Laval Co., Peterborough Lumber Co.

These circumstances require adjustment of fire fighting plans to the existing traffic facilities.

Big Population

It is a long drive from the fire hall to Crawford's Grove. Some one recently suggested that there are now far more people south of Lansdowne St. than are living in Lakeside, and the northern village has a first rate volunteer fire department well equipped with machines under the direction of Chief Alan Clark. Possibly when Ald. Doug Miller takes his committee down to the southeast section of the city to investigate the possibilities of fighting fire in that area without spending any money right now, he might go around by the corner of Lansdowne and Park streets and consider this problem of enlargement and how it is to be most satisfactorily solved.

Chief George Smith renewed this year the previous Gimblett recommendations for a south end substation. His preference would be a lot off Morrow Park at the Lansdowne-Park streets corner. Another desirable location is the Imperial Oil corner at Park-Romaine streets. One type of temporary accommodation is the domed or quonset building, available here, that can be put up at a cost of $1.50 a square foot for the overall structure. Interior fittings, whatever might be necessary, would be extra cost.

The urgent fact is that the fire hall is full of apparatus, that this congestion may tend to interfere with department efficiency, the quick get-away for instance, and that there are hours during the day when shunting and regular trains might hold up fire fighting machines long enough to let flames get beyond control at some burning in the south end. So far in this consideration, Ald. Miller has only pointed to the overcrowding of apparatus in the fire hall, and there is probably general assent within the council that some expansion should be made at once. Economy points at last to that south end substation.

Loses Two Autos

MONTREAL, June 11.—(CP).—J. H. Delisle, minister without portfolio, in the Quebec government, had to do without an automobile after all.

First his car was stolen and when recovered by the police, it was damaged to such an extent that it had to be left several weeks in a garage.

The garage owner did not want the minister to go without a car, so he lent him another automobile while his own was being repaired.

Mr. Delisle drove home for lunch. When he came out, the car was gone. So he reported a second car stolen.

Miners Tunnel 800 Feet Under Atlantic Floor

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GLACE BAY, N.S., June 17. — (CP)—When the miner in Dominion 1B pit reaches the coal face where he digs—it takes him 90 minutes from the pithead—he's six miles out and 800 feet under the floor of the Atlantic.

Through the maze of tunnels, headways and deeps underground, hundreds of tons of coal move to the surface each day from 1B, one of the biggest collieries in the world.

Recently Harold Gordon, coal operations chief for Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, conducted a party of newspaper men on a tour of the vast under-sea workings.

The party was issued a new suit of blue overalls, a wide leather belt to strap on the lamp battery, a stick (used by miners at the face to tap the overhead seam to see if it is safe) and a helmet.

We were introduced to four men: W. S. (Billy S) MacDonald, general superintendent of mines; Harry Hines, his assistant; Jack Rose, mine manager; and Ernie Beaton, industrial relations man. All have spent their working lives in the pit.

It was about midnight and a heavy mist hung over the mine trestle as we entered the battery-house. The pithead is only 55 yards from the ocean.

We drew miners' lamps after signing our names in a book. On the door were signs reminding us that "a good miner is a safe miner." We already had discarded cigarettes, matches and lighters. Hundreds of miners chew tobacco.

Quick Descent

We walked up the blackened mine trestle about 100 feet to the head of the shaft and boarded the cage. A bell jangled suddenly and we plummeted downward 670 feet in a matter of seconds. The air made a "woosh" and our ears cracked. It was like diving in an aircraft.

At the bottom we peered into two or three tunnels that led off into the deeps. We walked a few yards to a "trip," several boxes pulled by a donkey engine. We pulled ourselves over the side and sat down in the black dust on the bottom. Our lamps played along the walls and roof of the tunnel. Presently, the trip rattled away into the blackness of the pit. The engine carries a headlight and is powered by a single cable running along the roof of the mine. We were repeatedly cautioned to duck our heads as we got in and out of the trip. "One touch of that wire and you'd get more volts than you could stand," Mr. Hines said.

We rumbled along for miles. In the confined tunnel we seemed to be travelling at express-train speed, but we were actually doing only 15 miles an hour.

Dominion 1B is one of the finest underground engineering jobs in the world. Tunnels, of course, are coal seams that have been worked out. In 1B the walls of the main tunnels have been shored up with cement. Planking holds the ceiling up. The first passages were rectangular, but later we saw shoring-up jobs that looked like an unending Nissen hut with bent steel girders holding up the roof planking.

Throughout the workings—except right at the coal face—"stone dust" is thrown to lay the coal dust. Stone dust is the color of flour. The tunnels are as neatly finished as London's famed "tube," but as our lamps played eerily across their walls, they had a strange, grey, papier-mache look.

Smooth Roadbed

There are double trackings in the main tunnels to allow empty cars to go down into the deeps while loaded cars are on their way to the surface. Considering that we were sitting on the bare floor of the trip, the roadbed was much smoother than that of some surface railroads.

The main tunnel was about eight feet high. As we moved further out under the Atlantic the roof lowered, although the only time we had to duck from our sitting position was going through a wooden door that regulates ventilation in the mine.

Ventilation is one of the biggest problems. More area must be given for the bad air coming out than for the fresh air being forced in. When we neared the coal face later we saw how this worked. Burlap is draped along the side of the tunnel and the air is blown to the face between it and the wall. When it reaches the place being worked—the end of the tunnel—it swirls around and rushes back up the tunnel, carrying coal dust with it.

At a fork in the tunnel we got off, went along a narrow passage and started climbing up a steep incline. The roof was low and we had to bend our backs. At the top of the passage we came upon the great "tugger," or winch, that hauls the trips up out of the deeps. To build the site and place the tugger in it took a year. A massive cable wound around a big drum stretched down into the darkness. One man sat at the controls.

The role in the ground where the tugger is placed is completely walled and roofed with cement. On the walls miners have painted crude signs showing gardens, trees and houses. Iron catwalks surround the machine.

Noisy "Trips"

We went down the incline out of the "tugger room" and turned

Races, Dinner Delight Picnic Crowd

More than 300 pupils attended the annual All Saints' Sunday School picnic on Monday afternoon at Nicholls Oval. The picnic lasted from 4.30 p.m. to 8 p.m., but that was ample time for the youngsters to complete a full program of athletic events, eat a whopping big lunch and have an all-around good time.

Warm, sunny weather added to the general enjoyment and this was particularly appreciated by the elderly people who got their afternoon's fun by sitting and watching the younger ones play.

There were racing entries for five-year-olds and others up to age 13. Perhaps the three-legged races for both boys and girls drew the most laughs, but the wheelbarrow races were also popular.

Lunch was served promptly at 5.45 and was soon disposed of by the eager pupils.

off into a headway as a trip rolled past with a deafening roar.

A trip picked us up near the foot of the slope and we trundled off again to one of the coal faces.

A soot-blackened miner was working an electric cutter back and forth across the coal seam. The cutter was mounted on an iron jack-support. When he finished, a shot-firer moved in to drill holes into the face above and below the cut. Then the cut was blasted, and the loaders took over, shovelling the coal into the boxes.

Two at a time, the boxes are hauled away by pit horses to the point where the cable of the tugger takes over for the long haul to the surface.

On the way back to the trip we went into the underground stable where 125 horses were quartered. They set their vacation in the summer and are taken up for two weeks of cantering on the green land.

Mariposa Council Pays $500 For Sheep

Farmers in Peterborough County are not the only ones suffering severe sheep losses these days. Mariposa township council, Victoria county, have recently paid out sheep claims totalling more than $500—or more than in any previous month of its history.

The claims were for 27 sheep which, it is believed, met their death through roving packs of dogs. If these are killed while molesting sheep the township pays a bounty.

Losses have been reported from many townships in Peterborough, Victoria and Ontario counties.

Bethany WI Seeks Way To Raise Money

BETHANY, June 17.—(ENS).—The June meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute was held on Monday at the home of Mrs. T. J. Jackson with 20 members in attendance answering the Roll Call with "Your favorite recipe for preserving early fruit". The president, Mrs. Leslie Challice conducted the opening exercises. It was decided to adopt an Institute in Great Britain to which parcels would be sent once a month. Mrs. R. Carr was appointed publicity convener for the next term. A committee comprised of Mrs. W. L. Rowan, Mrs. Gervin Mulligan and Mrs. T. J. Jackson was appointed to be on the lookout for some entertainment to be held in the early fall as a means of providing further funds for the treasury. The secretary was instructed to write regarding a Co-Operative program on frozen foods to be held in Bethany whenever this would be available from the department. A report was received from the fire prevention committee stating that the Institute Fire Fighting Equipment would now be stored in the United Church Parsonage barn close to the cistern supply and where it would be more accessible. The Sick and Visiting Committee was instructed to send a box of fruit to the Secretary, Mrs. W. Price with best wishes for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. W. L. Rowan, leader of Group One then took charge. Miss Doris Driver gave a most interesting account of her recent trip to Phoenix, Arizona where she had spent the winter months. Mrs. Thomas Jennings entertained with several very pleasing songs and guitar selections. Mrs. T. J. Jackson, the district delegate gave a report of the annual meeting held at Morrish, stating that "The growth of interest in Institute work was very encouraging."

Stress was laid on the value of the Co-Operative programs offered and each Institute was requested to apply for at least one of these courses. Branch delegates were urged to attend all meetings, so that the work of the Institute at large would become more common knowledge of the individual branches. Mrs. Jackson also gave the list of the district officers appointed and expressed the pleasure of the members in the fact that Mrs. R. W. Price of Bethany had been elected district president. Mrs. R. Carr conducted a musical contest with Mrs. Gervin Mulligan and Miss Doris Driver winning the high score.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Vincent Jackson, Mrs. Leslie Challice and Mrs. W. L. Rowan.

Miss Hannah Staples moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Jackson for the use of her home and for the good report of the annual meeting, also to all other participating in the program.

There will be no meetings held during the months of July and August. The September program will be in charge of Mrs. J. C. Cumiskey and Mrs. Hilliard Bristow, joint conveners of Group Two.

Marmora WI To Hold Food Course In Fall

The June meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held Wednesday at the home of president Mrs. E. C. Prentice. The roll call was "How I met my husband." It was decided to make a donation to the rink fund. The president expressed the wish that another Girls' Club be started this fall. The branch decided to approach the Department of Agriculture for the holding of a short course in the fall, choosing either "Our money's worth in food" or "Canning Ontario foods."

Mrs. L. R. Rundle, delegate to the district annual at Eldorado, had an encouraging report to give. It was mentioned that the Marmora Branch will be called to attend a rally at Ivanhoe in September. Mrs. Brain, who is on a visit to this country from England, will describe Institute work in England. Conveners for standing committees were appointed as follows: Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. L. R. Green; Home Economics, Mrs. E. Belanger; Social Welfare, Mrs. H. A. Burwash; Historical Research, Miss Grace Warren; Citizenship, Mrs. P. Gray; Publicity, Mrs. H. W. Sabine. Homes for meetings for the ensuing year were next selected. Piano selections were given by Marion Chrysler and Miss Helen Lumma.

Mrs. F. Gray followed with a reading on the silver wedding anniversary of the King and Queen. A broadcast by members giving comparisons of food and clothing prices in past years with the present was followed with interest. Mrs. P. Gray sang "The Dear Home." The retiring president, Mrs. W. D. Lavender, received the thanks of the branch for her work during the past year.

World Bank Aids Reconstruction

By The Canadian Press

Long before the war was over the problems of reconstruction were foreseen and machinery was set up to meet them.

The problems, however, proved beyond the capacity of ordinary measures, partly because the devastation was so great. So there has come into being such vast emergency enterprises as the European recovery program.

ERP and its contemplated expenditures of billions, has largely obscured this fact—that the long-term machinery still exists and is functioning to a degree.

Such a piece of machinery is the international bank for reconstruction and development, to which 46 countries belong, including Canada.

The $500,000,000 which it has loaned in two years catches few headlines in competition with ERP.

The bank was designed to lend money for reconstruction in cases where private loans might not be available on reasonable terms, but where there was good prospect that the borrower could pay it back as the result of the reconstruction which the loan would make possible.

Nurse Explains How To Meet Emergencies

WESTWOOD, June 16. — (ENS).— "Social Welfare" featured the program of the June meeting of the Women's Institute held on Tuesday afternoon in the town hall.

Miss Isabel Birdsall, Reg. N., gave a very instructive talk on first aid in cases of fainting, burns, poisoning and fractures. She also demonstrated the proper method of changing the bed linen with a patient in bed.

The motto, "Cheerfulness in Medicine for the Mind" was prepared by Mrs. W. Mood and given by her mother, Mrs. F. E. Birdsall, in her absence. The report of the district annual, held recently at Apsley was brought by Mrs. W. Morris.

Donations were handed in for the monthly gift to the Institute's adopted patient in Kingston hospital. It was reported that eleven benches in all have been constructed by Mr. H. S. Neilson for the W.I., who are presenting them to the hall park.

Lunch, prepared by the hostesses, Mrs. Wood, Miss Comstock and Mrs. Graham, brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

Havelock Board Votes In Favor Of School Area

HAVELOCK, June 17.—(ENS).—Public School Inspector Birkin and High School Inspector Laikie addressed the Havelock Board of Education at their meeting on Monday evening in regard to the larger high school area. Havelock and Dummer were the only two municipalities that had not signed. Taking into consideration that the township of Belmont and Methuen had signed it would leave only the pupils residing in the village attending the local school and the operation costs would be greatly increased.

A motion by Trustees Sayers and Hareyett was passed that the request to dissolve and discontinue the Havelock high school district be signed and forwarded to the county council.

No Salary Boost

A request from High School Principal L. Cooke that his salary be increased from $2,800 to $3,200 per annum resulted in no action being taken in the matter. An amendment by Trustees Mathison and Hareyett that Principal Cooke receive an increase of $100 from September 1, 1948 to June 30, 1949 was lost. Principal Cooke reported that the classes are now trying their final examinations. Twenty-three pupils tried the St. John Ambulance Course and all were successful. He explained to the Board the amount of work to be done in the science laboratory to catalogue, arrange and repair the equipment.

On motion by Trustees Hareyett and Mathison a bonus of $100 will be given to Mr. Cooke for this work to be done during July and a report to be submitted to the Board. Mr. Cooke was authorized to purchase four balls and two bats for the high school.

On motion by Trustees Hareyett and Mathison in case of illness the caretaker will be allowed 12 days sick leave each year.

Truant Officer J. Draper reported as follows: School open 20 days in May. Total attendance 168. Average attendance 158.98. Perfect aggregate 322. Actual Aggregate 317.94. Percentage 98.71. Two admissions and two transfers.

A grant of $10 was made by the Board to Gerald Melville towards expenses to take a course in

Millbrook Couple Mark 45th Wedding Anniversary

MILLBROOK, June 17.—(ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Smith, who have been practically life-long citizens of this community, will quietly celebrate the fifty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day today, June 17, at their home, King St., with only the immediate family and a few intimate friends. The "bride" was formerly Edith Cochrane, elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane, who lived in the States, and the marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride's aunt, the late Miss Maria Collins.

The ceremony was performed by the late Rev. H. B. Kenny, at that time pastor of the Millbrook Methodist charge, which now includes St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook, and the Cavan United Church. The bridesmaid was Miss Carrie Smith, sister of the groom, now Mrs. Fred Kennedy, of Regina, Sask., and the groomsmen was the late Robert Cochrane, brother of the bride, who gave his life in World War No. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have two children, Bernice, of Toronto, and Billy, student at the local Con-sports at Lake Couchiching this summer. A similar grant is made by the Department of Education. The following accounts were passed: Teachers' and caretakers' salaries, $1,694; McNeely's Drug Store, $4.95; R. Williams, 80c; Hubbel Hardware, $10.80; Sanderson's Hardware, $10.89; Express 36c.

Jaycees Want National Voice

WINNIPEG, June 17.—(CP).—The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada opened its 13th annual convention here today with the avowed intention of attempting to widen its field of activity to include matters of national importance.

Ray J. Saunders of Winnipeg, chairman of the convention committee, said delegates "will discuss the proper machinery for taking referendums through the National Chamber so that the Chamber can express its opinions on vital questions."

Development of the tourist industry in Canada will be considered in detail, with recommendations likely to come from the approximately 300 delegates—representing all Canadian provinces.

Conservation of American dollars is another major topic scheduled, with several United States Junior Chamber of Commerce officials to be present during discussions. Among the latter are John Bed Shepperd, immediate past president of the U.S. Junior Chamber, and Paul Bagwell of Lansing, Mich., newly-elected president.

Cancel Noronic Cruise • Fear Picket Trouble

MIDLAND, June 16 — (CP).—Word was received here to-day that Canada Steamship Lines has cancelled a pre-season cruise of their passenger lines SS Noronic, on which the vessel was due to dock in Midland to-day.

Cancellation of the cruise, which would have brought several hundred tourists to North Simcoe, was the result of fear that Canadian Seamen's Union pickets, who have been quartered in the basement of St. Margaret's Catholic Church, Midland, together with additional CSU forces reported to be driven here from other centres, would have caused disturbances at the waterfront. Officials here believe.

Count Bernadotte, the U.N. mediator, issued a statement from the Island of Rhodes to the effect that the Holy Land situation has "calmed down."

County Council Asked To Endorse Health Unit

LAKEFIELD, June 17 — (ENS).—Mrs. W. W. Leonard, president of the Lakefield branch, Canadian Red Cross, presided for the June meeting held on Tuesday evening at the Curry home.

Mrs. J. Deladonne, nurse in charge of the Well Babies' Clinic, submitted a report showing a registration of 62 babies. The clinic will close for the summer months on June 24, and upon its reopening in the fall will be held on Wednesday afternoons instead of Thursday mornings. School nurse, Mrs. Wallace Hendren, reported 27 successful vaccinations at the school recently.

A disaster relief committee was set up with Mr. J. McKerchar as chairman and Mrs. R. Matthews, Mrs. J. Dixon and Mrs. J. Sabatino as helpers.

Mr. A. Morris of Young's Point said that the Young's Point branch would like to establish a dental clinic and have a nurse visit their school at regular intervals. They also hope to have their babies attend the Lakefield clinic when it re-opens in the fall.

Mrs. T. W. Chaplin favored the meeting with a reading.

Reports were given by the following ladies who attended the 9th regional meeting of the Ontario Red Cross held at Belleville: Mrs. W. E. Gillman, Mrs. W. G. Hendren, Mrs. G. Stuart, Miss Irene Madill and Mrs. F. Lawrence. A vote of thanks was extended for the excellent reports by Mrs. S. A. Grylls.

A resolution was passed to be forwarded to the county council asking that the necessary steps to establish a health unit here be taken.

Mr. McKerchar voiced the appreciation of the branch for her untiring and efficient services to Mrs. G. Robinson, secretary of the Grove School, who is leaving the village in the near future. Mrs. J. W. Ridpath presented Mrs. Robinson with a pen. Mrs. Robinson thanked the members for their gift, and stated that she would miss her friends of Lakefield very much.

Mr. Morris endorsed Mr. McKerchar's remarks, and extended all good wishes to Mrs. Robinson on behalf of the Young's Point branch.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. J. O. Huddart and Mrs. F. L. Erskine.

SELECTED SOLOIST — Soprano Virginia Davis (above) has been selected the Star Spangled Banner soloist to open the Republican national convention at Philadelphia, Pa., on June 21. Blame Industry For Wasting Hydro Supply

GODEFICH, June 17. (CP) — Industries of the province are "among the worst offenders" in wasting hydro, Chairman Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission told several thousand Huron County residents here on Wednesday.

Extensions under way in rural power service, particularly in Western Ontario were outlined by Mr. Saunders, as he opened the sixth annual field day of the Huron County Federation of Agriculture.

"There are some who suggest that in view of the shortage of power, we should stop further rural extensions," he said. "We at hydro believe in the importance of agriculture. We believe, too, that the farmers of Ontario are entitled to their share of whatever power is available."

He had discussed the shortage and the future hydro position with experts, "but I can say quite frankly that if the people of this province including industry which may I say, happen to be among the worst offenders, would only realize that electric energy would not be wasted then we should be in a position to carry ourselves until all our new generating plants are in operation. "Cut out the waste and we can carry on. Cut out the waste and we can do without much of the inconvenience of the past."

Cobourg Park was the site of the sixth annual picnic of Zeller's stores which was held yesterday, and four branches were represented — Lindsay, Oshawa, Belleville and Peterborough. Each store chartered a bus and approximately 200 employees arrived at the picnic.

In a program arranged entirely by the Belleville staff, the afternoon was filled with races, ball games, and various other entertainments.

About the park were placed numerous large picnic tables on which the picnickers had, as one employee described it, "an elegant supper!" There were salads, cold meats, ice cream, pies and coffee.

After supper, the crowd went into the Pavilion which stands by the Park, and accompanied by the piano and accordion player provided by Belleville, sang songs, old and new, until 8.30, when the trip home ended the day.

It's True... Wonderfully, Deliciously True... that when you use Certo you get fifty percent more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. Here's why: Certo is fruit pectin—the natural jelling substance of fruits—in concentrated form. When you use Certo, instead of boiling down your mixture until it is sufficiently concentrated to set, you add the pure fruit pectin, and reduce boiling time to just one or two minutes for jams—a half minute for jellies. Think how that preserves color and flavor! And you just can't have a failure, if you follow exactly instructions in the recipe booklet tucked under the label of each Certo bottle.

INITIAL SMARTNESS IN GLOVES—It is good that our manufacturers, not content with making fine, fashion-wise, sensibly-priced merchandise, are forever adding new and clever accents. Here is a smart little cotton glove with a "push button" monogram idea. Dawnelle does a glove that sports a gilded wrist button, so constructed that it accepts an initial selected by the buyer and snapped into the opening by the salesperson, thus monogramming each glove. Very nifty, and practical too.—By Alice Alden.

Housewife Can Still Find Bargains At Meat Counter

By KAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP)—Believe it or not, the housewife still can find bargains in meat — if she has trained her family not to demand steaks and chops as a daily dinner dish.

Home economists suggest tongue as a real bargain, calf, lamb or beef tongue are equally good.

Cold jellied tongue is a delicacy often seen on the cold meat counter at the butcher's. But it can be prepared easily — and inexpensively — at home.

Calves Tongues. — Ingredients: four cups water; ½ teaspoon dried celery leaves or celery salt; one sliced onion; two carrots; one bay leaf; six to eight peppercorns; 1½ teaspoons flour; two teaspoons cold water; salt and pepper; one teaspoon grated horseradish.

Boil the water, celery leaves, onion, carrots, bay leaf, peppercorns, salt and vinegar, for three minutes. Lower temperature to simmering and add calves tongues. Continue to simmer until tongues are tender (about 1½ hours); remove the skin. Drain stock and thicken with flour, which has been mixed to a smooth paste in cold water. Add salt and pepper to taste, and grated horseradish. Yield: six servings.

There are many ways of serving up those meat leftovers so the family will think they're getting something different.

Meat Casserole. — Ingredients: one cup leftover gravy; two cups cubed, cooked meat; one-third cup tomato catsup; three medium onions; salt and pepper.

Fry onions and then add gravy, catsup, and meat. Put in casserole and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

A baking powder biscuit dough may be placed over this before baking.

♦ ♦ ♦
Special Hamburg. — Ingredients: One pound ground steak, one medium-sized onion, salt and pepper. One cup water, celery salt to taste, one can tomato soup. Brown meat, onion, salt and pepper. Add water and celery salt and simmer for a few minutes. Add soup, simmer five minutes, and serve hot.

Hurry-up Dinner. — Line a greased baking dish with alternate layers of sliced potatoes, onions, hamburger, carrots and rice. Season and pour a can of tomatoes over all. Bake in a moderate oven.

BEACH NEWS—Of course, there are some bizarre beach outfits and some that are maybe a bit shocking even in this broadminded era, but mostly our manufacturers of fine beach wear seem to have concentrated on designs that are smart, wearable and not overdone, or, rather, underdone! Celanese rayon beach cloth is used for this Gabar model, consisting of a flared one-piece swim suit and a matching coat, nice for driving to the beach or sitting on the clubhouse porch. English Herb Cheese Dish Receives Top Rating

By MARY MOORE

Today's piece deals chiefly with cheese.

I was invited to the home of some English people and the buffet meal they served included the most intriguing cheese dish I can remember.

It was called English Herb Cheese and had been turned out of a deep mould, after being prepared before and kept very cold.

Follow my directions carefully for I made this a week ago and had a miniature party of my own, at which to serve it to a select few—so I could vouch for its acceptance by Canadian gourmets.

English Herb Cheese

Grate enough medium-old cheddar cheese to make two cups when well-packed. Add to this in top of double boiler 4 tablespoons each cream and cooking or other type sherry, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 teaspoons each finely (very finely) chopped chives and parsley, ½ teaspoon pulverized thyme and if possible ½ teaspoon each tarragon and chervil, ¼ teaspoon salt, shake of white pepper. Heat over simmering water, stirring constantly until it is a perfectly smooth blend and delicate green tinge. Turn in, to lightly buttered porcelain mould or bowl. Cover with a ¼-inch layer of butter that has been slowly melted, and the clear part of which has been used for the seal. Do not use the white sediment which forms at the bottom when the butter is melted. Keep very cold for 3 or 4 days before serving.

Serve with such accompaniments as assorted fancy crackers, black currant jam, hot scones and of course, tea.

One more cheese dish I want to give you is called

Cottage Cheese Balls

Mix together 1½ lbs. fresh rather dry cottage cheese, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons either caraway seeds or ground poppy seeds, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 tablespoons melted butter. Mix very well, form into balls. Place on buttered baking sheet and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes. Serve hot or cold I prefer them cold, and they should be served with pretzels. (The egg serves as a binder and holds the balls together—but if to be served hot they must be lifted from the baking sheet with a spatula.)

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I know you will be able to help me with my few cooking problems.

I like to make pastry mix in a large quantity. The last few years my pastry has not been up to par. I use 1 lb. shortening to six and one-half cups flour, salt. But I have been having difficulty rolling it out. It cracks. I was wondering if I am not using enough water. I would like to know how you cut in your shortening. It is so easy to make up a pie when the pastry mix is in the refrigerator.

Do you can strawberries? I tried two years ago. I put strawberries in jars and poured on hot syrup and processed for 20 minutes. But they lost colour and were tasteless. I used the juice but had to throw berries out. A friend of mine, pours sugar over berries, leaves all night. In the morning she boils them for 2 minutes in own juice, pours into sealers and seals. I do not want to have another failure as strawberries are so expensive.

I would like some recipes for tasty cookies and squirts. I haven't an up-to-date stove. I can make cookies and small cakes quite well. But don't do so well with the larger cakes.

I have been thinking of buying a canner. Do you think they are worth the money? I do a great deal of canning, most of it by the open kettle method, which I know most dietitians do not recommend. But I always have been successful.

I have a canner which I always use for plums. I would like to know how you can raspberries. I hope I have not asked too much.

and will greatly appreciate the help and advice you give.

(Mrs.) J. L.

ANSWER:

Pastry: Use all-purpose or pastry flour, unsifted, but use only 6 level measuring cups to 1 lb. shortening. Add from 2½ to 3 teaspoons salt, and cut the shortening into the flour with a pastry blender (that is what I use) or two knives or with your finger tips. Add ice cold water; if pastry is to be stored in refrigerator add exactly 1 cup plus 2 measuring table-spoonfuls of water. If it is not to be kept use 5 tablespoons cold water to every 2 cups flour. Roll out when and as desired. If to be stored it should be wrapped in double wax paper and kept in covered container.

I do not can strawberries. I was advised not to by the head chemist of the American Can Co. Research on retaining the colour in canned strawberries has been being done for many years in many canning labs, but none as yet has succeeded in fixing the colour in the berries; it always "leaches" out into the juice. Your friends method of canning them,

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris Reports On Dominion Board

The WMS of St. Andrew's Church met in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris opened with the call to worship. The meeting continued with a brief business session. Mrs. E. F. Reid reported two large cartons of clothing had been forwarded for overseas relief. The clothing included men's, women's and children's wear, and was of excellent quality.

Miss Ruth Barns announced that Miss E. Elliott, home economist from consumers' branch, would be in the Collegiate Monday night, giving a demonstration of home canning.

The members decided to continue during July and August, with evening meetings.

Mrs. Harris spoke of the need for Mission Band leaders and asked members to contact anyone who might be interested to attend the summer school for leaders at Whitby.

Mrs. H. Turner and Mrs. R. Moynes delighted with two selections and accompanied themselves on guitars.

Devotions were in charge of the M. J. Kerr group, with Mrs. M. J. Aiken reading the Scripture, followed with prayer. Mrs. Harris was the speaker and gave an informative and detailed report of Dominion Board held recently in Toronto. She expressed the feeling of most of the speakers by saying, "There is a feeling of anxiety and unrest throughout the world today, the unsettled feeling among Chinese people, the opportunity and advance in Japan, the need for 90 new missionaries and the need for new schools in India. Reports of Home Mission work were encouraging, with boarding schools for children, Sunday school by air for families in the north, and literature. There is a great need for nurses and hospitals.

Mrs. A. Munro thanked the ladies who contributed with music and Mrs. Harris for her wonderful report.

Mrs. R. Jones and Mrs. H. Davis served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Candy Business Booms At Trinity Garden Tea

Home-made candy is a luxury being enjoyed in many city homes today. It comes from the gaily decorated booths at the Garden Tea on Trinity Church lawn Wednesday afternoon. More than 80 pounds were sold, completely exhausting the supply, which had seemed over-abundant. The boom in business was perhaps due to the very attractive young sales-ladies on duty. Misses Elizabeth Pridham and Wynne White were dressed in quaint old-fashioned costumes made of dainty flowered muslin with frilly tiered skirts with lace pantaloons showing beneath the skirts, and poke bonnets to match, tied under their chins. Ann Gordon and Susanne Huffman were the modern young misses in green and white checked gingham outfits. The confections were made by members of A group of the WA with Mrs. E. Pridham and Mrs. W. F. Philp in charge, assisted by Mrs. W. B. Gordon and Mrs. O. Nicholls.

A display of flags of the British Dominions and some others, strung along the street front, drew wide attention and comment. There were not many guests who could identify all at first sight. An investigation of their make-

Fathers and Mothers Blamed If Children Turn Out Badly

Everybody is worried over what to do about the Problem Child, but no one is losing any sleep over the Problem Parents. Yet it is the delinquent fathers and mothers who are responsible for the children who are old in sin before they are old in years.

No baby is born a criminal. No toddler commits murder, or is a thief, a bandit or a rotter by instinct. The infant comes into the world with a character as white as snow and as pliable as dough, and what it turns out to be is what its parents make it.

This is an elemental fact in Nature that millions of fathers and mothers ignore. They trust to luck on how their children will turn out instead of putting their hearts and backs into molding their youngsters into fine men and women. It is these parents who rat on their jobs of rearing their youngsters, whose children fill our jails and reformatories.

Alleviate Children

Curiously enough, some of the best people in the world, from the moral standpoint, make the worst parents. For by their conceit, tyranny and lack of sympathy and understanding, they alienate their children from them and drive them into wrongdoing.

Every day to this column come scores of pathetic letters from girls and boys asking how they can get on better terms with their parents; how they can make their fathers and mothers understand them and sympathize with them and give them some of the liberty they so sorely crave.

"I would be so happy if I could only confide in my mother," a girl will write. "I am never allowed to go even to the movies unless some member of the family goes along to spy on me and report if I spoke to a boy," another will write. "I am 20 years old, but I never have been permitted to have a date," still another writes.

Or a boy will write that although he is nearly grown, his father never allows him any of the privileges that other boys have; that he never has any

PRINCIPALS IN RECENT WEDDINGS

— Mr. and Mrs. George E. Robinson of Peterborough (left) were pictured following their marriage in Mark St. United Church. The bride was formerly Eileen Marion, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Stevenson of Otonabee, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, Peterborough. On the right are Mr. and Mrs. George R. Davis who took their marriage vows at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Downes of Ida. The bride was formerly Agnes Margaret Downes, and her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davis of RR 3, Peterborough, where they are making their home. —Parks' Studio Photo pocket money; that he has to be in the house every night by nine o'clock; and that his father never speaks to him except to correct him. Often a boy will say: "I hate to lie to my father, but he forces me to do it." And one boy writes: "I often wonder if my father is fool enough to believe that he gets away with his miserable little tyrannies."

It is these fathers and mothers who are so dumb and self-complacent that they refuse to recognize that the world has changed and their children with it, and that the rules and regulations that applied in their youths long have since gone into the discard who make the Problem Parents of today.

For, like it or not, their children are going to do what the other youngsters do—openly if they can, secretly if they are forced to. If Katie can't have her dates at home, she will pick up boys on the street corner. If home is made a prison for Johnny, he will escape from it at the very time in his adolescence when he most needs the guidance of a father and the protection of a home.

Make no mistake about it. It is the Problem Parents who make the Problem Child.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 18

It is probable that the spectacular advance upon unusual lines of progress recently set in action by an abrupt and unforeseen turn of events, may be held up by a block of stubborn and distressing hindrances. Such might arise from enmity, lack of proper ways and means, or even the lowering of vitality or physical health. Jealousy, postponements, delays, could be at the behest of superiors, employers, or elders intent on frustration.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by stubborn obstacles, delays, or a blunder in the putting over of important plans and projects well on the way toward surprising achievement. Lack of proper technique might instigate the withdrawal of promised support from those whose cooperation is vital. This induced by blunder, physical handicap or a spirit of enmity, jealousy or other sinister intent, causing loss, postponement and impediment. Stubbornly "holding the fort" until more benign winds blow away obstructions or rancour, might turn the tide toward security and ultimate progress. Persistence, fortitude and patience are advised.

A child born on this day may be slow and undisciplined to attack blocks and handicaps, possibly through lowered vitality, or other form of impediment. Safeguard health and family interests.

One cup hot water, 1 cup chopped pitted dates, 1/4 cup shortening, 3/4 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 tablespoon cocoa, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup chopped nuts. Pour hot water over dates and let stand. Cream shortening, adding sugar gradually and the eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift flour with cocoa and spices and add alternately with water drained from dates and lemon juice. Bend in dates and nuts. Put in well-greased square tin and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. I think the medium size pressure cooker (which will hold 11 20-oz. tin cans) is a good buy. The small size retailing at between $16 and $18 is too small for practical canning purposes.

Since you are so successful with your open kettle method canning you must have learned to be very careful in sterilizing your equipment and to handle everything carefully, quickly, and while boiling hot so there is no reason for you to change.

Candy Business

From a table of novelties, dubbed "white elephant table" there were many attractive trinkets to be purchased. A large bouquet of red and white peonies was an attention-getting centerpiece. Mrs. E. V. Moore and Mrs. H. H. Dinsdale were in charge, assisted by other members of Group B. Goods for sale at the home cooking booth diminished rapidly as members of Group E waited on the customers. Mrs. W. A. Davern and Mrs. R. P. Wellman were in charge.

Permission to enter the grounds was gained from Miss E. Morrow and Mrs. E. C. Dolman, the treasurers. Mrs. J. W. Jercie, president of the Woman's Association, and group leaders were hostesses.

The tea table was most attractively done by Mrs. Cecil McIntyre and Mrs. R. Allen, using the red, white and blue color scheme that was the theme of this event. A white linen cloth with cutwork and lace edge was centered with a bowl of deep red and white peonies with tall stalks of blue delphinium. On either side, small cut-glass dishes held quaint looking novelties of white phlox, painted daisies in deep red shade and blue bells. Presiding over silver tea services at either end were Mrs. Herbert Martin, Miss Daisy Walker, Mrs. Fred Leslie and Miss T. Mathers.

Servers were members of the Baby Band and ladies of the Mr. and Mrs. Club. They were Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. R. Burnside, Mrs. J. Clark, Mrs. N. Elliott, Mrs. E. Edmondson, Mrs. W. S. Johnston, Mrs. F. Heard, Mrs. R. Kelly, Mrs. W. Taylor, Mrs. J. Skitch, Mrs. C. Huffman, Mrs. F. Stinson, Mrs. L. W. Thompson and Mrs. W. R. Philp of the Band; Mrs. J. G. Pierce, Mrs. R. McDonald, Mrs. B. McFadden, Mrs. K. Elliott, Mrs. J. Sage, Mrs. Bob Huffman, Mrs. A. Thompson and Mrs. H. A. Kearns of the Club.

Replenishments for the plates were kept under a large marquee on the grounds, where members of C and D Groups assisted the convener, Mrs. C. Cummer, Mrs. M. Hart and Mrs. R. J. Allen.

Mental Health Clinic Needed CAS Head Says

Lack of one very important health service in Peterborough, that of a mental health clinic, was stressed by Miss R. Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, at its monthly meeting this week.

She said that from the standpoint of medical and dental care the Society is now in a better position to give more systematic care to its children than ever before. The Dental Association gave a schedule whereby nine dentists each gave half a day and 45 children were given dental care. When work was not completed in one half day, the dentist arranged further time. Four doctors are to look after the Society's children in Peterborough, but a definite plan has not yet been worked out.

The position of two girls under the age of 16 years working in a local restaurant until 2 a.m. was brought to the attention of the Society and immediately rectified. The employer had hired the girls without having a work permit and was found guilty in the Family Court. Miss Young said that the unfortunate situation was that in both cases the parents had agreed to their girls working under conditions which were far from conducive to good behavior.

A total of 34 cases were brought to the attention of the Society during May and a total of 386 cases were given service. Of the 12 children taken into care, three were returned to their parents, eight of the others were made wards—one permanent—and one child in on adoption probation. Ten of the children had to be placed in the Shelter; three of them for a temporary period. Five children were placed in foster homes for the first time and three children returned to the Shelter from foster homes. Two children were transferred from one foster home to another.

Mrs. L. L. Maguire, convener of the house committee reported that a total of 21 children had been in the Shelter during the month. Mrs. Keith Lech, convener of the sewing committee, reported that during the month Miss A. E. Allen, Miss T. Allen, Mesdames A. Graystock, H. G. McGinnis, C. W. Magee, P. Hetherington, F. E. Latimer, T. Mark, W. Scollard, H. Young, E. Cox and H. E. Bradburn had given volunteer service as sewers. Donations had been received from Mrs. S. Northup, Mrs. L. Lawrence, Mrs. A. Martin, Mrs. C. W. Magee, Mrs. P. Hetherington, Mrs. A. Graystock, Mrs. H. E. Eastwood, Jeanette Scott Chapter, Miss Joan Smedmore, Mrs. B. Bell, Mrs. T. Mark, Mrs. Keith Lech, Peterborough Collegiate Home and School, Mrs. Fred Darwin, Miss Helen Henry and Mrs. J. Sinclair.

T. T. Rodger presided.

Home and School Honors Teachers

A tea to honor four teachers who are leaving the staff of King Edward school was given Wednesday afternoon by the executive of the Home and School Association. The special guests were Miss S. Walton, Miss N. Wakeham, Mrs. R. Hawkey and Mr. W. L. McNeill.

Mrs. H. Cook poured tea, presiding at a lace-covered table decorated with baskets of garden flowers. Decorations in the Kindergarten room made by the pupils were the attractive setting. Hostesses were Mrs. F. Lockhart, Mrs. R. Matthews, Mrs. J. Finnie, Mrs. A. Saunders, Mrs. W. F. Stanbury.

The president, Mrs. L. Gibson, expressed pleasure in having had associations with these teachers. On behalf of the Home and School Association, Mrs. C. Murdoff read an address to Miss Walton and Mrs. W. Prest presented a gift.

Miss Wakelin was addressed by Mrs. E. Ritchie and Mrs. W. Seabrooke made a presentation. The gift to Mrs. Hawkey was presented by Mrs. G. Myles with Mrs. Gibson making a short address, and Mrs. G. McMillan read an expression of regret at losing services of Mr. McNeill, while Mrs. J. Crocker presented a remembrance.

Mr. D. Crawford, principal, spoke in appreciation of the help of the Home and School Association, and also of the loss of four staff members.

Roseneath YPU Honors Teachers

ROSENEATH, June 17. (ENS).—The YPU of the United church concluded the year's activities on Tuesday night with a wicker roast at Gregg's tourist camp. Presentations were made to William Atcheson, principal of Roseneath school and YPU treasurer, and to Miss Mary Maunder, assistant teacher of Roseneath school, and an active YPU member, and Mission Band leader. Mr. Atcheson and Miss Maunder have resigned from the school staff. Howard Lemon, YPU president, read an address and presented Mr. Atcheson with a leather writing case, and Miss Auren

France Is Hit By Shortages Milk And Oil

PARIS, June 17 (AP).—France begins her European Recovery program no longer hungry but thirsty. And just when she has enough wine and water at last.

The third is for two liquids as different as night from day; petroleum and milk. Both for the same curious reason.

Successes overcame her other shortages but created these two. France is expecting a bumper wheat crop to fill most of her bread needs by the time the Marshall Plan really gets under way. She is well on the road to becoming the world's vineyard.

Even the skies have produced better rainfalls after droughts that dried her power dams year after year.

But France also produced more than she can cater to of two things she lacked—and hoped for—most. They are babies and oil refineries.

In both she succeeded beyond her fondest hopes. For a period of years climaxed by the ruin of the war, and up to the liberation both the population and industrial output has been falling. Today with the birth rate rising and refineries built by miracles of effort, she hopes they will result in manpower supplies and power supplies.

Monsieur Henri Dalga, director of the National Dairy Products group, is not too optimistic about France regaining her pre-war self-sufficiency in milk by the end of ERP. If present birth rate curves continued nobody knows how many babies there will be by then. Also they are not drinking less milk than before the war, but more, for lack of other baby foods.

Herds Depleted

France's war-depleted herds of cows have to be reconstituted and there also has to be enough fodder for them to produce well. In other words, there are too many variables involved to be able to make any confident predictions.

Milk still is in a very big sense the "batter" of the ERP here. Of all the aid products, it is the only one that goes into the home and reaches the family clearly labelled as goods from America. The workers' family receiving a can of powdered or condensed milk for its young members can see by the label where it comes from and is not likely to forget it.

Strangely enough, the factor of American "labels" also applies to petroleum, but for an altogether different reason. It is that virtually all refineries in France are American near-subsidiaries, within the limits allowed by legislation. They, and almost every gasoline pump in France, bear familiar American names advertising their product.

In fact the names will give a much better picture of where the aid is coming from than they will as to where the petroleum really is coming from. The ERP calls for replacing American oil by middle Eastern products. France herself has hardly any oil production.

Nevertheless American interest in the refineries remains. And next to milk, there probably will be no ERP product more directly consumed by the French public than gasoline. As a result, its lack is most obviously felt and increase gets an immediate public reaction.

Suspicious Fleet

HALIFAX (CP).—The pilot of an aircraft bound from the United Kingdom to Sydney, N.S., recently reported a "bunch of boats" congregated about 200 miles off Cape Race, Newfoundland, thinking there was some kind of emergency. Search and rescue teams at Halifax found it was just a bunch of boats—out fishing.

Brown made the presentation of china and accompanying address to Miss Maunder.

The YPU members expressed their thanks to their hostess, Joan Grigg, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Grigg for the use of the camp.

Personals

Included among those from the local WI branch attending the WI district annual at Baltimore on Wednesday, were Mrs. J. Beatty, Mrs. C. Sandcock, Mrs. B. Thackeray, Mrs. F. Adams, Mrs. F. Brown, Mrs. J. W. Pacey, Mrs. A. Halstead, Mrs. A. Pringle and Mrs. C. Grigg, district secretary-treasurer.

69-Year-Old Studies Law

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—Sprightly George C. Crux finds that life begins at 69.

He finds it wonderful as a junior partner in his son's law firm here.

Mr. Crux entered partnership with his 40-year-old son, A. G. Crux, 10 months ago.

At 65, the elder Crux became an "articled clerk and student-at-law," one of the oldest in Canada's history. Articled to his own son, he did the usual office chores of a student lawyer.

"I'd always had a hankering for the law," he said. But after he left school in Toronto, he entered investments and real estate and the idea was sidetracked for 35 years.

He finds the junior partnership to his liking. "It was a pretty good idea for both of us," says his son.

It's Procter & Gamble's postwar WASHDAY WONDER It does what's never been done before!

IT'S TIDE

... you've never used anything like it!

TIDE does what's never been done before—washes clothes cleaner than any soap, yet leaves colors brighter! It's a true washday miracle, made possible through wartime research. You'll know you're using a completely NEW product the minute you make suds with Tide. Tide suds look different, feel different . . . and those wonder suds just laugh at hard water! Even in hardest water they billow up so thick and fast you'll be amazed!

ONLY Tide DOES ALL FOUR!

1. Washes clothes cleaner!

Yes, cleaner than any soap made! You'll get a real washday thrill when you see your first Tide wash. Everything comes cleaner—even grimy play clothes and heavily soiled work clothes. That's because Tide not only leaves clothes free from ordinary dirt, but actually removes dingy soap film as well!

2. Actually brightens colors!

Color brightness perks up like magic as Tide makes dulling soap film disappear. Washable prints and pastels actually come out brighter with Tide! Tide is really safe for your dainty washable colors!

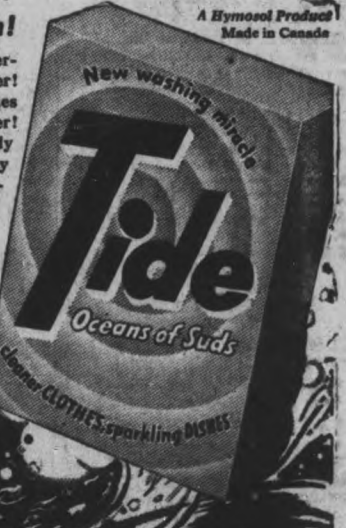

3. Never "yellows" white things!

What a blessing for your shirts, sheets, and pillowcases! No matter how often you wash them, no matter how long you store them, Tide can't turn them yellow!

4. Gives more suds—

Prove it in your dishpan!

Kind-to-hands suds! Faster suds! Longer-lasting suds than any soap in hardest water! Tide cuts grease like magic . . . washes dishes cleaner than any soap! No scum in the water! No greasy ring round the pan! No cloudy film on dishes and glasses! That's why they rinse and dry so sparkling clear—even without wiping!

TIDE'S IN-DIRT'S OUT!

TIDE WORKS EXTRA MIRACLES IN HARD WATER! OCEANS OF SUDS! NO WATER SOFTENERS NEEDED!

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

OLD EXPERTS VINDICATED. SOMEWHERE in that Elysian Bridge Club where every bid and play is correct there must be chucking by those great old-time experts Milton C. Work and Wilbur C. Whitehead. Both were exponents of light opening bids in auction, when you had good suit lengths, and both extended the same advice, but with even more emphasis, in the first few years of contract, before they passed to the Great Beyond. Younger experts, favoring more rigid high-card requirements, have now all swung around to their sound theory. We hope the joy of their vindication is as great as that of their old friends still here who knew at all stages they were right.

Back Pains Disappeared Soon After Using Syntona

Had Troubled Him For Years, Says This Man. Also Relieved Stomach Disorders, Nerves Relaxed, Tells of Help in Other Ways.

When the stomach is out of order and food fails to digest properly, but ferments, causing gas, sour acidity and a full, heavy sensation, when poor kidney action brings on backache, light risings and rheumatic pain; when bowels are constipated and you have headaches, dizziness and nerves on edge, take a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound and see what a difference it makes in only a short period of time.

Here, for instance, is the experience of Mr. Andrew Drotar, 133 Oak street, Hamilton, Ontario, as reported only a few days ago:

"For a great many years I have been suffering with severe backache and bad stomach disorders. Many mornings my back was so lame and sore I couldn't get out of bed. Rheumatic pains set into my limbs and joints; I got dizzy spells and throbbing headaches. After eating even the lightest foods I would have a bloated feeling with gas, sour stomach and heartburn.

MR. ANDREW DROTAR

"Other things that I took didn't seem to do me any good at all, but Syntona has given me relief almost from the very first day I started taking it. Now that I've been taking it awhile, I am entirely free from backache. All the soreness is gone out of my joints and muscles and I can eat my meals without distress afterwards. Whereas I used to be so nervous and irritable, I find that now my entire disposition is happier. I sleep well and feel better than I did in many years."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Need Dollars For U.S. Buying

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Donald Gordon, deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, said Tuesday night that his country will not be able to resume a full program of purchases from the United States until it can replace its shortage of American dollars.

He told the National Industrial Advertisers Association, in convention here, that Canada's policy of extending credit for its exports and paying cash for its imports had depleted its stockpile of United States dollars.

Before the war, he explained, Canada exported most of her products to the United Kingdom and received "payment in a form which could in turn be used for Canada's heavy purchases from the United States."

That pattern has been disrupted by the fact Canada chose to extend large credits to its former customers, whose economy was shaken by the war.

Forgotten Son Creates Furore

OMEMEE, June 17—(ENS)—"Lost and Found" would be an appropriate nickname for young Clifford Berry who created a great furore in the surrounding district of Omemee, Sunday night, when for some time no one could locate him. It seems that Clifford, a visitor at the farm of his uncle, Mr. Ivan Veals, had gone out for a walk with other guests, but hearing a car start up he concluded his family had gone home without him, and hurried back to the farm.

His parents, thinking he was safe with his friends, called at a neighboring farm. Clifford, finding his uncle's farm vacant, started on foot for his Lindsay home, ten miles away.

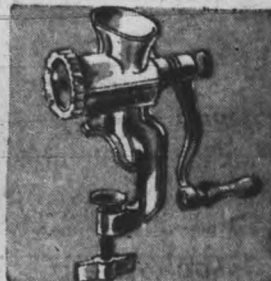

Mr. and Mrs. Berry returned to the farm, but finding no Clifford, and no immediate trace of him, a frantic search party was organized among the neighbors.

The cause of the panic was picked up by a motorist not far from Omemee, and taken to the local constable R. L. Naylor in the village. Through police aid he was soon restored to his parents.

Celebrates 79th Birthday Attends Wedding Party

MARMORA, June 17—(ENS)—James E. Gehan has completed 40 years as resident in the village and his many friends gathered to celebrate the occasion on June 14 which was also his 79th birthday. He also attended that day the wedding of his great nephew, Thomas Byrnes, to Martha Hulsman and greatly enjoyed the reception which followed it.

Jim is of Irish descent and is a native of Throptown in the county of Greenville. His father, Patrick Gehan, became acquainted with his spouse, Eleanor Price, when crossing the Atlantic from Ireland. The wedding was solemnized shortly after disembarkation.

Patrick Gehan had all the characteristics of a good old pioneer. He took up about 300 acres of woodland in what is now Throptown and cleared about two-thirds of this, erecting what later became known as the Gehan homestead.

They had 12 children of which Jim was the youngest and now is the sole survivor. Jim came to Marmora from Smiths Falls where he was employed in the factory of Frost and Wood. He carried on their agency at Marmora in the old Dunlay shop on Matthew street, which has just been demolished and later did the same in the building to the rear of the residence on Main street which he has occupied since 1915, the year of its erection. In addition, he followed his original trade of carriage maker and blacksmith.

Of a genial nature, Jim enjoys a social half hour with his friends and generally has a joke to match others brought to his notice. He is a great reader and possibly is the oldest subscriber to the Examiner in the Marmora district, having been a reader for practically all the years he has been a Marmorian.

His wife, who shared with him the high respect of a wide circle of friends, passed away on January 10, 1945.

Four children blessed their union to now hold their mother in hallowed memory and to show devotion to their father, namely Desmond, Fort William; Gladys at home; Donald, Syracuse, N.Y.; and Mrs. William Shannon (Dorena), Marmora.

The family have been devoted members of the Sacred Heart church.

Joining with them are a host of friends in the wish that their father be spared for many years to come.

Windsor Protests Exporting Beef To U.S.

WINDSOR, June 16 (CP)—City council Tuesday night endorsed a motion protesting against any plan to permit shipping of Canadian meat or livestock to United States markets.

Alderman William C. Riggs said "according to news dispatches there is a strong possibility that the Federal government will permit shipping of Canadian livestock into the United States."

A combination of current high prices and competition on American markets "would mean an increase in the already high price of meat," he said.

Controller James S. Gow was the lone opponent of the protest. He said Windsor council "represents an industrial community which is in the forefront of wage boosting for industry... Let's take a little of it for the farmer."

Nurse Addresses Guild

BETHANY, June 17—(ENS)—Mrs. Edgar Beer entertained the members of St. Mary's Guild for their June meeting on Thursday afternoon, June 10, with 10 women in attendance.

Miss Olive W. Smith, the district nurse in Durham County, was the guest speaker. She described the work of the district nurse and the value of her work in homes and communities.

A Sunday School picnic was discussed with the date being set for June 30 at Orono Park and each family to bring a picnic basket.

Mrs. Beer told of her work in organizing a junior choir for St. Mary's Church, hoping this will be an additional inspiration to the weekly service. During the afternoon the ladies cut out quilt pieces and Mrs. Lloyd Staples presided for the business period.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Lang.

Won't Interfere

TORONTO, June 16—(CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal declined Tuesday to interfere in the conviction of James T. Ashton for unlawfully taking liquor into dry Huron county. The court invoked a section of the Canada Temperance Act that prevents an appeal to the appellate court from a decision of a judge in chambers. Ashton was convicted in

PRICE FIVE CENTS

4 CHILDREN PERISH IN MONTREAL FIRE

SITTING OUT THE TRUCE—Although a four-week truce has ended Arab-Jewish hostilities in Palestine, two these Arab Legion veterans have their rifles slung across their legs as they relax at Nabulus road and Suleiman street in Jerusalem. This corner was a hot spot during the recent bitter fighting.

Cabinet May Use Troops To Move Food From Ships

LONDON, June 18.—(Reuters).—British Ministers were today believed to be discussing the use of troops to save perishable foodstuffs held up by London's five-day-old dock strike.

New Flareups Reported In Bush Fires

By The Canadian Press
Almost quiescent fires in the northern Ontario bush snarled angrily again early today when a shift in winds fanned them into life.

New inroads were made on the Mississagi and Chapleau fronts but there were gains elsewhere to plague beguiled and battle-weary crews.

Showers in the last few days had stabilized positions but were not heavy enough to remove the menace.

Retreats were made along some of the lines with the renewed activity, particularly where the Mississagi blaze swung suddenly in the White River road area.

Man-induced rainfall—produced when solid carbon dioxide or "dry ice" is seeded into clouds by aircraft—has been of some help but can only be effective when the clouds are of the proper intensity and temperature.

Activity was also increased Thursday night in the Kirkpatrick Lake, East Cariboo Lake and Mount Lake sectors, and air surveys indicated retreats were being made by the firefighters.

Fire had licked deep into the Great Chapleau game preserve and scores of animals, especially moose, deer and wolves have been reported burned to death.

Severe Storm, Hail Strike Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—A severe electrical storm swept over this district Thursday afternoon, high wind prevailed and hailstones as big as marbles covered the lawns. Temperature dropped 12 degrees in less than half an hour. The hail storm, which was of short duration, caused only slight damage to sections. The showers were welcomed by neighboring farmers whose root crops were suffering from the continued dry spell.

BULLETIN

MONTREAL.—(CP).—Two armed bandits today stole the $12,000 payroll of the western division of the Montreal General Hospital and made their getaway in a stolen taxicab. The grab was made at the very entrance to the hospital. Two hospital employees were alighting from a car with the money when a taxicab drove up to the door. The bandits shoved them back into the car, got into the cab with them and forced the driver, Frank Edmonds, to drive on.

House Passes Labor Code; Makes Changes

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP).—The Federal labor code won approval in the Commons Thursday after rough legislative passage. The code, which will apply only to industries, such as the railroads, which comes under Federal jurisdiction, now goes to the Senate.

In a series of hotly-contested votes, the Chamber did three things:

1. Killed a provision, inserted when the bill was before the House Industrial Relations committee, which would have made the union dues checkoff mandatory.

2. Narrowed the definition of "confidential" employees exempted from the code's collective bargaining provisions. The exemption applies only to employees engaged in work on labor relations.

3. Rejected a CCF amendment which would have put professional engineers under the code.

4. Refused to exclude dictators from the code. This was sought by H. W. Winkler (L-Isle).

5. Rejected a CCF plan to make the proposed Canada Labor Relations Board responsible for launching prosecutions for violations. This is left up to unions and employers concerned.

6. Rejected a CCF motion to bar lawyers from Labor Board hearings except where all parties consent.

7. Approved a stipulation protecting the pension rights of persons engaging in legal strikes after the code became law.

The labor debate at times was bitter, particularly on the rejected checkoff cause.

As inserted by the Industrial Relations committee, it would have compelled employers to collect union dues, when asked by a certified union, for those workers who said they wanted it done.

When the bill came before the Chamber, Walter Little (L-Temiskaming) moved that it be struck out.

Farmer 65, Jailed For Starting Fire

HEARST, June 18.—(CP).—Eugene Chouinard, 65, started a two-month jail term Thursday after he was convicted of starting a fire without a permit in Ontario's tinder-dry north wood land. The frail, white-haired farmer was burning out stumps when the blaze got out of control and razed the home of a neighbor, W. Robichaud. It was said that the fire started when Chouinard started the Coppel bush fire which took 100 men to subdue.

"It will break the old man's heart," said one of the fire rangers who helped him to court.

Iroquois On Warpath Again Use Stones, Not Hatchets

MONTREAL, June 17.—(CP).—The Iroquois are on the warpath again.

Only this time, instead of using their hatchets and bows and arrows, they are resorting to man's first weapon, the stone.

The trouble all started when Montreal, like all other Canadian cities, experienced an acute housing shortage following the Second World War.

Having no places to live, about 250 families rented houses, not being used, on the Caughnawaga Iroquois Indian reserve.

Likely Ease Austerity Taxes Soon

Refrigerators, Radios Will Benefit Liberal MP Reports

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP).—Lifting of Finance Minister Abbott's austerity taxes on refrigerators, radios, and other household equipment "before too long" was forecast Thursday night by Louis Breithaupt (L-Waterloo North).

Mr. Breithaupt was leader of a group of Ontario Liberal members of parliament which Thursday met Prime Minister Mackenzie King to urge the government to do something to stop the upward trend in the cost of living.

Mr. Breithaupt said that the delegation had urged use again of government subsidies to reduce the consumer cost of such basic foods as bread, milk and meat. It also told Mr. King an immediate end to Mr. Abbott's 25 to 35 per cent excise and luxury taxes of the austerity program was necessary.

Other members of the delegation were: W. Gladstone, Wellington South; W. Benidickson, Kenora-Rainy River; George Nixon, Algoma West; Thomas Farquhar, Algoma East; J. Leo Gauthier, Nipissing.

U.S. Doubling Fighter Planes

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(AP).—The United States is doubling its fighter-plane strength in Europe, Air Force officials said today. This will be done by shifting a unit of jet planes from Panama to Germany.

At present there is only one group (about 75 planes) of F-47 Second World War type, conventional engine fighters based in Germany.

The new fighter wing will double that strength. Moreover, it will mean that the United States for the first time will have an organized force of modern jet interceptors in that troubled area.

Yugoslav Crew Loads Ship As Dockers Won't

NEW YORK, June 18.—(AP).—The Yugoslav ship Radnik, loaded finally by its own crew, sailed at 7 a.m. EDT today from its Brooklyn pier. American dock workers had refused to load the ship.

The dock workers, who last Tuesday balked at loading the ship after they saw pictures of Stalin and Tito aboard her, would not let the sailors use hoists and other loading equipment on the pier.

So the Yugoslav crew used handtrucks and dollies to get 100-pound bags of flour, cocoa beans, a couple of automobiles and four trucks into position for the cargo being swung from the ship's own cargo booms.

Winter Back Again In Northern Ontario

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP).—Winter played a brief return engagement Thursday night in Northern Ontario as temperatures slipped below the freezing mark.

Thermometers at White River and Kapuskasing dropped to 31 degrees Fahrenheit. Muskoka airport missed a freeze-up by three degrees with a recorded minimum of 35 degrees.

North Bay residents shivered in a chilly 41 degrees. Other temperatures: London, 44; Ottawa, 46; Toronto, 50.

Weather experts promise, however, the cold snap will be short-lived. The week-end prediction for Northern Ontario: "Sunny and fairly warm."

GM Rejects Bid

WINDSOR, June 18.—(CP).—George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers, said in a statement today that General Motors of Canada had rejected a bid by the U.A.W.-C.I.O. to gear wages to a cost of living formula.

Howe Lifts Price Ceiling On Ontario Wheat Will Discontinue 8-Cent Payment

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP).—Trade Minister Howe announced today in the Commons the removal of the price ceiling on Ontario winter wheat effective today.

With the removal of the ceiling, an eight-cent-a-bushel payment which has been made to producers will be discontinued.

Mr. Howe said he could not say whether it would be necessary to continue export controls on Ontario winter wheat. If the international wheat agreement goes into operation Aug. 1, as planned, Ontario wheat will come under it and controls will be necessary.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said at Toronto he was "awfully glad" to learn price ceiling had been removed from Ontario winter wheat.

Ontario farmers had done "a great job" in increasing wheat production but they would not continue their efforts unless they got more money, Mr. Kennedy said.

Allies Introduce New Mark In German Zone In Drastic Money Reform

BERLIN, June 18.—(AP).—The Western Allies announced tonight a drastic currency reform to reduce the money in circulation in their zones of occupation and pave the way for German participation in the European recovery program.

They set up a new mark, called the Deutsche mark, and provided for the first steps in taking old marks out of trade channels.

All old money and holdings must be registered next week. There will be a full week's moratorium on all debts in western Germany.

Germans in the western zones may trade 40 old marks for 40 new marks Sunday. This will leave the 45,000,000 residents entitled to hold only the equivalent of $12 each.

The announcement said the rate at which the mark can be converted into or from other moneys will be announced later. The Allies also left until later an announcement of how much in savings Germans will be allowed to keep.

Inspector T. Wilkinson, head of the Ontario Provincial Police detachment at Sudbury, said the men were charged with assault, disorderly conduct and obstructing police.

Beer-drinking in this Algoma district community on the Canadian National Railways 250 miles northwest of Sudbury was said to have been a factor in the trouble in the Marathon Pulp and Paper Company camp 1½ miles west of Hornepayne.

Talk here was that Canadian lumbermen "grabbed" because European displaced persons hired as bush workers had been assigned quarters previously occupied by the Canadians. The Canadians moved elsewhere in the camp, discussed the situation over several rounds of beer and then, shouting angry threats and curses, started for the camp.

Send Diving Crew To Seek Jet Plane

TRENTON, June 18.—(CP).—A diving crew left here today by RCAF barge for Bowmanville in an attempt to recover an RCAF Vampire jet aircraft from the waters of Lake Ontario.

RCAF officers here said today an oil slick which disappeared after being sighted Wednesday has been located again. The slick is believed to mark the place where the plane crashed.

Drew Waits Answer From British Gov't Suggests Sterling Deposits Used In Transfer Of Industry

LONDON, June 18.—(CP).—Premier George Drew of Ontario said today he is "very hopeful" that the British government soon will approve plans under which branches of British industry could be established in Ontario.

He said at a press conference that there were three general methods by which British firms could finance the establishment of such plants. They were:

1. Well-known British industries could make sterling deposits in London against advances to them in Canada by Canadian firms which have British branches.

2. British manufacturers could use the traditional method of matching producing skill with capital, by associating themselves with Canadian investors.

It is the first plan which Premier Drew has been discussing with British authorities. He said: "I now am hopefully awaiting a decision."

Many British manufacturers wished to avail themselves of the opportunity. Many were establishing Canadian plants when the British government froze the export of capital last year.

Premier Drew said it was not part of the plan for the Ontario government to help to finance firms participating in the scheme.

"The government is not intervening in the transfer," he said. He refused to discuss the outcome of the provincial election in which the Conservatives were returned with a reduced majority, saying "I will leave any comment on political affairs until I get home."

No Water Mains Nearby, Firemen Helpless As Flames Sweep Home

Three Others In Hospital Suffering Burns Two Youngsters Saved; First Alarm Given By Two Constables

MONTREAL, June 18.—(CP).—Four children were dead and a fifth was in hospital with serious burns after fire swept through two wooden homes near suburban Longueuil early today. Firemen stood helplessly by as the flames leaped through the two-storey buildings. They could find no water mains for their hoses.

The dead are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Boucher who themselves were burned. They are: Claude, 16; Denise, 15; Claire, 11; and Claudette, seven.

The fifth child, Huguette, 11, was snatched from the flames by Provincial Police Constables J. V. Goyette and Michael Bell. Hospital officials reported her condition as "fair."

Two other youngsters of the family were reported safe. The fire was discovered in an alarm house and home in one of the structures. A pumper was the first fire-fighting vehicle to arrive on the scene, but it proved useless when no water mains could be found.

Mr. Boucher apparently succeeded in putting in an alarm before the fire disrupted telephone service in the area. The operator said she could hear "children screaming in the background."

7-Cent Ceiling Placed On Carrot Crop

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP).—The prices board Thursday slapped a seven-cent-a-pound ceiling on Canadian-grown carrots.

The ceiling, with transportation charges added, goes into effect June 18 and is applied at the producer level.

As these new carrots are customarily sold with tops on, the board stipulated that if sold in this way the carrots must have full fresh tops, must be sold in bunches and have a maximum diameter of not more than one and one-quarter inches.

Wholesalers are allowed a markup of 10 per cent and retailers buying from wholesalers are permitted a markup—or margin of profit—of 30 per cent. Retailers buying direct from a producer are allowed a markup of 45 per cent.

The consumer price for carrots will be approximately 11 cents a pound when they are sold in the area in which they are grown. However, if it is necessary to transport them any great distance, the prices may be one to two cents higher.

Simultaneously, the emergency import control division of the Department of Finance, announced that the general permit for importation of carrots will no longer be valid after today in the Provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec. This action was taken because domestic carrots already are appearing on local markets in these provinces.

First UN Guard Force Sent To Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 18.—(CP).—The world's first international guard force to be sent on a peace mission prepared today for a flight to Palestine where it will join in the supervision of the four-week cease fire between the Arabs and Jews.

Fifty young United Nations employees, who will leave Saturday, stole the spotlight from Thursday's United Nations political, social and economic debates.

While the group took the necessary injections against tropical diseases, the Security Council turned today to consideration of the old United States-Russian deadlock over the former Japanese-mandated islands.

These islands now are being administered by the United States under a U.N. "strategic area" trusteeship agreement. The question before the council is whether the trusteeship council should play the major role in supervising the United States administration or whether this should be done by the Security Council.

French MP's Exchange Blows

PARIS, June 18.—(AP).—Fists flew in the National Assembly today in Communist-Socialist debate over the recent strike riots at Clermont-Ferrand. The general disorder forced suspension of the session of the Chamber of Deputies.

The outbreak came after Interior Minister Jules Moch, a Socialist, defended activities of the police against sit-down strikers at the Clermont-Ferrand rubber factory. He charged that strikers used sulphuric acid and mustard gas against the authorities.

The Communist-dominated Federation Generale du Travail has called a one-hour general strike to-morrow as a token of protest against the Clermont-Ferrand clash.

Campbellford 'Wets' Lose Out In Recount

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—A recount today banished hopes of the "wet" element in the May 26 plebiscite here on the opening of a liquor store and brewer's retail store. The recount showed 1,077 in favor of the liquor store, 730 against, and 40 rejected ballots, a total of 7.2 short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

On the beer vote, 1,584 were recorded in favor of establishing the store, 727 against, which was 2.6 votes short of the required majority. There were 36 rejected ballots. In the first count 1,078 ballots in favor of the liquor store were counted, 727 against, while the beer ballot showed 1,019 for and 720 against.

U.S. Airliner Disintegrates On Striking Transformer; 43 On Board Plane Killed

Crash Puts Power Lines Out Of Order
2 Coal Mines Shut Down;
Plane Attempting Emergency Landing

MT. CARMEL, Pa., June 18.—(AP).—The bits of wreckage of a United Airlines DC-6, strewn over an acre of woodland, today posed a difficult problem for investigators probing into the cause of the crash that took the lives of 43 persons, including theatrical producer Earl Carroll. The big airliner, en route from San Diego, Calif., to New York, plowed into a 60,000-volt power line and exploded into flames Thursday afternoon near this eastern Pennsylvania anthracite community.

The bodies—39 passengers, including two infants, and four crew members—were burned and torn, many beyond recognition. Among the passengers besides Carroll were Mrs. Jack Oakie, divorced wife of the actor, and Beryl Wallace, a Carroll star. The crash put power lines in the area out of commission and forced shutdown of the Continental Germantown and Mid-Valley collieries. Emergency service was installed to furnish light for the official investigators and volunteers as they searched the wreckage.

Full electric service was restored shortly before midnight but 1,200 miners were still idle today because during the shut-down of the power plant, considerable water had flowed into the mines.

"Terrible Mess"

"It is as bad a mess as I have ever seen," said Joseph Pluett, regional chief of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

He was joined by experts from the United Airlines, Douglas Aircraft Company, manufacturers of the big plane, and the Airline Pilots' Association.

They searched through the wreckage until midnight last night and returned to the task this morning.

John Herlihy, vice-president in charge of operations for United, set up an emergency office in one of the collieries, where 80 miners were shaken as Capt. George Warner, Jr., pilot of Westmont, Ill., veered away from the anthracite breaker which extended 265 feet into the air.

The airliner, flying not more than 30 feet off the ground, was attempting an emergency landing after one of its motors caught fire. It barely missed the breaker, hit the power line and careened 300 feet into a hillside.

The wreckage of one of the engines was found on "Big Mountain," about 1,200 feet from the wreck.

Report 400 New Members As Catholic Women Hold Diocesan Convention

Most Rev. G. J. Berry, Bishop of Peterborough Diocese, celebrated the convention mass on Thursday morning to open the 26th annual meeting of Catholic Women's League sub-division members. About 150 were gathered in St. Peter's Cathedral at nine o'clock. In a very fine address he encouraged the women to interest themselves in the problems of the day, not solely in a political sense, but from the standpoint of Christian ladies. He also mentioned the address of the Holy Father, to the Catholic Women of Italy at the time of his recent anniversary, particularly when he said they must not feel the big difficulty had been overcome in forestalling, for a time at least, the onrush of Communism, and allow themselves to relax their vigilance. Their main objective, he pointed out, is to exemplify Christian living in their own lives. Bishop Berry added that the Holy Father announced 1950 will be a Jubilee year.

Mrs. D. Campanaro was the soloist during mass. Mrs. G. Torpey of Douro, Diocesan president, made her presidential address in the auditorium of St. Joseph's nurses' residence. Expressing the hope that the addresses, deliberations and discussions of the day might be an inspiration to all, she said "we must attend with open minds, feeling that everyone concerned is seeking light and knowledge."

Response to letters asking the sub-divisions to take part in the relief fund for Europe, has been most gratifying and Mrs. Torpey thanked the presidents for co-operation. "In this program the Holy Father has taken the lead, sending out appeal after appeal for aid to the starving people. Though he is our spiritual adviser, he shows us there can never be peace or security until every person in every country has enough to eat, enough clothing, and a comfortable place to live," she said.

She also expressed gratitude for the financial aid to the Sacred Heart program. Growth of the League during the past year has been outstanding. An increase of more than 400 members was reported, two new sub-divisions were organized and one re-organized. "We must not stoop or look back, resting on our laurels, for that would be tragic since we have a continuous duty to perform," warned Mrs. Torpey. "Our greatest need is for every Catholic woman to be an active member of the League so that the influence of a united Catholic womanhood may be felt in the building of new Canadian homes. Great is the weight of an organization 60,000 strong, working under guidance of Our Hierarchy with out motto "For God and Canada." As an example of what they can hope to do, the president reminded members of the speed with which the Catholic women blocked a Federal bill for broadening the grounds for divorce. "May we advance prayerfully, unitedly and courageously to greater achievements in the future," Mrs. Torpey concluded.

Miss May Grady, president of the hostess sub-division of St. Peter's Cathedral, welcomed the delegates and members. Registrations were handled by the vice-presidents. Mrs. P. J. Cadigan, Mrs. A. Willis, Mrs. C. E. Trudeau, and Miss C. McCarthy, recording secretary. The Rev. J. Greenan offered prayer for success of the convention.

Guest speaker, following the noon-day dinner, was Mr. V. J. McEldeery, KC. He reviewed ancient history when christianity was centred in countries around the Mediterranean and Pope Pius V set out to unite them against a common enemy, which, the speaker warned, was no worse than it is now. In a battle led by Don John of Austria the wind turned in their favor and the badly beaten aggressors were forced to release 20,000 Christians who had been chained to the galleys.

"This Canada of ours is just as apt to come under the heel of Communist Russia as any of the countries of Europe that have already fallen. We have not heeded our great warning—now is it too late?" Mr. McEldeery pointed out that under Russian domination all Christians would suffer persecution and martyrdom, particularly the Holy Father. "There is no one here who may not hope to attain the Martyr's Crown," he concluded.

Special speaker of the convention, the Rev. Sister Church of the Sisters of Service, Toronto, was introduced by Mrs. F. J. Lynch, who explained the Order was an infant with the CWL and is still a young girl. "They are Missionary Society of the west," she said. "They have a great deal of expense, but never neglect their work for lack of funds. Are we keeping up in our growth and doing our bit for God and His missions?"

Claxton In Hospital

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP).—On the advice of his physician, Defence Minister Claxton was taken to hospital Thursday because of "fatigue" resulting from strenuous trips to the Arctic and the prairie provinces. The condition of the 50-year-old minister is not believed serious.

Ottawa Begins Check-up On Information Leakage

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP).—A hunt for employees who might be damaging leakages of secret information is under way in three key government departments. This is one of the chief purposes behind a new series of searching questionnaires that must be filled out by workers, it was learned yesterday.

The employees are in the Defence and External Affairs Departments—the branches where confidential information falling into the hands of an unfriendly country would be most dangerous—and the National Research Council, the agency dealing with atomic energy.

While government officials are treating any disclosures gingerly, it was admitted that the scrutiny is along the same lines as that of loyalty tests being undertaken in Britain and the United States. In Canada the probe is confined to employees in key positions. Here, it extends through the three affected departments from top to bottom. The questionnaires start right at the deputy minister level and go all the way down.

As officials describe them, their purposes are as follows: 1. To consolidate and enlarge biographical data on employees for personnel records.

2. To ensure that the loyalties of every employee lie with Canada. One official said the second point was not the "primary" purpose of the inquiries. However, it was regarded as significant that they were confined to the three departments in which major leakages could endanger the state in certain conditions, and that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had a hand in framing the questions.

Kiwanis Speaker Stresses Building Employee Morale

In his address "Building Employee Morale," delivered at the Thursday luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis Club, C. T. MacKenzie, chief of public relations for the Montreal branch of the T. Eaton Co., said, "High morale is only possible when all parties are united in intelligent co-operation."

He pointed out that extra money is not the answer to all problems; other incentives are necessary. One of the most important things was increasing morale.

Increased morale is necessary, he said, if increased productivity is to be obtained. And increased productivity is the key to the standard of living.

Too often management thinks only of the non-human factors, and he cautioned a more sympathetic approach: "Management depends on getting things done through people."

He defined morale as "a state of mind; the collective attitude of people toward management." And he stressed the necessity for a correct concept in the employees' relationship with management.

"Management must take the action in promoting an overall program." This requires motivation and only management, he contended, is able to produce these stimuli.

The speaker analyzed man as a social animal and claimed that it was possible to predict his actions, as all men had certain characteristics in common.

The first of these characteristics was the fact that "man relates everything to himself." And he added that anyone who does not is not a fully developed human being. The second was "human desires" such as ambition, possessiveness, desire for other people's approval, and competition. The third was the tendency of men to group themselves together. He explained this at length pointing out that any change in the social structure or the place of the man in that structure required a period

Boy Is Lost On Cobourg Pier

COBOURG, June 18.—(ENS).—Four-year-old John Donnelly son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Donnelly of Cobourg, was drowned yesterday in Cobourg harbor. The lad did not come home for dinner and later in the afternoon two boys about his own age, Johnnie and David Kneuf, said they had been playing with him near the harbor before noon and that he had fallen in. From the story of the two boys it is believed that he fell in at the corner of the T-pier. Chief W. J. Carey and Constables H. Pears and H. Seale dragged the area during the afternoon and early evening and at 8.30 p.m. found the body.

LONDON, Eng.—Eleven United States army soldiers ended a five-week survival ration test by of readjustment on the part of the men. "The human being is not an inert thing that changes easily. He brings his behaviour pattern to the group but then learns he must fit in."

Mostly Misfit.
"Troublemakers in a firm are very often people who don't fit in to the jobs they are doing," said the speaker.

"Any concept that overlooks the fact that all employees are humans with these desires and attributes, will not succeed in getting full production."

Mr. MacKenzie cited four steps that he felt should be taken to maintain full production: One, there must be "sincere, intelligent, socially conscious, fair dealing and progressive top management." Too, there must be "properly informed and adequately trained administrative forces." He touched on the problem of size: "To me the small business has a far better way of knowing its own problems instead of relying on second and third line people." Three, there must be a careful selection and assignment of personnel; and this should be combined with "a healthy motivation." The two essentials in this point were watching for "frustrated or badly adjusted people," and those with unused ability. Four, the time factor in which a reputation for fair dealing is built up. He pointed out that bad employee-management relations cannot be eradicated over a week-end.

"In spite of ourselves, infection sometimes creeps in ... but it is my contention that the firm following these precepts won't stay that way for long."

Mr. MacKenzie was introduced by Blake Bell and the address of thanks was given by Ralph Standish, Edward (Ted) Pridham, president of the Kiwanis Club, was in the chair.

Included among the guests were Don Duncan, George Wilcox, James Whaley, Fred Ash, Lou Ingram, Roy Lewis, Howard Somerville, Alex McGregor, Don Murray, the Rev. W. J. Gilling, H. A. Baple, William Richardson, Herb Jamison, Robert Hardie, Reg. Reid, William Jeffries, H. F. Doherty, A. H. Miller, Ottawa, William Austin, North Toronto, Andrew Scott, London, and Russell Wildman.

COBOURG, June 18.—(ENS).—Fifty CGIT girls will hold a tag day this coming Saturday to raise a mile of pennies which they will donate to the Cobourg Recreation Centre. If they make their objective, the sum of $802.00 should be realized for the project. The committee in charge is made up by Mrs. W. A. Jones, Mrs. Vincent Holmes, Miss Joyce Kouri, Miss Helen Wright, Mrs. Thomas Hawkes and Miss P. Carr.

Safety Inspector Injured In Fall

COBOURG, June 18.—(ENS).—William Cole of Toronto, an inspector for the Construction Safety League, broke his left hand yesterday when he fell from the inside of the new theatre here while on an inspection tour. Mr. Cole was walking along the steel work just behind where the projection room is located when he stepped on a piece of tin covering a hole and dropped 16 feet to the ground. He fell on his left hand and a severe fracture resulted. Workmen on the job said that Mr. Cole was not on the board catwalk at the time he fell.

Ring Lost 5 Years

COBOURG, June 18.—(ENS).—About five years ago Mrs. George Hircok lost a ring when she and her husband lived on the northern outskirts of the town, where her husband ran a chicken farm. This week, David Moore found a ring in his garden on George Street. After some deliberation Mr. Moore recalled purchasing a load of manure a few years previously from George Hircok. He contacted the Hircok family and learned that Mrs. Hircok had lost a ring, which she identified as the one Mr. Moore had found.

The Old Lady Of Melinda St. Gets Her Hair In The Winger

We always enjoy being referred to in the editorial columns of The Evening Telegram of Toronto, and we are particularly pleased when the Tely disapproves of us. The disapproval of the Old Lady of Melinda Street is a gauge by which mildly progressive newspapers judge the correctness of their editorial views. When the Old Lady tut-tuts, all is well; if she smiles, you're slipping.

Judge of our delight, therefore, when a whole editorial was devoted to The Examiner on June 15. It was headed "Bad Eggs and Bad Books Both Smelly Things", and we reproduce it in full, thus:

Commenting quite strongly on the cen-suring of books as an invasion of the freedom of the press, the Peterborough Examiner goes considerably further than those who are ready to agree that prosecution in a magistrate's court is the only form of censorship necessary to deal with publications that are blatantly immoral. The idea that the freedom of the press can be invoked to defend the publication of filth can only be based on a misapprehension of what is involved in freedom.

It has been said that the evil mind sees evil where no evil is, and that to the pure all things are pure. This must be the explanation of the Examiner's boast that "This newspaper has been consistent in maintaining that there is no such thing as a bad book—even a 'comic' book. Some are better than others, that's all".

We should be tempted to say that this view of the Examiner is nonsense, were it not that such criticism would roll off the editor like water off a duck's back. He would probably come back with the assertion that there's no such thing as nonsense.
Some views are more sensible than others,
that's all.

All that we can hope is that some morning when the Examiner's editor sits down to his breakfast, cracks his maternal egg and is greeted by the aroma which is peculiar to eggs of uncertain vintage, he may be able to summon strength to say: "There's no such thing as a bad egg. Some eggs are better than others, that's all".

A nice piece, isn't it? It makes the editor of The Examiner seem a very foolish fellow and it toys gracefully and chastely with the pretty analogy between books and eggs. There is only one thing wrong with it: We did not publish the opinion which is attributed to us. How The Telegram received the impression that we did we cannot tell, but it looks like bad clipping and smelly editing to us.

If The Telegram can find the opinion it attributes to us in The Examiner we shall immediately send its editor a nice red apple—or in deference to the Pink Tely's distaste for all things red, we will make it a nice blue prune.

Conventions In Peterborough

During the first part of the week the 168th District Assembly of Rotary International met in Peterborough. This convention brought a goodly number of representative Canadians and Americans—both Rotarians and their wives—to the city. We welcome such gatherings, and not merely because visitors are good for business. Peterborough is off the main Ontario highway and the main railway lines, and though it is widely known in other parts of Canada, people outside our orbit are inclined to talk about it vaguely—"a nice place, so they say. Pretty. Progressive. Clean. I must try to visit it some day. I know some fine people who come from Peterborough". Their knowledge of us is vicarious. The more visitors we have, the more conventions the Chamber of Commerce and Industries and service clubs can inveigle into assembling here, the higher and greater should be our reputation.

We are happy that the hotel and restaurant service available to visitors is being improved. We may not be able to offer lavish and luxurious hospitality but at least we should and can give visitors a decent and pleasant reception. A satisfied visitor, a pampered delegate, becomes a missionary for Peterborough.

The Gospel Of Envy

In his recent, much-discussed attack on the British Labour Government, Winston Churchill referred to the theory of socialism as "the philosophy of failure, and the gospel of envy". Now there is a great deal more to socialism than that, and no politician is on oath when he makes a speech, but there is enough truth in Mr. Churchill's bitter definition of socialism to engage our attention.

No brief and comprehensive definition of socialism is possible, but we shall not be far wrong if we call it a system of common ownership and collective control of the means of production and exchange. But socialists, like other politicians, have to get into power, and in order to do that they have to make promises. And what they promise is a greater portion of the national income for those whose incomes are small. They promise, in fact, that those who cannot command a reasonable income under the present system will get it under socialism.

The present economic system is far from perfect, and it sometimes allows great scope to greedy and unprincipled men. But in spite of this the lot of the labourer and the skilled workman has improved vastly under this system, and the care of the old and the incapable is at the highest level ever reached in history. Also, many honest men have made great fortunes by legiti-mate means. Capitalism has done this.
Who suffers most under the present system? As always it is the incompetent, the lazy and the malcontents who suffer. They are a very considerable group, and socialism appeals strongly to them because it seems to promise them rewards without work, and an opportunity to 'get back' at those whom they believe are responsible for their present low estate.

We say 'seems' advisedly, for socialism, any more than any other economic system, cannot keep a horde of work-shy people. Nor can socialism, though it appeals strongly to the failures of this world, hope to exist on failure, or make fruitful use of people whose characters have foredoomed them to failure.

All revolutionary movements are based, to some extent, on the envy of those who have by those who have not.
But history records no instance in which the merely envious have achieved any lasting good. They are the tools of revolutions, quickly discarded.

Good Canadian Speech On The Radio

This newspaper has often been critical of the quality of speech displayed by the broadcasters of the C.B.C. We think it only fair, therefore, to say that in some of its broadcasts the C.B.C. offers a fine standard of speech to its hearers —a quality of speech which we would be happy to have recognized as a national standard. We refer particularly to the speaking which we heard in a broadcast version of T. S. Eliot's play Murder In The Cathedral at nine o'clock on Wednesday night.

To those of our readers who did not hear that broadcast we offer an assurance that the actors did not assume accents of the kind which are sometimes, though not always accurately, described as English. But they spoke the English language purely and musically; they spoke as if they loved words and attached great value not only to the sense, but also to the sound of what they had to say. It was a keen pleasure to hear a group of Canadian actors speaking so finely. Perhaps some of the C.B.C.'s other broadcasters need a short course from Mr. Andrew Allan, the director of drama.

Good Canadian speech can be very good indeed. The late John Buchan said that there was the sound of crackling ice in Canadian voices; this is excellent, but too many Canadian voices sound as though the speaker had a mouthful of broken glass. It is good to know that in this respect the C.B.C. is giving a lead toward better things.

Lady Nicotine, Revenue Producer

During the last fiscal year, the smokers' contribution to the federal treasury amounted to $177,141,000. This was 7.2 per cent. of the total revenue from taxes. It was made up of the special excise duties levied exclusively on alcoholic beverages and tobacco products (for in this country the lesser so-called vices are made expensively reprehensible), and of taxes imposed under the Excise Tax Act on tobacco, cigarettes, cigarette papers and tubes.

The wonder is that such a rich taxation territory is not more officially cultivated. Not even our Prime Minister gives society an example to encourage more smoking and thus foster increased tobacco revenue. Sweden, so often in the lead in social conditions, has its King Gustav, the ninety-year-old chain-smoking exemplar for all Swedes

J. D. CAMBRIDGE

AS most readers will have heard, the Derby was run on June 3 last, and produced its usual upset-result, none of the favourites being win, place, or show. For the second year running a horse bred in France was the winner, and indignant letters and editorials are appearing in the newspapers on the subject of What Is Wrong With British Horse-racing.
To make the defeat more resounding, the horse that came second was also French bred.
A black day for British horse-breeders indeed.

THERE is always great excitement about the Derby. It is the outstanding horse race of the year, and has the richest cash prizes of any race in Britain—better than $52,000. This year there were 32 starters, a record for the race, and this was the 169th running of the event. For those fortunate enough to be backing "My Love", the winner, there was a 100 to 6 profit, or in Canadian terms, a $2 ticket would have paid $33. But the Derby is more than just a horse race. It is a society event, a fair, a gathering place for many who have not the slightest interest in horses and horse racing, and Londoners in their tens of thousands. The King and Queen were there, as were Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. The papers reported that there were more grey top-hats to be seen—the traditional hat style for horse races, than at any race since the war. The gypsies were there with their tents and caravans, telling fortunes, selling tips on the winner, and carrying on those trades associated with their name since time immemorial. Merry-go-rounds were in operation, and quite a tasty meal could be had from the various vendors of edibles at the meet, although not of the traditional Canadian soft drink, cookies, pigs' trotters (pigs' feet), jellied eels, mussels, and fish and chips. Not for the fastidious, but certainly for the hungry.
Itinerant musicians, shouting tipsters in garish garb, religious fundamentalists with their placards of impending doom, all add up to a panorama of colour and sound impossible to describe adequately. The Derby is not a horse race but an institution in a country that loves institutions dearly.

THE little back streets of London produce the most unexpected finds for those who have the time and the inclination to look for them. Browsing in a little junk-shop near our place recently I came across a shoe box full of old and modern coins. With thoughts of a young nephew in mind, I decided to look through the box, and buy a small assortment as a present for him. To my astonishment, the box was a treasure of coins of all countries and ages. Altogether I selected over a hundred, including 8 Roman coins, numerous early British pennies and halfpennies, silver coins from many parts of Europe, two monstrous Russian coins that weigh close to a ¼ pound apiece (and dated 1770 and 1790 respectively), a Bank of Montreal penny token issued in 1842, a number of New Brunswick ship pennies, a Bank of Upper Canada penny token, and a curious coin dated 1855 with "Prince Edward Island" on one side, and "Self Government and Free Trade" on the other. Other items included a modern American dime and a 1939 Canadian ten cent piece, and a wide variety of coins from British colonies, South American countries, Napoleonic and early French Republic issues.
Over a hundred in all, and the price? Six shillings, or a $1.20. The young nephew will be well started on his way to having the best coin collection in town. If he ever gets them.
They are fascinating things to play with, and the lure of coin-collecting is growing within me.

THE final chapter in a police court case ended this week. The moral of it all; don't lose your temper. In the case concerned two people lost their tempers, a prisoner convicted of housebreaking and the judge who sentenced him. Details were these: The judge imposed a sentence of two years' imprisonment, upon which the prisoner shouted an offensive term at the judge as he was being removed from the court. The judge ordered him brought back, and to quote the reports that appeared in the papers, told the prisoner that he seemed to have some doubts as to his (the judge's) parentage, upon which he doubled the sentence to four years. The case was appealed, and the appeal court judge reduced the sentence to the former two years.
In his summing up, this latter judge pointed out that the prisoner's record was so bad (over 40 convictions) that if the four year sentence had been imposed originally, nothing would have been done to change it, but under the circumstances, the courts must not be suspect of personal bias, and while the first judge held he was not adding to the sentence for contempt of court but only on reconsideration of the case, the unfortunate impression had been conveyed that personal anger had resulted in the heavier sentence.
Which is undoubtedly true. Moral: don't lose your temper.

D-DAY anniversary celebrations passed quietly in Britain. Field-Marshal Mon-gomery unveiled a stone near Portsmouth commemorating the many allied soldiers that had sailed from that district in the invasion of Europe. Many newspapers published articles on D-Day of a now-it-can-be-told variety, and the BBC ran an hour-long programme on Sunday evening, recalling the story of D-day from the Dunkirk beaches to the day that British troops once again stood on the coast of France, this time to stay until victory was won. It is hard to realize that this was but four years ago. The grand hopes of a Europe and world free from the threat of war and tyranny seem rather hollow now, and there are but few who can honestly say they look to the future with optimism. There must be a touch of sadness in such celebrations as these, not only for the brave men who died, but for our hopes that have died also.

MARKING TIME

The Fortnight On Parliament Hill

By A. J. THOMAS

AS the session is precipitated to a close—the parliamentarians hope that next week will free them, from Ottawa—the busiest business of the House is examining and passing estimates in Committee of Supply. In order to deal with the accumulation of tail-ends before the end of the month, the House is now beginning its sittings in the mornings at eleven, instead of in the afternoons at three.

ON Friday, June 4th, 103 divorce bills came up for automatic consideration. French-Canadian members took the opportunity to deplore the rising divorce rate. In 1913 there were 114 divorces in the whole of Canada; in Ontario alone last year there were 3,936.
Quebec and P.E.I. residents can still secure divorces only through private Acts of Parliament since these 103 a fortnight ago. Mr.
Kl. wies (Winnipeg) suggested a method of saving printing and paper. The bills were passed "on division", to indicate that not all members approve either the principle of divorce or the necessity of Parliament's dealing with them.

THE Rt. Hon. J. L. Isley, Minister of Justice, introduced a bill providing for about forty amendments to the Criminal Code. This came up for second reading last Monday. By these amendments criminal sexual sycophants (sex maniacs) may, after conviction, be sent to the penitentiary for an indefinite period—for life, if necessary. Infanticide will be made punishable as a separate offence from murder or manslaughter and bring up to three years' imprisonment. Formerly a mother who killed her new-born child could be charged only with murder or manslaughter; often the Crown allowed minor charges to be laid so as to avoid the severe penalties after conviction on a murder charge; or to avoid acquittal of the accused by a sympathetic jury. Another amendment makes it a crime to intimidate any person by threats of injury or violence to any of his relatives either in Canada or abroad. This amendment should deter Communist agents from practices alleged to have occurred even in Canada in connection with our new immigrants. Another amendment will prevent the recurrence of trials for conspiracy to publish defamatory libel like the recent ones in Alberta, when accused persons from Ontario were compelled to journey to the western province to stand trial. Another amendment provides for the continuation of jury trials (with the consent of both crown and accused) even though one or two jurors be absent because of illness or death.

ON Tuesday June 8th a bill was introduced to provide one million dollars over a period of ten years to extend and continue the work of preserving the battlefields of the Plains of Abraham and adjoining St. Foye (where the French army under Chevalier de Levis made its last stand). This was later approved, most members feeling that such mementos of our past warranted any money necessary to rescue them from decay or oblivion. Maritime members would like to see similar Federal provision for St. Croix, Louisbourg on Cape Breton and the like.
"Canada at the United Nations, 1947", a thick 275-page report, was tabled by Mr.
Harris, Parliamentary Assistant to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. This may be had from the King's Printer, Ottawa, for fifty cents. The flood conditions in B.C.
came up several times in Question Period.
The Federal Government is providing 50 per cent. of the funds for emergency relief and seventy-five per cent. of the money for emergency repair measures. A joint B.C.-Federal Committee has been formed to go into the present and future measures necessary in the Fraser valley. The defence forces are being used generously. Apart from naval and air personnel, 1,225 active army men have been engaged on relief and emergency work, and 1,359 reserve army men.

DURING the discussion of the amendments to the Criminal Code, Mr. E. D. Fulton, Conservative, Kamloops, brought to the attention of the House the harmful effect on children of "crime comics". According to the reports of American psychologists, these crime comics do tend to lead the young astray. The Minister of Justice said that there was no legislation on the books by which these comics could be banned. Incidentally, there has been no revision of our Criminal Code since 1893. Some members think that a revision is long overdue. The Department of Justice has a revision in mind, but is faced by the difficulty of getting together a suitable group of experts who could spend the two or three years necessary in order to make a complete revision.

SENATOR Euler and Mr. T. L. Church have both asked that the legality of the ban against margarine be tested in the Supreme Court. Apparently the Government will give heed to these requests. Two C.C.F. members protested against questionnaires circulated by the Department of National Defence and of External Affairs to their own staffs. These asked the civil servants to name their relatives and list the clubs of which the civil servants are or have been members. It seems to be an attempt by the two Departments to do their own investigation of "reds". Mr. Gillis said:
"This is bureaucracy in the extreme; it is interference with the rights of a person as a citizen, and I believe the time to stop this kind of thing is now. This is the thin edge of the wedge. If one or two departments of government can get away with it, then it may become the rule in future. Civil servants may become much less free than they are today; and they do not have so much freedom now. There are many freedoms they do not have which I should like to see them have."

The Committee discussing a Bill of Rights for Canada has the major problem not only of sifting the matter of whether freedom can be legislated—it would seem that even in Government Departments there are attempts to take from civil servants their privacy after working hours—but also as Mr. Isley pointed out last Tuesday, our special constitutional problems. Any Bill of Rights would have to obtain the concurrence of the provinces if its terms were to be sufficiently inclusive.

ON Wednesday the 9th, Mr. Fraser (Conservative, Peterborough), spoke during the discussion on estimates of the Department of Transport about the condition of docks and channels in the Rice Lake district.
He spoke of the difficulty of getting up the river to Keene because of weeds. He wanted those cleaned out, and also the weeds in Little Lake. "It is not only for the convenience of the United States tourists who are there but also for the business people in the section. They need the business of these tourists."

On Tuesday last, Dr. Beauchamp, the Clerk of the House, received congratulations from all party leaders on his birthday anniversary.
Dr. Beauchamp is our greatest authority on parliamentary procedure, and is constantly quoted by the Speaker and committee chairmen on points of order. He has been in office longer than any clerk in any parliament in the British Empire. He is shortly to retire.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased... When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come and take him by force, to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone.

And when even was now come, his disciples went down unto the sea, and entered into a ship, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was now dark, and Jesus was not come to them. And the sea arose by reason of a great wind that blew.
(John 6: 2, 15-18.)

And he saw them toiling in rowing; for the wind was contrary unto them; and about the fourth watch of the night he cometh unto them, walking upon the sea, and would have passed by them.

But when they saw him walking upon the sea, they supposed it had been a spirit, and cried out: for they all saw him, and were troubled. And immediately he talked with them, and saith unto them, Be of good cheer:
it is I; be not afraid.

And he went up unto them into the ship, and the wind ceased: and they were sore amazed in themselves beyond measure, and wondered. (Mark 6: 48-51.)

Letter To The Editor

A CORRECTED OPINION

Sir: I object to your quoting, or rather mis-quoting me, in your Monday evening copy—see page 15 column 7.

I did not say that I considered the by-law a good idea—in fact, I was not aware that a by-law was in question. Your interviewer may have overlooked the fact in his zeal but he merely asked me what I thought about gas stations being open in the evenings.

My view is definite on this.
I consider that any place which calls itself a city should have a gas station open at any hour of the day or night. This may be done by a private individual who has every right to work whatever hours he pleases. If the "chain" people don't like the competition it is up to them to introduce a shift system in their organization.

To sum up, my points are:
1. Any private person should have the right to work 24 hours a day if he likes.
2. Any paid employee should be protected by a legal maximum working week and or shift.

The system I had in mind in England was one arranged by the operators among themselves, so that they should be able to work shorter hours and avoid pointless competition for evening trade.

I trust you will make this clear to your readers. Yours faithfully, IAN Y. MORRISON, B.Sc.

Unconsidered Trifles

His great love made the young man very eloquent.

"You are the most beautiful girl I have ever seen," he murmured. "I long to hold you in my arms, to kiss your lips, your eyes, to whisper in your ear 'I love you' I—"

But the businesslike young lady cut him short.

"Well," she suggested, "I suppose it can be arranged."

Young and inexperienced father (looking at triplets the nurse had just brought out)
"We'll take the one in the middle."

Hearing noises at night a house holder lit a candle to investigate.

"Put that light out!" called a stern voice.
Air raid warden, decided the householder, and retired.

Next morning his coal shed was empty.

A young woman was being seen off at the railway station.

"No, don't bother to come any farther—you'd have to get a platform ticket," she said to her escort.

"Oh, that's all right," he protested. "It's worth more than a penny to see you off."

The diner slipped his soup, made a grimace and called the waiter.

"Look here," he grumbled. "I ordered turtle soup and there isn't a trace of turtle flavour in this."

The waiter drew himself up. "Of course not, sir," he said haughtily. "What do you expect? If you ordered cottage pudding would you expect a cottage in it?"

Criticizes Selection Of VLA Contractors

OTTAWA, June 18 — (CP)—Brig. T. J. Rutherford, director of the Veterans Land Act, Thursday bluntly criticized the selection of contractors who built the houses on VLA's small-holdings project in 1945.

The project housing—now terminated—suffered from "faulty workmanship," he told the Commons Committee on Veterans Affairs.

"The costs were so high that in order to assure that every veteran was given value for his money, the 2,673 properties have had to be written down approximately $3,000,000," he said.

The most serious mistakes had been in selection of contractors and in terms of the cost-plus contracts.

Brig. Rutherford said, however, that he is "extremely encouraged" by individual housing projects, which will be continued for several years. More than 2,180 have been compared and 1,074 more started.

Comstock's Get Win In 10th Over Combines

Comstock's edged out the R-E Combines 11-10 in 10 innings at the Bowl last night before a good crowd to climb into a first-place tie with Combines. It was a long and loose game but quite close and interesting, marked by arguments which resulted in Manager Jack Russell and Joe Blewett of the losers being chased out of the game. Both sides kicked in with half a dozen errors, as Comstock's had an edge on pitching and hitting, and the winning run came on a misjudged fly to centre which went as a triple to Al Courneyea. Eakins pitched fair ball while Lucas gave way in the fifth to Guilfoyle.

Red Anderson led the winners at bat with two homers in four official trips, while Courneyea had two in five and Jaquith and Thompson two in six each. Castle hit a triple and Mackness a two-bagger. For Combines, Crowe was best with three in five, Leather and Pryde getting two in five times each. Blewett and Pryde

NO. 3 RETIRES—Before the start of a game between the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians, at New York's Yankee Stadium, the world of baseball paused to pay homage to one of its all-time greats, Babe Ruth. The Bambino is shown (above, doffing his hat to the crowd as he makes an appearance in his famous Number 3 Yankee uniform, thus making him the last Yankee ever to be allowed to wear the Number 3 suit. Immediately after the Bambino took off the uniform it was turned over to Paul S. Kerr, secretary of baseball's Hall of Fame. It will be placed in the Cooperstown, N.Y., museum along with other mementoes of the Babe's great days. In the dugout behind the Babe, are members of Cleveland's team.

Scarboro Grade play the Petes an OLA senior "B" fixture at nine tonight in Miller Bowl, and the local lacrossers will be gunning for another victory. The Grads gave them stiff opposition in group finals last year and should be hitting their true stride by now, so it ought to be another nifty number by these gutted-stick opponents. Petes are plenty potent now with such additions to their good '47 squad as Bun Hill, J. J. Hill, Curly Warren, Terry Gordon, Don Smith and Jack Foote. Maybe another one or two, as well. But they'll likely find the long-summer trail rocky enough in spots again.

Lacrosse is booming in Peter's borough this summer. That provincial senior "B" crown won in a fine new box last autumn, of course, put the game on its feet. And then the club has a solid organization working this season, fostering minor lacrosse in a large way. So we have 'em playing from bantam up through midget, juvenile and intermediate to the senior "B" brand. Hundreds of kids learning the game and, when Jack Foote takes over as full-time coach for the minors the end of this month, the number may be doubled. Miller Bowl is busy every night now, and a secondary "box" nearby has been put up to take care of the overflow. Yeah, it's a boom.

Bata Ballsters Here

And the big baseball attraction tomorrow aft in Riverside, weather being oke, is the COBL contest between Batawa Shoemen and the league-leading Petes. Muffitt, the Bata mound ace, will likely pitch for the Batawa-Belleville crowd, who are in second place at the moment. And we expect Manager Eddie Murphy to throw Bill Edger this time. The game shapes up as a much better one than the one-sided Wednesday night affair. But the visitors' pitching will have to be good to muffle those mighty maces swung by the Petes.

Mike Rodden of Kingston—not up as much on his puck or ball rules as he might be—comments on COBL playoffs, thusly: "With the semi-finals a best three-of-five affair and the finals extended to seven games it would appear that league heads have been a bit audacious. When it is considered that one third of the scheduled games have already been postponed, the problems confronting the COBL are monumental." Manager Olsen of Kingston suggests pitting Oshawa against Peterborough and Kingston against Batawa in sets of four games with the two surviving clubs meeting in league finals. Kingston hasn't been doing so well up to now.

Some Overtime Stuff

Followers of men's softball at the Bowl continue to get a lot of action and close contests, even though last night's games were a lot longer than usual. Legion pulled out a 10-7 win over Knights, despite a late rally by the K. of C.ers, and Comstock's copped an 11-10 touch over R-E Combines in the 10th frame. A good gallery say the scraps and, while the first fray was better ball, they got more of a bang out of the nightcap. As it was plenty tight right into overtime and full of arguments. Manager Johnny Russell and Joe Blewett were chased out of the game for arguing too strenuously with the umpires. Never a dull moment.

Legion took a good grip on second spot with their win, Reid pitching pretty fair ball till Knights went on a ninth-inning rampage. Two twirlers for each side in this one, with Harrison and Sullivan the big belters. With another pitcher, Knights would be right up there—and interested applicants will find a ready ear on the side of Freddy Garvey's head! Eakins did a bit better than this on against two Combines' fingers—Don Lucas of Lindsay giving it to them. Both sides were loose afield in the lengthy but close contest and Anderson and Crowe led the clouters. The teams are now tied for first place. Handy Jack Mackness popped up on first this time and looked good as usual. And it appears that the umps intend to keep command of these games and not take too much from anyone arguing extra hotly with them.

Concerning The Lassies

Monday meales are: Marines vs. Westclox and Ashby's vs. Lindsay. Second half of the girls' softball schedule, drawn up by Karl Dorrington, and running till July 23, commences next Wednesday. It will be published on the morrow.

Legion Takes 10-7 Win From Knights

Legionnaires staved off a ninth-inning rally at the Bowl last night to take a City Softball League win over Knights 10-7. They had coasted along comfortably most of the route and had a 10-3 margin when Knights exploded in the last frame for four runs and the outburst chased Maurile Reid, with Bob Greenlaw finishing up on the last man. It was the fifth win in 10 starts for Legion and gave them a firm grip on second place, while Knights dropped back. The hitting and fielding were pretty even, but Legion cashed in on a few walks and clouted with ducks on the pond. Each side used two hurlers.

Bud Harrison was the big Legion hitter with a homer, triple and double in five tries, while Walton, Lewis and Pagett had two for four each. White had a homer and single in five. For Knights, Sullivan led the way with four in five times, one a triple. Tompkins hit a homer and single in four and Wade a double and single in five. Catches by Scrivner and Sullivan featured, plus a double-play.

Glover-Dobbin Golf Play On Saturday

First of the two matches in the Glover-Dobbin trophy will be played off at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club on Saturday afternoon. Play is expected to begin at 1:30 p.m., and a turnout of 70 or 75 from both clubs is hoped for. The second match, to be played at the Kawartha, is set for July 10.

The winning of the trophy is determined by a point system: one point for each of the first and second nines, and one point for the most holes won on the whole 18. Last year, the Peterborough club carried off the trophy, and Kawartha should make a determined bid to cop it this year.

Joe Louis knocked out Billy Conn in the 13th round for his 18th straight successful title defence at New York seven years ago tonight. Up to that point Conn had substantial leads over the Brown Bomber which made it the closest Louis ever came to losing his crown until he met Jersey Joe Walcott in last year's close 15-round battle.

Voiselle Staging Comeback As Braves Nip Chicago Cubs

By BEN FLEGAR

The magic touch of Billy Southworth is working wonders on still another ball player, pitcher Bill Voiselle.

The only disgruntled curve baller of New York Giants has turned into Boston Braves' biggest winner under the patient guidance of Boston Billy.

Voiselle broke in with the Giants in 1944 by winning 21 games. The next June he was fined $500 by Manager Mel Ott for grooving a pitch to Johnny Hopp, then with St. Louis Cardinals.

"That fine, which I felt was unjustified, seemed to take everything out of me," Voiselle said. He finished 1945 with a 14-16 record, then slipped to 9-13 in 1946.

Last year he'd won only once while losing four when the Giants swapped him and cash for pitcher Mort Cooper. He righted himself almost at once and won eight while losing seven for the Braves. This season he's won seven and lost three.

Two of those victories came yesterday against Chicago Cubs. Voiselle relieved Warren Spahn in the second inning of the first game of a twin bill. The Braves trailed 5-0, but went on to win, 7-5. Then in the nightcap he was called upon in the ninth with the score tied, 7-7. Boston won in the last half with a run.

In Top Place

The pair of triumphs gave Boston undisputed possession of first place in the National League, a half game ahead of Pittsburgh.

The Pirates took the measure of New York Giants, 9-8, despite four New York home runs. They came from behind on a homer by Ed Stevens with two aboard in the seventh.

Giants homers were by Johnny Mize, Bill Rigney, Willard Marshall and Bobby Thomson.

Stan Musial feasted on Philadelphia pitching as St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Phillies, 4-1. Musial had a triple and two singles to boost his season's average to .398.

Harry Brecheen was the winner.

Cincinnati beat Brooklyn 5-3 in the other National League game. Cleveland's front-running Indians suffered their fourth straight loss, this time to Boston, 8-6. The Indians stayed in the game until the sixth when Dom Dimaggio put the Red Sox ahead to stay with a home run. Ken Keltner hit his 16th home run for Cleveland.

Philadelphia Athletics advanced to within two games of the Indians by defeating Detroit 5-2. Carl Scheib, who gave up six hits, was the winner with Dizzy Trout being charged with the loss.

Jersey Giants Hit Slump; Bow To Bisons

By The Associated Press

Jersey City's Little Giants are taking after the Big Giants across the river in New York—they're in a slump.

The International League club has lost its last four games and seven of its last eight starts. Last night Buffalo came to town in sixth place. When the firing was over Buffalo was in fourth place and Jersey City was down in sixth, eight games behind league-leading Montreal. The score was 9-2.

Chet Laabs hit two home runs to pace the nine-hit attack. It was the third game this season in which he's connected for the circuit twice. He now has 16 home runs.

Hockey Banquet Held By Triple Link Club

The executive of the Oddfellows Hockey Club, an OHA Junior "B" entry in Peterborough, entertained the 1947-48 players at a banquet Wednesday night in Hooper's. Glen Edwards, newly-appointed club president, introduced Mayor Wm. Owens, Coach Archie Weir and Gordon Myles, who made brief speeches during the evening.

Mayor Owens presented player Arnold Dugan with a cup for being judged the most valuable player to his team last season. This trophy was donated by the Ontario Hockey Association to the club for the player chosen by his team-mates as most valuable, and Dugan's performance during the season earned him the honor.

James Stewart Plans To Take First Vacation

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 18 (AP).—James Stewart is going to treat himself to his first vacation since getting out of the United States Army.

The lanky ex-colonel has been working hard since his discharge. He has made five pictures, two stage appearances, in "Harvey," plus numerous air shows and exploitation trips.

Foreign Entourage

Rita Hayworth has written friends that she will extend her European tour to the end of August. She headlines a benefit show for UN children's relief in Paris June 30.

Danny Kaye is marking time until a leading lady is found for "Happy Times." He is anxious to start working so he can make the command performance in London this fall.

Odds and Ends

Shirley Temple, who is co-starring with John Agar again in "Baltimore Escapade," tells me they don't intend to be a regular film team. "One picture a year, together would be about right," she says. Shirley was complaining about a "Fort Apache" ad which said "Introducing Shirley's new husband."

Humphrey and Lauren Bogart are making news. They are the only stars I can find who are not (1) going to Europe nor (2) playing summer theatres.

Closings

Louis Hayward will view the Olympic Games in London and hopes to bring his brother to the United States with him. He is a South African.... Tarzan goes modern in his next adventure, "The Arrow of Death." The ape man will chew bubble gum.... "Criss Cross" is designed to do for Los Angeles what "Naked City" did for New York. It will be largely filmed in city streets. Hope they don't run into the "Act of Violence" company, which is doing the same.

Cattle Market Slows Down During Week

TORONTO, June 18 — (CP). — The Livestock Market here started away this week at its current steady clip but by Wednesday a dwindling demand had forced the market down to a slow walk and buyers were offering 50 cents to a dollar lower on cattle. The cattle run of 6,000 head was 1,900 more than for the same week last year, however, and the slaughter cattle made up all but 700 of the supply.

Ontario packers took over 4,000 head, while 350 cattle were shipped to Eastern killers. The top price for weighty steers, strangely, was paid on Wednesday when two carloads of exceptionally good quality arrived and brought $24.60 per hundredweight. Other steers brought from $24.50 downward to $20. Butcher steers were $19-$24.50, heifers sold from $18-$22, and fed yearlings from $19-$24. Butcher cows opened Monday at $14-$18, but followed the rest of the cattle on the downward trend and closed at $14-$17 with the bulk of sales at $16-$18.50. Canners and cutters sold from $6.50-$13. Bulls started slow this week at $13-$17 and dropped off more by mid-week with buyers reporting good bulls at $14.50-$16. Stockers and stock calves sold from $12-$18, with the bulk of sales at $16-$17 and weaker prices anticipated. Ordinary quality milkers and springers were $100-$165 each. Grass cows remained fairly active at $9-$13.

Calves totalled 2,200 head and choice vealers remained strong throughout the week at $21.50-$23.50. Plain and medium light-weights brought $13-$21 a hundredweight.

A total of 2,600 head of hogs ignored the downward pace set by cattle and gained 75 cents a hundredweight. Grade A closed at $30.50 and Grade B1 at $30.10. Sows dressed, gained $1 and closed at $21.

Sheep and lambs totalled 1,300 head. Good spring lambs averaging 80 lbs. held steady at $25. Yearlings were $17.50-$20. Sheep sold from $5-$10.50 according to quality.

Says Engineers Have Little Chance To Stop

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP). — Engineer of one of the big new Diesel locomotives running between Toronto and Montreal over Canadian National Railways lines, Art Cole of Belleville, knows how little the man in the cab can do to avert level crossing collisions.

He says he wishes the man or woman behind the wheel of the automobile trying to beat the train to the crossing knew it too. Rolling with 80 cars of freight weighing 5,000 tons adds up to a momentum that cannot easily be controlled. In few instances can the engineer provide the motorist with the spare second or two that means the difference between life and death.

With every crossing protected by some form of warning, the engineer can only hope for the best.

Farm Laborers From West Not Numerous

Recent reports that 2,500 western farm workers are en route to Eastern Canada for temporary work on farms, is far from correct, according to the Peterborough manager of the National Employment Service, W. Mellis. He talked with Toronto officials Wednesday who advised that district farmers, who had made over 100 applications that they should not count on too much relief from that source.

Mr. Mellis has had a great many applications for Peterborough youth for summer work on farms. Most were assigned to summer resorts. The most recent Dutch couple to arrive in the district came Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mantel, after a 12-day sea and rail voyage. They were met by Department officials and their new employer, Bruce Sharpe, RR 1, Ida. Although they did not speak any English, they were able to converse with Mr. Sharpe's son's wife, who is a native Hollander and a relative of the new Canadians. The Mantel's feeling of loneliness is a new land was soon dispelled when they were met at the train by Mrs. Sharpe Jr.

To relieve the pressure on the domestic help problem, Mr. Mellis advises that another boatload of women DPs are en route to Canada and some of the girls are destined for Peterborough. The first lot who arrived early in the winter are becoming thoroughly acclimatized, officials state, and are now able to converse freely in English and make themselves at home in the city of their adoption.

250 Carloads Goods Halted By Russians

BERLIN, June 17 — (AP). — British transport officials said Wednesday night that the Russians since Saturday have stopped 250 railroad carloads of supplies bound for Berlin from the Western zones. Most of the cars carried coal. The Russians have been stopping the shipments because they said the cars were mechanically defective. British authorities said they had asked the Russians to relax their restrictions.

Summer School Starts July 5 At Collegiate

One of two summer schools in Ontario which will help normal school students obtain their necessary upper school subjects will be situated in Peterborough.

During the war years students were allowed to enter normal school with only five instead of nine credits in their upper school subjects. These persons were later permitted to teach public schools on the understanding they would make up the deficiency at some future date.

Beginning on July 5 a five-week course will be held at PCVS as an aid to these teachers most of whom are believed to be from rural schools. The other summer school is situated in Toronto.

Three members of the Collegiate staff will do the active teaching: James McNab, sciences; Arnold Moffat, English and history; and Alex Long, mathematics; Howard Moebius will look after the administrative side of the course.

To date there is no indication of how many will apply, although a number have already signified their intention of doing so. Saturday is the deadline.

The course is not sponsored by the Board of Education although it has the Board's approval. If students are successful in their studies they have the opportunity of trying the Board's examinations to be held sometime in August.

Chronically Ill Shows Increase

A marked increase this year in visits to chronically ill patients was reported by Miss Mary Ross, nurse in charge, at a meeting this week of the Victorian Order of Nurses. She said that the increase is to be expected as the population of Canada is growing older.

Miss Ross reported that the total case load and number of visits for the first five months of this year are lighter than last year's figures for the same period: 448 patients have been under care since the beginning of the year and a total of 2,863 visits have been made.

Home confinements this year have totalled more than for the full year of 1947; 25 hours were spent in home confinement service, most of which was at night. In addition, 47 other night calls were made.

Miss Ross said she would like to see a greater increase in contacts with mother and babies. To date, 62 prenatal visits have been made under VON service, but the number of births was approximately 370. In the whole maternity group, 1,246 visits have been made this year.

The matter of office accommodation was discussed and larger quarters were approved by the Board. The matter was referred to the finance committee for action.

Approval was given for a nurse to attend a refresher course on prenatal service at the University of Toronto School of Nursing and also to the Institute of Family Relations sponsored by the Community Programmes Branch of the Department of Education.

John Bradshaw presided.

Claim New Ontario Grants Boon To Civic Hospital

An increase in the provincial grant to Ontario hospitals will be a boon to Peterborough Civic Hospital, the board of governors agreed Thursday night. A letter received from Health Minister Russell Kelley said that the provincial grant for each of the final three quarters of 1948 would be 2.35 times that of the first quarter.

Revenue for the first five months of this year was $154,685.90, compared to expenditures of $164,893.34, showing a difference of $10,207.44. A bright spot was the month of May, when an excess of revenue over expenditures of $68 came to light. May's revenue totalled $33,074.84, against expenditures of $33,006.07. Accounts receivable up to May 31 were $51,368.166.

The average number of patients decreased during May, and a corresponding increase in the number of vacant beds was noted. Number of patients discharged in May was 335.

Expenditures for the Queen Mary branch were $1,906.35, against revenues of $1,659.21. Payment of $32,690.13 in accounts payable was approved by the board, this amount including $1,073.58 for June, and accounts for the Queen Mary branch.

A report from the building committee concerning the purchase of a dial platform scale was approved by the board. The monthly progress report on the new civic hospital was received.

Aphid Menace Is Serious Across Pea Fields Farmers Hoping For Rain

Pea fields of the district are so heavily infested with aphids that they may have to be sprayed by plane or helicopter early next week. The dusting would be done right now if Canada Packers could get a plane and killing dust. That is an indication of the seriousness of this menace, born of the weeks of dry weather.

"A heavy rain would fix them," according to Harvey Sanderson, fieldman for Canada Packers. Probabilities say scattered showers Saturday, but there is not enough splash to that kind of light and gentle precipitation. "We need enough weight in the rain to knock these plant lice off the bushes."

Joseph McGuire of CPC canning department said there was deep concern about this threat to the pea crop. "It is a fact that we have been trying to get a plane to dust the fields with derris powder, but the Leavens people are working in the Belleville district and they couldn't come. Apparently the aphids are abroad down there. We are trying to get a plane lined up for the first of the week, if the worst comes to the worst and we don't get rain. Another condition is that the chemical company won't make this insecticide except on order, so there is a little difficulty there."

At any rate Canada Packers men are not fooling. Mr. Sanderson called several times yesterday at the office of Frank Paterson, agricultural representative. Telephone calls to Toronto, Ottawa and OAC tended to allay the industrial fears. Mr. Paterson looked in on several fields. One of them was Alex Huston's in Otonabee, and his observation suggested: "I don't think there's enough of them yet to worry a great deal; but we're going to watch them."

One opinion from Ottawa indicated that the aphids have to appear in army corps to cause alarm among the experts. The aphid is a tiny green sucking insect. Every home gardener knows them. An easy way to get rid of them is to turn hose force against them. Mr. McGuire says they can do a pile of damage in a pea field just as the young pods are emerging from the flowers.

CPC fields are in North and South Monaghan, Cavan, Smith, altogether about 420 acres.

Wants Definite Policy On Emigration

By JAMES MCCOOK.

LONDON, June 18 (CP).—George Wadsworth, 46, Liberal member of Parliament for Buckrose and a Yorkshire company director, leads a House of Commons drive to obtain a specific government policy on emigration.

His enthusiasm for emigration—"redistribution of population," he calls it—was given impetus by a visit to Canada last fall, "when I went right across the Dominion and ended with a visit to an outlying lumber camp on Vancouver Island."

He talked emigration with Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Trade Minister Howe, and other Dominion and Provincial ministers.

Wants Committee
For months he has worked for the establishment of an all-party parliamentary committee to discuss the practicability of large-scale emigration and make suggestions to the government.

Wadsworth said he wanted:

1.—A clear, specific policy of emigration laid down by the Labor Government.

2.—Responsibility for emigration matters given to a junior minister who would keep the government informed of emigration problems and requirements.

3.—Establishment of a government department where persons interested can obtain information on every question associated with emigration and learn about conditions in the various Commonwealth countries.

Wadsworth is a director of paint manufacturers and boat building companies. In addition to emigration, his special parliamentary interests are agriculture, fishing and catering. He served eight years on the Halifax, Yorkshire, Town Council.

Long Stalemate Feared In Holy Land Controversy

By WALTER O'HEARN.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. — The State of Israel faces many dangers in the Palestine truce and some of them were made very clear by a Security Council meeting.

Not only have the Israelis a good case if they say that part of the truce is being interpreted against them. That is only one danger. The other danger is that Israel is going to be linked in the public mind with the Soviet Union. It is not a Soviet oriented state; but neither is it in a position to examine the teeth of gift horses.

If the representatives of the USSR persist in being friendly to the Jewish case and everybody else leans over backward, a party will certainly grow in Israel and among Israel's supporters which will say "Let us take friendship where we find it."

When the Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko told the Security Council that his country had consistently supported partition, whereas the United States had "zig-zagged" he was only speaking the truth. Never mind the motives of the Soviet Union—they would not stand up to close examination. Ignore if you like the fact that the Soviet Communists up to two years ago were the bitterest opponents of Zionism.

The fact is that the Russians, who have no vital interests to lose in the Middle East, can only gain by their policy. And the fact is that the United States between President Truman and the Army and the State Department and the delegation here has "zig-zagged."

Goodwill to Israel
There is the greatest goodwill to Israel among the present American mission to the United Nations. (It may not always have been so but the writer is convinced that this is true of the present mission.) But all the goodwill in the world cannot disguise the fact that American policy has wavered irresponsibly in the past and that the Jewish spokesmen have lost some of their long-held confidence in American support.

The Israeli spokesmen here are too polite and too patient to point out certain things, but there are other observers here who are ready to do that for them. These others point out that the truce is it is now being carried out violates the spirit at least of the Security Council meeting which adopted the truce resolution.

That meeting held on May 29, was an exceedingly frank and well conducted meeting. It sought to anticipate all the snarls of interpretation and definition which the truce would certainly entail.

You could call the minutes of that meeting the definite document of the Security Council's intentions. If you accept them as such, the present limitations on immigration of men of military age and the limitations on traffic to Jerusalem are variations of the original plan. They are variations which penalize one side—the Jewish side.

A Touch Truce
There may have been excellent reason for the mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte to have improvised the present regulations. The point is, however, that it is a tougher truce than it seems to be on May 29, tougher, that is, for the State of Israel.

These things are being said here. These are not the charges made by Andrei Gromyko or by the Soviet delegation or by the communist party-liners. Those charges are much more truculent.

Gromyko charged that: "Lately we have been hearing voices which tell us the four weeks' truce is not a genuine truce... we hear voices from many sides which lead us to wonder whether it was not concocted so that behind the backs of the United Nations another bargain could be struck regardless of the interests of the Jews and the Arabs in Palestine."

Everybody concerned—including the Jewish representatives who are not politically unsophisticated—will weigh these charges against their source. Mr. Gromyko is still not a good source for an impartial judgment on the motives and designs of the western powers.

What most observers here fear is not the sort of Machiavellian plot to kill the truce or to substitute a trusteeship under another name which the Russian was hinting at. What they fear is something simpler—that through sheer fumbling a long and uneasy stalemate may be produced in Palestine and that as a result of this stalemate either another period of harried tutelage for the country will arise to bedevil the world, or a war with the extremists of both sides in the saddle.

Deeply Disgruntled
Mr. Gromyko addressed the council in a mood of deep disgruntlement. His resolution to get Soviet observers in Palestine had just been defeated—killed by abstentions. He and his Ukrainian colleague, Vasily Tarassenko, voted for the motion and nobody else did, so it did not pass.

Prior to the vote on his resolution—which called for all Security Council members except Syria to send military observers—Gromyko had claimed that his country only wanted five observers. At this Dr. Jose Arce of Argentina growled that the country would be full of observers charging around and getting in each other's way.

(The members of the secretariat were straightened at that but they may well have hidden a knowing smirk or two, for they had just received a cable from Count Bernadotte asking for ten more military observers.)

The important point here is not that Mr. Gromyko's motion was defeated or that in a fit of pique he made some of his usual charges. The point is that in his propaganda address he made a claim to be the only consistent friend of the Jewish state and that around that council table there were no truly consistent friends of Israel to give him the lie and point to their own records.

Lindsay Loses To Petes In Soccer Tilt

With four minutes to finish, Bill Post rattled a hard drive into goal. Hamilton, Lindsay goalie, jumped up to save the ball but it hit off his hands and the crossbar to drop into the net to give the Petes a 2-1 soccer win at King Edward Park, Thursday evening. Again Hamilton, of Lindsay, was brilliant in goal and it was a hard game for the visitors to lose.

Lindsay opened the attack with a steady combination that had the local boys upset, Appleton testing Woodcock from all angles. A point, Petes were very erratic in every department with their positional play. On a raid on Petes' goal, Appleton was brought down inside the dreaded area. Barbee made no mistake from the spot kick with a rising shot away out of reach of the goalie. Just before the interval, Petes inaugurated a revival in combination that found the Lindsay custodian brilliant in goal as he stopped three shots in succession ranged at him from short distance.

Close Passing

Lindsay again took the initiative to baffle the Petes with their close passing tactics, on resuming, although the Petes re-arranged their team with new subs. Jack Byers made his appearance for the first time. Hamilton, Lindsay goalie, again took the spotlight with his daring and characteristic saving to completely baffle the Petes.

He had to admit defeat after 20 minutes of play when Byers whizzed a rocket drive past him for the equalizer. Exchanges continued on an even basis with the local boys trying hard to get the lead. Eventually, with only four minutes to go, Bill Post rattled a 20-foot drive into goal.

Lindsay—J. Hamilton, goal; V. Barbee and L. Francis, full-backs; R. Cox, L. Willis and N. Crawford, half-backs; D. Berry, R. Hammond, L. Appleton, W. Snowden and E. Moir, forwards. Petes—E. Woodcock, goal; K. Downer and W. Post, full-backs; A. Downer, Dal. Downer and E. Lane, half-backs; J. Hennessey, H. Payne, J. Whitnall, L. Payne forwards. Subs, Don Downer, J. Byers.

Quakers Victorious Over The Marines

Quakers took a 9-6 Industrial Softball League win over Marines last night to remain tied atop the loop with Nashua, each having four victories and no losses. They had an edge on hitting last night but played loose defensively, while Marines went good in the field. Horton fanned five with Putnam striking out four, and each walked two. A six-run drive by Quakers in the seventh did the trick for them. Lomax hit two doubles and a single in five, while Mantel had three singles in five. Doherty led the losers with a double and two singles. Teams:

Quakers: Lomax, c; Mantel, ss; Hay, 3b; Dixon, cf; Horton, p; Montgomery, lf; Wesenberg, rf; Ash, 1b; Renwick, 2b.
Marines: Caccavella, ss; Root, 2b; Metcalf, c; Jacob, 3b; Downer, 1b; Hill, lf; Doherty, cf; Hall, rf; Putnam.

Roof Garden Tea To Conclude "Dime" Campaign

Receipts from the "Dime a Dwelling" cards, that have been returned to date, total nearly $100.00, Miss Flora Metcalfe, convener in charge, reports. This novel campaign, through which YWCA members make weekly donations of ten cents toward the World's YWCA Reconstruction Fund will conclude on Saturday, June 26, and all cards must be turned in by that time.

Very substantial contributions are coming to the fund from other sources. The 20 Plus Club has given over the profit from the operaetta amounting to $200.00. The Old Country Club donated $25.00 and the Swimming Department of the Y presented a cheque for $16.00. Other groups have signified their intention to donate sums.

Those who have contributed may be interested to know what disbursements of the fund have been for the past year. The objective of $25,000 was exceeded by more than $1,500 of which $10,000 went directly for reconstruction work.

The balance was used for mutual service projects of the YWCA, such as passage, travel and incidentals for a worker to visit Belgium and direct physical education in the Y and in holiday camps, towards a much needed new building in Burma, to help with work among women and girls in France and to assist in establishing the first rural school for that country, to furnish a rural school for peasant girls in Hungary and to help rebuild their summer camp destroyed by bombardment to use as needed in Romania where bad harvest made income uncertain, for necessary office furnishings for the Norway YWCA and other similar purposes.

A reward should not be necessary to encourage donations to such a worthy cause, but there is one. Those who have filled all the "dime" cards on their card, and so much the better, if the spares are filled too, are invited to attend a garden party on the Roof Garden at the YWCA Saturday afternoon, June 26, from three until four o'clock.

St. Alban's Guild Garden Tea Very Successful

Mrs. C. Barnes, general convener, had arranged delightful pansy centrepieces for the quartette tables where refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Sutton, Mrs. W. Cross, Mrs. W. Hawkins, Mrs. G. Moore and Mrs. G. Linsey. Raffle tickets have been sold on a Kenwood blanket and the winning ticket was drawn during the tea by District Scouters, George Houghton, making Mr. J. S. Bell the owner.

The apron sale was most successful with every garment being disposed of by Mrs. E. Simmens, Mrs. J. Hierons. The home cooking department also reported a sell-out with Mrs. E. Druey, Mrs. A. Davis and Mrs. W. Wood as attendants.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Olive Kelleher as bridesmaid wearing green taffeta and Mrs. James Holland, of Peterborough, as matron of honor wearing a gown of deep pink taffeta. Both wore matching headresses and carried nosegays of Tailsman roses.

Report 480

Sister Church, who is a superior member, explained they are a religious organization, founded in 1922 in Toronto, who have adopted their manner of dress to facilitate travel, which must of necessity be done alone mostly, and to make it easier for them to get around in districts of the prairie where they are not always welcomed, and visit homes that are difficult to reach. The Service is a brain-child of the Rev. Arthur Coughlin whose idea was to get to people in the sparsely settled regions where there was no religion at all. The only way to serve such people was to go out and live right with them. The Sisters go into public schools in the west and teach where each word in English must be co-ordinated with action to get the meaning across.

"Very often the Sisters of Service do not see a Priest for months and they must so live that it will be all right," Sister Church explained. "To bring these people to the faith, we must also live amongst them, and be one of them."

In 1924 when there was an enormous immigration from the British Isles, the Order opened a house in Halifax, particularly to save the girls from all the hazards they must face alone in a new country. Sisters met them at the boats and guided them until they left for various parts of the country, then advising the priest or Catholic Women's League of that district to take over supervision. At houses maintained and staffed by the Sisters of Service, in the larger cities, girls coming to the city are taught in every way possible which emphasis on character-building. Through the Thrift Club they open savings accounts, and they are taught to make their own clothes. At the present time the Sisters have extra work with the Displaced Persons.

In the west, where people seven miles apart are unable to come together for services in the winter the catechism is taught by mail and is now going to more than 7,000 in Saskatchewan. These isolated people long for religion, but there is nothing for them unless someone like Sisters of Service come in.

To carry out the extensive work they must do, at places where priests can only visit perhaps once a year for masses, the Sisters go through a longer training period under careful instruction. Mrs. Torpey thanked Sister Church for her address.

Reports of Diocesan conveners were given on the following organization, immigration, education and scholarships, juniors and study clubs, child welfare, Girl Guides, social service, health and nutrition, magazines, Stella Maris, and resolutions.

Sub-divisions reporting were: Bowmanville, Campbellford, Cobourg, Douro, Downeyville, Ennisville, Grafton, Hastings, Keene, Kirkfield Lakefield, Lindsay, Norwood, Parry Sound, Wooler, and Peterborough, under which their is Immaculate Conception, Sacred Heart, St. Peter's, St. John's and Juniors. Kinnmount and Trout Creek were not represented at the convention.

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 18—(CP)—The Roman Catholic Women's League of Canada will hold its national convention this year at Calgary, Oct. 8-14, national publicity convener Mrs. W. C. Fewings has announced.

DOROTHY DIX

Woman Owes Duty to Tell Girl of Fiance's Affair

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a very dear friend who expects to be married soon to a man whom she considers morally perfect, but I happen to know positively that he is having an unsavory affair that he has not even broken of in view of his marriage. Sooner or later she is bound to find out the truth and I am afraid her life will be ruined. Do you think I should tell her?

WORRIED FRIEND

Dorothy Dix marriage the case is entirely different. It seems to me that if any friend knows any just cause why these two should not be united in the holy bonds of matrimony, as the marriage service says, then the only honorable and decent thing to do is to go to the innocent and ignorant party and tell him or her the truth. Very likely it may cost a friendship for the bearer of unwelcome news ever hath a will have done your duty and your living office, but at any rate your skirts will be clear.

Analogies Cited

If your friend was about to invest every cent she had in a business you knew to be bankrupt, you would urge her to at least investigate the statue of the company before she put her life's savings into it. If you saw her about to eat food that you knew was poisoned, you would not hesitate to snatch it away from her. If you saw her putting to sea in a leaking boat, you would not fail to warn her. Then why should let her blunder ignorantly into a marriage that will be worse than death?

Perhaps the woman is so in-way, but she will at least know will go on and marry him any situation. And she will have had what she is doing and will be better prepared to meet the situation. And she will have had a chance to save herself.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: When my husband left me five years ago, he decided me all of his property and I am able to live very comfortably, so I have no kick coming there. Since our separation he has dogged me constantly for a ring that belonged to his deceased mother. It is of no particular value, but I don't see why he should have it. He contends that he never gave it to me and that he wants it as a keepsake. My family thinks I should let him have the ring. What do you think?

ANSWER: I think you should let your husband have the ring, as it is hallowed to him by memories of his mother and has no association to you that makes it dear. Anyway, it belongs to your husband and not to you and you have no right to keep it.

He seems to have been very generous to you in money matters, so why do you not show your appreciation by being liberal with him? Even your family seem to recognize the justice of your husband's claim, so why not show some sporting spirit in the matter and give your husband the ring?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am married to a widower with one son, a boy of 12. My friends are always telling me that I should make my stepson call me Mother. I think that since he remembers his own mother, what he calls me is up to him, don't you?

A STEPMOTHER

ANSWER: You are right in not resenting the little boy not calling you Mother. Plenty of children by their first names, or by some of their first names, or by some nickname, so it is no sign of lack of affection or respect for you. Let him call you what he will.

The only thing that is important is that there should be love in his voice, and there will be if you are tactful with him and kind to him.

The Stars Say ...

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 25

It may require some very astute maneuvering to make the most of fairly promising conditions for this day. While there is indication of increased scope and expansion for putting over cherished objectives, with promise of financial solidarity and long term security, yet it may be advisable to change plans, to revamp ideas, or reconstruct ways, and means for attaining such ambitions. There may be blocks and obstacles to "things as they are," or the health or other personal consideration may get in the way. For lasting progress all around change may benefit.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find it wise to consider some sort of change during the coming year, perhaps in consideration of lowered vitality, undermined health, or other restriction. With due consideration aimed at circumventing obstacles and mending flagging fortunes, there is promise for benefits of lasting security in a new place. With studied consideration, there could be genuine growth, and affairs generally might be in line for solidity and promise.

A child born on this day, while having ability, ambition, and good ground work for success and happiness, may find certain handicaps, limitations or lack of sufficient energy to undertake affairs of scope and importance.

Now Able to Trace Behavior In Children by Brain Waves

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

IOWA CITY, Iowa, June 18—(AP)—Brain waves are giving clues as to why some children and adults often are in social and legal hot water.

The waves are electrical impulses recorded from the brain. Certain abnormal waves are found with greater frequency in children and adults with certain personality disorders, studies here show.

These people were not insane, or deficient in intelligence, nor did they have known diseases of the brain or nervous system. They were the so-called psychopathic personalities and behavior problem children, which include many delinquents, ne'er-do-wells, and "black sheep."

The brain wave study is one phase of the problem of psychopathic personality and behavior disorders in children being studied at the psychopathic hospital and State University of the Iowa College of Medicine.

Study of the brain waves of parents of the children in trouble indicates that the patterns often are inherited. If one or both parents had an abnormal pattern, the chances were that their offspring would have a similar one.

Traced To Childhood

Sometimes the unusual brain waves could be traced to illnesses or injuries of early childhood, although the child appeared to have recovered. The younger the child at the time, and the more severe the illness or injury, the more likely he was to show the abnormal brain waves and personality problems.

In another phase of the study characteristic traits of parents and children are being compared through personality tests. Many parents were found to be emotionally immature, having traits similar to those of the parents.

It may be possible to connect the different kinds of unusual and unwanted behavior with certain unusual brain wave patterns and with different personality traits.

The early lives of these patients, it was found, almost always were implicated by disturbing environments, such as broken homes, unstable parents, deaths, desertion and alcoholism. These are being studied in relation to personality and behavior. Such information may help determine what part inheritance and environment play in the development of personality traits that lead to poor adjustment in life.

Served 22 Years In Army Joe Mackness To Get Medal

Central Command Headquarters has announced that the Meritorious Service Medal is to be awarded to Sgt. Joseph Mackness, a former member of the Royal Canadian Regiment, and now residing at 802 Water Street, Peterborough.

The Meritorious Service Medal is awarded to serving or former serving members of the Permanent or Active Force who have completed not less than 21 years' service. Under King's Regulations only 100 of the medals are permitted to be worn in Canada at any one time.

Sgt. Joseph Mackness was retired to pension on August 12, 1919, after more than 22 years' service in the Canadian Army.

His first two years' service was with the 57th Regiment of the Non-Permanent Active Militia. Sgt. Mackness enlisted in the Royal Canadian Regiment on July 12, 1899, and served through the South African Campaign and up to the outbreak of the First World War, when he moved with the unit to Bermuda, where he served until 1915. He then transferred to the Canadian Expeditionary Force and served in England and France with the 85th and 185th Battalions, being promoted to the rank and appointment of Warrant Officer, Class I (RSM). He was wounded in action in 1918, which ultimately resulted in his being invalided home and discharged medically unfit.

During his service in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, he was honored by having his name "Brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for War" for valuable services. He was also awarded the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal on completion of 18 years' service in the Permanent Force with an "exemplary" character.

Sgt. Mackness was also awarded the Queen's South African Medal with four Clasps for his service in the South African campaign and the British War and Victory Medals in respect of his service during the First World War.

Plan To Extend Health Services

LINDSAY, June 18 (ENS). - Provincial Treasurer Leslie Frost commenting on the Ontario Government agreement to enter the Federal health plan stated that in brief it is matter of extending health measures now in force in Ontario, across the country.

In an interview with the Lindsay Post on Thursday he estimated that the province would probably spend $31,000,000 on health and research work this year. The Dominion would contribute between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. He pointed out that nine years ago Ontario was spending only $9,000,000 on health services.

Mr. Frost said that the Provincial Government would continue "giving the people the very best hospital and health system possible."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

A SHOW OF STRENGTH
MAKING a show of strength is smart strategy in certain close situations. If you have a good suit fit with your partner and virtually nothing else, your support of his bid may create a barrier against which your opponents cannot track themselves, especially if they are vulnerable. If you apply this principle sparingly and delicately in carefully chosen spots, it can pay very worthwhile dividends, not only in rubber bridge, but also in match-point duplicate games—in fact, especially in the latter.

Dealer. South. East-West vulnerable.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

North at Table 1 was one of those exponents of the proved one-over-one principle who likes to say that the weakest hand he will bid, except opposite a double or its equivalent, is one giving him a chance to say 1-Diamond over 1-Club. He applied that soundly when his partner's bid reached him, in the same way as did North at the other table.

But when the first North got his next chance, over his partner's 1-Heart, he failed to employ another important principle. His own hand being so ideally fitted to hearts, as against any other declaration South might call, was also so weak in general that action was demanded of him. A raise to 2-Hearts in this spot might have been followed by South reaching to three, or even four, but if so no very great damage could have occurred, and in a not too rare circumstance the contract thus reached might have been makeable.

North at the other table realized the main reason for that raise—to erect a barrier against probably strong opponents. It happened that the 2-Spades made three, worth 160 points, whereas the 2-Hearts bid was set only one trick, worth just 50.

Tomorrow's Problem

Dealer. South. Neither side vulnerable.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

After winning the spade 3 lead with the A, what suit should East return, and why?

Red Walkout In France Not Complete

Garbage Collectors Battle Paris Police;
No Other Disorders

PARIS, June 19.—(AP)—Garbage collectors heaved garbage at police and blocked a thoroughfare with their trucks in Paris today during a one-hour general strike called throughout France by the Communist-controlled Confederation Generale du Travail.

During the shutdown, the garbage collectors drove their trucks toward the plaza in front of the city hall. Police stopped them. The garbage men then began throwing garbage at the police and finally used their trucks to block traffic through the Avenue Victoria.

Police arrested some. When the symbolic walkout ended, the garbage truck drivers went back to work and resumed work.

The strike protested police action Tuesday night in throwing rubber workers out of the Bergougnan tire factory in Clermont-Ferrand, where they were on a slowdown strike for a 20-cent pay rise.

Not Complete

Today's symbolic walkout was nowhere nearly complete because the anti-Communist "Workers' Force" Union, the Popular Republican Union of Foremen and various other organizations refused to take part.

The first sign the strike had commenced in Paris came when most buses and subway trains stopped.

In the provinces, coal and metal miners were the first to go out. Railroad workers followed.

Most Paris policemen stayed on duty. The majority are in Popular-Republican and Workers' Force syndicates.

A ministry of the Interior spokesman said no disorders were reported in the first half hour of the strike.

In Clermont-Ferrand, the Bergougnan strikers voted to go back to work Monday. Many already were on the job today.

Man Arrested Hiding In Bank

ST. CATHARINES, June 19.—(CP)—Lloyd Maybee, alias Lloyd Sommerville, 19, of St. Catharines, formerly of Toronto, was arrested early this morning in the Bank of Commerce branch, downtown.

Maybee gained entrance through a small ventilating window at the rear of the bank and was heard moving about by D. A. Phillips, the branch manager, who lives above.

Constables Frank Book and Earl Fare responded to his telephone call and Constable Book entered the front door which was opened for him by the manager. Maybee was discovered hiding behind a desk and surrendered after Constable Book threatened to shoot on his third command to come out.

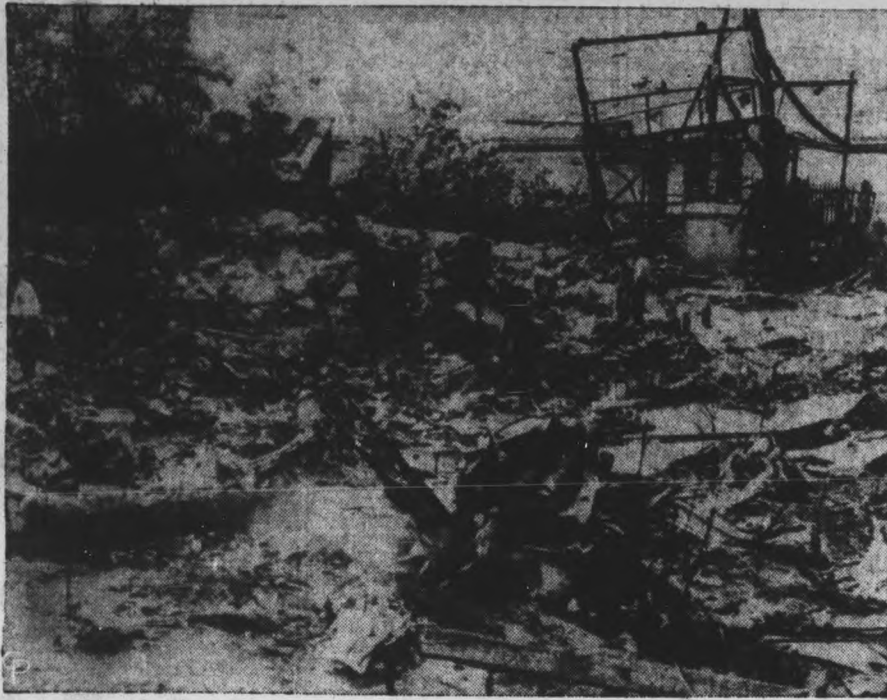

Maybee was unarmed but took the police to his rooming house where they recovered an unregistered Russian revolver. Also uncovered in his room was the loot from several recent break-ins.

Foreign Aid Plan Imperiled Pessimistic Compromise On Appropriation

WASHINGTON, June 19. (AP)—The Truman administration's foreign aid program today was imperiled by "two immovable objects" setting $1,000,000,000 apart on the Senate-House of Representatives conference committee on foreign aid funds.

Senator Styles Bridges (Rep.-N.H.), chairman of the joint committee, applied the "immovable" label after efforts to reach a compromise between the House appropriation and a Senate figure broke down completely Friday night.

Bridges made plans to get the group together again today. But he was pessimistic ever chances to

Picton Police Get Man At Road Block

PICTON, June 19.—(CP)—Provincial Police Friday arrested Daniel Bernard Desrauleau at Stanbridge, Que., after setting up road blocks at all exits from Prince Edward County. He is charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Involved in a hit-and-run accident Wednesday evening at Belleville, the wanted man was chased by police to Rednersville, across the Bay of Quinte, where he eluded his pursuers. A Provincial Police radio alarm sent several district police to the area and Desrauleau was sighted by Cpt. Sam Irvine, Belleville, and Provincial Police Officer Harry Caldwell, Picton. Abandoning the car, which bore a Vermont license and which had been stolen at Stanbridge, Desrauleau disappeared in a swamp.

With the road blocks set up, all cars leaving the county were searched and late yesterday afternoon the wanted man was taken from a car in which he was hitchhiking at Carrying Place, near Trenton. The arrest was made by rookie Provincial Constable Thompson, Belleville.

Desrauleau had been working on the farm of Frank Delong, R. 1, Carrying Place, and had just returned to this district after spending a few days at Stanbridge on the Quebec-Vermont border.

Trial Of 14 Bushmen Opens In Hornepayne

HORNEPAYNE, Ont., June 19.—(CP)—The trial of 14 bushworkers on charges arising from a pulp camp fight near here Wednesday night has been set for today.

Magistrate W. M. Cooper and Crown Attorney E. D. Wilkins of Sudbury arrived here late Friday. After the cases were called court was adjourned until today at 10 a.m.

The accused men faced charges of assault, disorderly conduct and obstructing police. Police alleged they took part in a fight with European displaced persons.

Port of London Paralyzed Dock Workers Still Out

LONDON, June 19.—(CP)—The vast port of London was practically at a standstill today, in the grip of a six-day dock workers' strike now involving 17,000 men. And with settlement deadlocked, the Government was reported considering using the army to unload vital food cargoes.

As Londoners read in their morning papers that their next week's meat ration may be threatened by the work stoppage, dock workers flouted a new call by transport and general workers to go back to their jobs.

At Liverpool, an attempt to start a sympathy strike failed to gain support.

A total of 117 vessels, including a number of Canadian ships, are tied up by the strike which started over a grievance of 11 men over extra pay for unloading dirty cargo. Forty-seven of the ships are loaded with food—including 30,000 tons of meat—and 70 are loaded with general cargo.

Government food officials are watching the strike closely as it also spread to another 1,000 men at Tilbury Docks Friday. They are reported to be planning use of the army if the strike is prolonged into next week and threatens food rations.

Only a few hundred men of an expected 10,000 turned up at a union-called meeting Friday. Then, union speakers urging the men to return to work, were shouted down by calls of "phony meeting" and the men left.

Arthur Deakin, general secretary of the union, issued a new statement on behalf of the executive council urging the men to go back to work. The statement said that the strike was "unjustified" and pointed out that constitutional arbitration machinery was not used.

Malayan Unrest Said Spreading

SINGAPORE, June 19. (AP).—Malaya's current unrest showed signs today of spreading to the country's important tin industry. Perak State workers handed new wage demands to Chinese tin mine owners.

Mine employers at Ipoh, centre of the tin industry and also of recent rubber-estate shootings, said the demands were stiff.

Except for the holdup slaying June 4 of a European mine manager, no bloodshed has been reported on tin properties.

Elsewhere in Perak, police arrested a 24-year-old Chinese laborer in connection with the murder Wednesday of A. E. Walker, one of three Europeans killed that day.

The country's leading organization of planters—the United Planting Association of Malaya—took issue with the defence of Sir Edward Gent, British high commissioner to the Malayan Federation.

Truck Kills 3-Year-Old At Havelock

Driver Not Aware Youngster Climbs
On Running Board

HAVELOCK, June 19.—(ENS)—Dale Edward Simpson, two years and 10 months-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Simpson, was almost instantly killed in front of his home Friday evening when run over by a grocery truck.

According to the report of Chief Constable Allan Rogers, and Provincial Constable Archie Grayling who assisted in the investigation, the accident was a peculiar one. Burness Johnson, 35, a grocer was driving his delivery truck, and after making a call started to back the truck down Quebec St. to the south. When he reached the corner of Matheson, the driver looked around because there are usually children playing there, then proceeded to swing the car around the corner to the east to face west on Matheson.

Falls Off

The little tot ran to the running board, put his arms on it and swung his legs and body up. As the truck swung on the turn the child rolled off, and the front wheel passed over his head.

The driver was unaware that anything was wrong until he felt the wheel bump. Mr. and Mrs. Varty, R.R. 1 Havelock were eyewitnesses to the tragedy but were too far away to warn the driver. The child is the youngest of six children, and had been playing on the street in front of his home with other children, who did not notice him scampering away. The father is employed with a hydro crew now working in the Havelock district.

The accident took place about 4.45 and the child was dead within the hour from a fractured skull.

Chief Constable Rogers is laying the details of the case before the Crown Attorney, but the driver was not held. An inquest is unlikely.

Surviving besides his parents are two sisters and three brothers, Gayle and James (twins) 11, William 9, John 7, and Mary Ann 4.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Killed In Crash

LONDON, Ont., June 19.—(CP)—A woman was killed and her husband seriously injured today in the village of Brimsley, seven miles north of Lucan, when a gravel truck struck broadside the automobile in which they were travelling. Dead is Mrs. Eunice Morley, 40, of R.R. 8, Parkhill. Her husband, Cyril, 42, is in St. Joseph's Hospital here suffering from indeterminate but extensive chest injuries.

Craft Testifies He Killed Prison Guard

KINGSTON, June 19. (CP)—Austin Craft, 49, and Norman Urquhart, 21, were committed for trial Friday for the murder of 50-year-old John Kennedy, a prison messenger.

"I and I alone am responsible for the life that was taken but I did not take it deliberately," Craft said in a 30-minute speech to the court.

Kennedy was shot last April 29 when Craft, who was serving 10 years for an attempted bank hold-up in Hamilton, and Urquhart, sentenced to 20 years for the slaying of Meyer Tobias in Toronto, drove the messenger's automobile through the prison gates to short-lived freedom.

Pulled Trigger

"I pulled the trigger" Craft said "but I had no idea in the world of killing a man. Above all, I held no grudge or hate against Mr. Kennedy."

"God and myself know I am not guilty of murder."

"I have sorrow for the life that was taken. He was my friend."

He said he was "nervous" and the gun "went off."

"If I am found guilty by a jury, I'll be going to another world which they say is a better one. If so, I will have no regrets."

Earlier, Craft related he had fired a shot to prove to the guards the gun was real and not a toy one. He said the guards knew he had used a toy gun in several holdups.

Urquhart said Craft approached him in the penitentiary garage April 28 and "Asked me if I'd like to go home."

"I'd doing 20 years. I had nothing to lose. So I said yes."

Urquhart said he climbed into the trunk of the messenger's automobile. Craft had instructed him to get out when he was told and get behind the wheel. At the penitentiary gate he heard Craft say "This is it!"

Battle Of Bush Still Uncertain

By The Canadian Press
The Northern Ontario bush fire gamble was still a heads or tails proposition today.

But Lands Department officials hoped they could call the toss. The hundreds of men in the crews still needed luck to win the battle against flames that have blackened hundreds of square miles of timber, destroyed game and blackened lakes and streams.

Conditions improved Friday and the Sudbury district was declared open to traffic, adding to the five previously released—Algonquin, North Bay, Gogama, Timiskaming and Cochrane.

One new outbreak was reported in the Espanola area, east of the Mississagi forest, and firefighters, pumps and hose were flown in. The fire covered five square miles and was remote from lakes large enough for float-equipped planes to land.

Catch 2 Prisoners Fleeing Reformatory

GUELPH, June 19.—(CP).—Two inmates who fled the abattoir at Ontario Reformatory Friday have been recaptured, Reformatory officials said today. The pair, Gordon Lackey, 17, of Toronto, and Leonard "Son" 20, of Ottawa, were taken by the police at the junction of Galt highway and the Puslinch Road.

Long All-Night Filibuster Broken In Senate; Approve 21 Months' Service

Roaring Argument Stormiest In Years Before Taylor Subsidies;
Bill Affects Men From 19 To 25 Years

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—The Senate today passed a compromise draft bill by voice vote after breaking an all-night filibuster. As it now stands—subject to House of Representatives approval—the measure would start drafting men aged 19 through 25 for 21 months' service, starting 90 days after final enactment.

Approval by voice vote came after the Senate first broke the filibuster of Senators Glen Taylor (Dem.-Idaho) and William Langer (Rep.-ND) and then got into a heated squabble over whether or not the bill actually had been passed.

Senator Irving Ives (Rep.-NY), presiding, first ruled that the draft compromise had passed. Then after a storm of protests he reversed this ruling and said it had not.

Taylor, who had been ruled out of order for breaking Senate rules, managed to regain the floor during the uproar.

Wary senators thought he was beginning another stretch of filibustering.

Gives Up

But Taylor talked only a few minutes and then gave up.

Senators applauded and shouted approval of the compromise and rushed it over to the House.

End of the filibuster and passage of the bill came after one of the stormiest scenes in the Senate floor in many years.

The roaring argument about whether the draft bill had passed or not came only a few minutes after Taylor was directed to take his seat and quit talking for violation of Senate rules.

Chairman Chan Gurney (Rep.-S.D.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee pulled a compromise draft bill from his pocket and asked Senate approval.

He listed several of the Senate-House conference decisions, reached during the filibuster and suddenly asked for a vote.

Senator Ives called for a voice vote and there was a chorus of "ayes."

Republican leaders, determined to get action on the draft, defiantly kept Senators on hand throughout the night. The weary Senators were in continuous session since 11 a.m. Friday.

The talk test by the two Senators blocked official appointment of Senate members of a House of Representatives—Senate conference committee to reconcile sharp differences on legislation to draft men 19 through 25.

Doesn't Have Chance

After a quorum call, Senator John Williams (Rep. Del.) the presiding officer tried to put to a vote the motion to name the conferees and send the bill to conference.

Taylor demanded recognition.

"Mr. President, Mr. President," Taylor shouted.

Williams finally recognized Taylor—and he started all over again.

The two-man talkfest, together with an apparently insoluble Senate-House deadlock on foreign aid funds, threatened to carry the final hours of the 80th Congress over to Monday—and possibly to another meeting between or after the political conventions.

Adjournment has been scheduled for tonight.

Russian Troops Block All Berlin Travel

BERLIN, June 19. (AP)—Russian troops blocked all Allied and German ground travel into Berlin today in a swift reaction to western-zone currency reform. Allied officials planned a meeting to decide what to do about it.

The Russians ordered the blockade Friday night a few hours after Britain, the United States and France had announced a new currency reform in western Germany beginning tomorrow.

Their reported purpose was to keep worthless Allied marks out of the Russian zone. Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky, Russian commander and military governor, issued a 2,000-word proclamation early today forbidding importation of western currency, new and old, into greater Berlin and the Russian zone.

Some circles, however, interpreted the Russian action as another attempt to drive the western powers from Berlin. Russian-controlled newspapers renewed demands that the Allies quit the city.

Gen. Lucius Clay, American commander and military governor, said he would meet later today with British and French colleagues to decide what action should be taken against the Russian moves.

Russian troops closed the international highway used by the western powers to all traffic leading to Berlin. They allowed Allied personnel to leave but not to enter the city.

VC Winner Dies At Cobalt Home

COBALT, June 19.—(CP)—Winner of the Victoria Cross during the Boer War, Major Edward J. Holland, 70, died Friday night at his home in Cobalt after suffering a heart attack.

Major Holland had been postmaster at Cobalt since 1931, and he had just returned from sorting the night mail at the post office when he was stricken. He died within a few minutes.

Major Holland was born in Ottawa. He received the Victoria Cross, highest military award in the British Empire, as the result of a military action on Nov. 2, 1900, when he held off single-handed an attack by the Boers. He was armed with a Colt gun. Later he dismantled a 12-pound field piece from its carriage, and escaped with it through the encircling lines. Major Holland also served with distinction throughout the First World War.

Selwyn Church Re-opened; Closed For Years

SELWYN, June 19—(ENS)—

Dreams became reality Sunday morning when the former Baptist church, which has been closed for a great many years, was re-opened for public worship. A few weeks ago, negotiations got under way for the United Church congregation to come to terms with the Baptist people to enable the former to re-open the church and use it, although it was not to be sold, only leased.

For this end, the community joined forces during the past few weeks to re-model the once-beautiful church which was now in a bad state of disrepair. Asphalt shingles were put on the roof; the interior was cleaned and redecorated; the pulpit chairs were re-upholstered. And there still remains some work to be done.

Sunday, at the morning service the beautiful old organ was played by Mrs. Orville Millar. There was also a choir in attendance.

Rev. E. W. Rowland gave the sermon based on the text "Awake, Awake, put on thy strength of Zion."

"Never before in the history of the church were there such critical times as we are passing through now," said Mr. Rowland, but the fact that a small community such as Selwyn could work together in harmony and bring about such changes in such a short period of time, makes one still believe that such things could still be possible if the whole world would only join forces toward a better standard of living.

The evening service was also in charge of Mr. Rowland and the Bridgton choir under the capable direction of Mrs. Clayton Telford, provided special music. Miss Wilma Telford sang "Bless This House" as a solo accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Telford.

The church was filled to capacity in the evening with friends from Bridgton, Fairview, North Smith, Peterborough and Lakefield. Beautiful summer flowers and ferns decorated the church for a very memorable occasion.

Excellent U.S. Living Standards Lure Poor In Newfoundland

By DAVE MCINTOSH.

QUIDI VIDI, Nfld., June 19—(CP).—This fishing village is like most others in Newfoundland—with one exception. Across the fence is the big American base of Fort Pepperell.

The gulf between living standards here compared with the United States is pointed up. It is of this that people think when they talk of a party standing for economic union with the United States. The economic union group supports responsible government, which with confederation, make up the issues in the July 22 referendum on Newfoundland's future government.

Economic union is vague. Its leaders admit they are not quite sure what it all means. But to the fishermen here it means more money, better food, a better home.

Quidi Vidi is poor. Only a few miles from St. John's, it consists of two rows of crowded houses on a narrow dirt street.

Ragged children play in the road. Plastered in windows of the houses are placards that say: "Vote for Ches Crosbie." Chesley Crosbie leads the Economic Union Party.

To What Extent Can Freedom Of The Press Be Guaranteed?

We are in the fullest sympathy with the desire of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association to preserve the freedom of the press in Canada, and approve of the brief which it has submitted to the Parliamentary Committee on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. There have been gross attacks on press freedom in Canada: the Alberta Press Act of 1937, which would have compelled the newspapers of that province to publish any statement issued by the government of the day, and which would have vetoed any libel actions arising from such publication, is perhaps the grossest case of attempted press control in Canada's history. A guarantee of the freedom of the press, as part of a guarantee of freedom of expression, would have its value on Canada's statute books.

We cannot suppress our feeling, however, that no legal guarantee will really ensure the freedom of the press, or any freedom, in this country or any other. Even the strongest laws can be circumvented, and it is a bitter truth that multiplying laws create multiplying offences. It is only by keeping alive the spirit which gives rise to a law that we can protect our freedoms. Laws, in the first place, were founded upon custom and mutual agreement, and it is only by the persistence of custom and mutual agreement that laws retain their power. Ask any student of law how many statutes have fallen into neglect because they no longer agree with the temper of the people.

Freedom of the press, we feel, can only be protected, in the end, by the strong desire of a majority of people that there should be free expression of opinion in the country. Most Canadians know very little about freedom of expression, because their freedom in that respect has never been seriously curbed; sometimes we have to lose a right, and win it again, in order to discover its value. But we firmly believe that a majority of Canadians today believe in freedom of expression (of which freedom of the press is a part) and that they would withhold their approval from any obvious attempt to curtail that freedom. There are tyrants, and fascists, and fools in Canada, but they are a minority. So long as we keep them in a minority, the freedom of the press is in no great danger.

We hope that a statute guaranteeing the freedom of expression in Canada may be added to our laws, but we do not delude ourselves that a statute can really create freedom. Only the temper and will of the people can do that, and it is upon the temper and will of the people that our greatest efforts should be directed.

Holiday Travel

Holiday travel three years before the war was considerably freer, easier and cheaper than it now is, three years after the war. The change has come about at a time when more people have more money to spend, more holidays and more experience with (and therefore an appetite for) travel.

In 1936 a person could get return third-class passage to Britain on a good ship for about $130. He could travel freely in almost every European country merely on his passport and a sufficiency of Canadian funds. He had to pay a small fee for a visa to Finland, but once there he could get a full breakfast on a train for 35 cents, a hotel room for 50 cents, and a large dinner for the most fashionable restaurant in Helsinki for 60 cents. He could not travel to Spain as a tourist, because of the civil war. He might have difficulty in getting to Turkey. Apart from these two countries and Soviet Russia, he could roam freely through Europe at remarkably small cost. Now his trans-Atlantic fare is at least twice as expensive and third class accommodation is no longer being advertised—it now goes under the name "Tourist"; former "Tourist" accommodation is labelled "Cabin", and "Cabin Class" is First Class. Half the countries of Europe are now barred to him, either because of unrest or Soviet hegemony. In the other half a lot of money goes a short way, and in some of them the cautious tourist takes his Canadian canned food with him. Prospective travellers to Britain and Europe have this advantage not common in pre-war years: if they have only two weeks' holiday with a week-end fore-and-aft, they can fly in the week-end time and still have a fortnight in Europe. There is, of course, the not trifling matter of fares.

Before the war travel to South America was possible in "tramp" steamers or freighters. It still is, but instead of paying perhaps a hundred dollars for the fare, the traveller to Brazil or the Argentine must now put out three or four hundred dollars for accommodation which is no better than it was in 1936. When he arrives in Buenos Aires he is likely to find that the costs of food and lodging are based on the assumption that he is a millionaire. Certainly it is no place for a person who expects to get along on $50 a week and at the same time see the sights.

Before the war Canadians could travel freely to the United States. They can do so now, but the amount of money they can take is limited and they cannot bring back gifts and purchases which used to be part of the fruits of an American holiday. However, the American funds they are allowed for pleasure travel are sufficient for a week or two of comfortable holiday. Can Canadians be comfortable in the knowledge that every dollar they spend on pleasure in the United States is urgently needed for essential imports?

This brief survey convinces at least ourselves that the best place for holiday travel this year is Canada. "See Canada First" has become not merely an advertisement but almost a necessity for holiday-makers who are not content with holidays-at-home. Perhaps this necessity is a good thing for Canada; more Canadians will be able to know more of Canada as "home".

Using Force In Strikes

A few days ago there came a regrettable new development in the dispute between the Canadian Seamen's Union on the one hand and the Canada Steamship Lines and Canadian Lake Seamen's Union on the other. The operating manager of the C.S.L. Company, Captain (Reoch), announced that every master and chief engineer had been armed with shotguns and pistols and that tear gas guns are being issued to the ships.

The results of war should have taught us that no good settlements come out of resort to the use of force. Force breeds force. If strikers use force, police and company agents or strike-breakers will almost inevitably counter by force. If companies (like the C.S.L.) threaten to use force, the opposition will be encouraged to resort to force.

We shall not attempt to assess here the matters under dispute in the lake-boat strikes, though there is good reason to believe that the C.S.L. and Captain Reoch are at least as much at fault as the C.S.U. More important to the Canadian people generally is the threat of violence. We are an orderly people. We should not put up with tactics which smack of mob rule or dictatorship of armed company oligarchs. We have courts, parliaments and police; individuals need not take the law into their own hands. They must not.

Divorce In P.E.I.

In our editorial headed "Waste Divorce Paper" last Tuesday we made a passing reference to divorce in Prince Edward Island. Expatriates of that garden province, which becomes more celestial the farther native sons are removed from it, will object not so much to our out-dated statement that P.E.I. and Quebec are the only provinces in which residents can secure divorce only through private Acts of Parliament, as the suggestion that any such thing as divorce exists in P.E.I.

Divorce in P.E.I. need no longer be referred to Parliament. In 1945 the Chief Justice of the Island was appointed to hear case of divorce and alimony and new rules were enacted. The court met for the first time in 1946 and is continuing to function. It now consists of the Chief Justice and five members of the Executive Council. Despite all its other undeniable virtues—no unemployment, no urban slums (there are no large cities), no union squabbles (there are no unions)—P.E.I. does have its social blemishes. These include the most oppressive legislation against unions and membership in them, and, horrible to relate, an average of two divorces a year.

Diary Of A Half-Dead Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: A little gentle motoring this afternoon—the only exercise which I am permitted at present. Was grieved to see a young man in a car ahead of me go out of his way to run over a turtle which was crossing the road. There was a spurt of blood, an agonized extension of the neck, and the turtle was dead. I do not suppose that such an incident is an impressive addition to the long record of human cruelty. I am aware, too, that we are all cruel at times. (I, for instance, would go quite a distance to see the hangman add a few inches to that young motorist's height.) But needless cruelty, indulged in for its own sake, is always repellent, however insignificant. What interested me was that he could not see the turtle as he crushed it. Was it the feeling that he was killing something, rather than the spectacle of suffering, which gave him his thrill?

MONDAY: Today I finished the series of treatments which have occupied my time during the past month. "You've been a good patient, Mr. Marchbanks," said the nurse as I climbed off the gridiron; "we've put 124,000,000 volts through you and you haven't batted an eyelash." (She may have said something else, but I think it was volleys; these measurements of electricity are very confusing.) I said nothing. When one is praised by nurses it is best not to be too enthusiastic. They may like you so much that they insist on further treatments. I silently cursed the Atomic Frier, into which I have been slid like a roasted fowl for a month, and escaped to the cubby-hole where my clothes had been left. As always in doctor's dressing rooms, the mirror in this place was hung to suit the needs of women rather than men, and gave me a fine view of my navel. I was on my knees, tying my tie, when the nurse came in again. She thought I was praying, and bent her head reverently. While she was thus occupied I escaped into the blessed light of day, and bought a pound of candied peanuts and ate them all at once, to celebrate my liberty.

TUESDAY: Spent the day quietly at Marchbanks Towers, pretending that I was recovering from the rigours of the past month, but really worrying about the weeds, long grass and rubbish which have accumulated in my absence. Tried to push my lawnmower, but I am so feeble that I almost fell into the blades. Kneeling down to pull a few weeds, and immediately fainted into a clump of antirrhinums; had to be dragged into the house by the legs, my head bumping painfully on the verandah steps, and revived with strong cordials. An accumulation of mail was brought to me which had been gathering during my absence, and proved to be bills, invitations to join book clubs, suggestions that I give money to various evil-sounding causes, and threatening letters from my enemies. Various visitors came to the door to sell raffle tickets, fresh rhubarb, and subscriptions to magazines. As I went to bed this evening decided that convalescence is too strenuous for me, and tomorrow I shall go to my office, where I can get complete privacy and calm simply by crouching over a piece of blank paper and going to sleep.

WEDNESDAY: Set out for my place of business today and met two men. "Hello, I never expected to see you again," said one of them. "Nope, nearly you were a goner," said the other. "Ridiculous," said I, naughtily. "Well, you can't blame us," said the first man; "it was all over town that when you came back it would be in a box." "Pooh, pooh," said I, being unable to think of anything which properly expressed my feelings. "What was wrong with you, anyway?" asked the second man, screwing up his eyes as though he thought that he could produce X-ray vision in himself by that means, and look right into my mind. "Well, if you wish to know," said I with dignity, "I had a sign case of crabs—cap, and I have been taking treatment for it." They went their way, muttering discontentedly. Reached my office and was greeted there with great friendliness, but during the morning a man stuck his head in the door and said, "well, well, wonders will never cease. I heard you were on your last legs." Threw a heavy paper-weight at him, but he ducked.

THURSDAY: One of my temperance friends called on me today. "Do you think it is going to be permanent?" he asked, in the voice which doctors use when enquiring after one's elimination. "Will what be permanent?" I countered. "The Gold Cure," he whispered. "I have not been taking the Gold Cure," I said, coldly. "That's what they all say," he replied; "but I heard from someone who knows a man who knows an intimate friend of yours that you had a nasty case with pink elephants—teeny-weeny pink elephants about the size of cocktail sausages—which you saw crawling all over your countenance. And this man said that they took you to Toronto in a straightjacket, and drained your crank-case, and packed you in dry ice for a week, and then put you in a furnace and evaporated all the beverage alcohol out of you." "You have been misinformed," said I. "Well, that's what they're saying, anyway," he said, "and you'll never persuade them otherwise." "I shall not even try," said I, pushing the secret button which opened a trapdoor at his feet, and ejected him smartly into a pickle-barrel in the cellar.

FRIDAY: Found myself wedged between two politicians today. One of them insisted that Premier Drew was humiliated by his defeat in his own riding, and the other insisted that as Mr. King had suffered a similar defeat, and had shown no signs of humiliation, therefore Mr. Drew could not possibly be humiliated. This seemed foolish to me. Some politicians humiliate more easily than others. Henry VII, for instance, couldn't be humiliated by anything, whereas Charles I went into a slow burn if a courtier failed to take off his hat. The analogy between the kings and the Canadian statesmen is not accidental. In politics, as in everything else,

Perpetual Commotion

(with apologies to A. A. Milne)

Consumers asked their members,
Members asked in parliament Could we have margarine for
The country's slice of bread?
Parliament said wearily
Appoint a new committee
Call the dairy industry
And see what can be spread;

Diet man and medico
Have told us that oleo-Margarine is nourishing
And would do well instead,
But we should rule, without a doubt
To take the yellow colour out,
Or somebody might fancy he Had butter on his bread!

Then pleased with their probity
With senatorial dignity
Bread and butter well in hand
They all adjourned to bed.

Smuts Must Be Heeded

(MONTREAL STAR)

WE have come to look to Field Marshal Smuts for a wise word on almost every subject affecting mankind. His defeat in the South African election has diminished not one whit his stature as a statesman who sees the world clearly and sees it whole. This he made manifest again on Thursday at his installation as Chancellor of Cambridge University. Again he offered the world sage counsel and a warning and we would be well advised to heed his words.

Every once in a while, as the Communists take over another country, we get into a dither about the decline of freedom and the spread of Soviet ideology. We must do something about it, we say, and in an agony of frustration we do nothing. We neither strengthen our own democracy nor take positive action against the spreading menace of Communist repression. We just wait until temperament and luck are the really important things; hard work and a nice white soul will merely get you a place in the Civil Service. "Well, well, you beat the Grim Reaper after all!" shrieked an acquaintance on the street today, seizing my hand and trying to break it off. "You are mistaken; I am a ghost; whoo!" said I, choking back my rage. "Always kidding!" said the creature, lurching on his way. Learned that in my absence three people had applied for my job, thinking that I would never lift pen or strike typewriter again.

SATURDAY: My experiences of the past week convince me that the world is full of Intuitive Diagnosticians and Vicarious Under-takers. Every third person I meet seems to know what ails me, and a good many of them have buried me so deep that they take it as a personal affront that I am still walking about. I have made up my mind to outlive all of these vultures, just for spite, and every year I shall defile their graves in some new and outrageous way on Father's Day. My family history is full of instances of Marchbankses who wouldn't lie down; they all outlived their physicians by several decades, and in one or two instances their cantankerousness was so powerful that they did not die at all, but were removed from this earth in heavenly chariots. I have every intention of following their example.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions. (Ps. 107: 13, 20.)

Aid, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her; and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.

The Lord then answered him, and said, Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond as these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him. (Luke 13: 11-17.)

COMPLAINS OF EXTENDED SESSIONS

Sir: I have always followed the United Counties Council in your paper and I would like at this time to register a protest at the way you spend the people's money. At the meeting just ended you collected their usual five days' pay and mileage for four days' session. We are used to that.

But they only worked three days. They took one day off to go to Millbrook fair and in order to be able to get a day's pay out of it they had one committee meeting on that morning, but no session. They could have done the whole session in two days but we foot the bill for five days.

The Holy Places

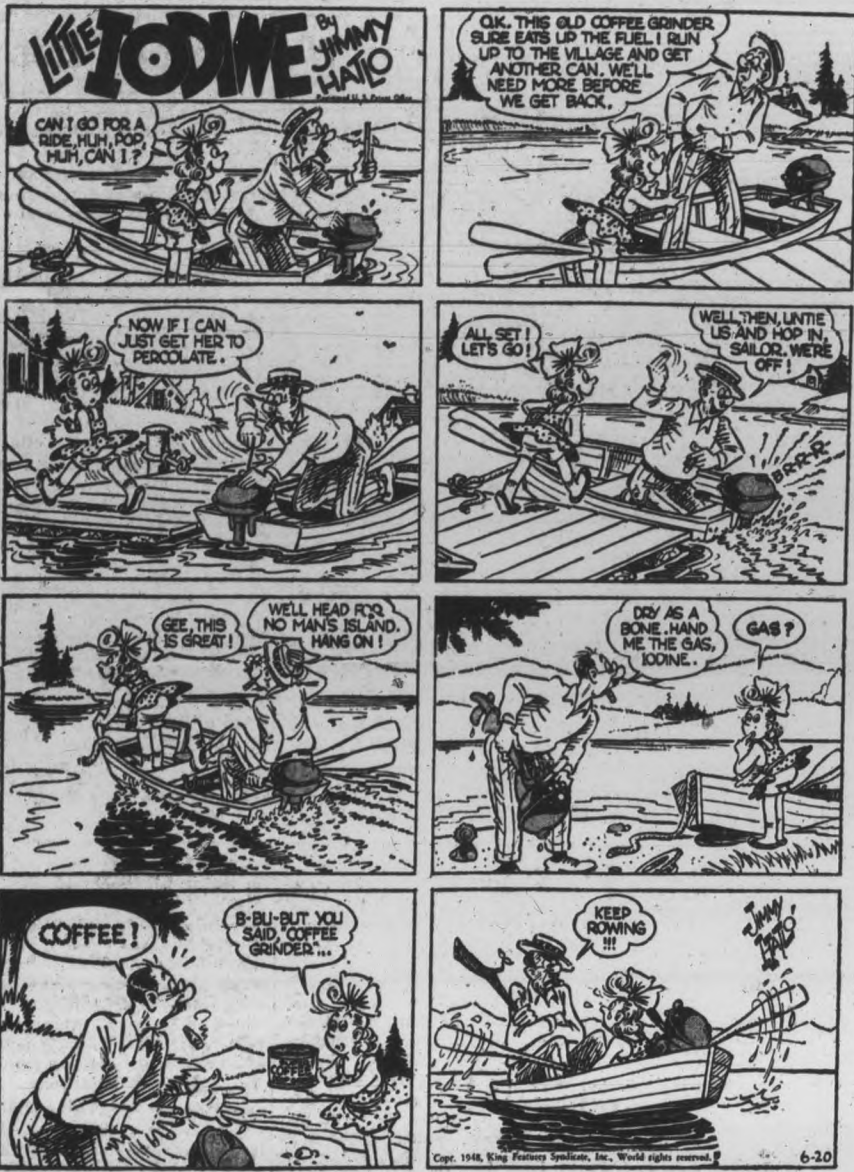

Every plan for Jerusalem, including the present plan for partition, has rigidly included special provisions for the care of the Holy Places of Jerusalem. Now that Jerusalem is a battlefield and its future fate uncertain, it is of interest to recall just what these Holy Places are. Jerusalem is holy to the Jews chiefly because it was there, on the great natural platform of rock, that Solomon built his temple. This temple was burnt to the ground in A.D. 70, when Jerusalem was taken over by the Romans. On the site now stands the beautiful mosque known as the Dome of the Rock, which was built towards the end of the seventh century A.D., decorated by Sultan al-Magnum in 1361, and heavily restored in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. For all its age and beauty, however, it is not the Dome of the Rock which makes Jerusalem holy to Moslems, but the neighbouring Mosque al Aqsa, where Mohammed is said to have been conveyed by God. Moslems also believe that it was from the Rock itself that the Prophet took flight to heaven on his magic steed. To Christians, of course, Jerusalem is holy because it was the scene of Christ's Passion and burial but there is considerable dispute about the actual places. In A.D. 326 the Emperor Constantine, after his conversion, gave orders for the holy sites to be determined and for two churches to be built, one over the tomb and the other over the place where the cross was discovered. The Basilica of the Cross completely disappeared, with many other early Christian churches, in the destruction which followed the capture of the city by the Persians in the seventh century. But part of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre survived, though much damaged, until replaced by a large Romanesque church in the time of the Crusaders. This in turn was rebuilt in 1799, destroyed by fire in 1808, and again rebuilt in 1810. The present building, which is shared by most of the Churches in Christendom and is the most important of the Holy Places, has only a few parts—the Romanesque facade, the transept and the eastern dome—left from the twelfth century church of the Crusaders. It is a monument and a relic; and neither shells nor fire could destroy its essential sanctity. — Manchester Guardian.

He insists, "Is no less an evil and must be resolutely faced if mankind is to be saved from an enslavement of the spirit even worse than the old physical slavery of the past."

If this is war we are surely entitled to take what steps we can to defend ourselves. Telling Russia we are prepared to fight her if she persists will help. But we must also tell the Fifth Column at home that we are prepared to fight it with every weapon at our command if its members persist in their subversive course.

Telling Russia to call off her dogs is one thing, getting them called off at home is another. They employ a technique which, as Smuts says, is a substitute for war.

Outdoors

With PETE MCGILLEN

ONE WEEK FROM NEXT THURSDAY, the muskie and bass will be disturbed by a barrage of baits, from miniature plugs to king-size spoons. That day is July 1, start of the angling season for the mighty muskie and the frisky bass. The day when men and women hustle into cars at a disgustingly early hour and whisk off to their favorite fishing spots. Bass are still on the spawning beds in almost every lake across the broad straggling Keweenaw chain, and let's hope these anglers think before they toss a plug at some husky bass which is lying temptingly close to shore in shallow water. The bass is not in that particular spot by accident. It is a male guarding the nest of young fry, or else the unhatched eggs. It is a simple matter to catch this fish, because he will strike anything that comes near. One cast, a breakfast for you, and 5,000 bass eggs lost. Five thousand bass that would be legal size five years from now. Surely it is not too much to ask — this little plea for conservation that means so much.

SAY JOE, I GOTTA BEEF — and you are gonna get a load of it. How in the name of nutcrackers are you gonna sell this conservation crusade unless you start on the youngsters. OK, OK, cool off, and do a bit of listenin'. You are going fishing July 1, that's for sure. Well, how about taking some kid along with you. I don't mean someone who will keep you honest, although that idea has merit. I mean give some city youngster a chance to fish for bass, muskies or pickerel, and at the same time tell him all the things you know about these grand fish. You'll love it. When you get ready to start the noonday fire, to cook those eggs you brought along, just in case the fish weren't biting, watch how eagerly that nipper will scurry for wood. Notice how he watches when you arrange the stones, how you build the fire, how you set the frying pan. Why if you submerge some of that selfishness and take a boy fishing with you it will become a lifetime habit, and you'll get a mighty warm feeling around the old ticker, if the youngster ties into a whopping bronze-bass.

WHERE TO GO — If you lived in Toronto it would mean a 100-mile drive before muskie fishing would be within reach. In Kitchener or London, or Paris or Brantford, the same would be true — but in Peterborough??? Do you see what I mean? You are living in the heart of Ontario's premier fishing area. You can catch muskies in Little lake, bass in the canal, pickerel in the river. Better stop a minute and count your blessings, and at the same time resolve to play the game and do your bit toward sustaining this grand privilege for years to come. Imagine the choice of fishing spots you have. Any place from Campbellford to Rosedale, more than 100 miles of rivers, lakes, bays, streams, no restrictions, no license to buy, no pond or stream fees to pay. Just pack your duffle and a lunch, hop in the old jalopy and you're away. Rice lake, Katchewanooka, Clear, Stony, Lovesick, Deer Bay, Buckhorn, Pigeon, Cameron, Sturgeon, Balsam, Belmont, Crowe, and Round, there are the big ones. Don't forget White lake up at the top of Indian river, or Deer lake just above Belmont.

DERBY RUNS FOUR DAYS — This year the Grey and Bruce derby will be from Thursday July 1 to Sunday July 4, both days inclusive. The judging will be done at ten o'clock Monday July 5 in the Market Hall. First prize is a 16-foot cedar strip square stern boat, and this goes to the lucky angler who brings in the largest maskinonge. For the man, woman or child who brings in the largest small-mouth black bass there is a Sport Twin Evinrude outboard motor, just a bit over five horse power. There are also valuable prizes for the second and third largest muskies, and the second and third largest small-mouth black bass. Fish caught between Campbellford on the south and Bobcaygeon in the north are eligible. This means Pigeon lake is in the area and Sturgeon lake is not. The fish must be taken by angling, that is legally. There are no awards for large-mouth bass, nor for pickerel. No entry forms are required. The fish itself is the entry and must be weighed in at the market by an official of the derby. More details will be published later.

SLOWLY BUT SURELY, the army of weary fire-fighters is bringing the bush fires under control in Ontario. Proof that the menace is being reduced is the official Government report saying that the ban on travel permits has been relaxed somewhat. Travel restrictions are being lifted in Algonquin Park, North Bay, Temiskaming, Gogma and Cochrane district effective June 18. Travel in these areas will be permitted only under a closely supervised permit system. Travel permits must be obtained from the local office of the Dept. of Lands and Forests. Other parts of the province will be open to woods travel as conditions permit. No restrictions are in effect to prevent the usual travel to and from established tourist camps and privately owned cottages in the province. For the benefit of those who do not realize how extensive Ontario is in area, the fires are located 125 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie which is on the north shore of Lake Superior. Southern Ontario is not affected at all. Kawartha lakes, Muskoka, Parry Sound, North Bay, and all the well-known tourist areas are normal and accessible.

AMERICAN WEEKLY newspaper editors, from ten States will visit Peterborough and South Beach Hotel next Thursday. There are 20 in the party and they will be under the direction of officials from the Dept. of Travel and Publicity, and the Dept. of Highways. Jim Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged a demonstration of ornamental swimming by the Peterborough girls, and there will also be a demonstration of plug-casting and fly-casting with a commentary on the show over a public address system. The visitors will be taken on a fast trip through Stony lake so that they can enjoy the rugged scenery of this beautiful lake, and see the fine summer homes on the shore and islands. Luncheon will be served on the lawn at South Beach, weather permitting, and the Americans will have a grand view up Clear lake. This tour is an annual publicity, and gives visiting editors plenty of interesting copy for their newspapers.

LOCUST TREE BLOSSOMS are sending their waves of perfume across the countryside, and the April-born woodchucks are scampering among the tall grasses of the country lanes. Apple trees, and chokecherry bushes have shed their springtime petals, and the next stage of fruit is appearing. Spring calves and lambs are gamboling in pastures lush with heavy growth, and free of the searing brown that would have left its mark if rains had not been ample. On sandy hillside the rich red-rice strawberries are hiding beneath the sawtooth leaves of the vinelike plants. Barefoot farm children hugging honey pails are reaping a rich harvest for the winter jam jars, unaware of the fact they are also storing health in their already rugged bodies, from the warm spring sun and the clean air. Tiny goslings like fuzz balls swim beside the pair of Canada Geese at the Filtration plant pond, and within a week, the broods of mallards too, will be skimming over the water like tiny outboard motors. June is in its fullness reducing life's problems with its beauty.

ROSES WILL BE BLOOMING when the Outdoor Writers of America convene at Rochester for their annual meet next Tuesday, June 22nd. Plans include a tour of the Finger Lakes district, and trout fishing for those who want it. There will be several hundred delegates from all corners of the Union and Canada and besides the election of officers there are several contentious items to be discussed. This group of outdoor writers have spearheaded practically every drive in the fight for decency in sportsmanship, and the preservation and restoration of our remnant of renewable natural resources and wildlife.

Three Years of Futile Struggle Started Between Canada and US 136 Years Ago

By GLEN HANCOCK

The bugle call has quieted along the unguarded 49th parallel of America. But on Friday, June 18, 136 years ago, the United States declared war on England. In the War of 1812 which followed, Canada's frontier became the issue of almost three years of futile strife. This war accelerated the growth of Upper Canada, now Ontario. It gave the people of Canada a national consciousness. It created a lasting bond of friendship and understanding between Canada and the United States. It opened the interior of this province and resulted in a gradual movement of settlement from the shores of the lakes to the virgin bush, and it was responsible for the founding of many towns and villages, and for what is now the City of Peterborough.

Unfortunately for the United States, the War of 1812 brought only misery and shame.

The southern republic had no reason to declare war on Canada, except that Canada belonged to England. That was enough. England was reluctant to give up the lake ports of Detroit, Oswego and Niagara, and because of the war was then waging with Napoleon, England was destroying American shipping by her embargo regulations against France. In addition to this, Henry Clay had convinced Congress that the conquest of Canada would be worth while.

The War of 1812 was not a fight for freedom. It was the last American war for the conquest of Canada. Along the frontier of its skirmishes, monuments and museums recall the battle of Stony Creek, Beaver Dam, Crysler's Farm, Chateaugay, Lundy's Lane, Queenston Heights, where the military governor-general, Isaac Brock, was killed, and the Battle of the Thames, where Tecumseh, the great Indian chief, led his last assault. And in the epic stories which have followed, Laura Secord and the commanders of the battleships, the Chesapeake and the Shannon, have become legend.

There were just 80,000 people in Ontario then. Adam Scott had yet to build his cabin on the bank of the Otonabee, but many of the Highlanders and Loyalists who survived the war were among those who heaved the first plank of Scott's Mills. Those men, farmers, millers and merchants by choice, soldiers by sense of duty, who found during the war a newly awakened pride, built out of this American failure a great Canadian success.

The war emphasized the need for roads. It opened the interior of Ontario to foreign immigration and investment. It replaced the inadequate system of barter with a banking system and the founding of many banks, among which the Bank of Montreal (1817) and The Bank of Nova Scotia (1832) still remain. It provided a principle of military training out of which has grown the present military reserve. The historic "training days", in which all men between the ages of 18 and 60 met for compulsory drill, can be remembered by some citizens.

Of exceptional importance is the fact that the United Empire Loyalists, who fought in this war their first battles in defence of their adopted land, developed a political consciousness and became interested in public affairs. They claimed the right to agitate for reform, and it was their agitation, from such men as Robert Baldwin, John Rolph, William Lyon Mackenzie and Francis Hincks, that eventually led to the adoption of the British North America Act, which is the Canadian constitution.

None of the motives for the war was ever justified. It was an example of the corruption of power and politics. It was one of the most effective enterprises ever instituted in the Canadian-American sphere, and although it was unequally unpopular in both countries, it created the unity of purpose, and the state of mind which made the Monroe Doctrine possible, and which has left the longest undefended borderline in the world as a symbol of man's ability to live at peace with his fellowman.

Dad, Often Forgotten Man When Family Has Grown Up

You remember Dad? He's the chap who sits at the head of the table on Christmas Day. He's also the man who lends you the car, or used to. Or maybe he's the fellow who buys you a new sweater or dress when you haven't got a thing to wear.

Yes, Dad is a handy man to have around when something big is coming up. He does a lot for you, and he asks darned little in return. Dad, in short, is a good guy.

For those past and present favors, what have you done for him? You mowed the lawn last week when he was pretty tired, or you washed the dishes when he took Mom to a show.

Who mowed the lawn, and helped Mom with the dishes when you weren't there? There was no mysterious agency to take care of that. Dad did it, and he fixed the furnace, too. And Dad's getting older now—he can't do everything he used to. Besides, he likes to take it easy once in a while.

Let's take a look at Dad when he's at work. Supposing he works in an office. He's in there from about eight in the morning to noon. Then back again for another four hour stretch. In the middle of the morning or afternoon, he takes a break for a few minutes. He thinks of his favorite trout stream, or bass lake, or maybe of a round of golf, or a show.

I think I'll take the young lad to the stream tonight. We haven't been out together, since opening day.

"Haven't seen a show in a long time. Maybe Jean would like to go with mother and me."

After five, Dad pops the question. You know what the answer was, nine times out of ten:

"Gee, dad, I'd sure like to go, but there's a lacrosse game on and I told Bob I'd go with him."

Or "Jack and I are going to the dance. If you'd only asked me sooner, I could have gone."

So, Dad sits back in his chair, and starts into the evening paper, not a cheering subject these days. He reads it doggedly for half-an-hour, then decides the grass needs cutting. The lawnmower whirs for fifteen or twenty minutes, and Dad figures the back lawn can wait until tomorrow.

Figure — loving statisticians claim it cost the average father $10,000 for each child until it reaches the age of 18. Then some go to university.

Dad's done a lot for you. Show him you appreciate it. Take him fishing, hunting, to a show, or out for a round of golf. If you heard him talking about the last elections, talk about politics. Dad almost knows more than you think. At the very least, let Dad have his way on the one day a year allotted to him.

Fathers' day is June 20.

Many Plants Need Help To Keep Upright

Properly staked plants insure an orderly garden. Lack of proper staking means that you are reasonably sure to have some wrecked and messy beds later in the season. A heavy rain or wind storm is likely to knock over tall and heavy foliage plants which naturally have stems not sufficiently sturdy to stand up under such circumstances.

Delphiniums are the first plants in the garden to show the need for staking. The heavy spikes of bloom on these stately perennials make them singularly susceptible to destruction by winds or heavy rains. Stake them before the buds start to open.

Gladolius with heavy spikes of bloom are likely to need stakes. Lilies and iris of the taller types also need this assistance. Tall African and French marigolds are tipped over by wind or rain and become a jungle. Staking would have saved them.

The first requisite of good staking is that the stakes should be strong and capable of holding up the plant, but as unobtrusive as possible. Green painted stakes are least conspicuous. The cheapest and most efficient stakes are the bamboo canes sold in varying lengths by dealers. They may be bought already painted or in natural color and you can paint them yourself. They are strong and durable.

Heavy wire stakes are least obtrusive of all especially when painted green. Plants can be tied to them easily and held upright so that the tying cannot be distinguished until viewed at close range.

Set the stakes and tie the plants before they come into bloom. A good job of staking that will not make the plant look stiff and obviously tied up cannot be done after it has come into bloom. For plants of lighter growth that are apt to sprawl and the use of untidy habit, twiggy branches carefully applied make the best support. If pinched back and tied the tall types throw out branches and become pyramids of bloom. The long terminal spike is sacrificed but a much greater quantity of bloom and finer garden display is obtained.

Bird-Watching Most Fascinating Hobby

By PERCY GHENT

Beginners in the fascinating hobby of bird-watching find vacation days bring a golden opportunity to enlarge their knowledge of Canadian birds.

Up in the lakelands of Quebec, Ontario and eastern Manitoba, mid-summer days and evenings have no finer enjoyment than the identification of birds often unknown or at least unfamiliar to city folk.

Laughing loons on the lake, great ospreys, or fishing-hawks hovering above creek mouth and shore lines; rose-breasted grosbeaks, sapsuckers, an occasional Arctic three-toed woodpecker, warblers of many hues flashing about the woodlands — these are among the thrills awaiting the watchers, and there are scores besides.

Even when the fishing is poor there is no cause for gloom. Birds are always plentiful, and once interest is thoroughly aroused, the first sight and clear identity of a new species for any observer can be just as exciting as hooking a 12-inch speckled trout. Binoculars and a good bird book are essential for maximum enjoyment — and keep a notebook handy to record the high spots of observation.

Extensive studies in Canada and the United States in recent years have convinced scientific students of wildlife and conservation that it is dangerous to interfere with natural checks, even when conditions seem to demand it.

Here is an example: In one United States duck sanctuary, duckling loss, attributed to skunks, was heavy. So that the ducks could breed in peace, the skunks were trapped wholesale. With no skunks to eat turtle eggs, the turtle population increased enormously. Then ducklings began to disappear faster than ever. Snapping turtles were pulling the young ducks under water as they swam. Skunks had to be reintroduced.

Nature has her own provision for maintaining a balance, and man rarely if ever makes a better job of adjusting that balance.

In Victorian days, musk plants with their peculiar aroma, were the pride of English gardeners. They originated in, and were heavily exported from British Columbia. Now the day of glory and popularity is over for the musk plant and flower.

For reasons botanical science has not yet brought to light, the B.C. musk plant lost its charm — the perfume — after some years of cultivation in Britain. But another importation from Canada's sunset coast gave Britain a tree which has prospered abundantly — the Douglas fir of outstanding beauty and utility. Out of 200 different conifers successfully cultivated in the British Isles, more than a third originated in North America.

Millions To One Against Turns Up In Bridge Game

By RONALD GARTH

Four women were playing bridge in Cape Province the other day when each player found that a complete suit had been dealt to her hand. The odds against this happening, mathematicians reckon, were 635,013,559,600 to 1 — but the chance came off!

One of Fate's tricks saved a life recently when a test pilot tumbled out of a plane — and tumbled back again. Mrs. Myrtle Marler, too, had a taste of the bizarre streak in life when looking up a friend in the telephone directory she happened to drop it. On the open page of the directory, as it fell, was the name of a sister whom Mrs. Marler had not seen for nineteen years.

he noticed a racing pigeon in difficulties. A fancier himself, he went to the rescue and found that the bird was one from his own loft which had been lost for several days!

Not long ago a man named Peter Day tumbled off a 100-ft. cliff and injured his back. In a town miles away his brother, Henry Day, was found in the street suffering from head injuries and concussion received when he tumbled and fell from a curb.

A British politician was addressing an audience of 199 in a hall seating 200. The lack of the odd man saved a life. A heavy globe weighing twelve pounds crashed from a ceiling light — bringing death to anyone beneath it — and fell in the one vacant seat!

Coincidence? Mr. Peter Perault had three motor-car accidents within a year. The first smash-up occurred in South Street, the second in North Street, and the third accident in West Street... but to lengthen his odds, all three streets were in different towns.

Coincidence? Mr. Arthur Newton chanced to read in a newspaper that the chance of seeing banana twins, two in the same skin, was about 20,000,000 to one against. He happened to be eating a banana at the time, and discovered he was actually making a meal of banana triplets.

"I've only a chance in a million!" people say. The strange truth is that 146,000,000 people in North America find that chance in a million comes off at least 146 times a day.

Scarboro Grads No Match For the Petes' Lacrossers

The Petes' lacrossers racked up another one-sided win at Miller Bowl last night when they trounced Scarboro Grads 22-5 in an OLA Senior "B" fixture before a big crowd. They took an early lead, built it up fairly fast and the affair soon developed into a debacle. It was 5-1 in the first quarter, 8-1 at the half and 12-2 going into the final frame. The Creighton crew outscored the visitors 10-3 in the last inning of a fair fray, marked by a couple of fights, but generally clean.

Dootch Vitarelli and Digby drew majors for fighting in the third quarter and later that heat Connelly and Fleming mixed it briefly. Rowan Chute led the local snipers—and won a hat—with five goals and an assist, while Jack Foote had four markers. Smith, Gordon, Dugan, E. Creighton and Connelly were hot in spots, too, and Bun Hill shone in goal. The whole team clicked well as the Grads went just fair.

Scarboro: Goal, Hayward; defence, Poyntz and Davidson; centre, Ward; wings, Dunn and Fleming; rover, Jeans; alternates, Marks, Graham, Gillies, Suggitt.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

An exhibition girls' softball game tonight at the Bowl, if it's not raining, at eight of the clock. Young Motors of Toronto tackle Outboard Marines, currently riding the crest of a winning wave. The visitors are classy intermediates and most of them were seen here a year ago in a benefit game, wearing McKinnon's monicker. At that time, they took a close win over Outboards, and the Watkins' crew are out to repay the compliment. Young's Motors' lineup is: Jebb Fisher, Ruth Sanders, Loraine Naylor, Ruth Hayden, Joyce McCann, Frances Lovegrove, Doreen Smith, Isobel Glynn, Joan Childenley, Mary Ryan and Geri Patriluk.

Last matches we've heard of in the Kawartha Tennis League were in Lindsay the other eve when Kaywartha Club from here won out, 4 to 3, in keen competition. D. Sullivan of K's won the ladies' singles 6-1 and 6-0, but W. Elmsley lost in men's singles 8-6, 6-2. Two men's doubles were split, M. Stoddart and D. Lamont of Kawartha winning 6-3 and 6-4, while E. McQuig and J. Fullerton lost 6-2, 4-6 and 6-1. First mixed doubles went to R. McKee and B. Maybee against Lindsay opposition 6-1, 4-6 and 6-4; next one also going to local wielders, K. Lucas and R. Lye 6-2, 6-2. M. Adamson and M. Currie of K's dropped the ladies' doubles 8-6 and 6-1.

Unique Golf Layout

An All-Canadian golf course has been picked by New Liberty (through a panel of ace golfers) for a July 1 tourney. These experts named the toughest No. 1 hole they know, the worst No. 2, etc. and came up with a gruelling 7316-yard par 72 layout. Six of the courses are in Ontario, No. 4 hole at Humber Valley, No. 7 at Lambton, No. 8 at Scarboro, No. 11 at Ancaster, No. 12 at Port Credit and No. 17 at Long Branch. Others range from the Maritimes to Vancouver. It's quite an idea. Players will be picked in each district in the tourney.

Approximately a third of the COBL schedule is over, though there are several postponements to catch up on. Up till today, the Petes were comfortably in front with five victories in as many starts while the Batawa Shoemen were in the place position with three and three. Kingston came third with one win and three reverses, and Oshawa has one triumph and four losses. Batawa are billed to play the Petes at three this afternoon and new bleachers are to be up-while Kingston is slated for a twin bill today in the Motor City. Bata goes to Kingston on Monday, Oshawa plays the Shoemen in Belleville next night, and Petes journey to Oshawa on Wednesday.

Pilots Having Pains

Some of the twirlers managers of men's softball squads have been banking on apparently aren't anxious to play. 'Tis rumored that Bob Strickland isn't fussy about flinging much more, if any, in the City Loop this season. Which leaves a hefty gap in the R-E Combines' hurling staff. Nor have Dave Wilson nor Chuck Birch seen any slab action as yet for Comstock's—and they may not now. Gord Beatty made one appearance in their lineup but hasn't been seen since. And so it goes. More managerial headaches. Incidentally, a bit of feudin' is cropping into the men's contests at this early date. Tuesday's tilt are: Comstock's vs. Legion, and Knights vs. Combines. At present, Comstock's and Combines are tied atop the heap, with Legion next and Knights at the bottom. Nearly every night sees some stand-ing changes.

Three colleens' softball contests yesterday night. At the Bowl, Marjines trimmed Lindsay 22-4 while Woollens got clicking to take Lock Co. 16-4. In Lakefield, Westclox coasted to a 15-2 verdict and those Clockers will bear watching all the way this season again. Who should take over pitching in a relief role but Norma Kennedy, who used to be Norma Strickland. And all she did in the last four frames was to fan 10, though the nervous Lakefield lasses got several hits and a few walks. Seems strange to us—after all these years—to see Norma, who always bothered Westclox plenty in the past, on their team now. Two tilts at the Bowl on Monday.

Just Rolling Along

Nothing to it for the Petes' lacrossers at Miller Bowl last gloaming. They rolled up a 22-5 win over Scarboro Grads without extending themselves. And minus such players as J. J. Hill, Curly Warren, Jerry Creighton, Ron Horton and Pup Curtin. A fair fray before a big crowd—and two fights helped keep interest up—but it was one-sided. Bun Hill looked good in goal at that, though he didn't have too many tough ones coming his way. Rowan Chute, who says he isn't in shape yet, won the hat with a fine performance on defence and leading the snipers. Jack Foote was a close second and it was only Chute's drive late in the game that got him the chapeau. They all went well in this tussle.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: Legion plays CGE

a soccer match this afternoon in King Edward Park... Oshawa lacrossers beat Orillia 10-5 on Thursday... Jack Foote takes over as full-time minor lacrosse coach next week here... H.D. Feller was the only AL hurler to win 20 last year, having 20 and 11; Reynolds had 19 and 8, Dobson 18 and 8, and Marchildon 19 and 9... Petes play a twin bill in Kingston on Tuesday, we hear, and Leos play two here on July 1... Jack Turner's N-E juves beat the N-W team 8-4 last p.m.; on Monday in Riverside, it's west vs. north juveniles while south and east bantams go at the Ex... On Tuesday, south and east midgets are over east with the pee-wee east and west teams at the Ex... Isabell (Tommy) Bullock starred afield and had two hits for Fuchs in their 9-6 girls' softball win over DuVale in Toronto the other night... Girls' games Monday: Marjines vs. Westclox and Ashby's vs. Lindsay... Church softball playoff setup in elsewhere... Merry weekend.

Westclox Girls Win From Lakefield

Westclox kept tied for top place in the Girls Softball League last night when they won 15-2 in Lakefield in a fairly lengthy struggle. They hammered out 18 hits and fielded well to earn the decision, while the Lakefield lasses acted a bit nervous throughout and especially when Norma Kennedy (nee Strickland) took over in the sixth from Helen Waite. The latter had pitched good ball to then but Norma fanned 10 in the last four frames after issuing a couple of walks to start.

I. Clarke, V. Dorsett, D. Nichols and V. Clements were probably the best defensively in this fixture. Aggie Anderson easily led the winners at bat with two triples and three singles in a perfect night at bat, drawing one walk. Bea Morrow hit a homer and two singles. For Lakefield, R. Boyce got two of their six hits in four appearances to lead her side.

Marines Take A Victory Over Lindsay

Marjines maintained their first-place tie with Westclox in the Girls Softball League last night at the Bowl with a 22-4 sweep over Lindsay. They turned in a smart performance in all departments to earn the one-sided win. Lindsay were shy several players, had M. McGill sprain an ankle in the eighth, but came up with an "off" showing. It wasn't too one-sided till the last three heats, when Marjines counted a dozen runs, but they had an early lead and coasted home comfortably.

The hitting was fairly even and so was the pitching, with few strikeouts, but Lindsay were poor afield. J. Bryans and D. Hunter went best for them, as A. LaPointe and M. Connolly stood out for Marjines. A. LaPointe and V. Mitchell had three hits each for the victors and B. Larmer conked a four-bagger. M. McGill, D. Hunter, M. Owens, A. McDonald, D. Wood and J. Bryans each had two safe hits for Lindsay.

N-E Juveniles Get Fourth Ball Tussle

The north-east juveniles won a City Baseball League game 8-4 from the north-west squad last evening in Riverside Park. It was their 4th in as many starts this season. Two three-run outbursts early in a pretty well clinched it in a good game. Dormer fanned nine in a seven-hit effort as he issued three walks and had neat support. Fontaine was fairly effective, too, but didn't get the backing. Welch led the winners at bat with a double and two singles in three tries, Buckton got two for the losers in three trips.

Musial On Warpath Again
As Cards Outslug Giants

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Stan Musial is on the warpath again and the fortunes of St. Louis Cardinals are rising in the National League pennant race.

The Donora, Pa., clouter has hit safely in 10 of his last 11 official trips to the plate to boost his league-leading batting mark to .405. His terrific hitting has sparked the Cardinals to three straight victories.

In addition to pacing the circuit in batting, Musial is in the running for every other important individual offensive honor. He leads the league in runs scored, hits, and triples.

Musial went three-for-four Friday as the Cards outslugged the Giants 12-9 in his last 11 official trips to the plate to boost his league-leading batting mark to .405.

Still Behind
The third-place Cardinals' remained 1½ games off the pace of the front-running Boston Braves, who came from behind and nosed out Cincinnati Reds 5-4.

The second-place Pittsburgh
Pirates turned back the Phillies 2-0 to remain a half game behind the Braves. Elmer Riddle limited the Phils to five safeties for his eighth victory.

Chicago Cubs scored four runs in the eighth to overcome a 4-2 deficit and went on to beat the Dodgers 6-4.

All activity in the American League took place at night. The second-place Philadelphia Athletics nipped the first-place Cleveland Indians 5-4 to pull to within a game of the Tribe. St.
Louis Browns edged New York Yankees 2-1 and Chicago White Sox beat Washington Senators
5-2.

At Cleveland, the A's came from behind and scored twice in the seventh inning when Bob Lemon, fourth Cleveland pitcher, walked Sam Chapman and Rudy York with the bases loaded.

In a well-pitched game at St.
Louis, Cliff Fanning held the Yankees to three hits. Tommy Henrich homered for the lone Yankee marker in the sixth. Frank Shea was the losing pitcher.

FELLER NAMED "SPORTS FATHER" — Bob Feller kisses his wife, who ought to know, after he was awarded medal as 1948's "Sports Father of the Year" at Yankee Stadium in New York recently. In addition to the kiss, Mrs. Feller got orchids from her husband, too. The medal was awarded to the Cleveland star pitcher by an ice cream company in behalf of the youngsters of American who look upon Bob as quite a guy.

Los Boudreau has moved into top spot as individual vote-getter in the all-star baseball poll. The Cleveland Indian playing-manager Friday supplanted Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, who had held the lead since the first returns were compiled on Thursday.

Joe DiMaggio, 1947 poll winner occupies fourth place, behind Boudreau, Williams and Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal ace, who has 5,714. DiMaggio has been named on 5,424 ballots tabulated to date. Enos Slaughter of the Cardinals holds fifth place and Pat Mullin of Detroit is sixth. The voting will decide the starting lineups of the 15th annual all-star game in St. Louis July 13.

In the qualifying heats of the Ontario track and field championships held in London Friday, Bob McFarlane of Western University ran the 400 metres just one-tenth of a second off his own Canadian record time of 47.5 seconds. Jack Parry of Western University won the 200 metres in 21.7 seconds and the first 100-metre heat in 10.8 seconds.

Banta Flounders As Royals Bow To Chiefs

Jack Banta's poorest pitching performance of the season came at a very inopportune moment as far as the hard-throwing right-hander of Montreal Royals is concerned.

Strikeout and shutout king of the International League in 1947, Banta had posted seven straight victories for the front-running Royals going into last night's game with Syracuse Chiefs.

Manager, Leo Durocher and three of his coaches from the parent Brooklyn Dodgers were on hand to watch Banta strut his stuff.

For five innings Banta lived up to his reputation, but the chiefs caved the roof in on him in the sixth, scoring seven times on six hits, a pair of walks and an error to walk off with an 8-5 victory.

The loss cut the Royals margin to a half game over the runner-up Newark Bears who fought Rochester Red Wings to a 4-4 15-inning tie.

Left Unsettled

Rochester jumped on Bob Porterfield for four runs in the first four innings, knocking Porterfield out of the game with three runs in the fourth. The Bears came back with three in the sixth against Johnny Mikan and one in the eighth to send it into overtime.

Max Surkont, who entered the game in the sixth, went the rest of the way for Rochester, while Frank Lamanna, who took over in the ninth, finished up for the Bears.

The game was called because of a circuit ruling that prohibits the start of any inning after 12:30 a.m.

At Jersey City, Hank Perry pitched Buffalo Bisons to a 2-0 triumph over Jack Kratz and the Giants.

Chet Laabs poled his 17th homer with one on in the sixth inning to account for the only runs of the game.

Maid Sits Down Gets Six Months

BELFAST, June 19 (CP). — Florence Johnston, 25-year-old maid, staged a sitdown strike at the home of her Belfast employer, Dr. G. D. McFadden, because she did not like her room.

The doctor called police and Florence, fresh from County Tyrone, was carried kicking to the police station. Later she was carried into court, still sitting. She sat on the floor of the dock, out of sight, and refused to speak.

"Seeing you have no interest in these proceedings," said the magistrate, "you will have a good rest—six months in Armagh jail."

DOING WELL, THANKS — That's Bob Lemon, star pitcher for the Cleveland Indians of the American League, who has pitched his team to many a victory this season. He and Bob Feller are the mainstay of the Indians' pitching staff.

A CLOSE CALL—Remarkable closeup of jumping horse at Galt Horse Show Friday almost resulted in injury to photographer, who was crouched in foreground, expecting horse—Queen of Sport, ridden by Fred Von Lombeck of Rochester, N.Y.—to jump across bar at an angle. Instead animal swerved and jumped almost on top of him. He got the picture.

Massey Tries Hand At Producing

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, June 19—(CP). —Raymond Massey, Canadian-born actor who has given memorable performances in a number of roles, this autumn plans to go into the producing side of the theatre business.

He hopes to bring to Broadway a dramatized version of "Hanging Judge," a crime novel by Bruce Hamilton. Victor Sarnock and Williams Fields will be associated with the Toronto-born actor in the venture.

This won't be the first producing activity by the Canadian star. During the 20s he was one of the owners and managers of the Everyman Theatre in London. A decade later he produced, in conjunction with Gladys Cooper, "The Boat of Norway," also in London.

Massey now is en route to London to find someone to adapt the novel for the stage. It might well be Patrick Hamilton, brother of the author and himself author of the popular "Angel Street."

Well-Earned Reprieve — The "two-weeks' notice" signs were up a few days back for "Ballet Ballads," the lively stage version of three old legends which came to Broadway via the Experimental Theatre. But since then business has picked up encouragingly, running costs have been pared and it looks as though the production will remain around for some weeks at least.

Aisle Jottings

Comedian David Burns wasn't idle long after he left "Make Mine Manhattan." Within a week he was signed for a part in "Heaven on Earth," which is scheduled to open in Boston in early August. Margo Jones intends to make her managerial debut on Broadway with an autumn production of Tennessee Williams' play, "Summer and Smoke."

The fate of "Sleepy Hollow" which was withdrawn after a run of little more than a week, is a sad example for enthusiasts with dreams of crashing Manhattan with a hit show.

Nine-Stroke Edge

CHICAGO, June 19—(AP). —Bobby Locke's magic wand, a rusty, hickory-shafted putter, has cast a spell again over the professional golfers. The South African, who will return home this fall rather than compete on the United States winter circuit, today entered the third round of the $15,000 Chicago victory golf tournament with a nine-stroke edge on the field. Locke carved a 65, six under par, on the 6,587-Midlothian course, yesterday to post a halfway tally of 130. He also had a 65 on opening day, breaking the 10-year-old course record by a stroke.

Hollywood Stars Invest Money For Rainy Day

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—(AP). —Today's movie stars have taken a tip from the frequent news stories of former film favorites who died broke.

Stars of a previous generation were fabed for making and spending millions. Many of them ended on skid row or in homes for aged actors. To guard against such a fate, present-day stars are investing their earnings in business that will provide for them after their faces have lost their draw at the box-office.

Most popular investments of the stars are ranches, which provide recreation and often (but not always) profit. Gary Cooper owns a shooting lodge and dude ranch in Idaho and Sydney Greenstreet backs a hop farm in Britain. Cattle ranches include Joel McCrea, Fred MacMurray, Walter Brennan, Ginger Rogers and Victor McLaglen.

But Hollywood's stellar capitalists don't stop there. Jimmy Durante has started a music publishing business. Humphrey Bogart has profited on his sea-going hobby of manufacturing aluminum dinghies. Fred Astaire has a flock of dance studios and a money-making horse, Triplicate.

Anita Louise and her husband operate a string of theatres. Dick Powell runs a correspondence flying lessons outfit and manufactures ice boxes. Andy Devine and Frances Langford-Jon Hall operate flying schools. June Haver, Paulette Goddard-Burgess Meredith and Kathryn Grayson-Johnny Johnston have furniture and antique stores.

Box Rogers earns over $200,000 a year by endorsing 41 different products like belts and cowboy outfits. Others: Red Skelton, apartments; Lew Ayres, lending library; Constance Bennett, cosmetics; Brian Donlevy, gold mine; Maureen O'Sullivan, kid furniture; Bob Cummings, hardware store; John Wayne, parlor games.

Woollens Win From Lock Co.

Woollens broke into the victory column in the Girls' Softball League at the Bowl last night with a 16-4 triumph over Lock Co. in a game that lasted but an hour and a quarter. The winners played heads-up ball and showed field the losers. At that, Lock Co. held their own but for one bad inning when Woollens ran wild. P. Williams was hit hard but J. Derry turned in a good relief choice. E. Humphries took over from S. Harris on the Woollens' mound in the seventh, both-twirling nice ball and getting good support.

J. McIntyre, B. Hall, J. McIntyre and D. Westlake were the pick of the fielders and R. McIntyre had a good catch. B. Hall and C. Ferguson led the winners at bat with four blows each and E. Humphries hit a homer and single in five. Tiny McQuade had three hits for the losers in four tries, while W. Westlake got a homer and two singles in five.

Britain Draws Over Billion From 1946 Canadian Loan

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, June 19 — (CP).—The Commons, deep in its drive for prorogation by June 30, today embarked on its first Saturday sitting of this dying session. High costs also came into the picture Friday, when the Chamber adopted a bill in-

IN WILL FIGHT — Photo above shows Mrs. Joseph W. Colombo, of Monkeal, 27-year-old widow of Ernesto Colombo, 67, Boston real estate dealer, who with her late husband's half brother, Luigi Galeo, of Philadelphia, Pa., are contesting the claim of two nieces that Colombo executed a will in John and Joe's barber shop in East Boston. The estate is valued at $50,000.

Postpone Strike

PITTSBURGH, June 19 (AP).—Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America, said Friday night that a strike of 18,330 employees of Aluminum Company of America, called for Sunday midnight, has been postponed for one week.

He added that negotiations between the Steelworkers union and the company looking toward a new contract, will be resumed Monday.

the picture Friday, when the Chamber adopted a bill increasing the salary of the Prince Edward Island Lieutenant-Governor by $1,000 a year. Opposition and Government members protested the lifting of salaries of higher officials when no relief from high living costs was provided for the little man.

The House also approved a bill providing for pensions for 13 men entering the diplomatic corps from private life and approved Senate amendments to the bills already passed by the Commons.

The clean-up of the Trade Department estimates drew from Mr. Howe a statement that Britain has withdrawn $1,015,000,000 from the $1,250,000,000 loan obtained from Canada in 1946.

He said he was not yet in a position to announce details of the plan worked out with the United States film industry to ease the drain on American dollars.

Alberta Coal

John R. McNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport) injected coal into the reconstruction debate. He told Mr. Howe that all that was needed was a railway line into the Alberta foothills to bring out the fuel. It would cost $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 and would be a "tremendous" investment.

The Alberta product was a fine high-grade fuel which could be marketed in the American market, $5 less than the American anthracite would cost.

Mr. Howe said he had tried during the war to move Alberta coal to Ontario, but had found it impossible to transport more than 500,000 tons a year. This would not be possible until further transportation facilities were provided. Alberta's problem was not so much the lack of mines as the lack of miners.

He said the Reconstruction Department, established after the war, was still winding up war contracts but would be dissolved within the next six or seven months. War contract cancellations totalled $2,500,000,000. About 96 per cent of the cancellations had been settled at a cost of $290,000,000, with a resultant saving of $475,000,000.

Lindsay Hospital Graduates 6 Nurses

LINDSAY, June 19 — Six nurses graduated on Wednesday from the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. Geraldine Marie Philip of Lindsay received the Ladies Auxiliary Board award for highest standing and general proficiency. For highest standing in surgery Edna Amelia Hines of Lindsay won the Branchard award.

Complete list of graduates who received diplomas and pins were: Leola Blanche Britnell, Woodville; Jean Madeline Ferguson, Minden; Patricia Catherine Foris, Toronto; Elizabeth Beatrice Ormiston, Manilla; and Miss Mines and Miss Philip, both of Lindsay.

The Rev. H. Hesketh, St. Paul's Anglican Church, guest speaker, quoted from Encyclopedia Britannica: "The evolution of the sick-nurse is mainly due to three very diverse influences, religion, war and science."

"With the tremendous progress in the science of medicine and surgery, it has been necessary for the nursing profession to advance in its methods and practice and to relieve the physicians of much of the detail of dressings and ordinary care."

He told the graduates they should always maintain courage, constancy and courtesy; and urged that selfish interests be submerged in a sincere desire to serve.

Wins Gold Medal — TORONTO, June 19 — (CP).—A graduate of the University of Toronto and present Professor of Mechanical Engineering at Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, Dr. A. G. Christie has become the first Canadian-trained engineer to receive the Lammie Gold Medal for achievement in engineering from the American Society for Engineering Education. Dr. Christie was born at Port Perry.

DVA Hospital At Kingston Becomes Civilian

KINGSTON, June 19 (Special).

—Announcement was made this morning by Dr. Bruce Hopkins, president of the Eastern Counties Tuberculosis Association that negotiations were taking place for the transfer of the DVA hospital from the Department of Veterans Affairs to the Eastern Counties Tuberculosis Association. Tentative date for the changeover has been set for Aug. 1. Dr. Hopkins said the agreement had to be signed by the federal and provincial governments.

This agreement is now reaching its final stages, preparatory to actual signing. Sale price of the hospital, which includes building, equipment and property, was not revealed.

Such a changeover, will mark the end of another wartime measure. Originally designed and constructed to house employees of the Aluminum Company of Canada, Kingston works, the building was taken over by the federal government in 1945 when an acute shortage of hospital accommodation made the step necessary.

An emergency brought about by the disastrous fire which destroyed the DVA hospital at Peterborough last year, brought about another change. Until that time, veterans were admitted to the DVA hospital here, regardless of the nature of their illness. After the fire, when patients from Peterborough were transferred to Kingston, the hospital became an institution solely for the benefit of TB patients.

Dr. Hopkins explained that the hospital will be operated on a temporary basis for "three to five years" until such time as a permanent structure is completed. Architects' plans have been submitted for the latter, but the site has not yet been selected.

The association will operate a 150-bed hospital, even though it is now equipped for 250 beds. Only Kingston and district veterans will remain in the hospital. Others will be transferred to hospitals closer to their homes. Dr. Hopkins explained that the hospital will in no way be confined for the use of veterans. It will be open to all TB sufferers in the district.

"If we hadn't taken it over, it would have been closed by Oct. 1," Dr. Hopkins pointed out. "There has been a decrease in the numbers of veteran patients. Forty-seven patients now at Kingston Isolation Hospital will be transferred to our hospital."

Power Plan Approval

TORONTO, June 19 — (CP).—The Ontario Cabinet Thursday deferred approval of plans for a power development near Cornwall, on the St. Lawrence River. The cabinet will give further study to financing proposals of the joint New York State-Ontario plan.

Several members of the cabinet plan to visit the site picked for the development near the Long Sault Rapids to look over land expected to be appropriated.

Once cabinet approval has been given, the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission will seek permission from the international joint commission to start construction.

Republican Candidate Choice Of World Importance

By CLYDE BLACKBURN.

WASHINGTON, June 19 — (CP).

A relatively small group of Republicans representing their party in all the States and territories are closing in on Philadelphia to make a decision which may vitally affect the whole world.

They are the 1,094 delegates to the party's national convention which opens in Philadelphia next Monday morning.

Their task is to choose candidates as President and Vice-President in the elections to be held next November 2.

It is of world-wide importance because at this moment the United States is the one country, if there is one, that holds the potential power to halt the swing toward totalitarian dictatorship which is slowly engulfing so much of the universe.

The selection might fall upon a candidate who, if elected, would yield to the powerful isolationist influences within the party which would once more withdraw this country's power to do good in the world outside the United States boundaries.

Traditionally the national party conventions are boisterous, wrangling and chaotic spectacles. Experienced party managers who have spent hours in pre-convention huddles generally keep fairly complete control over actual events in Convention Hall.

Some Surprises — However events sometimes run away from the planners and then the unexpected happens as it did in 1940 in the same hall when the late Wendell Wilkie's name was suddenly thrust into the balloting and the delegates stampeded to give him the nomination.

History may repeat next week. The actual contenders are Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota, and Governor Thomas Dewey of New York.

Willing contenders are Governor Earl Warren of California, Senator John Bricker of Ohio, Speaker Joseph Martin of the House of Representatives, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in Japan.

Most-talked-of dark horse contender is Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

The girl told doctors that she suffered severe gastric pains about nine years ago and has not eaten since. She weighs about 85 pounds, and appears to be normal in every way except that she has no desire for food, and, apparently, no necessity for it.

The Hope for a Messiah

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Ezekiel 34:11-16, 22-31; Daniel 7:13, 14; Zechariah 3:8-10; 6:12, 13; 9:9, 10; 12:10; 13:1; John 10:14.

"As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered, so will I seek out My sheep," saith the Lord.

God promised to gather His scattered people from their places of exile, and to bring them to their own land and "feed them upon the mountains of Israel."

"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion, shout, O daughter of Jerusalem, behold, thy King cometh unto thee: He is just," said the Lord God of Israel.

The Messiah would be a descendant of David, coming not as king, but "lowly, and riding upon an ass."

Israel Raises Jewish Hope To Return David's Glory

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus said: Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.—St. Mark 16:15.
"Foreign missions" you will exclaim with more or less approval; "I do not believe in foreign missions." You are right because you do not understand the ideals and the appeal of the "Good News" to every generation.

What is the Gospel? Your prompt reply will be the salvation of the individual with the quotation: "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul." Unfortunately the emphasis has been laid upon the individual and Christian teachers have forgotten the social side of the faith of Jesus Christ.

A famous German theologian many years ago wrote a book with the fascinating title: "The expansion of the Christian Church in the Primitive Days." That age was attracted to the "Hidden Religions" offering religion to those who were able to pay for it.

Quacks and astrologers moved up and down the great military roads of the Empire and offered salvation for the people who were able to pay the price, emphasizing their teaching on the term "Saviour" who came to save the cultured.

We should keep in mind that Plato and the great Greek thinkers made their appeal to the cultured and well to do. They despised the common people. On the other hand Christianity had a message for the rich as well as for the poor—salvation for every man without money and without price.

The teaching of the Apostles. They taught that God entered into this world in the Person of Jesus Christ, Who is the express Image of God. "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" is the clear claim of the Christ. The Christian teachers had three fundamentals of the Faith to offer—three ideals for every generation.

THAT LIFE WAS WORTH LIVING. The Church of that age attracted men, because of its teachings of a brotherhood and fellowship within the Church where there was no class distinction. Ponder upon the visible teaching of the Holy Communion.

Ideals of Gospel Practised By Believers in Missions

Scripture—Ezekiel 34:11-16, 22-31; Daniel 7:13, 14; Zechariah 3:8-10; 6:12, 13; 9:9, 10; 12:10; 13:1; John 10:14.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

After centuries of wandering in foreign lands or of living in their own—subject to alien people—Assyrians, Babylonians, Medo-Persians, Greeks, Egyptians and Romans—and in modern times the Arabs and British, the Jewish people have their own nation—Israel—with a president and a constitution, for which they are willing to fight.

Persecuted and slaughtered in many lands in which they have taken root, discriminated against in others, their final recent martyrdom in Nazi Germany brought to a head the vital need of a homeland of their own, where they would feel safe and secure. Here they hope eventually to transfer many of their now homeless people and be able, as their prophet, Zechariah says, to "call every man his neighbor under the vine and under the fig tree."

Through all their sufferings remote from their own country in MEMORY VERSE

"For Jehovah is good; His loving kindness endureth for ever."—Psalm 100:5.

that olden time of which the Bible relates, the Israelites were sustained by one great hope—that a Messiah, which means "the anointed one," would come to lead them and set them up again as a great nation—such as they had known under David and Solomon.

Ezekiel, one of the great prophets of Israel, who was with them in their servitude, comforted and rallied his people with the words: "Thus saith the Lord God: Behold I, even I, will both search My sheep, and seek them out." As a good shepherd He would deliver them out of the places where they had been scattered, and bring them to their own land,

"The eating of the one loaf and the drinking of the one cup" was an outward and visible sign of the breaking down of class barriers. The slave knelt by the side of his master.

It thrills us to remember that in Rome during the second and third centuries the Church administered more than $50,000 a year in alms, salaries of the clergy and the other needs of the poor, especially in the prisons.

A wise Church Father advises: "If any brother has a trade let him follow it and earn his bread. If he has no trade exercise your discretion to enable him to live as a Christian and NOT in idleness. If he will not work he is trafficking in Christ." Let "trafficking in Christ" stick in your mind. How many join the Church from this motive?

THE SPIRITUAL VALUE OF THE SOUL. This is a primary truth. "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" At the same time it does not mean social equality. There will always be the brother of high degree and the brother of low degree. It means that every soul has a right to live and to develop his talents by the help of the Holy Spirit. In that primitive Church the rich were made poorer by their own wish. They were neither very rich nor very poor, developing a strong personality, the backbone of a fine civilization. Do not forget that the term "brother" in the New Testament means one who has been baptized into the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF LOVING FELLOWSHIP. The Spirit of Christ brought them into vital union with one another. When a brother traveller entered into a city he enquired for the Church. When they had proved his qualifications he was given the right hand of brotherhood and fellowship. A modern surgeon applied a bit of skin to a bad burn. That patch grows and spreads and a new skin is developed. Will you apply your little patch of healing Christianity in your little corner in these anxious days?

BY THIS SHALL ALL MEN KNOW THAT YE ARE MY DISCIPLES IF YE HAVE LOVE ONE FOR ANOTHER.

afraid." Zechariah, the prophet who was a contemporary of Hagai, and helped the latter rebuild the temple at Jerusalem after some of the people had gone back to Palestine, prophesied the coming of Jesus, describing accurately His triumphant ride into Jerusalem on what we now know as Palm Sunday, and calling on the "Daughter of Zion" to rejoice.

"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem; behold, the King cometh unto thee; He is just, and having salvation; slowly, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass."

The Jewish people of Jesus' time also looked back with nostalgia to the time of their great glory, when David was their ruler, whose long reign and continued prosperity made him their godlike hero. Therefore it was from his line that the Messiah was expected to come to restore the nation.

As long as the princes of David's family lived and received honors, not only from their own people, but from the princes and rulers of other lands, the renewed hope of national independence and eminence connected itself naturally with a descendant of the old stock. But the prominent members of David's family gradually disappeared, leaving the Jews still hoping that some time their Messiah would come from his line.

Jesus did come from David through His mother, but alas, He did not come in glory, and the authorities of His time, while marveling at His learning and good works, refused to accept Him as anything but a man of lowly lineage, and a blasphemer, and they cried "Crucify Him; followers were slow to realize that this simple Man was the Son of God, the Savior of the world.

So they crucified Him on the cross, but He lives and continues His healing work for all who will listen to His words and heed them—the true Messiah! (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Civic Holiday Traffic Peak In District Resorts Due To Plant Shut-downs

Vacation resorts in the Kawartha and Haliburton are going to dust off and decorate the welcome mat for guests arriving during the first half of July and the last two weeks of August. This is a tip direct from the land of laughing waters. Two Peterborough business men bring separate and identical reports from as far north as Dorset. Reservations have been heavy for the holiday period on either side of Civic Holiday.

Two Men Elect Jury Trial; Charges Serious

Two Campbellford men, David Bowen and Frank Brown, were jointly charged Friday in police court with robbery and violence. Bowen was also charged with impersonating an officer. Both elected jury trial.

About 3 a.m. on Thursday, Hartley Simpson, Westwood, was being towed from a ditch on highway 7, near the boundary road between Otonabee and Ashpodel townships. He told police that two men assaulted him then, and robbed him of $37. Simpson's nose was cut and his abdomen bruised.

The two men were arrested near Campbellford later in the day by provincial constable A. F. Grayling. Police say Bowen has at times told people he is a police officer, and uses some cars to prove it. Bowen at one time was a constable on the Campbellford police force.

Edward Flaherty, 66, disappeared from his farm home south of Kilmount on Friday evening and while a search party was being organized early today by Provincial Constable L. Lyle, Fenelon Falls detachment, Mr. Flaherty returned home again, much to the relief of his family.

WHY THE DELAY?

Despite the green light flashed by the County Council to proceed with the Chemong bridge, as yet there seems to be no action. A recent trip over the wooden bridge showed no sign of life at either end. What happens now, and when?

Itinerant Professional Cow Milkers Whisk From Farm To Farm In Speedy Jeep

Life would be soft on a dairy farm operated under a system recommended by E. U. Allard, head of Quebec's municipal milk inspection service, said a recent Canadian Press story. The story goes on to recommend collecting feeding, and milking by itinerant professional milkers.
Agriculture Department representative Frank Paterson poo-pooed the itinerant milker idea, saying that cows have to be milked at regular 12-hour intervals, and interruption of the schedule would be bad, and unavoidable under the itinerant milker system.

"The idea of collective feeding has merit, but is not new. It has been tried successfully in parts of Ontario and the United States," he said.
The stalls are torn down, and troughs for feed set around the walls, Mr. Paterson said, and a separate unit is retained for milking.

Present Cedar Rib Canoe To City, Gift For Princess

A modest friendly ceremony took place on lower Water St. Friday morning when W. A. Richardson, manager of the Peterborough Canoe Company, and his son Jack, turned over to the city a beautiful cedar rib canoe, gift from the city of Peterborough to Her Royal Highness, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, was officially turned over to city officials by executives of the Peterborough Canoe Company, its builders. Shown above (left to right): Front, W. A. Richardson presents the customs papers to His Worship Mayor W. G. Owens. In rear are Alderman Hurrell Dodds, Hon. Harold R. Scott, MPP, Minister of Lands and Forests, City Clerk E. A. Outram and Jack Richardson. Veteran boat builder Frank Gillespie was in charge of the project.

Construction of the canoe started some months ago, originating as shop order 3686 and you may be sure that the finest craftsmen in the company's service were assigned to it. Genial Frank Gillespie with 40 years' experience handled the construction assisted by R. J. McWilliams, who returned from retirement after 38 years of service to take of the responsibility. George Mongraw did the finishing and George McIntyre and Pehey Bullied the fitting and trimming. Boat building foreman Russell Wildman, mill foreman Alex Gillespie and varnishing foreman Jack Johnston each played their part in turning out one of the finest pieces of workmanship that their years of experience had taught them.

The cedar rib canoe is the craft that made the name "Peterborough" known throughout the world and its history goes back to the 1890's when birch canoe and dugouts were the common types. It is believed that the late James Stevenson built the first thin board canoe in 1860. The method was adopted by various well-known builders of that day, the William English Canoe Company had a factory on Charlotte St., where the Loblaw store stands today, the Ontario Canoe Company founded by the late Col. James Z. Rogers and the Canadian Canoe Company situated on the site of the present liquor store. The Strickland and Gordon companies in Lakefield also used the cedar rib construction methods.

In later years when it was difficult for manufacturers to find Ontario cedar in the wide plank size, narrow strips of selected tongue and groove stock were substituted to give strength and lightness and eliminate the necessity of ribs.
The Royal canoe, as it came to be known in the shops, has mahogany decks, trim, seats and floor boards, an Empire product from Honduras.
It was most fitting when the canoe was finished a few days ago that Mr. George Douglas of Lakefield, an ardent veteran canoeist, brought Mr. Richardson a splendid cherry paddle that he had cherished for many years; he requested that it be included with the shipment.

Albin J. Quinlan Noted Athlete Dies At St. Kitts

Albin Joseph Quinlan, retired business executive, died suddenly of a heart ailment Friday in St. Catharines general hospital. He was born here, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Quinlan, and was a graduate of the tool designing department of the Canadian General Electric Company. His father carried on a retail leather and harness business on Hunter St.

Mr. Quinlan received his education at the old Murray St. separate school and Collegiate Institute. From there he went into the tool drafting department of the C.G.E. which was then in charge of J. A. G. Goulet, finally went to the McKinnon-manufacturing company, St. Catharines, 30 years ago, which was eventually absorbed by General Motors, and became chief engineer.

Mr. Quinlan was a contemporary in C.G.E. employment of Mr. S. S. Shaughnessy whose funeral took place here this morning. He leaves his widow the former Geraldine Rudkins of Peterborough, daughters: Mrs. Wm. P. Daly, Mrs. Wm. Shea, and sons John, Louis and Thomas, all of St. Catharines; his sister, Miss Louise Quinlan of Toronto, and brothers, Francis Quinlan of Trout Creek, Ont., and J. Harry Quinlan of Prince Albert, Sask.

The funeral will be Monday in St. Catharines to the Church of St. Catharine, and burial in Victoria Lawn Cemetery.

If Peterborough had a memorial roll of its athletes, the name of "Ab" Quinlan would deservedly be in the first rank. His generation remembers him as one of the stars of the local baseball diamond, a capable and clever pitcher with a big assortment of speed and curves, and a consistent winner. The team he was prominent with was the old St. Peter's T.A.S. outfit in the Midland League, comprising Lindsay, Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg and Belleville. Some of its players were the late Gerald McFadden as catcher, Bill O'Brien, Father Michael O'Brien, Fred D. Craig, Jimmy Callaghan, Lorne Doherty, Bill Wilder, Jim Ahearn and others.

He also played half back with one of the strong rugby clubs Peterborough had in those days.

TOURIST TRAFFIC UP

Tom McCall, Ontario Deputy Minister of Travel and Publicity, said Thursday the Ontario tourist trade last month broke all records for May. The tourist influx was 23 per cent above that of last year, previous all-time high, he said.

COLONIAL FRANCE

Although most of the population of Peterborough consider its architecture to be as English as the traditional plum pudding, there still can be found traces of colonial France in such buildings as the Sun Life offices. The covered tunnel which goes from Water Street into the courtyard at the back is a copy of the old French settlers' architecture when all houses and buildings were constructed with this distinctive passageway. In the early days it enabled the coaches to go through to the stables at the back and in time of siege, thus tunnel could be built up to form a type of blockade.

Churches Plan Joint Services

Plans have been completed for joint services to be held during July, August and the first Sunday in September by the Murray Street Baptist, St. Paul's Presbyterian and George Street United churches. Owing to St. Paul's church undergoing repairs, the services are to be held in the other two churches.

During the month of July the services will be in the George Street Church and for August in Murray Street Church, with Labor Day Sunday services being in George Street.

The Rev. Ivan Morgan will be in charge for the first three weeks, the Rev. Dr. James Semple the second three weeks, and the Rev. Charles Boyd the last three. The organist and choir of each of the three churches will be responsible for the music on the Sundays the services are held in their respective churches, with St. Paul's organist and choir taking the fourth Sunday in George Street and the fifth and sixth Sundays in Murray Street.

W. B. Gordon, chairman, at a meeting this week of the Recreation Commission, reported that Mayor W. G. Owens had promised a grant of $3,500, in addition to the present grant for the upkeep of Dixon House.

A motion was passed that the Recreation Commission provide the playground committee with $5,750. Eight playgrounds are to be supervised by the Commission: Riverside, Inverlea, Fleming, Turner, King Edward, Prince of Wales, Confederation and Dixon House. There are to be three supervisors on Riverside and Inverlea playgrounds, two at King Edward and Turner, and one at each of the remaining three playgrounds. Six lifeguards are to be employed: two at Riverside, two at Inverlea, one at Hamilton Park and one spare for relief purposes. Jack Dane, recreation director, reported that 4,000 registration cards had been printed for Red Cross Water Safety Campaign from July 1 to August 30. Cards and posters have been sent to the city schools and films on swimming and water safety have been shown in all public schools. Posters have been placed in down stores.

SIMPLE DESIGN ADDS BEAUTY TO HOME, MAKES DOLLAR STRETCH

Alkaline Solutions Never Used In Removing Floor Varnish

QUESTION: Our varnish-finished hardwood floors have become badly discolored and we are faced with the necessity of refinishing them. A friend advises using a solution of either trisodium phosphate or washing soda. Do you think this would harm the wood?

ANSWER: Alkaline solutions such as washing soda may be used for floors originally finished with oil, but definitely not for a varnished floor. Power sanding is the best method of refinishing, but you could also use a liquid varnish remover. Be sure to follow directions on the bottle carefully.

Since some old, discolored varnish remains embedded in the wood, complete restoration of the natural wood color should not be expected. Traffic channels where the old varnish has long been worn through and dirt ground into the wood should be cleaned by sanding.

Minimum Room Dimensions

QUESTION: We are planning to build a small home next spring and naturally want to keep our costs down as low as possible. Could you give me a few figures regarding accepted minimum sizes for rooms and other minimum dimensions for a small house?

ANSWER: You may secure from the government housing department "Building Standards" establishing minimum requirements for homes financed under the National Housing Act. When you go over these figures, remember that they are definitely "minimums" and should not be regarded as necessarily establishing the ultimate in home design.

Tap Water Occasionally Runs Brown

QUESTION: Despite the fact that our new home has plumbing less than two years old, there are times when the water runs brown for a short time. Where would you suggest looking for the cause of this?

ANSWER: Blame on water running brown is often erroneously put on the plumbing equipment when actually it is caused by sediment from the water supply which has been disturbed from the bottom of the city's water mains or the range boiler where it has settled. Although harmless, it is not particularly pleasant.

Cresote Bleeds Through Oil Paint
QUESTION: I understand that once wood shingles are stained with cresote that it is impossible to apply an oil paint later. Can you tell me how to stain shingles so that painting is still possible if we want to do this at a later date?

ANSWER: You can buy numerous stains that can be applied without the danger of bleeding through an oil paint. If you want to make your own, use one part flatting oil, 2 parts boiled linseed oil, adding the necessary colors-in-oil to bring to the desired tint. If you wish, you can use turpentine in place of the flatting oil. This stain will prove quite durable and can be counted upon to hold its color well.

How To Refinish A Basement Floor

QUESTION: While the basement floor of our home is still sound, it has become very rough and difficult to sweep. Can you give me some hints about refinishing?

ANSWER: Before applying a new coating of cement it's a good idea to roughen any smooth spots on the original surface using a 10 per cent solution of muriatic acid. Allow to remain on the surface until bubbling stops and then rinse off thoroughly with plenty of water. Make sure there are no pools left to dry out.

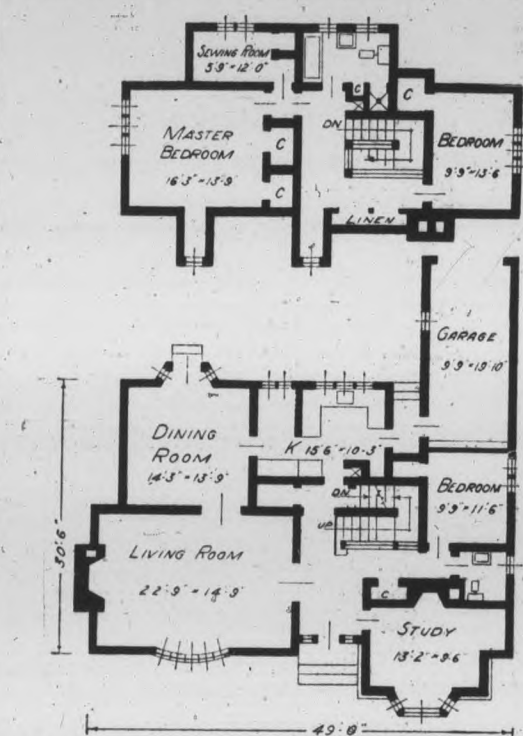

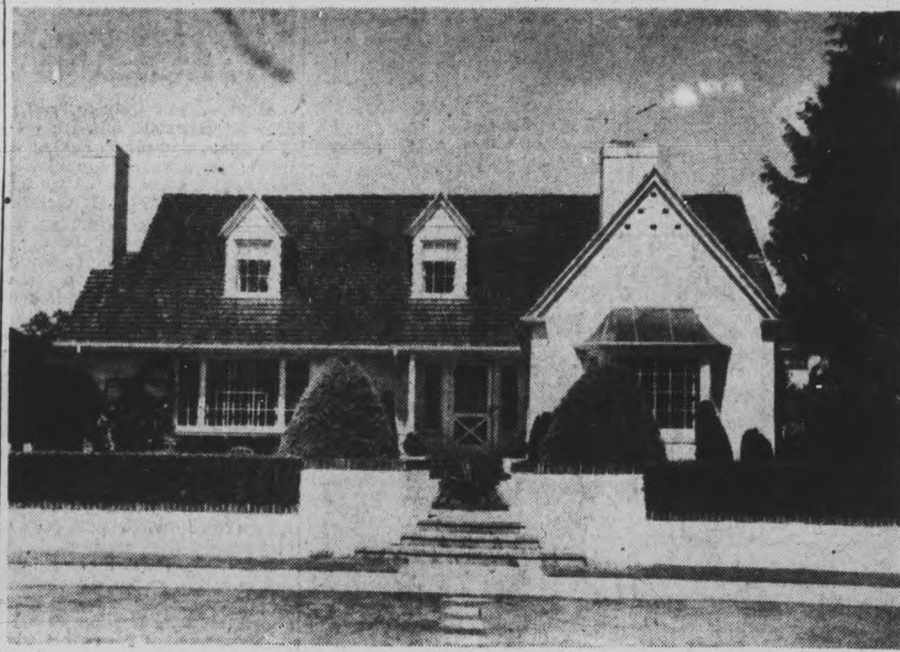

The new surface should be 1-inch thick, consisting of a mix of 1 part cement to 3 parts clean, sharp sand, medium fine. Coloring can be added to the cement if you wish. Float the topping and then trowel to a smooth finish when the cement has lost its water sheen. Don't work the topping too wet...it brings the cement to the surface with resultant crazing and chipping.

Hardwood...or Softwood?

QUESTION: I don't get it. I'm told that Douglas Fir is a softwood and Basswood a hardwood. Unless I'm mistaken, the "softwood" Douglas Fir seems much the harder...how come?

ANSWER: Lumber is divided into two great groups...softwoods and hardwoods. Softwoods, in general, are the coniferous or cone-bearing trees, such as the various pines, spruces, hemlocks, firs and cedars. Hardwoods are the non-cone-bearing trees, such as the maple, oak, poplar and the like. These terms are used mainly as a matter of custom, for not all so-called softwoods are soft nor all so-called hardwoods necessarily hard.

Autumn Dressings for the Lawn QUESTION: Our lawn did not

LUXURY LIVING on a modest scale is by no means the only endearing quality of this house. Its exterior reflects good taste, while the plan indicates an understanding of modern living. For the small family with above-average income, this house has much to offer. Splendid landscaping has given the house a worthy setting. The gleaming white of the garden wall, topped with red bricks and clipped hedge are important parts of the whole picture. Walls are painted brick and clapboard. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Extend Your Living Activities To Every Square Foot You Own

When you bought the lot for your home you paid for every square inch of it. So why not see that it is all put to work as productively as the part where the house stands? In other words, extend your living activities to all you own by making your lot a summer living room.

One of the first requirements is usually a degree of privacy.

come along this summer as well as we had hoped and we are planning to apply some manure or bonemeal this autumn. Can you offer any suggestions?

ANSWER: Avoid straw barnyard manure...it contains millions of weed seeds which will quickly take root next spring. Chicken manure, spread over the grass when the weather has turned cold is excellent. Bonemeal is particularly good.

Fences or hedges can both be used for this purpose; in fact both seem to have their place on the average lot. Garden fences are usually constructed of light members so that the total amount of material is not very expensive, and the home craftsman will usually find real pleasure in building them.

Place Posts In Concrete
Fence posts should be cut about three feet longer than needed so that they may be imbedded in concrete to give the fence rigidity, for a leaning fence is an eyesore. A fence must stand the force of the wind as well as the detrimental effects of the freezing and thawing of winter. A special preservative is available which will assure long life for fence posts.

Designing a section is not enough to insure a good composition of the whole fence. Its en-galvanized nails throughout to prevent rust streaks from showing and detracting from the effect.

Protest The Post

Be sure to protest all posts by painting with a good wood preservative. Danger spot is at ground level. The science of wood preservation now offers immunity from rot.

Gates and trellises are not only decorative accessories of the garden, but they serve a definite use. They should be well constructed so that they are permanent and remain accurately erect. Remember, that although decorative they are accessories and should never be unduly prominent.

GET FIRST FULL MEAL IN FIVE WEEKS — Army volunteers who took part in a five-week "survival ration" test conducted under life-raft conditions, which allowed them only 900 calories a day, sat down to their first full meal at the conclusion of the experiment. Here volunteers, who helped the army to obtain dietary, psychological, and physiological data to aid in improving the combat efficiency of men in the armed forces, weigh in at the conclusion of the experiment. (Left to right), Ray Mancinelli, whose normal weight is 183 pounds, weighs in at 154. Clarence G. Woodcock dropped from 158 to 133 pounds, and William Sayre dropped from 140 to 113 pounds.

Senate Will Abet Wives With Money Tucked Away

By DOUGLAS HOW.

OTTAWA, June 19 — (CP). — A blow was struck for matrimonial deceit in the Senate's Banking Committee this week. Up for consideration was a Bill to grant certain powers to Quebec's savings banks. One clause requires them to inform persons that dividends are payable to them. This, suggested P. A. Perault of the Montreal and District Savings Bank, endangered the position of the wife who might not want her spouse to know she has the money tucked away. A letter to the house would be a dead give-away. He was reassured by C. F. Elderkin of the Bank of Canada. A telephone call would do or she could drop down to the bank. Mr. Perault was soothed and silenced. The committee had a laugh, passed the clause. Air Sickness Arthur Smith, the wag who is in the Commons as Progressive Conservative member for Calgary West, was arguing the other night that homes should be provided for MP's. Further, he said, there is a great bother about getting train reservations. "Try our lines," suggested Trade Minister Howe, the daddy of TCA. "I am unlike the minister," said Mr. Smith. "I hate flying. He loves it because he gets U (university) degrees at the end of every trip. So he ought to love it. But with me flying is out." Farnal Proposing The Senate was embroiled in its perennial divorce debate. Never one to avoid the novel, Senator Ralph Byron Horner (PC-Saskatchewan) spoke up. "There would be fewer divorces," he said, "if the marriage match was made by the parents of the young couple." Ship Coal To Japan MONTREAL, June 19 (CP). — S. Beckow, head of the Montreal export firm, Toronto Jobbing Company, said Friday his firm had contracted to ship 100,000 tons of coal to Japan for use in the Japanese steel industry.

Isley Declares Companies' Right To Arm

CORNWALL, June 19. — (CP). — Trade union officials Friday night said they had been advised by Justice Minister Isley that shipping companies in dispute with the Canadian Seamen's Union are within their rights in arming themselves against attack.

The officials said Mr. Isley expressed his opinion when he received a delegation from Cornwall Trades and Labor Council (AF of L) which also waited on Transport Minister Chevrier and Labor Minister Mitchell.

However, in Ottawa, Mr. Isley said he had not intended that interpretation to a remark made to the delegation. He did not add to his statement.

The delegation, headed by Council President Arthur Marshall, protested government failure to intervene in the current CSU strike against four Great Lakes shipping companies. Signs Agreement

A fifth company, Transit Tankers Terminals Limited, has ended a dispute with the CSU by signing an agreement, union officials reported earlier.

Marshall told an open meeting here that Mr. Isley had advised the nine-man delegation that RCMP on guard duty at the Cornwall canal had no authority to carry out patrol duty other than on Federal property.

When the delegation, said Marshall, expressed concern over a threat by ship owners to provide ship officers with shot guns and revolvers, he quoted Mr. Isley as saying: "This action is permissible legally."

The Justice Minister was reported to have said ship operators had as much right to arm themselves against possible attack as farmers have to protect their property by use of fire arms.

DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH — Here is a six-roomed brick veneer house only 28 feet by 22 feet that has been planned to avoid the boxlike appearance of many small house designs. The wide Dutch dormer across the front provides a pleasant break to the roof and, with hall space kept to a minimum, rooms are more spacious than is usually the case in houses of similar size. The kitchen features an efficient U-type arrangement of fixtures at one end and dining space at the opposite end, a boon to the busy housewife. The two front windows allow a plentiful supply of natural light and fresh air in the living room. For estimating purposes, the floor area of the house is approximately 1,069 square feet. Complete construction drawings for this plan, known as Design No. 196, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Harvest Help Appeal Made

TORONTO, June 19 (CP). — The National Employment Service Friday appealed for men to do seasonal harvest work on Ontario farms. "Transportation to any part of Ontario may be provided to workers who volunteer for this work," said J. F. Dwyer, Ontario regional officer of the NES, in a statement issued here.

The lack of farm help to harvest hay and grain crops was "very critical." In preceding years, some 3,000 men came annually from western Canada to help with the harvest. This year, however, western men were staying home to fight floods in the Prairie provinces and in British Columbia. "Prospects for hay and grain are very bright but the outlook for harvest help is a very grave one."

On Monday morning, Mrs. Trick is staying in Toronto for the present, going up on Wednesday.

Mrs. James Kennedy, Cavan, was hostess to the WMS of Grace Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, when a social time was enjoyed after the regular program, with President Miss Agnes Johnston in the chair. Assisting the leader with the worship service were Mrs. S. E. Eakins and the hostess. The study on "Our Commission in Canada and Overseas," covering the work of Presbyterian missionary workers on the home field, who afterward carried on in the foreign area, was taken by Mrs. J. R. Thompson. Dr. Goforth and Dr. MacKay, in their Canadian work, illustrated by pictures, were the special theme on Wednesday. There was a good attendance.

Have Less Asparagus

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 19. — (CP). — Less asparagus is being canned here than in 1947. A canning factory official blamed this on the poor quality of the asparagus itself. It was hampered by steady spring rains and continued cold nights.

His job is to see that everything is running smoothly when the GOP convention opens in the city on June 21.

People Too Worried About Rural Church

WINDSOR, June 19 (CP). — There is a good deal of unwarranted concern in urban churches over the state of the church in the rural areas, Rev. A. Hilliard Jones pastor of Vernon church, near Osgoode in the Ottawa district, told the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Jones spoke when the interim report of the commission, on rural church problems was presented at the closing business session of the five-day convention here. "The people that we have, we know we have," said Mr. Jones. "I wonder if that is true of the city churches."

MOUTON GONE LEOPARD—Girls at any 'teen age school or college which is placed in a Jack Frost setting will welcome this not expensive fur coat which is young and colorful, besides being warm and smart. The model is made of mouton which has been given a very convincing leopard spot stencil, and which has been trimmed lushly with mouton or otter color. A warm wool lining completes the story of this campus coat, which well may appeal to many other girls who have left schoolbooks, but not frigid climates, behind.—By Prunella Wood.

In Recital Much Enjoyed

The annual recital of song by pupils of Thursa G. Williamson was given Friday evening in the Green Room of the YWCA. The younger students particularly delighted the audience with their fresh young voices and their shy manners. Winsome Mabel McLarnon, in a floor length gown of blue, fittingly included in her selections, "Alice Blue Gown." Bobby Richey and Donald Gibson were equally fine in unison songs as in individual numbers.

Miss Frances Clyke and Miss Iris Whalon, senior pupils, were encored after each had presented a trio of lovely songs. Dorothy Mitchell and Margaret Hughes, only contralto voices heard, gave an old French arrangement of "Come, Sweet Morning" in duet, and each was heard in solo. Miss Betty Godfrey and Miss Jean Clark each contributed two selections.

All vocalists were accompanied by Elsie Chambers Flett at the piano.

The stage was beautifully decorated with baskets of peonies, iris and delphinium. Mrs. Williamson was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Mabel McLarnon, at the conclusion.

Sparkling Revue Of Dancing Delights Audience

Dancing feet, encased in soft ballet slippers or in metal heeled and tipped tap shoes, were in the spotlight Friday evening at the Collegiate Auditorium. Seats were filled with friends, eager to see how much pupils of Marion Perry Laird have accomplished in the past year. There are many talented children of the city on the roster and they were indeed "putting the best foot forward." The program featured the delightful "Fairland Ballet" and included snappy tap and acrobatic numbers, as well as Spanish, Dutch, Gypsy, Irish and Scotch native dances and military and comedy numbers. All routines were composed and arranged by the leader who was the costume designer too.

The spectacle of busy feet was greatly enhanced by the brilliant outfits their owners wore, all styled in keeping with the type of each particular dance. Highlights of the evening were the solo performances of Joan Fletcher and Earl Gillespie, exhibiting the grace and co-ordinated movement of bodies which comes from long practice under careful tuition. Accompanying pianists were Helen Maki and Lionel Brown.

Solo Numbers

Pupils presenting solo dance numbers were: Maurietta Rosborough, Peggy Johnston, Jane Ann Lister, Joanne Whitton, Shirley Jewell, Louisa Mastrianni, Lois Findlay, Judy Welch, Barbara Mann, Mary Schryver, Madeline O'Connor, Judy Bell, Carolyn Swan, and Lionel Brown. Bernice and Wayne Rosborough did a sister and brother waltz clog number and Gail and Sandra Wood tapped the "Electric Song." Barbara Austin and Joyce LaFave were teamed in the "Irish Jig" and an acrobatic ballet. Other pairs performing were Margaret Hawthorne and Sharon Reynolds, Peggy Johnston and Barbara Mann, Madeline O'Connor and Earl Gillespie, Joan Fletcher and Lionel Brown.

The waltz clog rhythm was exemplified by Earl Gillespie, Madeline O'Connor, Elsie Black, Judy Bell and Donald Lister. Earl Gillespie, Joan Fletcher and Lionel Brown were doing the tango with the former in the solo part.

A demonstration of classic rhythm steps was given by Judy Bell, Earl Gillespie and Donald Lister. Six girls doing a sword dance were Joanne Whitton, Maurietta Rosborough, Jane Ann Lister, Peggy Johnston, Barbara Mann, Louisa Mastrianni.

In a sprightly nautical number the sailors were Jane Lister, Louisa Mastrianni, Carolyn Swan and Mary Schryver. In the chorus were Shirley Flett, Ileen Wer, Joanne McCurrach, Arleigh Fitzgerald, Mary White, Barbara Hutchison, Georgina Hutchison, Donna McConachie, Sandra Wood, Gail Wood, Lynda Phillips and Florence Mastrianni.

An attractive number entitled "Four Leaf Clover" was done by the baby class: Billy Lang, Margaret Ann Hayes, Margaret Armstrong, Elizabeth Sanderson, Sandra Gates, Mary Sue Fields, Nancy Dipoloro, Mary Jane Gar-

Cheerful Women Helpful To Troubled Husbands

Although cheerfulness never has been rated as a feminine virtue, or even mentioned as an attraction, it is time that we realized that instead of it being a sort of excess baggage to a woman, it is the most important quality that she possibly can possess.

It is a charm to conjure with. It is the secret of popularity. I will do more to get her a husband and keep him after she gets him than either beauty or wit. It will make her a success in business and, no matter where she goes, or what she does, it always will be a prop and staff to lean upon.

As a wife, the cheerful woman is like the paragon of the Scriptures; her price is above rubies. Every man has plenty of troubles, anxieties and discouragements in his contact with the outside world. If at night he comes home to a wife who also is sunk in woe, it drags him down into the bottomless pit.

But if he has a wife who is gay and cheerful, who can make him laugh and forget his troubles, who can fill him full of hope from her own overflowing optimism, and who can buck him up with her faith in him, he can stand anything. Children Benefit, Too. The best gift that God can give children is a cheerful mother, because the one thing that a mother needs more than anything else in the world is a funnybone. If she has that, she can laugh off many a situation out of which a tragedy can be made. She can correct youngsters' faults far more effectively with a joke than she can be nagging. And she can keep her children at home instead of wandering the streets, because home is the gayest, jolliest place they know.

And if the mother is a cheerful woman, she can take the sting out of poverty for children, because the poorest meal is a feast if it is flavored with laughter. And, more than that, because she meets hardships with a smile and has a courage and an optimism that never fails, she sends her children forth into the world to fight gayly the battle of life and take from it what they want.

In a world that is full of trouble we all turn to cheerful people who go about diffusing light and gaiety. We crave the companionship of those who can lighten our gloom with their brightness, who can dispel our sadness by their own high spirits, who can put a little of their own joy of living into us.

There are no greater missionaries than those cheerful women who always have something pleasant to say, some funny story to tell, some joke that sends you chuckling on your way, feeling that God is in His Heaven and all's well with the world. No matter what the private difficulties may be, they never show it in their faces. They wear the smile that won't come off.

There is no one to whom we are more indebted than we are to those women who lend us from their store of good cheer. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 20

Sunday's horoscope encourages the customary vocations and avocations of the day, in an earnest, straightforward and searching manner, with faithful and concentrated efforts but minus any form of irritation or want of calm control and determination. While there may not be signs of delay or disappointment to depress or annoy, purpose and objectives should be steadily held in mind with indications of steady gain and rewards for those of worthy pursuits.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should enjoy a year of steady gain, with all matters of serious purpose and ambitions attaining security and solid growth by sound and practical plans and activities. In this effort there may be rewards of merit, with employers or superiors in a mood to confer recognition for substantial endeavors. Long-range and basic foundations should be the goal, but unhampered by irritabilities, strife or any show of impetuosity. Safe and sound techniques should win against impulse or turbulence.

A child born on this day with earnest and sound in its objectives may also be disposed to rash, impetuous or tumultuous acts.

For Monday, June 21 Monday's astrological forecast presages much opposition and conflict infringing on varied aspects and activities or major operations. Important issues are in the balance, with much of a critical and complicated nature to be prudently and judiciously manipulated. New and important factors underlie strenuous activities in connection with promotion, finance, capital, the co-operation of superiors. This may be involved by a surprising development, or the withdrawal of support from those in influential positions. Confused judgment or imprudent intrusion of feelings, emotions or social or affectional impulses, might enhance the danger, affecting personal and business affiliations.

For the Birthday Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of expanding opportunities, with prospects of wide scope and progress, hopes of promotion, recognition and increased personal power. However, an unforeseen event of surprising and disintegrating force may suddenly swerve from these substantial auspices, precipitated by rash or erratic operations, in which vital issues may be jeopardized. A calm and judicious attitude might bridge difficulties, or develop certain surprising openings for an adventurous and profitable state of affairs. "Easy does it" is a trite but prolific suggestion. Aim calmly for sound distant goals and agreements of major importance.

A child born on this day may have much ambition and promise, with affairs of consequence in its long-range goal, but hasty or erratic decisions may undermine its best efforts.

NOBLY BORN

Plato was the surname of Aristocles, most famous of the ancient philosophers. He was born in Greece in 427 B.C. of noble parents.

Alicia J. Langley Is Bride Of Walter R. C. Perry Today

St. Luke's Anglican Church was the setting for the marriage of Alicia Jane, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Russell Langley, to Mr. Walter Robert Coppin Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davy Perry, this afternoon.

Rev. Walter J. Gilling officiated and Miss Mabel Clary played the wedding music. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Eric Stephenson of Montreal, sang "Beloved, It Is Morn." The church was decorated with a profusion of white and pink peonies, larkspur and iris in tall white standards.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautiful gown of blush satin. The off-shoulder decolletage and long pointed sleeves were appliqued with ecru lace and the long moulded torso fell into an overskirt edged with similar lace. The full underskirt was richly gathered at the back into a circular train. Her full-length veil of blue tulle had a wide centre panel of heirloom Italian lace and was caught to her head by a coronet of pearls and orange-blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias, American beauty roses and bouvardia.

Miss Margaret Langley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, gowned in fuchsia crepe, fashioned with a ballerina-styled top and full gathered skirt falling in a slight train. The draped bustle effect and her long gloves were of marquisette and she carried a cascade bouquet of purple larkspur and bouvardia.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. John Langley, Mrs. Haig Kelly and Miss Alice Perry, sister of the groom, were frocked alike, in deep lavender crepe with lavender marquisette bustle and gloves. Their cascade bouquets were of fuchsia larkspur and bouvardia.

All four attendants wore crownless hats of natural straw trimmed with fuchsia and lavender flowers.

Mr. Bob Maybee was groomsmen and the ushers were Mr. Haig Kelly, Mr. Robert Carley, Mr. John Perry of Oshawa and Mr. John Langley of Donnacona, P.Q.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents where Mrs. Langley received, wearing a gown of pink lace and marquisette.

ette with a picture hat of navy mohair and navy accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses and larkspur. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gracefully draped gown of poudre crepe and a flower-trimmed leg-horn hat. She wore a corsage of rose sweet-peas.

Later the bride and groom left for a motor trip to Algonquin Park. For travelling the bride chose a navy crepe dress with taffeta trim, navy taffeta hat, light yellow wool shortie coat and navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Perry will live in Peterborough.

Fete June Bride

Miss Jean Arnott has been widely honored by friends before her wedding to Mr. Reginald Laws which takes place today. Mrs. Hugh Heslop, 45 McDougal St., was hostess for a miscellaneous shower. Miss Nola Paquette entertained at the home of Mrs. A. R. Jones, Anne St., when a shower of gifts was presented. Her neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Albert Watkins Jr.,

STRONG REASON NEEDED

YOU REQUIRE a very good reason for shifting suits, after winning the opening lead of your partner's long suit against a No Trump game. First of all, your side has gained one unit of time through starting one of its own suits before the declarer has launched one of his, and that initial advantage may be wasted unless you follow it up. Second, and of greater importance sometimes, the inaugurating of play in another suit may solve a problem simply for the declarer whereas left to his own devices he might tumble it.

Several types of bidding landed most North-South pairs in that No Trump game contract, some making it and some failing. The difference was due entirely to what East contributed.

In one instance, after West led the spade 3 to the A, East decided that the dummy's heart suit looked dangerous so long as the club A was there for a dummy re-entry. He therefore switched on the second trick to his club 2, the 8 bringing from West the J, which South allowed to hold. West, a none too good card reader, took his cue from East and returned the club J, which the K won. That made it a cinch for South. He gave up the diamond K to the A, took the returned club 5 with the A, discarded the heart 9 to the J and now had a solid hand for the remaining tricks to score his game.

Where East returned the spade 2 on the second trick, South next gave up the diamond K to the A, took the third spade, scored the club K, gave the 10 up to the J, saw East score the fourth-round spade and return a heart, the Q losing to the K, and later the diamond 9 was lost to the J to put South down two—all because East repeated the suit first opened.

Your Week-end Question
If you decide to try a play whose success depends upon fooling your opponents, what is usually the best time for the attempt, in the early stages of the play or in the late play? Why?

Topics From the Convention of Friends of the Land Have Familiar Ring — Notes of Levity at Northumberland Holstein Breeders' Picnic.

"FOOD IS FABRICATED FERTILITY"

"We can see what soil erosion has done to our land, but we fail to appreciate what soil depletion has done. We do not seem to realize that our stewardship of the land calls for the return of that which we have borrowed."

"Food is fabricated fertility," Albrecht points out that, within the plant, carbohydrates are built of air, water and energy coming from the sun operating through the chlorophyll within the leaf. This fabrication is the great agricultural chemical industry that is agriculture itself."

Those quotations sound as if they had been taken from an advertisement of the industry that produces and markets mineral fertilizers. They seem far removed from the concern and the daily life of the average person. Actually they are directly related to his three meals a day, the nutritious content of his food and, thereby, to his health and glow of life.

These statements are tucked away in the announcement of the seventh annual conference on conservation, nutrition and health at Ohio University, Athens, O., Saturday and Sunday, June 26-27, under the sponsorship of an association known as Friends of the Land. A copy of the conference syllabus was received from a local citizen whose interest in its subjects is hardly more than academic, and it is unlikely that either he or anyone else from this district will attend the Ohio discussions.

Local interest in soil fertility has been one of the objectives of Frank C. Peterson in his work here as agricultural representative. He has frequently stressed it as basic in sound farm practice, and some of the speakers whom he has been instrumental in bringing to Peterborough have given it further and sharper emphasis. As to effects and results, the following excerpt from the conference program at Athens may be heartening to him and to others who are endeavoring to promote the broad idea and understanding of conservation.

"It has been said that the present upsurge in interest in all matters pertaining to conservation (in the USA) has largely come about because, back in the days of Gifford Pinchot and Teddy Roosevelt, J. Russell Smith inserted its principles into the geographies of American schools. It is well for those of us who would reform the world over night to realize that it takes some 40 years of repetition in the school books to condition the minds of the public to receive an idea of general application and another generation to get action."

So, mankind being perversely slow to perceive the values of some of the ideas and techniques that are devised for his own benefit, it simply doesn't pay to lose patience if progress is slow and time is fleeting. Meanwhile, farmers have to make a living while gradually learning, they have to try to keep abreast of advances in their industry and its science, struggle against the hazards that beset it, also against a public long accustomed to cheap food and more concerned about price and palate response than about nutrition.

And that's a long way from Athens, O., and the Friends of the Land. Most of the topics are not new. The central theme is really soil care and management, but it will be discussed by some of the leaders in the field of agriculture research and associated science in the United States.

The program speaks of conservation of the soil as one of the world's most urgent problems. It is a common phrase hereabouts, but nobody takes it home to himself. Public response would surely be vitalized if people understood that the food they eat depends for its nutrients on the health of the ground. That phase of agriculture was impressively discussed here by Prof. O. M. McCoskey, OAC back in 1939, just before he enlisted for war service, in a memorable talk on the simple subject of grasses. Albrecht says food is fabricated fertility. Anybody can understand that, and it should be everybody's business, because food is essential to health and it is a large part of the family expenditure. In our almost invincible ignorance of such aspects of health maintenance, in our acceptance of things as they are, no one thinks to ask whether the food he buys and eats comes from fields that are fertile; and fertility depends to a large extent on the mineral constitution of the soil.

CANADIAN CATTLE BOUND FOR ITALY — Two of the four prize Holstein Friesian bull calves, first Canadian-bred cattle ever flown to Europe, mount the ramp to the DC-4 Airtrader which took off from New York's La Guardia Airport for Rome. The calves, bred in southern Ontario, will be shown in the Canadian embassy garden in Rome and the Milan cattle breeders' show before they are turned over to individual breeders.

Incidentally, a group of Peterborough farmers heard Wm. A. Albrecht, professor and chairman of the department of soils, University of Missouri, guest speaker at the Crop Improvement convention dinner in Toronto a year ago last winter.

He is only one of the group of experts who have been assigned the Athens conference subjects. Because of their scope tend to place the importance of agriculture in its true light, a few additional quotations from the program syllabus are of interest.

Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal: "If the soil does not have the essential elements in it, plants that grow there do not; nor do the animals that eat those plants; nor do the people throughout a country who eat those plants and animals. Soil debility soon removes the stiffening lime from the national backbone, lowers the beat and vigor and the national blood stream and leads to a de-vitalized society. . . . Our land is sick and needs a physician."

Howard D. Brown, Professor of Vegetable Gardening, Ohio State University: "Public interest had led to predictions that soon we shall be able to buy our vegetables graded and labelled, with their vitamin content and their trace elements analysis carried on their labels. As a matter of fact, there is very little likelihood that we shall ever have such assurance. Too many technicalities are involved, and the cost would be prohibitive."

Albrecht: "All living things are 95 per cent air, water and sunshine and 5 per cent soil. Since the part of the soil furnishes us with our skeletons, and the spark plug (catalysts) for most of the vital processes in our bodies, soil fertility or the ability of the soil to deliver minerals is of the greatest importance in all considerations of our national nutrition."

CHALLENGES RUMOR

Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative in Northumberland, intimates in his weekly letter from Brighton that some rumor adverse to artificial insemination was being heard in his territory "from well-meaning people who are not familiar with the facts." Probably he means that they don't know what they are talking about, but employs a euphemism becoming an official of the Department of Agriculture.

"Reports of artificial breeding associations in the USA, Jan. 1, 1948, show that there are 234,493 herds, consisting of 1,743,327 cows listed in these associations as compared with 140,571 herds of 1,125,000 cows a year ago." Mr. Banbury quotes details from Wisconsin, Ohio, Iowa and other states, and directs this plea to his own constituency: "Surely the fact that approximately 225,000 farmers are using this type of breeding in the United States is sufficient proof that this type of work is proving its way there and will undoubtedly do the same in Ontario."

Semen Sent By Plane

By a special permit of the British Minister of Agriculture, the first polled Hereford semen admitted into Britain was flown by plane early this week from Old Orchard Farm, Peterborough. It was obtained by Dr. James Henderson of Ontario Veterinary College from the sire of the polled Hereford herd which Mrs. John Stuart, Jr., is developing.

One of the judges at the Kinsmen Horse Show a week ago, Dr. Henderson had received an enquiry from Dr. John Hammond of Cambridge University for polled Hereford genes to beget the hornless type of the white faced cattle by artificial insemination. For that purpose Dr. Henderson selected Mrs. Stuart's bull—CMR A.D.V. Domino 31. The semen was specially packed in ice for the 30-hour delivery flight to England. It was destined for Gloucester, to Dr. L. E. A. Rosson, veterinary in charge of the Cambridge artificial insemination unit.

From Dr. Harold Worton it was learned that this is the first polled Hereford experiment in Britain.

The horned Hereford has been the pride of Old Country breeders who are understood to have opposed the introduction of the polled type.

For that reason a special permit had to be obtained from the Minister of Agriculture. It is an interesting indication of the spread of the practice of artificial breeding. A Herefordshire is the home of this family of beef cattle the delivery by airplane fits into the reversal of coals to Newcastle.
